TAMPA U. STARTS ITS TENTH YEAR

Dr. James Elliott Mooney, New Tampa U. President, Is Author, Educator, Flier

Has Envious Record of Achievements and Activities

Dr. James Elliott Mooney, formerly acting president of Beaver College, Philadelphia, already is well known to many Tampa U. students as the university's new president, as the first semester gets into its first week.

A thumb-nail sketch of his past history, however, will help faculty members and students to become better acquainted with him.

Besides being a college president, he also is an editor, author and aviator, once having held a pilot's license as an active flier.

He is a member and formerly was an adviser of the National Aeronautical association, and is expressing his interest in aviation here through further development in Tampa U.'s aviation school. He also has written several books on aviation.

Editor and Publisher
He was editor and publisher of the Youth Digest and since 1938 was president of the Youth's Digest association. He also was the founder and president of the Beaver Foundation for the Advancement of Education.

Further experience in the publishing and book business was gained through his connection with the editorial departments of Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers.

This is just a beginning of his long list of achievements and connections—all compiled before his fortieth birthday anniversary, which he hasn't passed yet.

Personal Connections
Dr. Mooney's personal connections are fully as interesting as his official capacities. He is intimately acquainted with people like Commander Richard Byrd, polar explorer, who was responsible for the naming of a geographic location in Dr. Mooney's honor, and who also presented him with the American Polar Explorer's award in 1938.

He also is intimately acquainted with William Lyon Phelps, noted writer and professor of English, and others.

But one of Dr. Mooney's greatest interests is his own family—Mrs. Mooney and their children, Ellen, James Elliott, Jr. ("Jimmy"), Richard ("Dick"), and Stewart.

JOINS FACULTY

Mrs. McLendon Is Teaching At Tallahassee College

Mrs. W. Porter McLendon, who holds a degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Iowa, has joined the faculty of the Florida State College for Women, for the first semester, and will teach physical science and chemistry.

She is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, leading academic fraternity, and received many other honors during her undergraduate and graduate years of study.

Minaret To Organize Staff Today; Come If You Want To Join

A Minaret organization staff meeting will be held today at 12:30 o'clock in the new Minaret office just south of the lobby.

All students who would like to work in the editorial, business or advertising departments, regardless of previous experience, are urged to attend. All journalism students are requested to be present.

SPARTANS BACK FROM CAMP IN TIPTOP SHAPE

Tampans Looked Impres- sive Against Powerful Mountaineers

By FRANK MANISCALCO

Returning from a gridiron rendezvous held in the heights of the Blue Ridge mountains in Camp Mt. Mitchell, the University of Tampa Spartans are eager to take on all Florida opponents. Both coaches and players came out of their opening defeat by Appalachian, 13-6, rather satisfied. The Spartans looked more impressive than expected against the powerful Mountaineers and better results are expected from the boys this year.

Never in the history of the young institution were the Spartans in top condition as they appear today. Morally and physically the squad has improved considerably from previous years. Also, a higher spirit and greater optimism prevails among the Spartans and student body.

Coaches Encouraged

Head Coach Nash Higgins and Line Coach Pix Pierson appear encouraged over prospects for the coming season. The squad will be experienced, with several junior college men hoping to strengthen the team's weak spots. Even though the Spartans are facing a tough schedule, fans behind the eleven believe it will be one of the best in the history of the University.

One reason why followers of the team feel so good about the situation is that the athletes have had a year or two of experience, whereas last season most of the players were sophomores and inexperienced. Then, too, there are the new men who sparkled as freshmen last year, and possibilities are that two or three regular berths will be occupied by sophomores.

The varsity squad which totals 37 men will consist of eight seniors, 19 juniors and 10 sophomores.

Veterans returning are:

Seniors

Backs—John Brandenberger, Paul Hance, Champ Williams and Paul McCloskey.

Center—Paul Meyers.

Tackles—Clair Pittman and Willard Driskell.

End—Dick Sleichter.

Juniors

Backs—Howard Beynon, Ted Bravakis, Milan Buchan, John Comparato.

TAMPA U. ADDS 3 NEW MEMBERS TO ITS FACULTY

Cramer, Leinbach, Bunting Are Newcomers for Fall Term

By BETTIE BERLIN

Three new associate professors have been added to Tampa U. faculty this fall. They are Dr. Maurice B. Cramer, Prof. Joseph N. Leinbach and Prof. David E. Bunting.

Professor Leinbach, of Lynchburg College, Va., is the associate professor of economics in charge of the Department of Business Administration. He has taught at Harvard university, Upsala college, University of Pittsburgh, and in Turkey.

He also has served as advisor in economics and allied subjects for the United States Department of Education. He is a candidate for the Ph. D. degree at Columbia university.

Prof. David E. Bunting, associate professor of education, received his B. S. degree from Sam Houston State Teachers college, Huntsville, Tex., and his master's from the University of Texas.

He has studied at the University of Puerto Rico and at Teachers college at Columbia university. He belongs to Alpha Chi, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi fraternities.

Dr. Cramer was assistant professor of English at Mount Holyoke college in South Hadley before coming here to be head of the English department. He was graduated from William Penn Charter and holds an A. M. degree from Princeton awarded with Phi Beta Kappa, an M. A. degree cum laude, and later the degree of Doctor of Philosophy majoring in English and Literature.

He has traveled extensively in Europe and is an author of Nineteenth Century American Biography. Dr. Cramer has contributed to such national magazines as Atlantic Monthly and wrote a brilliant thesis, "Robert Browning."

313 MASQUERS TELL OF PLANS

New Members To Be Named By Try-Out System in October

All students interested in joining the 313 Masquers, dramatics club, are requested to sign the paper on the bulletin board designated for that purpose, before noon Wednesday.

The 313 Masquers, dramatics club of the University of Tampa, will hold its first official meeting the first Tuesday night in October. There will be called meetings of the executive council before that date with Miss Priscilla Hunt, president, in charge. Mrs. R. P. Connolly is director.

The limited membership of the club is 35, and as there are quite a few vacancies this year, the group plans to get things in full swing so it will be able to handle the tryouts for new members soon.

A new system of tryouts will be put in use this year, after which a series of personal interviews with the director will be held to determine the student's interest in the theater and his desire to work.

As urged in the freshman orientation program, those students signing up for tryouts are urged to have the desire to work for its interests.

PLANS CONVENTION

Home Economic Club Will Entertain State Association

The Ellen H. Richards Home Ec club will start making plans to entertain the state convention of Student Home Ec clubs this year, at its first meeting of the semester, date of which will be announced later by Sarah Morgan, president. The convention will be held early in the second semester.

The club also will hold a tea for new girl students, early this semester, and a dance for new members later. Other events of the year will be the annual Thanksgiving basket, Christmas party, and Easter party, for underprivileged children.

Other officers are Mary Sears, vice president; Elizabeth Crawford (not here this semester), secretary, and Genevieve Sultenfuss, treasurer. Dr. Minna C. Denton and Miss Carolina Melber, of the home economics department, are faculty advisers.

FRESHMEN HAVE THEIR DAY; NEW FEATURES ADDED

Students Arrive From Far And Near as Campus Takes New Life

By ALICE JUNE WRIGHT

After the initial faculty meeting of the term Monday morning the University of Tampa opened its doors for its tenth school year by conducting an all-day freshman orientation day Tuesday. This is the first time an all-day get acquainted program has been arranged in the history of the school.

Registration began Wednesday morning with more than 100 freshmen signing up for courses under a new system of registration. More freshmen and upper classmen registered Thursday, and late registration continued throughout the week.

Out-of-town students have been arriving since Monday. They come from far and near—Michigan and Lutz, Nebraska and Plant City, Illinois and Bartow, Massachusetts and Zephyrhills.

Vocational Aptitude Test

Old students who are returning feel almost like strangers when they see the many changes and improvements in the school. Among the new features on the college program is the vocational aptitude test which will be given to all students who express an interest in any particular field of work.

Another new feature is the "student policies committee." This committee will be composed of seven students, one of whom is to be elected from each class and the other three chosen by the student council. Through it any complaints or ideas for improvement will be carried directly to the president.

New Faculty Committees

New faculty committees also were appointed last week. They are as follows:

The faculty executive committee, in charge of degrees and ceremonies, major disciplinary problems, questions of institutional policy referred to the committee by President Mooney, and other executive duties:

Dr. Guy G. Becknell, Dr. Donald D. Bode, David Edison Bunting, new professor of education, Dr. Minna C. Denton, Nash Higgins, Dr. C. Herbert Laub and Reuben D. Webb.

On Student Activities

Committee on student life and activities, to be divided into three subcommittees on organizations and activities, placement service, athletics and intramural sports:

Miller K. Adams, Dr. Becknell, Professor Bunting, Miss Elizabeth Connolly, Harry M. Dobson, Coach Higgins, W. Porter McLendon, Miss Caroline A. Melber, Miss Ruth Moffatt, Willard B. Phelps, Miss Charlotte Ann Thompson and Lyman Wiltse.

Committee on admissions and studies: Dr. Kenneth K. Berry, Dr. Bode, Professor Bunting, Dr. Denton, Dr. Ellis Freeman, Dr. Otto P. Kraus, Dr. Laub, Joseph N. Leinbach, new professor of mathematics, Stephen F. Park, Miss Thompson and Dr. M. C. Rhodes.

Cheerleaders Wanted

If you're a cheerleader at heart, no doubt you'll want to be a cheerleader in earnest.

Tryouts for the jobs will be held this afternoon, and all students who are interested are asked to see Jimmy Whitehead in the bookstore for time and place.

And if you've any new ideas for yells and football songs, let's have 'em. Leave them in the bookstore with Jimmy. Don't be bashful. Let's get in the groove.

College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

WELCOME TO TAMPA U.

A most hearty and loud-ringing welcome is extended to our new president, dean and members of the faculty. An enthusiastic greeting of welcome is given to the freshmen and returning students.

The student body is fairly seething with a definite zeal and spirit of cooperating to put the University foremost among the schools in the state. In short, the University of Tampa offers you its best in all the facilities of higher learning, which compare favorably with those of other institutions. You, who are entering upon your first year in the University of Tampa, are taking a grand step upward. Doubtless you are wondering what this institution has to offer you.

This great building is known the world over for its beauty and fineness of architecture. Life within the walls of this old Moorish structure will prove to be an unfailing supply of inspiration. You will soon come to love and admire the faculty as a group of able and competent instructors.

The library will prove to be an interesting and valuable depository of human knowledge, culture and experience in printed form. You will respect and preserve the quietness in this hall of study.

In your campus activities you have choice among nearly 30 organizations. Seven of them are local social sororities and fraternities. Two are spiritual organizations. The remainder center about dramatics, art, mathematics, music and other student activities.

The student body is proud to publish the Minaret as a weekly newspaper. Senior class members and the Student Council cooperate to present the Moroccan annually. Issued periodically, the Muezzin is a literary publication under the direction of a professor of English.

The football boys are counting on the student body for their presence, loyalty, acclaim and lively school spirit. Freshmen and upperclassmen have always greatly enjoyed the program of outdoor intramural athletics which is directed by the department of physical education.

Your Student Council will welcome any student's suggestion for promotion of the interests of the students collectively, and to develop and maintain among the students a feeling of good will, and definite zeal for the observance of the University standards and traditions.

You have come to a University of warm friendship, where you will spend happy days of profit and pleasure. In later life you will look back upon the years spent in the University of Tampa as the most profitably spent portion of your life.

The heartiest welcome is extended to you. Enter here with confidence. Aim high, if you are to succeed. Hitch your wagon to a star and try for the best of grades. Seek the highest of honors. We wish you the best of everything.

—ZENO STALNAKER,
President of the Student Body.

THE CHURCHES ARE ACTIVE

It is an encouraging sign to see the church organizations of the campus starting off their year with a renewed activity that began on the first day of school.

While the Methodists were distributing their valuable and well prepared booklet of information, The Mosque, the Baptists were serving free lemonade at the entrance doors.

The Episcopalians also are talking of organizing a group on the campus. Members of that denomination may see Yolonda Finney or Bettie Berlin for further information.

This first issue of your Minaret is late because of a regretful but unavoidable situation caused by late copy (everybody had so much to do) and a congestion of work at the printing shop. The students and printers both did their best, and responded admirably. It just couldn't be helped. Especial appreciation is due to the student reporters of an unorganized staff who cooperated so splendidly during the rush of registration. Thank you, all.—The faculty adviser.

Not only did it help the football fund, but it also created a closer relationship between Tampa U. and Hillsborough high, when the K. S. club of that school gave a dance for the Spartan fund during the summer. Appreciation is expressed to the club, and to Shirley Moore, its president, and Maida Baker, who put it over.

Spartans' 1940 Schedule

September 27—Stetson at Tampa
October 5—U. of Florida at Tampa
October 11—U. of Miami at Miami
October 18—Rollins at Orlando
October 26—Georgia Teachers at Tampa
November 2—Stetson at DeLand
November 8—Oglethorpe at Tampa (Homecoming)
November 21—Rollins at Tampa (Thanksgiving)

Dr. Mooney Says:

"Tampa U. Is Always To Be The College Of The Future."

I think that my challenge is your challenge toward the future of this University; that this College is always to be the "College of the future" because it is difficult to separate time. Today is almost tomorrow. So we will work today toward our tomorrows.

If I were asked what the greatest need today is—I would say—more individual instruction—more individual guidance. I, therefore, believe that higher education especially in its liberal arts or general aspects is primarily self-education. Books are essential; teachers, fellow students and equipment are helpful; but the most important needs lie within the student himself. More individual guidance makes it possible to meet another great need—dependability—adequate appreciation.

This all revolves around the emphasis on contemporary problems and guiding ideals—toward the interpretation of the great books and the subjects worth studying in terms of significance to the individual.

The Phases of Life

"Life," says Mowat Frazer, "may be said to have seven or eight phases: group and civic affairs; association with individual people; using and appreciating the physical universe; health and physical care; vocational work or preparation; homemaking, and leisure activities.

"As a person learns to deal adequately with the important problems and activities in each of these phases, he tends to become ideally educated. He learns whatever facts, theories, history, or departments of knowledge it is important for him to know. He can gain a true appreciation of these things in no other way.

"The main endeavor of the University, therefore, should be to help the student in each phase of living to solve problems, and if necessary, to attempt illustrative activities which are complex enough to require special guidance in maturity—experience under direction."

To have guidance, much group instruction may still be found desirable or essential. Problems of today may find a study of the rise and fall of ancient Athenian civilization indispensable. Therefore, every course we attempt should be a part in a plan toward better individual guidance and we should concentrate upon learning "how to attain important ideals of living."

I believe it is possible to operate the machinery of education so that there can be a fusion of culture and discipline in every subject with the practical needs and demands of today. I believe it is the duty of the University to seek out and determine the best channels of learning in terms of the individual student. I believe that career and achievements are definite parts and parcels of the balanced program of education—evolving a stream of power from the fountain-heads and well-springs of our cultural and practical factual inheritance down the long rivers of trial and error.

I want the faculty and students to work with the idea that education, knowledge, and wisdom are all a part in a living universe. I want to see the movements and interpretation of education go hand in hand with the vital moving forces in the working world about us. I would like to see every professor make his subject a part in career guidance. I want him to use such methods in dealing with the content of the course that the student will find education in action—action close to life—but to put behind this action a cultural power of discipline that will promote a feeling of reserve power.

We do not propose to cut down on the cultural aspects of education but we do propose to get down to basic principles and work just a little harder to make the things we call culture alive as a man is alive, with intelligence and with purpose combine the great forces of the little knowledge we have toward a goal of service and appreciation.

MUSICIANS WILL GET ORGANIZED

Disorganized Sounds in Halls Will Be Real Music in a Day or Two

All those toots, squawks, blares, booms and clangs that you hear resounding through the corridors of Tampa U. are—believe it or not—the preliminaries to organized music that you soon will hear in pleasing combinations from Tampa U.'s band, orchestra and chorus, of the music department.

The band will begin drilling today in preparation for the first football game, next Friday. The band, in full uniform, will be led in drill by the new drum major, "Merry" Williams, Georgia freshman.

The orchestra, strengthened by new talent, will hold its first practice next Tuesday afternoon.

The chorus, which will be much larger this year, also will begin its activities Tuesday. The chorus is open to anyone interested in music and especially vocal training. This gives students who do not play instruments an opportunity to participate in the activities of the music department.

Phi Alpha, honorary band fraternity, will hold its first meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

MSO ISSUES 'THE MOSQUE'

Information concerning all phases of campus activities is being presented to freshmen and upperclassmen in the "Mosque," a Methodist Student Organization publication. The idea will be carried on by the group as an annual event.

The university theme is expressed in the entire book from the school colors, red, black and gold, on the cover, to a complete diagram of the library.

Dr. J. E. Mooney's message, "Building New Days Ahead," is a highlight of the publication. There is a list of all administrative officers and assistants for the benefit of the newcomers.

Cordial Welcome From Dean Hale

To the new students, in the name of the University and personally, I wish to extend a cordial greeting and hearty welcome to the campus.

It is hoped that you are sincere in your purpose to devote your time and efforts to the serious business of securing the best results possible from your stay here, and at the same time that you will enjoy to the fullest all that college life has to offer.

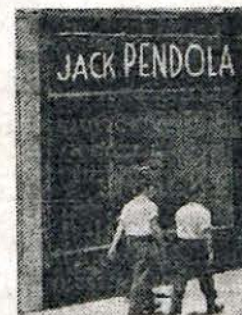

To the old students I extend an official and personal greeting as you return for further study and participation in the college activities. As you resume your work may you do so with a firm resolve to profit by the mistakes of the past and to press on to greater achievements ahead.

To the old members of the faculty we reaffirm our welcome as they return and to the new members we express our delight in having them with us for the first time.

To the new President of the University may I ask that we all join in a solemn pledge to give our best in loyal and faithful support of his administration. May our deeds prove our welcome and greetings genuine.

—M. S. HALE.

THREE SORORITIES ENTERTAIN FACULTY AND GIRL STUDENTS

Joint Event on Mirasol Hotel Roof Garden Is Brilliant Event

The Alpha Gamma, Delta Kappa and Sigma Theta Phi sororities of the University of Tampa entertained women students and faculty members of the university and their wives at the first annual intra-sorority tea Friday afternoon on the roof garden of the Mirasol hotel, as one of the most brilliant teas given as an opening year's event.

Red, yellow and black, the university colors, were featured in the decorations and refreshments. Red roses centered the tea table, which was lighted with yellow tapers, and roses were used elsewhere about the room.

Heading the receiving line were Miss Ruth Moffatt, faculty adviser for all three sororities. Receiving with her were Miss Odessa Dietrich and Mrs. Kenneth K. Berry, president and adviser of the Alpha Gamma sorority; Miss Mary Frances Mathis and Mrs. R. P. Connolly, president and adviser of the Delta Kappa sorority, and Miss Marie Mitchell and Miss Caroline Melber, president and adviser of the Sigma Theta Phi sorority.

Presiding at the tea table during the first hour were Mrs. James E. Mooney, wife of the president of the university, and Dr. Minna Denton. During the second hour Mrs. M. S. Hale and Mrs. Daniel S. Sanford will pour. Mrs. Willard B. Phelps and Miss Charlotte Ann Thompson served at the punch table.

Sorority members wore ribbons carrying out their colors as a means of identification, green and white of the Alpha Gamma, red and white of

PLANS OF B. S. U.

Baptist Student Union Open Its Second Year at Tampa U.

Officers of the Baptist Student Union met last Tuesday night to discuss plans for the union during its second year.

Many activities are being arranged, some for Baptist students, and some for the entire University. These are designed to promote both the spiritual and the social growth of the student.

"The B. S. U. was newly organized last year with a two-fold purpose," Bill Gaventa, president, said. "First of all, it encourages the students to take a full part in the program of their church. Then, too, it seeks to lead the students in practical religious expression day by day in all their activities."

College Sunday school classes meet every Sunday at 9:45 a. m. in the First Baptist church, and Young People's union at 6:30 p. m. Students are invited to take part in these and all other phases of the B. S. U. program.

Some of the other phases being planned are socials from time to time, a daily period of devotion, the trip to the state B. S. U. convention, and the annual sunrise Thanksgiving service and breakfast.

RUSHING SEASON PLANS ANNOUNCED BY SOCIAL GROUPS

Sororities and Fraternities Tell of Plans for This Week

The fraternity and sorority rushing season at Tampa U. got well under way over the week-end as several social events were held by the various organizations. The events will continue throughout this week.

The sorority tea at the Mirasol hotel Friday afternoon, followed by the Delta Kappa tea dance opened the social season. The Delta Kappas also had a luncheon at the Tampa Terrace hotel Saturday noon, and the Tau Omega fraternity held a smoker at the home of Billy Hand on South Edison street.

Activities planned for this week are as follows:

Alpha Gamma sorority—Monday, lawn party at the home of Odessa Dietrich, 2500 Shellpoint road; Wednesday, rushing party at 2411 Riverside drive; Saturday, luncheon in the Tampa Terrace lounge.

Delta Kappa sorority—Monday, bingo party at the home of Miss Priscilla Hunt; Wednesday skating party at the Coliseum; Friday, annual alumnae buffet supper at 801 Louisiana avenue, before football game; Saturday, luncheon at Rubin's restaurant.

Sigma Theta Phi sorority—Monday, game party; Tuesday, Mexican supper at the Leisure house; Wednesday, hay ride; Friday, buffet supper at Rubin's restaurant, before the football game; Saturday, luncheon.

Beta Chi fraternity—Tuesday, smoker at the home of Lee Duncan, 2411 Riverside drive; Thursday, luncheon; Saturday, annual date party at the Keystone lake home of Luis Zendequi.

Rho Nu Delta fraternity—Weiner roast Thursday at Lee Duncan's, 2411 Riverside drive; a smoker, the place to be announced later; luncheon, tentative, at Lander's Tea room, early next week; later in the month, the fraternity's first annual carnation ball, tentatively planned to be held at the American-Hellenic building.

Sigma Kappa Nu fraternity—Monday, smoker at Crescent Grille; Wednesday, luncheon; Saturday, annual spaghetti supper and dance.

Tau Omega fraternity—Tuesday, luncheon; Friday, dance in University ballroom after the football game; Saturday, lake party at the home of Bill Culbreath.

M. S. O. WELCOMES

Methodists Are Invited to Join in Student Activities

The Methodist Student Organization offers a welcome to all Methodists and to students of all faiths and denominations.

Since the organization met for the first time in the fall of 1939, campus and city-wide interest in this union of church and University has grown steadily and rapidly.

During the summer, in addition to publishing the Mosque, the organization has made extensive plans for the year of 1940-41. Soon after classes have been organized, all interested Methodist students will be invited to attend a banquet.

Leaders in the young people's department of the Hyde Park Methodist church are eager to cooperate with the Methodist Student Organization in providing recreation and entertainment for University students. Other leading churches have offered their best to boost the organization. This year you are welcome to participate in an outstanding program.

The Social Whirl

Dear Minnie Rat:

These frats and sororities around here are really doing themselves proud. Do you know no less than 27 parties are being planned to put you little freshmen in another whirl almost as big as registration. There are some quite bright ideas employed in a few of them, and the old stand-bys are always plenty of fun.

The Delta Kappa luncheon Saturday used the sorority colors of red and white in a very unusual way. Lunch was served on rubyware, and white carnations centered the table. Jewel Fernandez made some darling red and white place cards.

Sigma Thetas have some very novel ideas—a ghost party and a Mexican supper, with all the bright Mexican hues, used in decorations, ought to be something to remember.

Members of the Alpha Gamma sorority will come as characters in well-known books and the rushees will be asked to identify each character, when the group entertains at a lawn party at Odessa Dietrich's. Rush parties for the group are in charge of Neil Clemons, Mary Borelli, Marie Sherman and June Pedersen. Also congratulations to Kitty Cappello, the new pledge captain.

And more congratulations—this time to the Skins for their choice of officers—Walter Frederick, president; Jack Goodson, vice president; Arthur Burrows, secretary; Frank Cooper, treasurer; Jack Williams, parliamentarian; Tom Johnson, reporter, and Page Nichols, pledge captain. Good luck.

And just a word of advice to you little frosh—don't let the registration, rushing—or the sophomores—get you down.

Bye, see you at the tea.

SUZIE.

EAT AT HOME

Through the combined efforts of Dr. J. E. Mooney and George Straus the heretofore only talked of training table for the football boys has become a reality.

The kitchen and dining room are located just beyond the band room in the basement. The kitchen is in the capable hands of J. C. Jackson and the business end is handled by Business Manager Strauss of the athletic department.

NEW STUDENTS ARE WELCOMED BY DR. AND MRS. MOONEY

Tasteful Decorations Provide Attractive Setting for Formal Reception

President and Mrs. James E. Mooney welcomed members of the freshman class at a formal reception in the university ballroom Saturday afternoon.

Guests were greeted at the door by Jimmy Whitehead, Walter Brown and Miss Gloria Gutierrez. President and Mrs. Mooney, Dean and Mrs. Morris S. Hale, Dean and Mrs. Daniel S. Sanford, Zeno Stalnaker, student body president, and Miss Florence Flanders, senior class representative, formed the receiving line.

The ballroom was effectively decorated to represent an old-fashioned garden and suites of overstuffed furniture were placed around the room at various points, providing an interesting setting that attracted much favorable comment.

Tall yellow tapers and floor lamps illuminated the room with a soft glow. Bouquets of seasonal garden flowers added to the beauty of the room.

An effective feature of the decorations was a white picket fence and gate, covered with red roses, at one end of the room.

The serving table, which was centered with a tall cut-glass punch bowl surrounded by red roses, was covered with a lace cloth. Those who assisted in serving were the Misses Odessa Dietrich, Marie Mitchell, Priscilla Hunt, Sarah Morgan and Mary Frances Mathis.

A trio composed of Miss Wanda Waters, piano; Miss Frances Alderman, violin, and Bill Hayes, cello, provided musical entertainment.

Spartans Get In Trim For Stetson

Drop a Close One to N. C. Team While Training at Camp

Although the Spartans dropped a close one to the Appalachian State Mountaineers in their opening game on the Mountain eleven's home ground last Saturday, 13-6, the University boys showed more promise and spirit than the score indicated. This outlook will give the boys a good chance in the coming game with Stetson Friday night.

The Spartans went over for their six points early in the first quarter on a sustained drive with Howard Beynon scoring from the eight-yard line. The Tampans kept this lead until the final minutes of the final quarter, when a passing-running attack netted the big, rugged eleven their two scores for their narrow margin of victory.

Coach Higgins' boys were within the 25-yard line four times but several bad breaks prevented the Tampa team from scoring.

Tom Albers was the only casualty that marred another successful training period in the North Carolina mountains, where the whole squad rounded into good condition for their night encounter with Stetson Sept. 27.

Girls To Start Volley Ball Next Wednesday

The girls' intramurals volleyball season will get under way when the varsity players report for practice Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on the volleyball court.

All freshmen and others interested in playing on the city league teams should report at that time, according to Miss Moffatt, girls' physical ed instructor.

Five members of each of last year's teams are returning this year. Those who were on the varsity are Odessa Dietrich, Louise Griffin, Jackie Jameson, Marie Sherman and Neil Clemmons.

Last year's freshmen who are expected to play on the varsity this year are Alice Lee Sewell, Kathryn Pedricaris, Helen Burwanger, Alice June Wright and Mary Laura Lindsay.

PLAYERS MEET

Alpha Psi Omega Makes Plans At First Meeting

Members of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, held their first meeting of the term Thursday night at the home of Mrs. R. P. Connally, dramatics instructor, 701 East Virginia avenue, when plans were made for the season's activities.

New officers serving at the meeting were Emma Jane Sacrey, director; Yolonda Finney, business manager, and Allen Young, stage manager. Mrs. Connally is grand director.

FRESHMAN DAY OPENS SCHOOL TO NEWCOMERS

Orientation and Student Meeting Introduce Them To Tampa U.

By LOLA ANN SPARKMAN

The new freshman class at Tampa U got off to a fine start Tuesday by attending three meetings held to help acquaint them with the University and its studies and activities.

An hour of welcoming in the morning was followed by an afternoon session of orientations on college work, given by six professors. The evening program was in charge of the student council.

K. I. McKay, chairman of the board of trustees, presided over the morning session. The singing of the national anthem by the entire assembly followed an opening prayer by Dr. Adiel Moncrief.

In speaking to the freshmen class Dr. Mooney said:

"I want the faculty and the students to work with the idea that education, knowledge, and wisdom are all a part of a living universe. I want to see the movements and interpretation of education go hand in hand with the vital moving forces in the working world about us."

A Challenge to All

Dean Sandford pointed out in his address to this group that "college is an opportunity and a challenge to every student, and that it is up to the individual to make the most of it." He said the faculty and himself would be glad to cooperate with the student in every way possible.

Dean Hale told the freshmen about the customs and practices of the University. He said that since Tampa U is so young it hasn't as yet many customs, and that most of the ones it does have have been borrowed from other schools. He predicted a very prosperous year for the college.

The afternoon session was given over to the "presentation of the opportunities afforded in the various fields of study" explained by six members of the faculty.

Professor Becknell spoke on "Natural Sciences," Professor Leinbach on "Business Administration," Professor Park chose "Music and Fine Arts," "Education" was discussed by Professor Bunting, and Professor Higgins talked on "Physical Education."

Period of Games

After these speeches Miss Moffatt and Miller Adams, instructors in physical education, led a recreation period. Games were played to help the freshmen get acquainted with one another.

The students met again Tuesday night for pep talks by upperclassmen, and for a community sing led by Lyman Wiltse, director of music.

Zeno Stalnaker, student body president, told of all the student organizations in the college. He told especially about the student council, of how it was started, of how many members it is composed of and of the work it does.

Priscilla Hunt told how the dramatic club, 313 Masquers, received its name. She told of some of the many activities this club has during the school year.

"Sermon," a Lighter Touch

The "sermon" of the evening was delivered by Hilda Sweat, who used as her text "Old Mother Hubbard." This sermon pointed out that in order not to become like "Old Mother Hubbard" one should avoid being named Hubbard, being a widow, and keeping dogs who long for bones.

Billy Martin told about the different music organizations in the college. He also told of the many interesting trips taken by the band.

Bill Gaventa talked on boys' intramurals. He told how many teams there are in the school, and what sports they play.

Jackie Jameson described the girls' intramurals, explaining some of the group games and individual sports played by the different groups.

Professor Wiltse led the group in singing and a bass violin player entertained the freshmen with popular music. Later dancing was enjoyed by everyone.

NIGHT CLASSES

Tampa U. Broadens Its Program for Adults and Specials

Night classes at the University of Tampa this year will be enlarged to include non-academic as well as academic courses. Sales psychology and personal charm will be offered along with the usual courses in English literature, Spanish, history and mathematics.

A special program is being planned for enlisted men and non-commissioned officers at MacDill field. Other courses designed for Tampans who want specific training, without working toward a college degree, will include aeronautical ground instruction, public speaking, business English, accounting, shorthand, business law and simplified legal courses.

Spartans Back

Ends—Ed Howell, Tony Kolka and Cecil Reed.

Tackles—Jack Newland and Wasily Zaiko.

Guards—Bob Anderson, Vince Baradis, Raymond Fordyce, Bill Read.

Center—Bill Fisher.

Backs—Tom Albers, Arnie Holmes, Frank Straner, Marvin Levin.

End—Henry Raines.

Tackles and guards—Floyd Wolfe, Clarence Read, Ken Stout, Joe Mills.

Center—Henry Levin.

How Positions Stack Up

Tom (Whitey) Albers, 195-pounder, Deacon Raines, 180 pounds, and Floyd Wolfe, 225 pounds, are three sophomores most likely to be first stringers. Frank Straner, Marvin Levin, Pug Read and Joe Mills will see much action in the reserve rank.

With Ed (Dixie) Howell, 180 pounds, Tony Kolka, 195 pounds, Cecil Reed, 200 pounds, and Dick Sleichter, 190 pounds, the flank position will be well fortified. All four have shown marked improvement from last year and a tough fight will exist for the starting assignment.

In the tackle spot will be two veterans, Jack (Pappy) Newlands, 220-pounder, and Wasily Zaiko, 210 pounds of human flesh. These two boys have shown up exceptionally well during drills.

Hustling for a guard position are Bob Anderson, Raymond Fordyce and Vince Baradis.

The center assignment will be mostly occupied by the veteran Bill Fisher, husky 190 pounds of dynamite. In reserve will be Henry Levin and Paul Myers.

Much is expected from Champ Williams, undoubtedly the outstanding player of last year. Given half a chance, he can provide the offensive spark that's been lacking thus far. Johnny (Monk) Kaufman, 165-pound speed demon, is likely to be Champ's running mate in the offense. Howard Beynon, Vic Hatch, and Milan Buchanan, are the top blockers and defensive men.

Freshman Prospect

Freshmen football, dropped last year, will make another appearance this fall, Coach Higgins announced.

Twenty Baby Spartans already have registered at the University but several are expected to be cut by the end of the week.

Intramurals Start With Two Games Thursdays

Coach Miller Adams announced yesterday that the intramural program for this season will get under way next Thursday with two touch football games.

The favorites probably will be the Skins who lost two key men in Steve Krist and Billy McMullen but with Walt Frederick slinging passes the outlook looks good.

The T. O.'s will be a definite threat while the Rho Nus, last year's champs, have lost the services of all their key men except B. X's with Dana Jeter leading his squad. The Sigma Eps expect to be stronger this year.
