In through the open windows come strains of music stirring memories never to be forgotten. "March, march, ye Spartan Men, March down that field, March on to Victory, for Tampa U will never yield." Professor Wiltse is rehearsing the band. Blaring brass, marching feet, ready to represent the University in parades, on the footballfield, in concert. "To the red, black and gold be true."

Out on Phillips Field Coach Sinkwich is putting his men through endless rounds of practice — passing, blocking, tackling — bodies sweating beneath the Florida sun.

In the classrooms eager students concentrate as new vistas of learning are being opened to them. Lectures, assignments, Lab work. New schedules, new books, new friends.

In the administration offices busy people go about their duties attendant to the operation of the school.

Another year has begun under the Minarets, this time marking the 20th Anniversary of the University of Tampa. Twenty years a part of the community. Twenty years of service as an institution of higher learning, guiding and preparing students to fill worthy places in the larger outside world, winning acclaim as the cultural center of Florida's west coast.

*"Steadfast and true sing we thy praise,
Alma Mater free.*

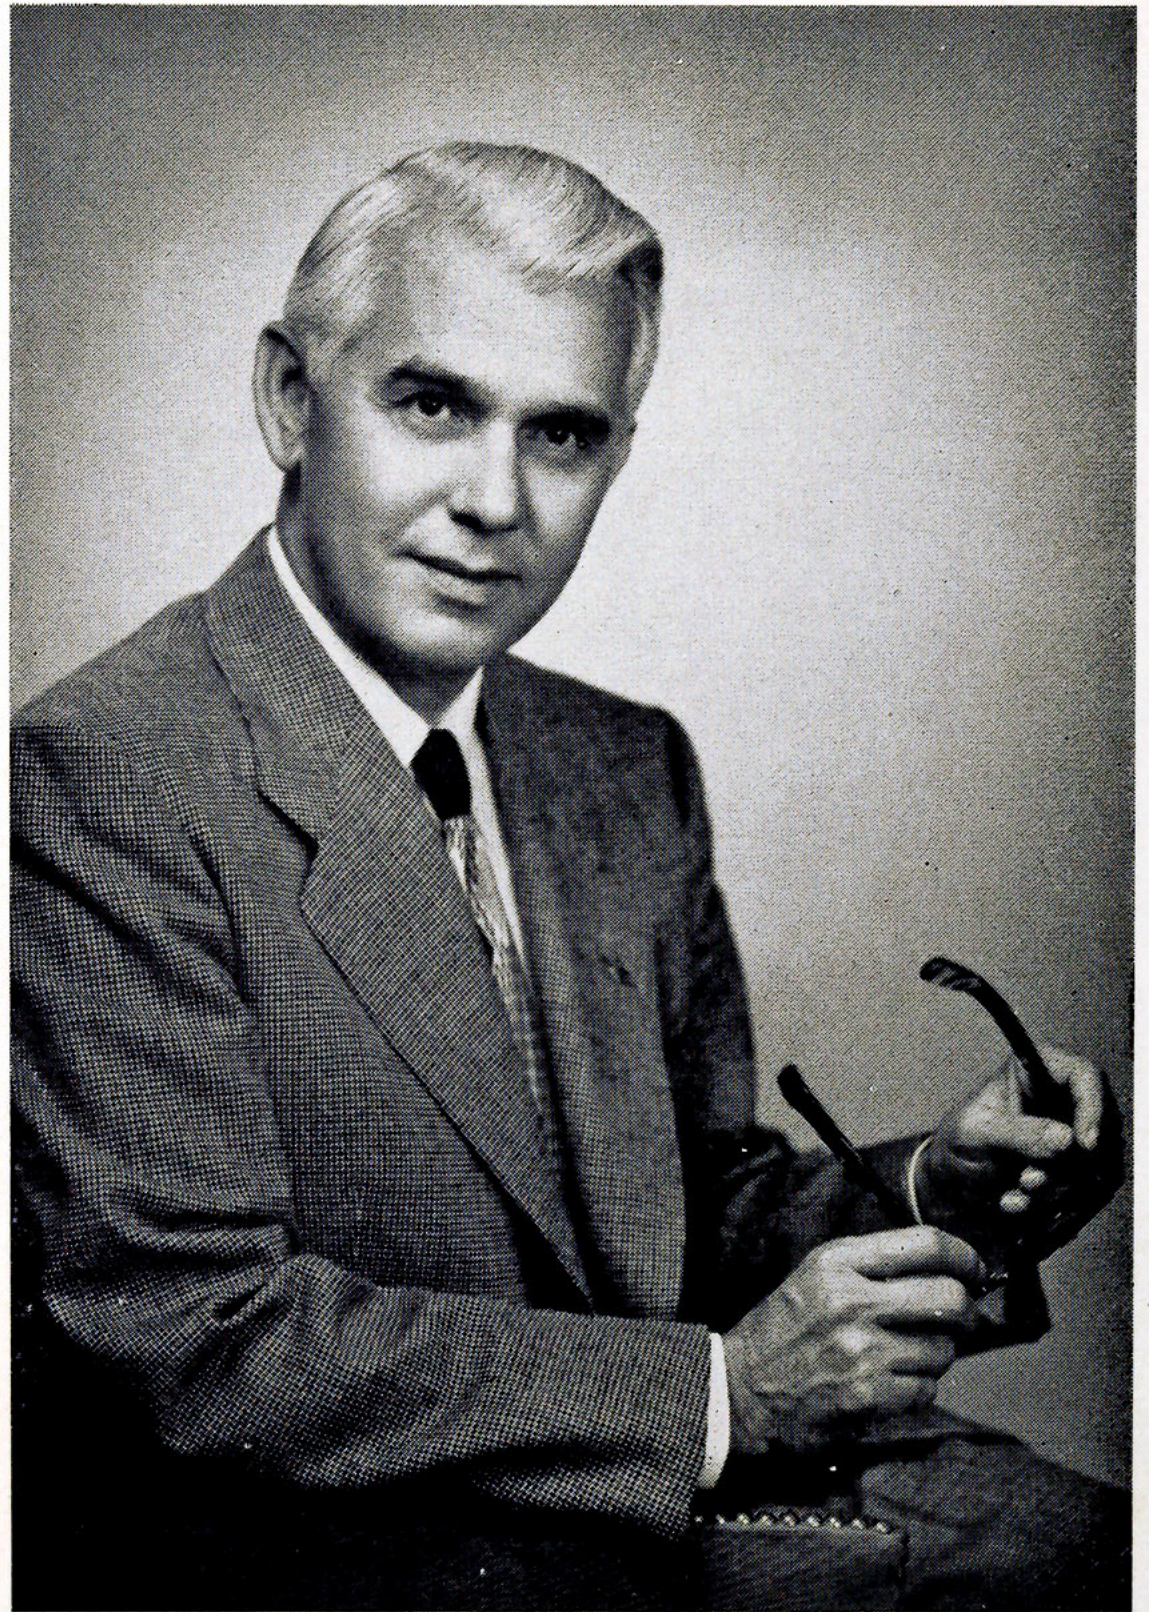

*Proud beat our hearts and all our days
We'll raise song to thee.*

*We'll go forth to love and praise thee,
and be ever true.*

Hail our glorious Alma Mater,

Hail our Tampa U."

University of Tampa Alumni In National and World Affairs

Dr. E. C. Nance, President of University of Tampa

The problems of our present world demand the type of thinking that we would usually expect to find among college graduates. Unfortunately, however, many of the leaders who are creating the problems which harrass the mind of modern man have had the advantages of college training.

So, you will see immediately what I have pointed out in the foregoing paragraph indicates that we must learn in the future to educate as well as train the students who attend our colleges. The difference between training and educating is this: a pony or a pooch may be trained to respond to certain stimuli such as a gesture of a hand or the tone of a trainers voice, but these and other animals are incapable of being educated to reason, imagine and act on their own free will.

It is to be hoped, of course, the University of Tampa can turn out men and women who are capable of manifesting a keen spiritual sensitivity, logical thinking and an imaginative approach to the problems and issues of world affairs.

Already some of our Alumni are participating on the local and international level in governmental affairs. We have some men in the Pentagon, two former graduates in the State Department, a municipal judge in Tampa, and two State Legislators. Here and there scattered over the country we have other men and women who are contributing to the welfare of the world through their participation in civic movements in their own local communities. As the years go by and the University grows in power and prestige, the number of leaders among our Alumni will increase.

Someone has said that it is the neglect of the obvious that frequently makes us inefficient and gets us into serious difficulties.

Obviously men and women who have had the advantages of a college education ought to be interested in the improvement of all governmental activities because all of these activities touch all the people all the time. For example, a college graduate ought to be interested in the following:

1. More honesty, intelligence, efficiency, dignity and economy in government.
2. We would like to see government, on all levels, free itself of graft and grafters.
3. We would like to see the real communists and their first cousins who are now in Washington, anywhere else in local or national government, put out, outlawed, or sent to some country behind the iron curtain.
4. We would like to see enthusiastic support of the sometime forgotten truth that the man makes the office and not the office the man. This is a bi-partisan way of saying the right man of either of the parties would dignify and efficiently operate any high office.
5. We would fervently support any president who would give first consideration to the general welfare of all the people of the country, before catering to the representatives of any "pressure group."
6. I think some of us, at least, would heartily approve a closer screening of White House and State Department assistants. Some of these strange human impediments might very well be eliminated without any great loss to the social prestige and efficiency of our government.
7. We would like to see our country run like a business, on business principles, by capable businessmen, on a pay as we earn basis. Deficit spending cannot go on indefinitely. A business that makes $15,000 a year cannot spend $20,000 a year indefinitely and stay liquid.

I think we can make a very fine contribution to better civics in our local, state and national governments by at least trying to find the best answers to the following questions concerning men or women who ask for public office:

1. What about the candidate's basic intelligence and his reputation for integrity?
2. What are the candidate's qualifications for the office which he seeks?
3. Has the candidate been successful in his own professional and personal life? This is very important. With a few exceptions, a man who has failed in his own personal affairs, or a man who has lacked the ambition in industry to succeed, is not likely to make a wise leader in government - local or national.
4. What about his civic activities? Has he been interested and active in the civic organizations of his community before he became interested in getting himself elected to public office?
5. Is the candidate a person of whom the local, state or national community could be proud? Is he a person about whom one could speak with pride to people outside one's community?
6. What are his real, not his alleged, political and social ideals?
7. What groups of people are supporting the candidate now? Frequently, not always, the character of a man's supporters indicate the direction in which he, himself, will travel when he is elected to public office.
8. Has the candidate been associated with or supported by disreputable groups or organizations that have a special axe to grind?

ALUMNI - LITES

By Katy Sible

WALLACE "BUD" PEPPER

'Bud' enrolled at the University of Tampa in 1939, but Uncle Sam tapped him on the shoulder before he could get his B.S. in Business Administration. He attended the University long enough though to become one of the most respected members of the Tau Omega fraternity. It was also while "Bud" was a student that he met and fell in love with Carolyn Shelton, who was a student at Plant High. They went steady for five years, but it was worth the wait because Carolyn has been Bud's wonderful "help-mate" as his wife ever since they were married in February, 1943. She followed him wherever he was stationed while in the service of his country, and waited for him a year when he was sent to Europe. "Bud" came out of the armed forces still his tall friendly self, again attended the University, but is now devoting all his time to his work at the Lee Tire and Rubber Company which he and his father operate. He's also a member of Tampa's J. C.'s, an officer of his Masonic lodge, and an active Tau Omega alumnus. His wife, Carolyn, worked for Tampa Electric after she graduated from Plant High, but has settled down now to raising their 3½ year-old son, "Dicky" Lee. "Bud" was Chairman of Homecoming last year, and, as we all know, did a wonderful job in making it a success. "Bud" Pepper will be successful in any job he handles.

FLORENCE FLANDERS WILLIERS

A major in English, Florence graduated with the Class of '41 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. She became a very active member of the Sigma Theta Phi sorority and the Glee Club at the University, and while a student, Florence worked with the Civil Aeronautics program carried on at the University. She continued with the C. A. program at the Peter O'Knight Airport after she graduated from the University of Tampa. A little later, Florence accepted a position at the Tampa Electric Company. She met her husband in 1946 and now they are rearing two wonderful boys by the successful operation of their own electrical contracting business on MacDill Avenue. The Williers are a wonderfully normal happy family, and will go on living happily ever after, we know.

CHARLIE HAMMOND

Attended the University of Tampa from Jan., 1946 to June, 1949, when he received his B. S. in Business Administration. While Charlie was in school, among the many activities in which he participated, he was outstanding in the Ace Club and Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity. Charlie went into the armed forces soon after his graduation from Hillsborough High School, the results of having been a member of the National Guard. But he's none the worse for his five years in service. After only 3½ years at the University, which included summer schools, of course, Charlie graduated and became associated with Hoffmann-Schooley, Inc. (beauty supplies). Then in November, 1949, Charlie became Registrar-Statistician at the Florida Council for the Blind, where he has been ever since, and he enjoys every minute of it, we're sure. Charlie has a big job ahead of him this year because he's Secretary of the House Corporation of the K.S.K.'s. He's a mighty active fellow, but then he can afford to be since he's foot-loose, single and fancy-free.

MARY COLLURA RAINES

In the Class of '42, Mary received her B. S. degree in Education. Among the numerous activities in which Mary participated, the more outstanding were as an officer each year of her four in the Alpha Gamma sorority, including that of president during her senior year; with her rich contralto voice it is little wonder that Mary became a member of Alpha Mu Tau, the national music fraternity; with her shapely limbs and beautiful black hair, she was a lovely member of the Orchesis Dance Club at the University. She was a natural choice for Who's Who, which of course, is a fact.

While Mary was in school, a certain Deacon Raines was also attending the University, and it wasn't long before the two had met and began dating. Deacon went off to war and when he returned from overseas, he and Mary were married in 1945. Mary didn't waste away the hours waiting for "Deac." After her graduation in 1942 she was appointed as a teacher at the West Tampa Jr. High School. She resigned to get married, lived in California a year where Deac attended college in Sacramento, returned to Tampa where she returned to her teaching profession at West Tampa Jr. High and "Deac" returned to the University of Tampa. This time "Deac" received his B. S. in Education with his major in Physical Education. And now he's head coach at Washington Jr. High School. About Mary, well, somewhere along her life, she started rearing a little baby girl who is soon to be five years old. Mary's a home girl again, having resigned as teacher at the West Tampa school in March of this year. She's plenty busy now at home which is 806 W. Indiana, and still has time to devote to the Alumni Association, which is very much appreciated, and I do mean it.

Coach Sinkwich

Again this year Coach Sinkwich dusted off the Circus Bus and scouted the countryside for good football players to add to the list of 26 lettermen back from last year's successful team. He was very fortunate in keeping and having the 26 experienced players from 1950, such stars as Lou Sequella, John Lahosky, Gene King, Vince Chicko, Tom Mahin, Bob Lovely, Holland Aplin, H. L. Hiers, Jack Marley, Mike Rovnak and Jim Mathis. He was interested in getting good men to create reserve depth which was badly needed. He succeeded in getting players as Pete McCloud, Reggie Colvard, Ed Matyas, Nick Waytovich, Henry Bernat, Ed Duray, Frank Williams, Danny Scaring and Edward Peck. It appears that this year's squad will be stronger than last year's, however, they won't have the huge size but will make it up in scrap.

News From University of Tampa Athletic Department

On September 15th, the Spartans had a practice game with Patrick Air Base and licked them by the score of 72-0. Even though the team play was ragged there was some very good individual play that brought some cheers to the Coach's heart. They appeared to block better down field and the tackling was better than last years. However, on September 22nd, the Spartans traveled to Peoria, Illinois to play Bradley University. The results are well known to you by now and 32-6 licking we took was a bitter pill to swallow. Our squad played a very poor game and it was one of those days when everything was done wrong. Coach Sinkwich stated that their ball club was no better than ours overall but that night was their night.

Last Year The Score

This Year

This squad has plenty of possibilities and don't sell them short. Before this season is over the Spartans will be a known team among small college circles and will play the type of ball that the spectators like to see.

The Basketball picture has been dimmed somewhat because Mac Williams is now in the service, Bill Mullen has graduated, and Glenn Kogel unable to return this year. These losses will be felt but we believe that our newcomers will be able to fill these shoes. We have back, George Montz, Harry Bryan, Bill Thrift, John O'Neal, Marty Brooks, Arnold Lewis, and Holland Aplin. Newcomers are Chuck Jarczyński (6' 7½"), Norman Skelton (6' 5½"), Don Harrod and Cooie Aubrey from Lexington, Ky., Jerry Bandy from Indiana, Tom Mariaini from Pa., George McNally and Don Herrick from Tampa, and Byron Joyner from Miami. As in past years, the Spartans will play some of the best teams in the country—however, Florida is missing because they won't agree to appear in Tampa.

CREDIT COLUMN—

We couldn't give a report on Sports without mentioning the names of one of the hardest working committees in the Alumni Association. They've really been in there plugging, persistently campaigning for funds for the Athletic Department. Let's give a hand to Rudy Rodriguez, Crockett Farnell, Chip Bergwin, Paul McCloskey, Bud Pepper and all others who have worked so faithfully to keep sports at Tampa University.

Editor.

HERE AND THERE

ALUMNI IN SERVICE

One of the brightest days we've had here at the office was the day Al Yorkunas, Class of '39, dropped in to pay us a visit. Back in uniform, Al is working with General J. B. Montgomery and Lt. General Curtis E. LeMay who are in charge of the strategic planning of our Atomic Bomb Carriers — the B 36's, '50's and 29's. General Montgomery plans the operations for the carriers of the A-Bomb — how high the planes are to fly, where they go, etc., and Al helps the General tell the story to the other Generals. He says he is the Presentation end of the DOSPP (Director Operations Special Projects Presentation) and is very happy in his work, which is of a specialized nature. He is also glad that he is to continue as a Trustee of the University even though away from Tampa. Wife Mary Ann is with him, calling Omaha, Nebraska, home.

It is a Major's uniform for Clyde (Chip) Berawin, Class of '41, who is a very busy man out at MacDill Field in the Public Information office.

Tony Garcia, Class of '50, has exchanged a desk in the Tax Collector's office here for a Sergeant's uniform in Special Services out at MacDill Field. Tony is Homecoming Dance Chairman.

Lt. Cmdr. William H. Ailor, Jr., who was graduated from the University of Tampa in 1939 with a degree in chemistry, has been recalled to active duty in the Naval Reserve. He assumed his new duties as executive officer of the destroyer, USS ROBINSON, on August 3, 1951, during ceremonies held on board at the U. S. Naval Base in Charleston, S. C. After taking his degree in chemical engineering at North Carolina State following the war, Billy was employed as a chemist for the Atlantic Coast Line. Married to the former Miss Louise Horne of Raleigh, N. C., the couple has two sons, William 3rd, six, and James, four.

Letters have come in recently from two Navy alumni. Karl R. Anderson, ADC, USN, writes: "I spent my Freshman year at UT in 1935 and 1936. Soon thereafter I returned to active duty with the Navy in which I recently completed my 18th year. While in the Navy, however, I've had opportunities to continue my college work and have attended Georgia Tech, University of Puerto Rico, University of Tennessee and Memphis State College. In the Navy much of my work has been as mechanic and flight engineer on Patrol Bombers and seaplanes. Currently I am attending an electronics technician school after which I anticipate being assigned to a guided missile program. I was a member of Rho Nu Delta while at UT. Enclosed is my check for the membership fee in the Alumni Association, and thank you for sending me the Alumni Bulletin."

From Gene H. Evans, Aol, Fas Ron 691 Ord. Div., NAS San Diego, California, comes a note: "Just received the latest Alumni Bulletin and realized that my dues have not been paid. Enclosed is the cash for same. Excuse the short note but do not have time to tell you how much I appreciate you people keeping me informed of the activities at Tampa U. Please note that my address has changed and keep up the good work.

Major Guy T. Bagli is a Base Executive Officer now instead of a sports announcer over at WDAE.

Major Ben Filipski writes: "I was happy to note that we are anticipating full accreditation this December. I'm certain that much of the credit belongs to Dr. Nance and the active participating members of the Alumni. As you can surmise, I am in the U. S. Air Force stationed in the Pentagon. I hope to be transferred upon termination of my current tour of duty in this area, in May, 1952. I graduated from U. of T. in 1940 with a B. S. in Education. I have heard from Ken Hance, an ex U. of T. man and learned that he is stationed at the Main Navy Bldg. with Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy, as Commander. I also have run into B. Miyares who lives at 5712 S. 4th St., Arlington, Va., and is employed by the Armed Forces Security Agency. Many good wishes to all the folks at Tampa U. and the Alumni Association."

Jeanne Wiltse, Class of '49, has been accepted as a member of Phil Spitalny's All-Girl Orchestra and Choir which presents the Hour of Charm each Sunday afternoon over NBC and WFLA. Jeanne, daughter of Professor Lyman Wiltse, head of the Music Department of the University, received her Master's degree in music from the Cincinnati Conservatory and was a member of the Dayton, Ohio Philharmonic Orchestra when she left for New York. She was auditioned and accepted immediately.

New MUNICIPAL JUDGE for the City of Tampa is alumnus Bob Johnson.

ALUMNUS WRITES BOOK. Honor Graduate of the University of Tampa, Truman Hunter, Class of '39, has written the first explanatory booklet of about 100 pages describing in detail the Electronic Computing Machine for the International Computing Machines Company. In order to take the position with International, Truman left the Graduate School of the U. S. Naval Academy where he was an Associate Professor of Physics. He took his Master's degree at the University of Florida and his Doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

AS UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS, former UT students are making places for themselves. A. C. Van Deusen '33 to '35, is now Professor of Psychology at Northwestern University and is Director of the Century Celebration marking the 100th year of the School A. C. was formerly director of the summer school at Northwestern. (He's married.)

with Alumni --

Harry Robertson, who specialized in Physics and Mathematics while here, is now Associate Professor of Physics at the University of Miami.

Rita Higgins Owens, Class of '42, is teaching Physical Ed. at Queens College, New York City.

Clayton M. Tittsworth, who took his pre-law course at the University of Tampa, has announced as becoming a new lawyer and a new papa all in one week. He is practicing law here in partnership with his father, and the new baby is a son, Michael Warren.

University of Tampa alumni are having no trouble getting their credits accepted for graduate study. Word has been received at the University that Frances Rozella Smith, Class of '51, has been accepted in the Department of Psychology of the Graduate School, Tulane University.

Mary Julia Mena, Class of '47, took her Master's degree at the University of Florida this past summer.

Carmen Roccaforte is attending Tulane University on a Fellowship this year, working toward her Master's degree preparatory for Social Welfare work.

Mrs. George R. Dam quotes excerpt from a letter to her from Dean Davis of Kansas City College of Ost. & Surg.: "Wish to assure you that your application and credentials are all in order and we are anticipating your membership in this Class of September, 1951."

Another letter gives news of Gloria Gasbana: "I was enrolled at the University in 1948 and 1949, majoring in Secretarial Science. At present I am employed as a stenographer at the second highest rated factory in Rockford." Her address is 1224 5th Avenue, Rockford, Ill.

Back in Tampa from Duke University's School of Medicine is Dr. James M. Ingram and wife, Frances, Class of '41.

Avron Bryan, Class of '51, is coaching Basketball and teaching history at Plant High School. He took PG courses at the University of Florida during the past summer. His wife, June, Class of '50, is in her second year as Dietitian at Twin Lakes School. They have just settled in their new home at 3417 Barcelona, Tampa.

Marion L. Ray, Class of '39, is Staff Manager for the Life Insurance Company of Georgia down at Ft. Myers, Florida.

Ruth Jolley Scherston, '42, is back in the States visiting friends and relatives, from Caracas, Venezuela.

Mary and Benj. Miyares were in Tampa this summer. Both are working for the Government in Washington, D. C.

Three '51 graduates of the University, Robert D. Smith, Charles B. Jones and John S. Metcalf, are working as Assistant Research Physicists at the Naval Research Laboratories at Panama City, Florida. Robert T. Moore, although not yet a graduate, was accepted with the same rank as the other three men since he was a very efficient physics laboratory assistant at the University of Tampa. All four men were physics majors.

Olga Skokan is a home owner in Lakeland now - teaching.

Honor Graduate Bertha Linder O'Hare, Class of '51, is now secretary to Major Steck, Director of Public Relations and Adult Education here at the University. "Bert" is the wife of Professor O'Hare, Assistant Professor of English at UT.

Lorraine Oglesby Douglas, '46, has moved back to Tampa from Chicago.

Dr. Marjorie Barstow Greenbie, head of the Drama department here at the U, is anticipating the opening presentation of her play, "Count Phillippe's Wild Orange Tree" in St. Petersburg next month. Using the University's drama students as well as professional actors, they are hoping just out of Safety Harbor, to build an outdoor's theater at Phillippe Park and look forward to the play's becoming one of the outstanding attractions of the West Coast.

Margaret Doty, Dean of Women, and Charlotte Thompson, our Librarian, came back from a tour of Europe with the most interesting points of conversation.

Last but not least . . . the enrollment at the U has exceeded all expectations — we almost reached 1000!

President Rudy Rodriguez appointed members of The Nominating Committee this year as follows: Nancy Taylor, Chairman, Bud Pepper, Rosemary Bergwin, Joe Mills.

IN REMEMBRANCE—

Alumni join the University in mourning the passing of Dr. C. C. Denny, who for the past eight years served as Professor of Psychology at the University of Tampa.

His familiar figure around the campus is missed by everyone, and the absence of his guiding hand in the classroom is keenly felt by students and colleagues alike.

Homecoming Schedule

SPEARHEADING the activities of Homecoming this year is a very able alumnus, Tony Ippolito, Class of '50, former president of the Student Senate and now a member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. As a busy business man, (he is the Assistant Manager of Commerce Loan Company), Tony is calling on the various Fraternity and Sorority alumni groups for assistance and has assigned each one to be in charge of one particular activity.

Across the Editor's Desk

I wish I could share with you the feeling of pride that emanated from Dr. Guy G. Becknell, head of the Physics Department, as he showed me the University's laboratories today. They are comparable to the laboratories of our finest Universities, and he is justly proud of the students who have studied there and are now using their knowledge for the benefit of the world at large. It was at the home of Dr. Becknell that many of the initial plans for a University in Tampa were made, and he has served it faithfully these twenty years, watching its' progress, ever attendant to contributing to its' success in whatever measure he might do.

When you come back for Homecoming this year, give a thought to the part that you, each individual alumnus, have played in the making of the school. Give a thought, too, to what you may contribute to its' future. The Alumni Association of the University of Tampa is very anxious to keep in touch with former students and graduates of the University and is interested in knowing what they are doing and in hearing from them from time to time. Since the University is now anticipating full accreditation in December, we feel sure that everyone who has obtained credit here will be glad to join in with us in full support and enthusiastic appreciation. We are just beginning. There is much to be done.

This year we are adding to the Homecoming activities a reception for Teachers and those interested in the Field of Education. We estimate some 30% of our alumni belong to this group. We hope that each of you will visit the departments at the University in which your special interests lie. Another large percentage come from the Business Administration department. We hope to initiate Class Reunions. This year should be the reunion for the Class of '41. We need to form Alumni groups in more and more cities. This summer while in Washington I laid the groundwork for an Alumni group there, and in the next issue of the Bulletin we should have good news as to a complete organization. A group should be formed in Atlanta. You don't have to live here in order to be active in the Alumni Association. Wherever you are, there is a part that you can play in the future of the University. See you at Homecoming!
