HOMECOMING PLANS ARE BEING MADE

GIRLS DORM HAVE PARTY FOR PLANT PARK OFFICERS

Many Girls Are Present To Entertain

The girls' dormitory of the University of Tampa entertained the Officers at Plant Park at a dance in the Student Union room Friday night, Nov. 3. This was their first dance of the season. The president of the girls' dorm, Joanna Reck, should be showered bouquets for being in charge of such a well-planned affair. Betty Faye Cumbie and Gladys Marie Ford greeted the guests at one door while Gloria Nicholas and Joanna Reck were at another entrance. These hostesses introduced the officers to the girls and later in the evening there was a Paul Jones to help the guests get better acquainted. The juke and the phonograph recorder furnished the music.

During the evening sandwiches were served and cold soft drinks were served to the guests.

The chaperones were Miss Hanley and Dr. Laub.

Newman Club Elects New Officers for Year

The Catholic Newman club of the University of Tampa held its meeting, Monday, Nov. 6 in the new club room.

Many plans were made and several were discussed for the future activities of the members. Further discussions were made, one of which was the planning of a social function to be given Wednesday night, Nov. 15. The time and place for the party have not been announced.

The Newman club decided, also, to collect a volunteer donation from the members for the Catholic Boys orphanage.

The main purpose of this meeting was to elect the new officers for this year. The officers are:

Marea Bordt, president.
Mary Julia Mena, vice president.
Millie Tomasino, secretary.
Margaret Havlik, treasurer.
Rommie Constantine, reporter.

Mrs. Fisher Speaks To Future Teachers On N.E.A. Importance

"Why should we support the National Education association?" was the topic on which Mrs. Fisher, principal of Gary school, spoke at the Future Teachers meeting.

"Many benefits are derived from it," she told the group. "Education is the road to human progress. Builders of these roads are the teachers."

She told what other countries have done for the education in their countries. Russia, in spite of the war, has increased appropriations to education 30 percent.

Britain increased for additional educational facilities nearly $250,000,000.

Potential members of the N. E. A. must keep accomplishing its work as well as officers and members.

She continued, telling of the N. E. A. by speaking on some of its history. The N. E. A. was chartered by congress in 1906. They began their journal in the first World war.

Art Spoltore Plays Halfback on Marines

The speediest carrier on the Fourth Division's infantry eleven is Marine Private First Class Arthur P. Spoltore, 25, who was a member of the all-Florida college eleven while a student at the University of Tampa.

Spoltore, who played for Georgia Tech last year, started his football career at Rergiomien Prep in Pennsylvania. He later played for Stetson university, DeLand, Fla., the University of Tampa, and then Georgia Tech.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Spoltore, Cumberland, Md., Spoltore joined the Fourth marine division after the Saipan and Tinian operations. He plays a halfback position with the infantry gridders.

VIOLET CONTE IS ELECTED PREXIE OF DRAMATICS

Dramatic Students Plan First Play

The members of the 313 Masquers dramatic club elected their officers at their first meeting. Dr. Douglas Angus, sponsor, presided temporarily until the officers were elected.

Violet Conte was elected president; Andri Martinez, vice president, and Virginia Smith, secretary-treasurer.

The chairman and the faculty advisor appointed the casting committee. Those on this committee are Violet Conte, Mildred Cronk, and Dr. Angus. The students have all had dramatic experience. This committee will select the casts for the plays for the coming year. The first play to be presented will be "Star-struck," a one-act play.

Ed Hall was elected carpenter and John Kershaw was elected electrician. Those on the costume designing committee are Billie Higginbotham, Joan Burnett, and Jean Freeland. The casting committee will appoint the stage manager for each play.

Notices and announcements will be posted on the bulletin board on yellow paper to attract the attention of the reader.

Initiation fee for new members will be $1.00 to be paid to the secretary-treasurer. This money will go to help the expense of the plays for the coming year.

Presbyterians Are Entertained by The First Church

The first Presbyterian church entertained the Presbyterian students of the University of Tampa last Friday afternoon at a tea.

Those women in the receiving line were Mrs. Helen Vass, Mrs. C. J. Woodruff, Mrs. Jim Clark, Mrs. L. B. Mallard, Mrs. L. R. Anderson, Mrs. Paul Bolles, Mrs. J. C. Tims, Miss Lizzie Lenfesty. Serving at the tea table were Mrs. J. C. Frist, wife of the pastor. Mrs. Abbott played on the piano throughout the reception.

The tall-lighted candles on the table added a soft glow to the room. Open sandwiches, mints, cashew nuts, and tea were served to the guests.

Those invited to the tea were: Ruth Bartlett, Dot Bledsoe, Margaret Bles, Catherine Bowen, Elaine Collins, Ann Doll, Eleanor Fisk, Dot Gonzalez, John Kershaw, Mary Jane Lewis, Dot Mallard, Lorraine Oglesby, Virginia Rankin, Joanne Reck, Kathleen Shumley, Katherine Stabile, Doris Thompson, Jean Varnell, Jayne Lee, and Marion Thomas.

Patriotic Reporter Asks Should We Have Observed Armistice Day

SHOULD WE HAVE CELEBRATED ARMISTICE DAY THIS YEAR?

By MARGARET HAVLIK

Virginia Smith . . . I don't think that we should celebrate or commemorate a holiday signifying an everlasting peace when we are in a war again.

Harriet Manning . . . I think we should celebrate so we can have a holiday.

Dot Mallard . . . Why celebrate a holiday which was instituted to commemorate an everlasting peace?!

Duane Locke . . . I don't think that we should celebrate it at this time.

Rose Marie Kelly . . . It would take too much time to give an answer.

Lin Hall . . . I think that we should celebrate all holidays.

Happy Ford and Mildred Baucom . . . We would have celebrated all Armistice days better if Dewey had been elected.

Doyle Bluemle . . . It depends, if the Schenley Corp. and the Seagram Corp. get their quota . . . then yes, definitely.

Clare De Vore . . . No. This war is ample proof that we would only have been celebrating a false peace.

Evelyn Jewell and Bobbie Lacey . . . Now that Roosevelt is back in office we will have a real Armistice to celebrate. Don't you think so, too?

Ronnie Constantine . . . Why not? It's wonderful to have a holiday—no classes, no study—not even a date.

Mary J. Mena . . . Yes and no. We should have a little celebration to keep in mind our boys of the last war. No, if we take too much time to celebrate, we may get behind in this war.

Doris Thompson . . . Anything for a holiday.

Josie Ramil . . . No, let's work for the war to end, then we can celebrate.

Dorothy Jackson . . . If people can find time to celebrate it during these busy days, I think that they might as well.

Jo Perez . . . Why should we celebrate when millions of our boys may be dying that same day.

Kitty Martin . . . Holidays are always welcome, but this war makes anything from the last one seem rather unimportant. I guess we ought to just concentrate on the present war and an ending for it.

Alice Arais . . . No, until we really have an Armistice to celebrate.

Laura Richards . . . Yes, only by redoubling our efforts to make it a real Armistice.

Charles Cuervo . . . Since Armistice day is a National Holiday, I earnestly think it should be celebrated the same as Fourth of July or Labor Day.

Manuel Alvarez . . . No, definitely not. Armistice day should not be celebrated because we are participating in one now and I don't think that it is appropriate.

Laura Mayor . . . Definitely, yes. Armistice day is set aside primarily to commemorate the memory of the soldiers who died in both this war and the last one. We should constantly keep in mind what they sacrificed for freedom, and not let them down.

Lorraine Oglesby . . . No, we should not, for after all the holiday was celebrated previously because we thought that all wars were ended and today we are at war again—so why celebrate some holiday which we failed its purpose?

Catherine Bowen . . . I feel that this Armistice day should be celebrated in an individual manner. That is where every head is bowed and a sincere prayer is made that an everlasting peace will soon come to the world.

Peggy Mack . . . These are not the times for a huge celebration for we are looking forward to an even greater Armistice day.

Violet Conte . . . I don't believe that anyone has it in his heart to celebrate knowing that millions are still giving their lives for their country and a right to democracy.

PLANS MADE BY STUDENT BODY FOR HOMECOMING

Many Alumni Are Expected at Affairs

Plans were made at the last student council meeting for the annual homecoming activities. We plan to make this affair surpass the last few years in gaiety.

As yet definite plans are not in order but tentative ones have been made. There will be an Alumni picnic about 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, Nov. 29. School and classes will be dismissed at noon of that day.

Following the picnic there will be held a pajama parade which will be in charge of the sophomores. The time will be about 7:30. At this time the upperclass will ride in cars, competing against each other for the most gaily decorated car. The judges will be the student council and three faculty members, Miss Moffatt, Mr. Keene and Mr. Reed.

Students returning from the parade will be entertained in the ballroom by the student body at a dance. The student council will sponsor the dance thus being hosts.

Jean Freeland has been appointed to be in charge of getting the orchestra, Bob Porton's.

The decorations committee comprises Evelyn Jewell, Mary Fulton, Ed Hall, Frank Comparato and Manuel Alvarez.

Those on the invitation committee are Bette Garrison and Hazel Bryan. Dot Gonzalez, Billie Higginbotham, Ruth Hardy, Dot Nylander and Violet Conte are on the entertainment committee.

The committee to work with the Alumni on the picnic will be Lorraine Oglesby, Laura Richards and Manuel Alvarez.

Betty Faye Cumbie will work with the dorm on the reception to be held from 4 to 5 on that same afternoon.

Student Council News

The Student Council at its meeting on Nov. 10, voted upon and made several new laws.

I. Female students of the University of Tampa are not permitted to wear slacks to classes of said school. They may, however, wear them on any other part of the campus.

II. An amendment to the constitution shall be placed before the student body to put into affect that the name student council shall be called student senate. This shall be placed before the student body at the next student assembly.

The chairman of the student legislative committee at the Florida State College for Women, appointed by their student senate, wrote our student council a letter suggesting that we appoint a committee to look over and study our rules and regulations and revise or eliminate some of the unnecessary laws. We, in order to cooperate with them appointed a committee to go over our laws and make a report to them. Students selected to be on this committee are: Marie Gibson, Mary Julia Mena, Billie Higginbotham, and Andri Martinez. The chairman who will call the meeting and who will write the report up is Marie Gibson.

Plans for the homecoming dance were also discussed which will be released in another story.

BIBLE THOUGHT

To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with Me in My throne even as I also overcame and am set down with My Father in His throne.—Revelations 3:21.

NINE WEEKS BLUES

The nine weeks period is now over and most of us have a guilty feeling because our grades aren't what they might have been. It is seldom that we have the nine weeks blues because our professors weren't fair but because we didn't treat ourselves fairly. We could have done better work. We just haven't made good use of the time we had.

No one knows better than a college student what is meant by an "off-week"—the week in which his assignments were at a minimum and likewise his tests or quizzes as they are often called. And of course no one knows better than "us" what a busy week is—when we have tests two or three a day and the assignments hang over our heads like the proverbial sword. We must use our "off-weeks" to get us through those busy ones with flying colors.

The hill-billy is usually represented as a loafer and a dumb-bunny. But he's not. He gets up two or three hours earlier than we do and does most of his work long before we are up and stirring around. He was saying time's a wastin' long before we were even up. We are the lazy ones not the hill-billy. We need an alarm clock not only to wake us up in the morning but to wake us up to the fact that we need to make the most of the "off-weeks" and come through with the victory song after the busy one.

Time won't be a wastin' then and we won't have to think of those lame excuses for not making good grades after the next nine weeks; we won't be singing those "nine weeks blues."

WHY USE ARBITRARY METHODS?

Elections have been coming up in the last few weeks and will be coming up in the near future. All students have been greatly enthusiastically about them. Some seem to have taken it a little too far. By this I mean that they have even caused ill-feeling among the students; one person was even thinking of resigning because he didn't nominate the person that he had been told to by a certain group of people. It is true that people should think of whom they wanted for a particular office before the designated time for electing but it is only common sense in knowing that a person doesn't like to be told who to nominate and who to vote for.

An example of this to further stress my point in this: A meeting was called to elect officers. The announcement of this was posted several days before, but one person didn't know about it through his own ignorance. Another person was told to nominate him and see that he was elected. Due to conditions beyond the other person's control he was unable to nominate that person. He was greatly reprimanded by the other members of that clan.

Such things as this going on will not only cause ill-feeling but it will keep those persons from ever being elected, for not only is their group too small, but they can persuade no other group of people to support them.

It is certainly good politics to try to persuade them to vote your way but such an arbitrary way in doing it is another story.

On Other Campuses

Recently Tampa university students visited the Florida Southern college and viewed their beautiful chapel, ruined almost completely by the hurricane, but workmen are busy trying to repair the ruins back to their attractively designed chapel. They also visited the attractive dormitories and sorority rooms that the girls have at their college. If only more of our girls could see their rooms; we would then get busy and make our rooms be in sharp competition with theirs!

The critical cigarette shortage has recently made the corn-cob pipe popular at the Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge. We mean the co-eds.

An instructor at the University of Oklahoma, William Foster Harris, teaching creative writing, reduced the basic pattern of fiction writing to a simple equation, like love plus pride. The students at the university have sold nearly a million words of fiction and have earned for themselves $10,000. Their stories have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, Cosmopolitan, The New Yorker, and many others.

Patricia Highberger, Westminster college freshman, can now claim the title of "The girl who let the cat out of the bag." Unpacking her suitcase after returning from a trip to her home, she was very much surprised to see her six-weeks-old Angora kitten, "Cinders," emerge from the bag, which had been packed more than five hours before. The cat must have crawled in and gone to sleep.

Luther Cobbey Gives Talk in Assembly Hall

"A good name means everything," guest speaker Luther W. Cobbey told university students in the general assembly, Nov. 7.

In correlation with American Education Week, Mr. Cobbey emphasized the need for a better and more thorough education. The students of today will be the presidents and the executives of tomorrow.

In America, an individual is born with the right to make a name his posterity will be proud to claim. The name itself is merely a meaningless word. It is the meaning associated with the name that is important.

To illustrate this point, Mr. Cobbey stated several world famous names. Immediately the assembly thought of some outstanding accomplishment the name represented.

To protect our American way of life in the future, it is the privilege and duty of every young person to begin building a good name today.

Mr. Cobbey, an attorney, who realizes the importance of education, declared university students should take advantage of all the educational opportunities opened to them.

University Is Proud of Its Reading Clinic

The University of Tampa has a large education department with one of its main features the reading clinics. These clinics are in charge of these pupils in the reading methods classes under Dr. Babcock's supervision.

There are three cheerful and gayly painted reading rooms. Each room is equipped with reading literature, comfortable chairs, and small tables. There are also several testing machines to test the children's eyes. The telephonular machine and the ophthalmograph. There are tests on the grade level of the child from the first grade through the secondary grade levels.

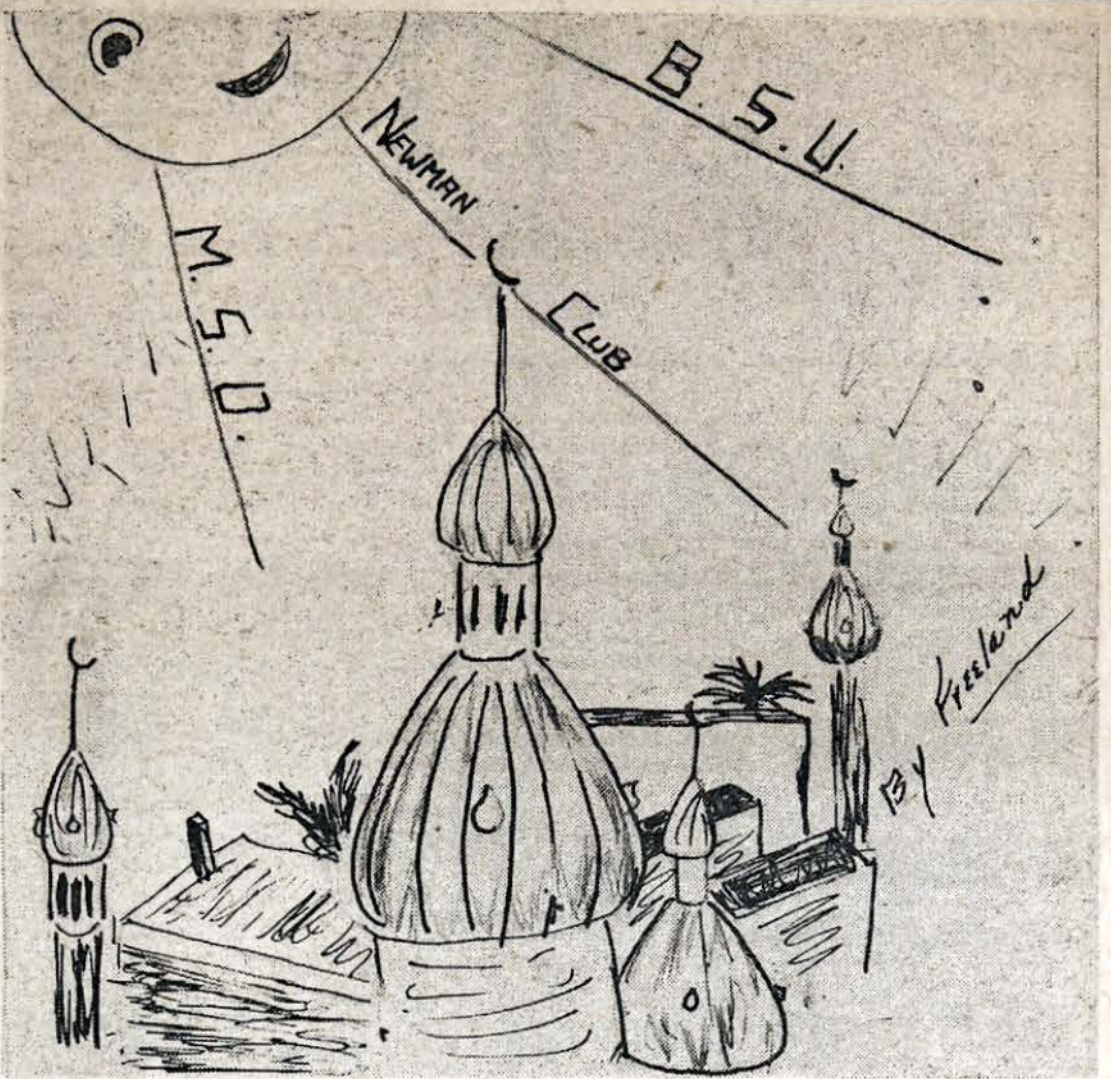

Pupils admitted to the clinic are those with an average or superior intelligence but who are not able to read or need remedial work. Each student in the reading methods class takes on a student to help him throughout the semester. At the beginning of the semester the student interviews the child and the parent. She also interviews the teacher of the pupils. The teacher may be able to give some helpful hints. She asks the child what his interests are such as airplanes and she plans to build the lessons around these points of interest to motivate the child to desire to learn. The child should be taught the necessity of learning to read to help in what he wants to be when he is grown. The teacher uses material that is furnished to her in the reading class or clinic. This material is on all levels and of all types. She meets the child who has a reading problem once a day three times a week. Besides teaching him actual work in the clinic the teacher tries to bring in other things in relation to the subject. She may take him to the park to see the various animals and to see the bear. Or she may take him to see the ferry boat. This motivates the child and stimulates him to want to read. The student teacher after each meeting writes up a history of the child's progress and how and what she does to bring it about. This may be used later for reference to use with that child or to help another child who has much the same problem.

There are so many requests to place more children who have reading problems that we are asking underclassmen to take an interest in this and enroll at the beginning of next semester. The course "Teaching of Reading" is required to major in elementary education therefore it is wise to take it in your early years at Tampa U. You are also helping a young American to learn to read and thus be a good citizen of the United States. The field of reading will definitely become a specialized field in the post-war world.

Ask Aunt Carrie

Dear Aunt Carrie:

I've been sick two weeks. Dr. "X" described my case as pneumonia. How can I be sure? Often doctors diagnose a case as pneumonia and the patient dies of something else.

SICKLY SUSIE.

Dear Sickly Susie: If it's the doctor I'm thinking of, when he diagnoses your case as pneumonia, you die of pneumonia.

Dear Aunt Carrie: Theophilus Thistle, the thistle-sifter, sifted a sieve of unsifted thistles. If Theophilus Thistle, the thistle-sifter, sifted a sieve of unsifted thistles, where is the sieve of unsifted thistles Theophilus Thistle, the thistle-sifter sifted?

THEOPHILUS THISTLE.

Dear Theophilus: "Thistle" be enough from you.

Dear Aunt Carrie: What do you think about engaged girls dating? Everybody else has expressed his opinion, why don't you?

HARRY ETT.

Dear Harry Ett: That is entirely up to you. Let your conscience be your guide. If you think you're doing right, what everybody else thinks shouldn't matter.

Dear Aunt Carrie: I'm from the hills o' Tennessee. One of the Martin Clan boys done come over here and has been a'seein' my daughter. When I asked him if his intentions were honorable or dishonorable, all I could get him to say was, "Do I have a choice?" What to do?

ONE OF THE MCCOY CLAN.

Dear McCoy: If you're one of the real McCoy's, you'll find out.

Dear Aunt Carrie: I went steady with a boy that left a few weeks ago. The other night I had a date (?) to the Recital with an officer, and fifty people have impressed upon me how untrue I am. What do you think?

MEGGY.

Dear Meggy: The only thing worse than being talked about, my dear, is not being talked about.

Dear Aunt Carrie: I met a Lt. the other night that I thought was just my type, but I was informed later by one of my friends that, and I quote, "he is fast as h—" (pardon me, Dean Rhodes). Should I or shouldn't I go and find out for myself?

PERPLEXED.

Dear Perplexed: Oh, go of course. By the way, the price of sledgehammers and handcuffs has now been reduced 50 percent.

Dear Aunt Carrie: I'm in Who's Who, why can't I get a date?

W. W.

Dear W. W.: The boys don't want to know Who's Who, they want to know What's What.

Dear Aunt Carrie: My boy friend overseas sent me a picture of himself and his new mustache. If he does not cut it off by the time he gets home, I will be forced to turn my affections elsewhere. He has been warned. What more can I do?

ROSE.

Dear Rose: Send him that book, "The Razor's Edge."

Love,

AUNT CARRIE.

Delta Kappas Plan Night Club Party In T. U. Ballroom

Plans were also made for a night club party to be given in the Student Union room. The theme will be carried out by having a master of ceremonies, Rosalie Mathis, who will present entertainment, sweet girl swimmers, a singer, etc.

The officers of Plant Park will be their guests. Those in charge of arrangements are, entertainment, Catherine Bowen and Rosalie Mathis; refreshment, Billie Higginbotham, Cynthia Moran and Glenna Hill. The members discussed their plans at a luncheon at the Candlelight cafeteria.

It is better late than never but the trouble is that "late" is so often liable to become never.

Better not strike while the iron is hot—unless you know how and where.

Alpha Gammas To Play D. K.'s for The Championship

The Volleyball season is fast drawing to a close for this year. There are only a few remaining games to complete the intramurals. Last week the Freshman defeated the Delta Kappas in a surprising upset. As the D. K.s had not lost any games up to this time. The Frosh really played a swell game with their players really on the beam. Then the other game was to have been played this past Thursday but the Frosh failed to get out so the D. W.s won by forfeit. The Frosh have now two losses against them while the D. K.s have only one. The Alpha Gammas have only one loss against them also. This Thursday the final game will be played between the Alpha Gammas and the Delta Kappas. This game will decide the Volleyball champ for this year's intramurals. The intramurals will continue in a couple of weeks with the annual basketball season. Let's don't forget to be out Thursday for the final game and show some real spirit.

The Varsity Volleyball team defeated the University Frosh out at the trailer Park Gym Nov. 3. The Frosh played a good game and really kept the Varsity moving fast. Their captain was elected, she is Evelyn Jewel and her team is composed of Mildred Du Bois, Aquilla Baker, Eugenia Exum, Gertrude Cameron, and Ebbie Parks, and a few others. The Varsity team is composed of Margaret Havelik, Peggy Mack, Jayne Lee, Violet Conte, Millie Tomassino, Lois Sanchez, Mary Fulton, and Catherine Bowen, captain.

The Frosh won by a forfeit Thursday Nov. 9. The Varsity was defeated by the McDill Field WACS. The Varsity won the first game, but the WACS rallied in the last two games and defeated the Varsity. There are only a few games left the next one will be played Thursday night at the Trailer Park Gym.

The offering taken at the service will be sent to the Florida Methodist Children's home at Enterprise. All students and faculty are invited to attend.

The Methodist students plan to work on their room Wednesday 3-4, so that all future meetings may be held there. All help will be greatly appreciated!

AG Pledges Entertain Members at Surprise Party

Tentative plans are being made by the alumnae group of the Sigma Theta Phi sorority for their annual homecoming luncheon for the alumnae group, active members of the sorority and pledges.

Lies are good roadsters, but they never run very long without meeting something that causes them to shy and throw their riders.

Fashions

By KITTY MARTIN

Now that O. D.'s are the order of the day, Catherine Bowen (you know, the girl with all the suits) has come out with a good-looking olive drab tailored suit. That red wool jersey dress of hers is very O. K., too. It has a gathered skirt, fitted bodice, plain round neck, and three-quarter length sleeves, fastened with red and gold buttons; similar buttons on the bodice. With it she wears black patent leather sandals and carries a black bag with gold monogram.

Straight lines with a drape-effect seem to be the prevailing style of most of the newest dresses around here. At the dorm party last week Katherine Klonaris wore a red crepe number with a slightly draped front, three-quarter length sleeves, and a large silver clasp at the waist. Mary Lerios wore a stunning aqua dress, gathered to the ruffle that extended the length of the front panel. Fuschia flowers and white lattice-front pumps were her accessories.

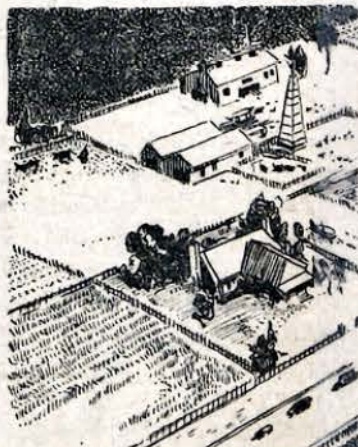

Doris Thompson is also sporting a beautiful aqua crepe frock with square neck, ruffled down one side of the front; the three huge buttons on the blouse and belt are of the same material. Those neat-looking pumps with the square toe and open heel will look sharp with it, Doris.

The black tissue-taffeta suit seen on Evelyn Jewell lately is sharp as a tack. Speaking of suits Betty Ruth Israelson's pear gray number with the gored jacket is just about the smoothest thing at T. U. But have you seen the gray flannel jacket, skirt and slack outfit Bette Garrison got out of hock for Bill's benefit not so long ago? The jacket is fitted with a round neck and knitted sleeves—not bad!

Have you seen the latest in men's shirts? Our freshman girls are wearing bright, over-sized plaid, flannel jobs, which when about half the material is cut away might almost fit. Really, Mildred, Audrey and Eugenia, we think they're cute, but what screwy thing can you think up next to fill this column for the next edition?

All girls who have earned a university letter either last year, or sometime in the past, please take note. There will be a club organized for these people. We must have a meeting to plan and set up a constitution in order to secure a charter from the university, thus allowing us to organize this society. All girls who are interested in any form of athletics will certainly be interested in this club. If you are the winner of a "T" you are asked to meet here at the university at 6:30 Thursday evening to help set up plans for this club. Come on gals out with the good old school spirit.

ALL GIRL CHORUS, ORCHESTRA GIVE PERFORMANCES

Dance Department Participates Also

Monday night, the All Girl Orchestra and Chorus, under the direction of Lyman Wiltse, played to a very appreciative audience at the USO on N. Boulevard. The boys really gave the girls a grand reception. They seemed to enjoy it tremendously.

Out in the patio, the girls got off to a good beginning with their theme song "Neath the Southern Moon." As the orchestra played "Holiday for Strings" Glenna Hill, Mary Jane Lewis and Dot Mallard harmonized the dreamy middle portion of the piece. Dottie Gonzalez displayed her charm and grace as she interpreted "Our Waltz" as the orchestra played. As the orchestra played "It Had To Be You," Mimi Ferlita sang it. Then the chorus assembled to sing "The Night Is Young," with Ruth Hardy as soloist. Using the chorus as a background, Billie Higginbotham whistled "I'll See You Again." For her encore, Billie used "Indian Love Call." Dot Nylander really did a fine presentation of "Il Bacio." As the orchestra played "Malanguana" Dottie Gonzalez returned to grace it with a lovely dance. Mimi Ferlita sang "Time Waits for No One," and used "I'll Walk Alone" for her encore. As the orchestra played the rhythmic "Song of the Bayou," the chorus sang a portion of it. With the theme song, "Neath the Southern Moon," the curtain dropped on a very successful show.

On Tuesday night, the girls did another swell job at the Playhouse at Drew field. The boys gave them a swell audience. They appreciated it immensely.

On Monday night the 20th of November, the Music and Dance departments will present a program for the benefit of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Federated Clubs building. The music will consist of much the same numbers as are being used for the entertainment of service men around here. The chorus will add to its repertoire "Rain" and "Into the Night." The Dance department, under the direction of Miss Ruth Moffat, will make its first appearance of the year. Tchaikowsky's "Romance" will start the performance

Rev. Lipscomb, Guest Of BSU of Tampa U.

By BETTY ANNE SMITH

Rev. Clyde B. Lipscomb, in charge of the Baptist Student work in Florida, was a guest at Tampa university on Oct. 30. Mr. Lipscomb and the BSUs had supper together at the Candlelight Restaurant, about which a meeting was held in the BSU room at the university.

A trio, which included Ruth Hardy, Dot Nylander, and Hazel Bryan, opened the program by singing the "Spirit of the BSU." Reports from the students who attended the state convention at Lake City gave us a bird's eye view of their week-end. Our Devotional vice president, Hazel Bryan, closed the program with a devotional made even more effective by the quiet strands of "Nearer My God to Thee" floating in to the room. Dot Nylander was the violin soloist.

Mr. Lipscomb then met with the council smoothing out the problems of each officer.

A council meeting was held on Nov. 7, and plans for the annual Thanksgiving Sunrise Service and Breakfast were discussed. We invite both faculty and students to join with us in this service. It will be held "Down by the Riverside," 7:00 a. m. on Nov. 29. Immediately following the worship service, donuts and coffee will be enjoyed by all in the dining room of the First Baptist church.

When Johnny Comes Marching Home

The train pulled into Hometown station at four o'clock in the morning, and Johnny Doughboy arrived back from overseas, home again. Johnny didn't come back in the same condition that he left—he was one of the unlucky ones. How will he find home, the home he left three years ago? The people in Hometown want Johnny to go back to the happy, normal life from which he left. Therefore, they followed a few simple rules.

Mrs. Jones next door didn't ask too many questions. She told him that she was sorry to hear of his bad time but didn't ask for a medical report every 15 minutes and didn't ask him constantly about his wound, the very thing he was trying to forget. She figured that if he had desired to talk about it that he would have.

As Johnny met his old girl friend, he searched her face for some sign, some emotion that would show him just how much difference the fact that he was wounded would affect their relationship. He didn't find this sign in Mary's face. All he saw was the smile and the sweet girl that he had fallen in love with before he had left for overseas. She was the same. As far as he knew, she never even noticed his wound, because she didn't cry.

Bill, the kid brother, didn't break his neck trying to be polite to Johnny, because Johnny still remembered Bill as the little scamp that he was. Bill talked to him just as he had always done, wise-cracking and kidding as he had always done.

Perhaps the two people that were the most upset by Johnny's wound were mother and dad, but as far as Johnny could see, they were just glad to have him back, loved him, and wanted him. Dad helped him get a job in the factory, helping make airplane bolts. Mom went ahead and cooked the foods that Johnny loved so and had been deprived of for so long. She didn't cry and throw up her hands in despair every time she looked at her son, because she realized that this would only be bringing up again his hardship.

In short, Johnny's family tried to keep everything just as it had been before he left. That's what he had been fighting for.

Art Club of Tampa U. Will Give Program

The Brush and Palette club has been doing a great deal of post-war planning.

Since their out of town trips have been curtailed, the young artists have spent a great deal of their time sketching with their brushes and pencils.

They've also been doing a lot of ambitious talking about the U. of Tampa and plan to make Tampa the art center of the south.

The members believe the ideas establishing a museum, here where the works of all artists in the community can be exhibited ring with possibilities.

The artists plan to take a trip after the war to Key West to Georgia to depict Florida's beauties, visit museums and exchange ideas with other young artists. Needless to say they want art to surpass even the position it held before the war.

The projects of the club have to do with city beautification and furnishing posters for clubs and service programs.

They participated in the American Education Week by contributing posters. They will give the first program for the Civic Art commission.

Members of this club are eligible to exhibit their works in shows given by the Florida Federation of Art.

The club was founded in 1938 by the art students.

The sponsor is Mr. Borchardt and the president of the organization is Billie Higginbotham.

When a young man looks at you two or three times do not be sure whether he is stuck on you or regarding you as a curiosity.

People never know exactly what others think of them. Nature wants them to be as happy as possible.

All students are urged and requested not to use or operate the elevator. It is only used for freight. Many accidents may occur through use of it.
