SENIOR PROJECT STATEMENT

General Overview:

The goal of my senior project is to showcase the skills and abilities I learned at the University of Tampa while pursuing a degree in Digital Arts with a minor in Art. I believe my strength is in my ability to be well rounded and produce good work in all aspects of digital arts. I chose a project that would show future employers that I am multifaceted and can take a project from the concept phase to a final production and that I am not only creative, but analytical as well. I also want to provide evidence that I am able to see the big picture, but can be detail oriented. I decided to incorporate my passion for cats into the project. I've always loved cats, and I consider myself a cat activist. I participated in raising money for cats and fostering multiple sets of kittens, as well as saving various stray cats. In my professional life, I aspire to be a designer of extraordinary spaces. It would be amazing if I could integrate my personal passion with my future career goals. I have not yet determined what that will be, but at least in the short term I can work with my personal passion and my passion for design to create a new product and service.

For my project, I will create a mock business for cat furniture and custom cat room design. Cat furniture is already on the market, however, current products tend to lack essential important traits. Cat furniture is often an awkward fit in a room or too brightly colored. It rarely ever blends with the aesthetics of a home or feels like a cohesive part of the environment. The cat furniture industry is about to change with my business. I will create custom designed spaces that are classy and elegant. I will also create classy furniture pieces that will be sold individually and will blend seamlessly with any decor but will be fully functional for the cats. Some of the functionality will be scratching areas, tunnels, play elements, and comfy places to sleep. The goal is that by creating an aesthetically pleasing and fully functional cat environment, I believe I can make both humans and their furry companions happier!

Scope and Audience:

My senior project is geared toward cat owners who want to make their cats happier without sacrificing their home environment. Clients will range from people who simply want to buy one or two cat friendly, classy pieces, to clients who want their whole house completely designed and remodeled to accommodate their furry companion.

Detailed Description:

My project will include researching the current market of cat furniture, as well as researching high end home designs. I will then interview a real client (my crazy cat lady aunt who is building a new cat shelter home). Next, I will begin sketching concepts for her cat space which will include furniture and decor. I will 3D model the cat space and texture and render it. I will create a brand and logo for my company as well as advertising materials using Photoshop and Illustrator to promote my business. I will then prepare a presentation to showcase my work.

Client Interview

Client Interview Notes:

Size of space:

The space is a one room, 13ft x 18ft foster space, with a five-foot window on the west wall and a ten-foot window on the north wall. The option for an outdoor cat cage can be adapted later in the construction plan.

Solutions: I will design the room to the specified dimensions leaving a cat-sized outlet for the future outdoor area. The goal is to extenuate the windows to give the cats easy access to outdoor views. I will be creating floor plans of traditional furniture and then figure out how to use the furniture layout to make functional pieces for the cats.

Number of cats in the space:

The space will typically hold three cats, however depending on necessity and season it could hold 1 to 6 cats. Sometimes she takes on special need cats that are blind or impaired in other ways, so the specific needs of these cats need to be considered as well.

Solutions:

I will include a resting space or bed area for each possible cat as well as two litter boxes in the room. By utilizing wall space and potentially even ceiling space, the space will hold the volume of cats more easily.

Clients preferred style:

The client prefers simple clean lines and modern vibe, however she is appreciative of standout pieces that “ pop” with splashes of bold color. She doesn’t want things like cat food, litter and bowls visible to the naked eye.

Solutions:

I will research modern furniture and try to figure out how the style can be functional and durable for a cat to play on. I am excited to create a few eye-catching pieces and create a functional piece of cat art for a wall or corner.

Is durability important?

Durability is important to the client because with the amount of cats coming in and out of, the current cat furniture she uses tends to show substantial wear in three to six months.

Solutions:

I will be using a number of strategies to make the environment more durable than a typical cat space. I will use mostly quality plastics and wood for the furniture. The couch fabric will be replaceable and water proof. Any scratching areas will have removable pieces that can be replaced without having to replace the whole furniture piece.

How much time humans spend in space and what will they be doing:

It’s important to include comfortable places for people to sit. The client likes to spend her down time enjoying the cats and socializing them. There are also many potential adopters that come in and out of the space and spend time in the room looking for the perfect feline match to take home with them.

Solutions:

The cat room will look like a living room with a small bar area. There will be a full couch as well as a TV area, although the cats interacting with the unique environment is likely to be the main attraction.

Needs to make cleaning easier:

Cat fur is challenging when there are multiple cats. The client spends a lot of time vacuuming rugs to keep them fur free.

Solutions:

I will add a hidden air filter to the room to help illuminate hair. I will also do wood looking tile flooring. I will add a small rug to make sure the room is cozy, but leave most of the tile exposed for easy cleaning. I will also add a bar that includes a sink which will create a convenient and easy place to wash cat dishes.

Preliminary Research on Cat Furniture

Cat Tree

Pros: Easy to construct, no installation, great for scratching, many different comfortable places for cats to play and sleep.

Cons: Tacky, lack stability, awkward fit in space, doesn't match the decor

Themed Cat Tree

Pros: works better with the decor, take up less space

Cons: lack the variety of play and rest options of the regular condos

Themed Cat Bed

Pros: eye catching, well decorated, comfortable

Cons: has no other function in the space other than to be a decorated cat bed. Takes up space.

Play Structures

Pros: much more appealing to the eye

Cons: still awkward to fit in spaces, only function is for cat play, no storage, appears to lack comfort

Wall Shelves

Pros: adding vertical elements adds to available space for cats

Cons: shelving that sticks below head height can be dangerous, individual wall elements tend to lack cohesiveness, possibility cats could fall of high shelves

Wall Shelves Simple

Pros: much cleaner lines, looks far more like regular shelves than cat furniture

Cons: lacks the level of comfort of typical cat shelves

Vertical Climbing Structures

Pros: modern looks, sleek enough to fit in many spaces, has scratching elements and sleeping spaces, durable

Cons: no other uses other than for cat

Cat Stairs

Pros: Tons of storage, durable

Cons: breaks up the room, a relatively large structure more beneficial for storage than functional for cat play

Table

Pros: unique, modern, functional

Cons: Sharp edges could be dangerous especially if the cat tries to jump directly into the holes

Cat Art Piece

Pros: eye catching, unique

Cons: takes up too much floor space and has no function, wall art would be a better solution

Cat Couch

Pros: functions as a couch and cat resting place

Cons: material lacks durability and would likely provoke cats to scratch it, multi-directional couches, although eye catching, do not function particularly well for watching TV or having conversations.

Cat bed coffee table

Pros: modern design, functions as coffee table and cat bed, takes up minimal space, durable material

Cons: potential for cat movement to cause drinks to spill, needs to be heavily weighted at base

Cat Furniture Over-all Evaluation:

By analyzing the general trends of the above researched cat furniture, I have concluded on aspects I want to pursue and potential issues I want to avoid. It's clear that functionality is a major concern. My pieces, with the exception of maybe wall pieces, will function as both furniture and cat areas. The pieces will match the home decor. I need to be careful that my modern, minimalist theme doesn't cause me to design pieces that lack variety for the cats. I also have to make sure that while the cats interact with the furniture, then don't interact negatively with the human living space (ex. Spilling over a coffee cup.) I will design storage areas into the furniture not just cat spaces. I constantly need to assess the safety of the pieces for both cats and humans, including making sure humans won't run into shelves and making sure there are no sharp corners. The pieces need to be designed in a way where the cats are accessible to the owner and can be located at all times.

Modern Furniture Inspiration

Modern clean lines, would need to be modified so cats can move from one piece to another. The addition of a cat friendly, non slip fabric to the top of the surfaces is necessary. Add ability for cats to access the inside of the boxes.

Would modify the spaces to be larger to fit a cat and close off some of the pieces to be used as human storage. I would also consider adding a backing or siding so there is a less likelihood that the cat would fall off.

I like this as a general concept, but it will need to be completely rethought to accommodate a cat's size.

I love this piece because it has spaces for the cats, while still allowing for plenty of storage and remaining minimal.

Although simple I think this chair would be a great piece, it almost works as a cat piece as is. The challenge with this piece is figuring out how to make it original. I also think the cat could attack the human's back.

I think this couch is horribly ugly and not very clean, however, I think that these loops at the end of the couch could be redesigned into a good cat area.

Open holes leave great places for cats to play and sleep, however, I think a piece like this takes up too much space for a chair.

Eye catching piece, but lacks storage space and takes up too much room. I could picture this being more successful in a slimmer version.

The sharp edges concern me, however I like the opposite facing pieces of wood pyramids, for a cat piece a full pyramid with a hole in it might work better

These are too simple to be effective pieces but I think they could inspire something that would work well. As just furniture pieces I think they are beautiful. I could potentially do a similar design with a cat wheel at the center.

Floor Plans

Pros: Plenty of seating, great access to the windows for cats, space for two litter boxes

Cons: room flow is awkward because one must walk in front of the TV to access the couch, lots of empty unused space behind the single chairs

Pros: Bar has extra seating and a window view

Cons: Does not make the best use of the large window, litter infringes on main living area, cats have limited window access

Pros: Cats have fantastic access to both windows

Pros: Room flow is awkward because one would have to walk around both couches, doesn't make the best use of the space, litter box is close to main living area, not enough seating

Pros: Litter is removed from main living space, plan is clean and spacious
Cons: Doesn't use space well, not enough seating, not enough furniture for cats to play and sleep on, cats have limited access to both windows

Floor Plan 5

1:30 Scale

Pros: Plenty of seating

Cons: Broken up bar and sink isn't space efficient or aesthetically pleasing, bar faces the wall, room flow is awkward, litter is closer to main living space than desirable, cats can only access one window

Pros: The room has a good flow, plenty of seating

Cons: Bar faces the wall, cats have limited access to windows, litter is somewhat close to main living area, limited space for cats to play, there is wasted space behind the rounded couch.

Pros: The room has a good flow, litter is removed from main living space, bar faces the TV

Cons: cats do not have easy access to windows, there is not as much seating as other plans

Pros: litter box is removed from main seating areas, bar stools face the TV

Cons: Not as much seating as other plans, cats can only access one window, couch seems to create a poor room flow

Pros: Uses the space well, has a lot of seating, gives cats access to both windows, litter box is removed from the main space humans will be in, plenty of seating

Cons: The bar faces a wall instead of a window or TV
