Unveiling of Plaque

by Allan H. Windt

Due to the diligent efforts of Mrs. Crawford, on October 29, at 3 p.m. a plaque will be unveiled here at the University.

The plaque is being placed by the United States Department of Interior, National Parks Service, and will be included in its Registry of Historic Sites and Buildings.

According to the New York Times only 'landmarks of exceptional value' will be listed in the registry.

The building now occupied by the University of Tampa was originally the Tampa Bay Hotel, built by Henry B. Plant, this ornate Moorish structure, opened in 1891, at a cost of three million dollars. It was designed by James A. Wood, it became the social and cultural center of early Tampa. During the Spanish American War the hotel was headquarters for U. S. forces preparing to embark for Cuba and housed such visitors as Colonel T. Roosevelt, Clara Barton, Richard Harding Davis and General Nelson Miles.

It was purchased by the city of Tampa from the Plant family in 1905 at a cost of 125,000 dollars and since 1933 it has housed the University of Tampa.

After the ceremony, the University of Tampa Music Department will present a program in the Ballroom.

A quartet, consisting of: Luis Biava, first violinist, Catherine Karlson, second violinist; William Cassen, viola and Denise Howarth, cello.

The quartet will play: Haydn's quartet III opus 77 no. 1 and the first performance of Stephen Parks' Nocturne for quartet.

This plaque describes the history of the Tampa Bay Hotel. The unveiling will take place Sunday, October 29, 1961.

Past to Present Student Congress Cabinet

Seventy years ago on February 5, 1891, the Tampa Bay hotel held its Grand Opening Ball to celebrate the completion of the 550-room hotel built by Henry B. Plant. It was a glittering, festive occasion for the luxury hotel. Guests thronged the halls and rooms admiring the sumptuous carpeting, tapestries and the precious art works. Mrs. Plant had traveled through Europe to get the furnishings.

This year, over half a century later, the occasion will be re-inacted. October 21 marks the third annual Anniversary Ball to be held in what is now the University of Tampa. James B. Wall, Jr. is the 1961 chairman succeeding Mr. George W. Harvey. Proceeds from the ball will be used for University of Tampa scholarships. Attendance is by invitation only.

Programs and mementoes of the original ball have been studied in an attempt to create an authentic setting. The costumed guests will dance to the music of Lester Lanin and will breakfast at midnight.

John Hanna, President of The Student Congress, has announced that Judae Buckley will hold the position of Secretary of State to the University of Tampa. She will handle all affairs external to the university that concern the Student Congress.

Aaron Dowd will function as Secretary to the Treasury. His duties are to maintain an accurate financial report for the Congress by keeping record of all money spent.

The co-ordination of Homecoming procedures and any other problems which concern Greeks and Independents will be handled by Steve Corrao, Secretary of the I.F.S.C.

Roxanne Call has been appointed Secretary of Education College. Her duties are to handle problems of the Education College and refer them to the Congress, with a substantial analysis.

Cabinet members have no voting power in the Congress but will serve as a means of providing collective thinking throughout the student body, and to aid the Congress in its activities.

Moore Stars in Elon Defeat as Tampa Team Wins Three in Row

After three football seasons, the University of Tampa has won three games in a row. The unbeaten Spartans were able to accomplish this by posting their first shutout of the season, 13-0, against Elon College before 5,000 fans at Phillips Field, Saturday, October 14.

Only their own mistakes on offense kept the Spartans from making the margin even wider as they completely dominated the game.

Captain Charles Bailey led his team to hold Elon down so defensively, that the Fighting Christians trespassed only twice upon Spartan ground. Both occasions were during the second quarter — once after recovering a Tampa fumble.

The Spartans outgained Elon 353 yards to 85 but lost 110 yards due to penalties. They also fumbled away the ball three times.

Stunning TD's

The touchdowns were of the variety that served to stun the North Carolinians. Late in the second quarter, busy Bob Moore scored from the one-yard line after two passes had moved the Spartans in close. The second came on a 39-yard pass from Vaden Bessent to Dick O'Brien on the second play of the fourth period.

Not since 1958 has Tampa made such a good start. That year, the Spartans likewise won their first three games before being stopped by VMI on a single point decision, 13-12.

The Spartans had a 2-7 record last year, including a 31-0 victory over Elon. In 1959, they finished with a 3-7 ledger. This year, Tampa plays only nine games, so the worse could be 3-6.

However, no sports writers, fans, or students are looking for the worst from this fine bunch of young men.

Moore Twice

This was the night Bob Moore proved he is the number one Spartan full back. A 220-pound sophomore from Johnstown, Pennsylvania, Bob

Moore was a tackle last year. "He was tremendous," said Coach Huerta as he looked over the figures which showed where the husky had gained 105 yards — more than the entire Elon team — in 15 carries, a seven yard average.

Moore also retained his status as Tampa's number one scorer. His second quarter trip across the goal was his fourth of the year, a total equaled among the state's collegians only by Florida's Lindy Infante.

"We are very happy with our defense," added Huerta in somewhat of an understatement. "That's the most they've (Elon) been held this season."

"Of course, we've got some work to do on our offense. Busted assignments, fumbles, and penalties killed us."

There were other outstanding players for Tampa during the Elon game. Vaden Bessent, a sophomore from Jacksonville making his first start, completed 8 of 11 passes for 147 yards, making him number six in the state in total offenses before the game. Bessent lost 32 yards rushing for a net of 115 stripes.

O'Brien Helps

Sophomore halfback, Dick O'Brien caught three of the passes for a total of 61 yards. He added another 41 yards rushing in six plays.

Right halfback, Dick Caldwell of Brandon, a freshman making his first start, picked up 45 yards in 10 carries for the Spartans. He also caught one pass.

Sets Up Initial TD

The best catch of the night, however, was by end Jim Galmin. The New Jersey sophomore (freshman year of ball), made a leaping snag of a Bessent pitch at midfield late in the second quarter, eluded two men and raced to Elon's twenty-six before being forced out of bounds by a host of Fighting Christians defenders. The play covered 54 yards and set up the first TD.

Bessent came right back with a bullet over center to O'Brien, who fell at the five.

Right here Bessent blew it, but he managed to grab his own mistake out of the air and stumbled to the one-yard line. Moore crunched through right guard for the score with 40 seconds remaining in the half.

Big Jim Neve came in and kicked his fifth conversion of the season, to set the score at 7-0.

The drive covered 80 yards, not counting another 15 assessed against the Spartans for clipping back in their own territory. It came after Elon was held on downs at the twenty, its deepest penetration of the game. The opportunity for the Christians came about when Ron Bell popped on a Bessent "boo-boo."

A short punt out of bounds by Mike Little was turned into the Spartans' clinching TD. Tampa took cover on Elon's thirty-two, but a garbled pitchout from Bessent to Caldwell lost seven.

Then from the thirty-nine Bessent again threw down the middle to O'Brien, who ran over the only Christian defender in his way, Willie Tart, en route to the goal. The kick for the extra point was wide, and the score remained 13-0.

On three other occasions Tampa worked its way inside Elon's 10-yard line. In the first period the Christians bucked up and stopped a drive at the seven. In the third period, another thrust was thwarted at the seven, while in the fourth quarter, Elon tackle Charlie Strigo covered a fumble on his own three.

The last drive had been engineered splendidly by quarterback Ron Perez until the handoff to Caldwell failed to connect. Making his first appearance of the season after recovering from a groin injury, Perez had brought the Spartans downfield from Elon's forty-two after intercepting one of Tyrone McDuffie's passes on Tampa's forty-five.

Standing l. to r. are Dr. David M. Delo, Lou Gordon, and Manuel Aronovitz viewing the Israeli Room in advance of dedication October 22, 1961.

The dedication ceremony of University of Tampa's new Israeli Room is scheduled to take place on Sunday, October 22, at 8 P. M. The upcoming event was announced by Lou Gordon for the Zionists Organization of America, Tampa Chapter.

The program will include a presentation of the colors, including an American flag, and a flag of Israel. The presentation will be handled by Jewish War Veterans. Also included in the program will be a speech by Dr. David Delo on his recent trip to Israel and a speech by the Honorable Zeev Dover, the newly appointed Israeli Consul to the Southeastern United States.

Students will guide tours of the newly decorated room, which has paneled walls and a door displaying Israel's national colors. Highlight of the tour will be a display of objects of art from Israel.

The room is the first of its kind in the United States. Mr.

Gordon feels that students may gain an appreciation and a deeper understanding of the cultural heritages of other countries through a series of such rooms, each with a decor whose theme would represent various countries throughout the world. The Israeli Room is available for meetings, when not in use as a classroom.

Invitations have been sent to approximately 2,000 people. Refreshments will be served by members of the Faculty Women's Club.

The University of Tampa Symphonic Band, conducted by Mr. Hunter Wiley, will initiate the "Music on the River" concert series October 22, 1961.

Do We Want New Appointments?

The University of Tampa has been fortunate, indeed, to have received all the lovely appointments donated by numerous friends and benefactors of the school.

Last semester, for instance, the "Chislens" presented us with an imported Italian chandelier. Recently, they purchased five hundred dollars worth of wrought-iron chairs for the south porch. Presently, this group wishes to appoint the seats around "Esmeralda" in the main lobby.

Some members of the student body seem rather lackadaisical about the condition in which they leave this part of the school. Recently, members of the administration have had to call on janitors for extra work details to clean up the residue of cups, discarded cigarette butts, and strewn papers.

The Minaret believes that the question of whether or not we want newer and cleaner furnishings should be left to the decision of the student congress and student body. A cleaner atmosphere would certainly exhibit our desire for new appointments.

Support Your Advertisers

Every time your Minaret goes to press, there is a good portion of it occupied by advertising. If it weren't for these ads, we couldn't put out a school paper.

Local merchants like for students to see what they have to offer in the way of goods, and those businesses advertised in your paper just can't be beaten for quality.

Brand products advertised in your paper are furnished through the National Advertising Service, an agency that has shown tremendous interest in college newspapers.

When you see one of these ads, think of the businessman and the fine merchandise he has to sell you.

Remember, if you're shopping for quality as well as economy, look up your friends who have helped your university.

A Free Hour?

As upperclassmen came to class Monday they were greeted by the familiar sight of posters in the lobby. Most of these students only slightly glanced at the signs in order to see who the future freshmen leaders would be. Much to their surprise, they saw posters containing the names of fellow upperclassmen, requesting their election support. But weren't elections held last spring? Why were these positions vacated?

Two students became ineligible for student congress when they found that their classes would conflict with the student congress meetings, which are held on Mondays, from 12 to 1. This rule we are not questioning. It is quite evident that a student cannot fulfill his job efficiently if he cannot attend meetings; however, we can't help remembering the work that these students put behind their campaigns. Winning an election entails a great deal of time and money. Also, let's not forget that these were the people that the student body thought could best serve them.

Without a doubt the new student congress members will do a good job; however, we feel something should be done to see that this doesn't happen again.

If one takes a look at this problem he will realize that its solution will solve many other difficulties. The answer is obvious... the student congress should pick a meeting time when all students do not have classes. Now, is this possible at present?... No.

The only free hour the University has set aside is at eleven o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Any group wanting to have weekly meetings cannot pick the Tuesday hour because convocations are scheduled on this day. This leaves one free hour a week for all groups to use as their meeting time.

As one can well see, this is causing a tremendous conflict. Religious organizations meet at this hour, intramurals are held during this time; whenever any group wants to find a time when all persons involved can attend, they pick this hour.

We are constantly encouraging students to participate in extracurricular activities. How can a student be an active member of an organization when it meets at the same time as another and he has to choose between the two? Many times students find that they have to be at three and four places during that one hour.

We realize that this difficulty cannot be corrected this semester; however, we would like to recommend that the administration study this problem, for it will not get any better, only worse.

We feel that the solution is simple and would like to recommend that next semester the University adopt a policy which many universities have found to be effective. A free period should be set aside for every day of the week. At one time this practice may have been unsatisfactory, but due to the change from a commuter to a residence college we see no reason for not scheduling more afternoon classes.

Perhaps there is a better solution. We welcome comments from faculty, students, and administration. How this problem is solved is not important, the important thing is that it be solved, and solved now.

A Forgotten Thank You

It is all too often that when praise is handed out to those of the administration, it is just directed to those who carry the title, but rarely if ever is any mention made of those of the staff.

We would now like to express our appreciation to Miss Evelyn Bennett, secretary to the Dean of Men. I know the Dean will agree with us in saying that without Miss Bennett's cooperation his task this year would have been near impossible.

Her sincere interest in the problem of the students and her excellent judgement have saved many students, as well as Dean Hayes much time and trouble.

From the Dean

Elections are upon us! Already some of you in this University of Tampa community are confronted with the responsibility of selecting your leaders. You are selecting those individuals who will represent you for a year.

Dean Hayes

The assumption is that, because you have already been in our University-community environment for more than one-quarter of this semester, you are ready for this responsibility. Are you? There are three areas to check before answering this question. One: are you familiar with the obligations of this particular community that your elected representative must meet? Two: which one of the candidates is most capable to meet these demands of his office? Third and last: do you know what a leader is?

By definition, a leader is an individual who has the ability to lead. Involved are the position and function of a leader.

The position of the leader is to go at the head or to be in advance of the group represented. To be effective, the leader must be reliable and worthy of this position held.

As for function, your leader must know the situation within which the duties of the office must be accomplished. Awareness of problems is essential. And of utmost importance is the willingness to work and the acceptance of the responsibilities involved.

Therefore, look at each candidate from the point-of-view of his or her ability to lead. Can this candidate meet the requirements of the position? Is there the willingness to accept the responsibilities and work of the office? Can this individual represent you effectively among the other governing bodies of this community?

Yes, as mentioned earlier, you have a responsibility when you select your officers and leaders. Remember: these elections are not popularity contests. Make sure that you select individuals who are ready, willing and able to accept "the game" as well as "the name."

Book Review

by Richard Jaworski

Jack Kerouac's On the Road first won recognition as the expression of angry young men. The angry young man later became labeled by magazines and newspapers as the "Beats."

A main theme of the book is the quest for a meaning in life by Kerouac and friends. Frenzily Kerouac and "crew" crisscross the country in their journey for truth, carousing through New York, Denver, San Francisco, Chicago. Kerouac tumbles from city to city, from woman to woman. In nothing and nowhere does he find lasting meaning. Unlike Somerset Maugham's Larry in The Razor's Edge, Kerouac can find no answer that he can communicate to the world.

Looking at the book broadly, one sees that Kerouac is America-centered. He loves this country, its sprawling cities, its stinging prairies, its natural splendors, its rugged ugliness. Nowhere is the suggestion of his awareness for our Western philosophical and historical heritages, just as many Americans seem unaware of them. His life is the immediate life of what he sees and feels in the present.

From the book one sees that many of those throwing stones at the Beats might begin throwing stones at themselves first. Kerouac uses in his search the material values that Madison Avenue and Hollywood idolize (and that many Americans idolize): cars, parties, cigarettes, leisure, liquor, sex. But because Kerouac uses in his search the material values that Madison searches using the above very intensely.

Although many of the passages are lyrical and passionate, as a work of art the book suffers because of rambling and repetition, especially in the latter half. Perhaps this rambling of paragraphs and chapters suggests even more than words, Kerouac's confused groping for a meaning he cannot and did not find.

Jazz Workshop

By Doug Ehresmann

Jazz is musical form which has been in existence for about 45 years. It originated in New Orleans and has developed to a point where it is played by musicians all over the world. Jazz has gone through many stages of development before reaching its present form.

In addition to the musician, jazz is important to the listener, critic, and artist. Many artists have acquired their ideas and inspirations from jazz. David Stone Martin, a noted jazz artist, has illustrations of great jazz musicians appearing in magazines throughout the country. Mr. Martin has the remarkable ability of being able to interpret the musician's feelings and emotions.

During the past twenty years, jazz has reached new heights in popularity. The reason for this achievement is that people have come to understand the jazz theory and, therefore, have accepted it. This has been brought about due to the fact that many critics and writers have used jazz as a theme in their works.

Jazz was considered the music of the common people during its early development. Today, it is a musical form that is enjoyed by everyone. Because jazz reflects the attitudes of people; it has changed with the people. Today it is considered to be in its most complex form. It has this form because it is reflecting our society which is also complex. Jazz is one of the few strictly American forms of culture; it originated and developed here.

In this column the major performers of modern jazz will be discussed. Information concerning jazz concerts, programs, radio shows, and records of interest will be passed on to the readers by means of this column. There is a radio broadcast from Tampa U. devoted entirely to jazz (WTUN 88.9 FM). The D.J. is Paul Anthony, a student at Tampa U. This show will give anyone interested a chance to hear a full hour of the best in jazz. The program will be on Monday and Friday nights from 10-11 P.M.

This year's Homecoming theme is "Frontier-1961." The activities that are included will be competition among the lawn displays, "Skits," and floats. There will also be an election of a Homecoming Queen. Any established organization of the University of Tampa may enter this year's competition.

Plans for the lawn displays must be submitted to the Dean of Men's office by noon, October 27. A fee of $2.00 must accompany each plan. The construction of the displays will be on November 5, and they will be judged during the week of November 5 through November 11.

The deadline for float plans to be submitted to the Dean of Men's office was Friday, October 13. The floats in competition this year will be those of the eight fraternities and sororities. The parade will be at 12:30 P.M. on Saturday, November 11.

The "Skits" will be held on the evening of November 10. The deadline for submitting scripts to the Dean of Men's office for competition is noon, October 20. A $2.00 fee must accompany each script.

We urge as many organizations as possible to participate in this year's Homecoming festivities. If your organization would like to participate, and the deadline for plans for each activity has not passed, see the Homecoming committee or check the office of the Dean of Men for rules and regulations. This year's Homecoming committee consists of: Donald K. Blair, Chairman; Ray Andrews, Roseanne Cinchetti, Tina Sichel, and Larry Geller.

JOHNS HOPKINS SYMPOSIUM LECTURES REPUBLISHED

Tampa Professor's Translation Appears

"Lectures in Criticism," the collected essays of the Johns Hopkins University critical symposium held in Baltimore in 1948, has been republished in a paper-back edition by Harper and Brothers. The lectures by foremost modern critics were based on the works of great critics of the past. Present at the symposium, and then a member of the Johns Hopkins faculty, was Dr. Francis J. Thompson. Dr. Thompson, now of the University of Tampa English Department, translated and delivered a lecture by Benedetto Croce, an Italian aesthetician of international reputation.

Dr. Thompson was a member of the "Hopkins Review" editorial board, one of the most distinguished and respected literary journals at the time. This magazine which was very congenial to the New Criticism, a vital intellectual literary movement, contained the works of many of our modern poets and critics.

The symposium, made possible through the Bollingen Foundation, was sponsored by the former Department of Writing, Speech, and Drama of the Johns Hopkins University. The works of such critics as Aristotle, Longinus, Coleridge, and De Sanctis were examined with the hope of re-evaluating modern literary criticism. Lectures were delivered by R. P. Blackmur, Henry M. Peyre, John Crowe Ransom, Herbert

Dr. Thompson

Read, and Allen Tate. Benedetto Croce was unable to attend and his lecture was translated and delivered by Dr. Thompson.

Editor of the 1961 Torchbook Edition, Elliott Coleman, presents the collection of essays as a memorial to the men who contributed their time and work. Huntington Cairns of the National Gallery of Art, who presided over the formal meetings and discussions, prepared the introduction to the collection.

Theta Chi

Theta Chi Fraternity is now conducting a car raffle. Tickets are 50 cents each and can be obtained from any Theta Chi. The car we are raffling is a 1949 Plymouth 4-Door. This Plymouth really runs good. We'll appreciate the help of every single student to make this the best raffle yet.

At our meeting Monday night, Assistant Alumni Advisor, Andrew Mirabole, was present and said, "I feel this will be one of the best years Theta Chi ever had." Plans were approved for Homecoming skits, lawn display, and float. Tickets for the Homecoming Dance will be available from any Theta Chi as soon as the I.F.S.C. has them printed. Sigma Phi Epsilon

The Sig Eps of the Zeta Chapter had the pleasure of having brother Bob L. Kirkpatrick visit with them for a few days. Bob is a graduate of Idaho State University and is a staff representative for the Sig Ep Mother Chapter in Virginia.

The Sig Ep rush party took place Saturday, Oct. 14, and the Sig Eps had a combination pre-game and post-game party. A cocktail party was held before the game and a party at the American Legion Post 5 followed the game. The Sig Eps had Dr. Beiser and Dr. Stucky, two Sig Ep brothers of the University of Tampa faculty, speak at the party. The president of the student body, brother John Hanna, also had a few words to say to the rushees, along with brother Lowell Freeman (former Little All-American football player from Tampa). President Joe Delauri was the master of ceremonies at the Sig Ep post game rush party.

The Sig Ep Intramural team has been successful in its first two outings. The Sig Eps defeated Smiley Hall 14-6 and TKE 32-0. Captain Frank Sallo and Bernie Gaughan have been the two mainstays in the Sig Ep victories.

I.F.C. and I.F.S.C. have been functioning for the last few weeks and in their meeting representing the Sig Eps you will find such men as David Mitchell, Barry George, Lou Kovacs, Tony Yelovich and Sam Rampello.

Activities chairman Barry George has reported that his committee has been preparing for homecoming. Carol Martin is the chief figure in the Sig Ep plans and all Sig Eps are working and hoping that she will wear the crown of Homecoming Queen November 11.

THE DATING SEASON

I have recently returned from a tour of 950,000 American colleges where I made a survey of undergraduate dating customs and sold mechanical dogs, and I have tabulated my findings and I am now prepared to tell you the simple secret of successful dating.

The simple secret is simply this: a date is successful when the man knows how to treat the girl.

And how does a girl like to be treated? If you want to know, read and remember these four cardinal rules of dating:

1. A girl likes to be treated with respect.

When you call for your girl, do not drive up in front of the sorority house and yell, "Hey, fat lady!" Get out of your car. Walk respectfully to the door. Knock respectfully. When your girl comes out, tug your forelock and say respectfully, "Good evening, your honor." Then offer her a Marlboro, for what greater respect can you show your girl than to offer Marlboro with its fine flavor and exclusive selectrate filter? It will indicate immediately that you respect her taste, respect her discernment, respect her intelligence. So, good buddies, before going out on a date, always remember to buy some Marlboros, available in soft pack or flip-top box in all 50 of the United States and also Cleveland.

A girl likes to be taken to nice places

2. A girl likes a good listener.

Do not monopolize the conversation. Let her talk while you listen attentively. Make sure, however, that she is not herself a good listener. I recollect a date I had once with a coed named Greensleeves Sigafos, a lovely girl, but unfortunately a listener, not a talker. I too was a listener so we just sat all night long, each with his hand cupped over his ear, straining to catch a word, not talking hour after hour until finally a policeman came by and arrested us both for vagrancy. I did a year and a day. She got by with a suspended sentence because she was the sole support of her aged housemother.

3. A girl likes to be taken to nice places.

By "nice" places I do not mean expensive places. A girl does not demand luxury. All she asks is a place that is pleasant and gracious. The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, for example. Or Mount Rushmore. Or the Taj Mahal. Or the Bureau of Weights and Measures. Find places like these to take your girl. In no circumstances must you take her to an oil-cracking plant.

4. A girl likes a man to be well-informed.

Come prepared with a few interesting facts that you can drop casually into the conversation. Like this: "Did you know, Snookiepuss, that when cattle, sheep, camels, goats, antelopes, and other members of the cud-chewing family get up, they always get up hind legs first?" Or this: "Are you aware, Hotlips, that corn grows faster at night?" Or this: "By the way, Loverhead, Oslo did not become the capital of Norway till July 11, 1924."

If you can slip enough of these nuggets into the conversation before dinner, your date will grow too torpid to eat. Some men save up to a half million dollars a year this way.

had a one-man conference about your future lately?

You: Why the gold bars?

Future You: You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet. If we don't...

You: All right. But what can I do for the Air Force?

Future You: The Air Force needs college trained men and women as officers. This is caused by the rapidly advancing technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs.

You: Say I was interested... how can I get to be an officer?

Future You: You know about Air Force ROTC and the Air Force Academy. Then there's the navigator training program. You've probably heard about Officer Training School... where the Air Force takes certain college graduates, both men and women, and commissions them after three months of training.

You: Starting salary is important. What about that?

Future You: Add it up. Base pay, tax-free allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay. You don't have to be an eco major to see it adds up to an attractive package.

You: I've been thinking about getting my Master's.

Future You: As an officer you can apply for the Air Force Institute of Technology. At no cost, and while on active duty some officers may even win their Ph.D. degrees.

You: Tell me more.

That's the job of your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC110, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

Charles Bailey

As a quarterback in high school, Charles Bailey turned many defeats into victories for his team at Poco High School, Poco, West Virginia. Seeing his capabilities, some University of Tampa scouts asked him to join the Spartans on a part-time, try-out basis. It wasn't long until the coaching staff decided that Charles Bailey was worth a full scholarship, it not more.

Here are the results of their decision. In his freshman year, Charlie won two top awards. He was chosen as "The Outstanding Football Player" and "The Outstanding Athlete."

As time went on, he proved his position as end and has won a latter every year he has played for the Spartans. Last year, lady luck turned on Charlie, and a serious leg injury almost put him out of college ball completely.

Nevertheless, as coach Bailey put it, "Charlie was a darn good versatile ball player, and had the game in his blood." Placing him as defensive half-back, the strain on his injured knee was lessened and Charles Bailey was back in football.

Last year the Spartan captain won trophies for best line-man and best blocker. When I asked the coaching staff about Charles' capabilities for leading the 1961 Spartan warriors, they replied that he was a hard worker, he never loafed, and he has the spirit, loyalty, and drive to win. All these attributes seem to rub off on his fellow teammates. Charles Bailey's leadership is simple, he spurs his fellow Spartans on by action, enthusiasm, and physical power.

Outlook On Presbyterian

Coach Marcelino Huerta expects his team will be ready for the trip. Our defense was excellent," he stated, referring to the Elon game. "Our blocking was not sharp, the boys were missing their men. There were a lot of physical mistakes, for which there are no excuses. But we believe we can correct them."

Moore-Galmin Outstanding

After viewing films of the game, the coaching staff picked fullback Bob Moore and end Jim Galmin the outstanding back and lineman of the game. Moore got one touchdown and gained 105 yards rushing. Galmin caught a pass for a 54-yard gain which set up Moore's score, and in addition Jim viciously blocked and tackled all night.

Along with Galmin, Earl Bramlett and Charlie Rose gave the Spartans another good game at the ends. Tackles Marc Beaubien, Don Scott, Bob Banks and guard Jim Neve also made a good account of themselves.

The Spartans held the Christians to 81 yards rushing and passing. Elon was able to complete only one pass in 14 tries although quarterback George Wooten often hit his men only to see the ball bounce away.

and P. E. Majors Club. In second place are Pi Kappa Phi and Theta Chi both with a one and one record. Third place is also a tie with Tau Kappa Epsilon and Smiley Hall having a nothing and two record. All games are played under specified rules and there are officials present at all times. Football is not the only sport underway at this time, a horse-shoe tournament has just started and fencing will be coming up soon. Handball and volleyball will start in November. Games are played on Tuesday and Thursday from 11:00 to 1:00 and the entire student body is welcomed at all times.

Women's Intramurals

As the Minaret went to press, four teams were left in the women's volleyball tournament, the Freshman team, Alpha Chi Omega, Sigma Sigma Sigma and Delta Zeta.

A double elimination tournament was held this year. Thus far Tri Sigma is the only undefeated team.

Championship playoff is scheduled for Tuesday, October 24th.
