Original Composition To Be Presented

By MARY JO GLENN

Alpha Mu Tau, provisional chapter of the Sigma Alpha Iota national honorary music fraternity, will give their annual recital Sunday, May 9, 2:30 p.m. at the Federated Clubs Building.

Opening the program will be the Minuet from the String Quartet No. 2 by Mozart. The string quartet will also play Carl Von Dittersdorf's Andante and Emigrants by Pochon. Members of the string quartet are 1st Violin, Jeanne Wiltse; 2nd Violin, Jennie Cusmano; Viola, Evelyn Jewell; Cello, Mrs. Kathleen Wiltse. Mrs. Wiltse, advisor for Alpha Mu Tau, was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Dorothy James, soprano, will sing an aria "Adieu, forests!" from Jeanne d'Arc by Tchaikowsky, also, "Birds", by Charles Huerter. Dot is a graduate of Jefferson High School and has been studying at the University for the past three years. She holds the current scholarship of Alpha Mu Tau, awarded by the patroness.

Miss Peggy Mayo, one of the charter members of the Tampa Symphony Orchestra will play an oboe solo. Miss Mayo has chosen for her selection "Pastorale Caucasienne" by Joseph Strimer.

The highlight of the afternoon's entertainment will be a Sonata for Violin, an original composition by Joyce Wiltse. Miss Wiltse, daughter of Professor Lyman Wiltse, is one of the youngest members of the breakfast for the Alumnae, patro-Florida Composers League. Miss Jeanne Wiltse will play the solo accompanied by her sister, the composer. The Sonata is in three movements; allegro, adagio non lento, and scherzo ma non troppo.

During the intermission that will follow the Violin Sonata, Miss Mildred DuBois, President of Alpha Mu Tau, will announce the officers for the coming year. After this short intermission, the program will resume with selections by Miss Laura Hester Hoffman, contralto, an alumnae member of Alpha Mu Tau. Following her work at the University of Tampa, Miss Hoffman continued her studies at Eastman School of Music.

The talented pianist, Miss Mary O'Brien, will present a piano solo, Schubert-List's Soiree de Vienne No. 4. Miss O'Brien is noted for her technique on the piano.

Closing the program will be three selections by the Alpha Mu Tau Chorus. This group consists of:

A reception by the patronesses of Alpha Mu Tau for the guests will be held in the Foyer of the Federated Clubs Building immediately following the recital.

At 9 A.M. on May 8, the Palm Room of the Tampa Terrace Hotel will be host to Alpha Mu Tau at a breakfast.

To The Citizens of Tampa

Inside these red brick walls, topped by gleaming silver minarets, there exists a warmth, a love, a happiness, not enjoyed in many schools throughout the country. No matter how much we discuss or cuss the University of Tampa, we all love it.

The University of Tampa is a money-making proposition for the people of Tampa. Open your hearts and your pocket-books to this University. It brings the citizens of Tampa almost a million dollars each year. It brings in not only out-of-state money, but money from our own citizens who must clothe, feed, and support their children who attend the University of Tampa. Were the University of Tampa located elsewhere, this money would not come to Tampa.

The University is young. It needs help. It must have help. It must have your help. It is up to you, citizens, whether it grows into manhood or dies in youth.

This paper finds it a privilege and an honor to make this unsolicited appeal to you. To our advertisers who have seen this paper through a very trying year, we extend our deepest thanks. To the citizens of Tampa who have helped, we are asking that you help again.

Dr. Nance has tried, with the help of a few, to make the University of Tampa nationally known. He has tried to make it your University.

Support the University of Tampa in every way you can. Sell yourself the idea that the University of Tampa is your University. It is your home town University and some day where now only a thousand attend, ten thousand will attend.

POINTS

By CARTLIDGE

APOLOGIA—

HAD QUITE A FEW COMPLAINTS about t'other week's column which dealt with the neglect of the T.U. Library. We want to clear this up immediately for all time—the library article was in NO way to be construed as a slap at our veddy, veddy capable librarian, Miss Thompson, or any of her staff. The point we tried to make, although it didn't seem to register with some people was that the library is badly understaffed and that the present staff is terrifically overworked. Much more help (and cooperation from the students) is the item needed. There is a limit to the amount of work that anybody (even Miss Thompson) can do.

(P. S. to whom it may concern: Take a copy of Webster's Dictionary in thumb and forefinger of right hand once every two weeks immediately following issuance of this rag and you will be surprised to discover that different words do have different meanings).

A SHY PEEK AT CAMPUS POLITICS—

WE HAVE OFT WONDERED why politics on this campus should be so off-the-cuff. No political parties—no campaign platforms—in fact, no nothin'. Now, we realize that political parties are in some ways an evil—but since that is the only way things are done in the political arena "outside," then wouldn't it behoove us to take a mite cog-advocating the squaring off of fraternity against independent. Some nizzance of this and start doing things the way they will have to be done eventually? Another point is that the political races in this school usually settle down to a personality contest. The people who win the beauty and personality contests for the yearbook are almost always the ones who walk away with the biggest political offices. Not that we are deprecating the all-important factor of personality but we do realize that brains and common-sense are even more necessary for the proper fulfillment of a political office. A two or three party system would, in our opinion, bring better picked and more capable candidates to the fore and at the same time would not preclude the possibility of an unlimited number of independent candidates.

THE INDEPENDENT VOTERS in this school have for too long been completely ignored when time came for consideration of candidates and platforms. John Q. Student usually has the choice of voting for one of two candidates, one of which is a rabid Foo Alpha and the other being an equally rabid Diddely Tau. Poor John Q. knows that he'll be shafted either way, but he shakes his head sadly, votes for the least obnoxious of the two, and retires deeper into his shell of apathy. If all the John Q.'s would get together they might be surprised at the potent wallop they could pack in an election. We are not (repeat—NOT) frat men consider the school above the fraternity, the same holding true for some independents and their own cliques.

THE FINAL AND CLINCHING tab shows that although independents comprise an overwhelming majority of the total student body, the independents have been seldom, if ever, represented in the higher offices of this school! Think it over. It's a point.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor(by courtesy only),

A short while ago I made, what I considered an unusually fine contribution to the Minaret. Now, Miss Humes, my problem is . . . why . . . wasn't it printed? I realize that the subject matter "The Economic and Social trials and Tribulations of the Citizens of Outer Mongolia" was not exactly appropriate to the students of T.U. but I did think that you, the editor, at least would join with me in trying to cast a beam of light into the morass of darkness that the minds of T.U. students consist of. Or maybe it was my sentence constructure.

Anyway, why wasn't it printed? I demand to know.

Insincerely yours,
Sarah Ophelia Bannahano

Couple of the week: Jean Harter and Bob Alexander.

New twosomes seen at the Sigma Theta Stardust Ball Friday night: Norma and Skinny; Bruce A. and Mike D.; Lula Belle S. and Joe Russo; Adele and Jim C. Oh well, variety is the spice of life!!!

So!! the Jacobson-Timmerman duet was serious! Congratulations to you both and the best of everything.

Cute couple this week Madge K. and Don McKee. Hope to see you two around some more.

Speaking of the McKee's . . . Joe McK. thinks he's a social outcast because his name has never been in this column . . . just because you're such a good boy, Joe, it never does.

Open Letter to Ned Maloney: Hey, Ned! Why don't you go to more of the school dances? You looked like you were having fun at the DK Pledge dance, what's the matter with the rest of them, and the rest of the girls a 8.U.???

Glad to see you finally made it to the dance Friday night, Elena!! You are too, eh Jimmy???

Anyone notice the cute senior girl from Hillsborough High School that Dick McI. is dating now? How about bringing her around more Dick?

Seen billing and cooing from 'early' in the morning until 10:45 at night are Billy and Pat. Could this be serious, or just spring fever???

How about the Stranahan-McNish romance? Is it or isn't it???

People who don't like what was said in my last column about their "manners" need only improve on them, or write into this column and this writer with their beefs. But, you know, I could be right.

Congratulations to the '313 Maskers on their performance of "Anna Christie" last week. They deserve a word of praise for their hard work and for their performance.

Did you go to the Art Department's "exhibit in the park" Saturday?? You should have—it was good and we should have more ex-

HERE and THERE

By BRUCE C. ATKINS

IT'S A JOKE, SON

Something that may tickle your sides is the fact that when I helped the 3-13 Maskers put on their production of Anna Christie the other night by pulling and opening the curtain, after the last scene, I was pulling the curtain to, I suddenly discovered that my foot was tangled in the curtain ropes. I pulled the curtain anyway, and there I was, with one leg high above my head and the other teetering on the floor, knowing that if I slipped, the curtain would reopen at such a speed that would make the nex jet planess blush.

SPEAKING OF THE THREE-THIRTEEN MASKERS, I want to congratulate Professor Roy A. McGillivray for his fine job of directing, Victor Leff for a fine job of producing, and to the actors I give to each a four-star award for the fine performance they gave. To Doris Johnson four stars for Anna, a job almost professional, to Dick Saxon four stars for his portrayal of Matt Burt, and to Guy St. Paul four stars for his performance as Chris, Anna's father.

GADS! Was I surprised. I looked in on a music lecture last week and who should I see but Chuck Barus sitting in the front row and looking like he was enjoying himself. Oh, well, they say music hath charms.

AND NOW TO THE MOVIE REVIEWS: "Fort Apache"—give it back to the Indians. Dear Hollywood what happened there? "Three Darling Daughters," Jeanette McDonald as lovely as ever, but her voice is getting weak. Jose Iturbi at the piano, Jane Powell and Edward Arnold made this picture delightful.

A little late, but nevertheless here it is, to the "Swordsmen" saring, Larry Parks and Ellen Drew, I give three stars.

James Stewart and Jane Wyman in "Magic Town" get three stars also.

Recommended to see are James Hilton's "So Well Remembered" and "Scudda Hoo Scudda Hay."

Recommended to leave alone: "Trapped by Boston Blackie." Ye, gods! Poor Chester Morris!

Methodist Students Hold Annual Retreat

The Methodist Student Organiza- tion held its annual Spring Retreat Saturday afternoon, April 24, at Inglehurst Stables, the lake home of Mr. Raymond Spear.

The affair began at about two o'clock, when the Methodist stu- dents and their guests gathered in the lobby for the long ride to the counry. On arriving at Inglehurst Stables, they split up for individual recreation — swimming, boating, horseback riding, hiking, or just plain loafing. Later in the after- noon, Rev. O. V. Hitchcock of Trinity Methodist Church led the group in a seminar on "Christian Beliefs."

Fletcher Anderson directed the closing worship service, climaxed by the installation of new officers. Rev. W. L. Joyner of Bayshore Methodist Church conducted the installation.

The new officers, who will serve the Methodist Student Organiza- tion next year, are Edith Morgan, president; Nita Benton, vice-presi- dent; Charlotte Dean, secretary Des- mond Vickers, treasurer; Evelyn Summer, worship chairman; Laura Meadows, publicity chairman; and Betty Rose Wages, recreation chair- man.

St. Pete Jr. College Host To Tampa F.T.A.

At a special meeting Monday evening, April 26th, held at Mirror Lake Junior High School, St. Pe- tersburg, the University of Tampa chapter of the Future Teachers of America was the guest of the St. Petersburg Junior College chapter, where the School Lighting Exhibit of the Southeastern School Lighting Institute was on display.

Mr. William B. Shenk, chairman of I.E.S., Florida chapter, was in charge of explaining the exhibit.

Eleven different rooms of the High School had been completely remodeled from the floors to the ceilings. The rooms were finished in a cool green with harmonizing green venetian blinds and wood- work. Glare and dark surfaces were minimized by this redecoration and new type fluorescent lighting fix- tures had been installed.

The chalk boards were also of a dark green dull finish instead of the customary black. Floors had been sanded and finished in a light, non- gloss varnish and ceilings refinished in flat white; even the desks had been resurfaced to provide a non- glaring surface.

Materials and labor amounting to almost $13,000.00 was donated to this project by firms and individuals interested in better school lighting.

Those attending from Tampa were: Dr. Zoe Cowan, Professor Louise Waters, Professor and Mrs. Leo O'Hare, Rose Bier, Joe Clark, Frances Combee, Margaret Crepps, Jennie Cusmano, James Douglas, Ramon Gonzalez Jr., Blanche Hig- ham, Martha Jackson, Doris Jolin- son, Josephine Perez, Marjorie Pet- tion, George Robinson, Dorothy Smith, Tom Tanner, and Ellis Wat- son.

OLIVER CURME DEFENDS RIGHT TO SPLIT

It is not wise to habitually split infinitives. To always do so is stilt- ed. But George Oliver Curme, pro- fessor of Germanic philology at Northwestern University, is right in saying that it is well to discreet- ly separate the two ends of the beast in order to clearly express a thought that otherwise might be difficult to thoroughly convey. To viciously separate infinitives into two unequal parts is to flagrantly offend; but to pedantically decline to ever divide any at all is to weak- ly be a slave to form at the ex- pense of a freedom that ought to be assiduously and tenderly cher- ished, and that it is necessary to carefully preserve. On the other hand, to frequently do much of this sort of writng would cause one to suddenly go crazy.—Detroit Free Press.

Born, Martinez, Calif., Nov. 25, 1914. Christened Joseph Paul DiMaggio, Jr.

That's the way the record books tell the beginning of one of baseball's greats. Yes, Joseph Paul DiMaggio, Jr., alias Jolting Joe and the Yankee Clipper, has bludgeoned and streaked his way to the top of the star-parade. Joe recently signed a contract calling for $65,000, which ranks him as one of the highest salaried players in baseball history.

Let's see why the Yankee management laid all that cash on the line and how the jolter earned that price tag. Joe came to the Yankees as the most publicized rookie ever to hit the big-time. With San Francisco in 1935, he hit safely in 81 consecutive games and batted .398 for the season.

"So you're the Great DiMaggio," was the manner in which the Yankees greeted him in 1936. Some of the old timers resented Joe's publicity. But by the end of the year he was highly respected. That season he hit .323 and led the league in tripples with 15.

Joe was able to break the sophomore jinx that more times than not ruined the career of promising ballplayers. Sports scribes across the nation tabbed his "Jolting Joe," as opposing pitchers were raked by DiMag for 46 home runs, 215 hits and a .346 batting average. The same time Manager Joe McCarthy stated that "DiMaggio ranks with the great defensive ball players of all time." The Yankee Clipper sailed across the outfield covering it as smoothly as the clipperships of yore did the oceans. Rival players realized that Joe's arm was as strong and accurate as a deer-rifle in the hands of an expert.

After the immortal Lou Gehrig left the wars, Joe DiMaggio became the leader of the Bronx Bombers. "As DiMaggio goes, so go the Yankees" became the favorite expression of newsmen. Jolting Joe sparked the New Yorkers to World Championships in 1939, 40, 41, and 47.

Through his nine years with the Yankees, Joe has been voted baseball's most valuable player in 1937, 1941 and 1947. His slugging ability is proven by a total of 264 homers, 1122 runs batted in, and a life-time batting mark of .332. The high-point of DiMaggio's career came in 1941 when he hit safely in 56 straight games, setting a record and driving a worn-out team to a world's Championship.

Always a great drawing power, Joe eclipsed all attendance records during his batting streak. Fans all over the circuit swarmed to the ballparks like bees to a honeycomb. That effort by "the pro", as opposing players call him is second only, to Lou Gehrig's consecutive-games-played record in individual achievement.

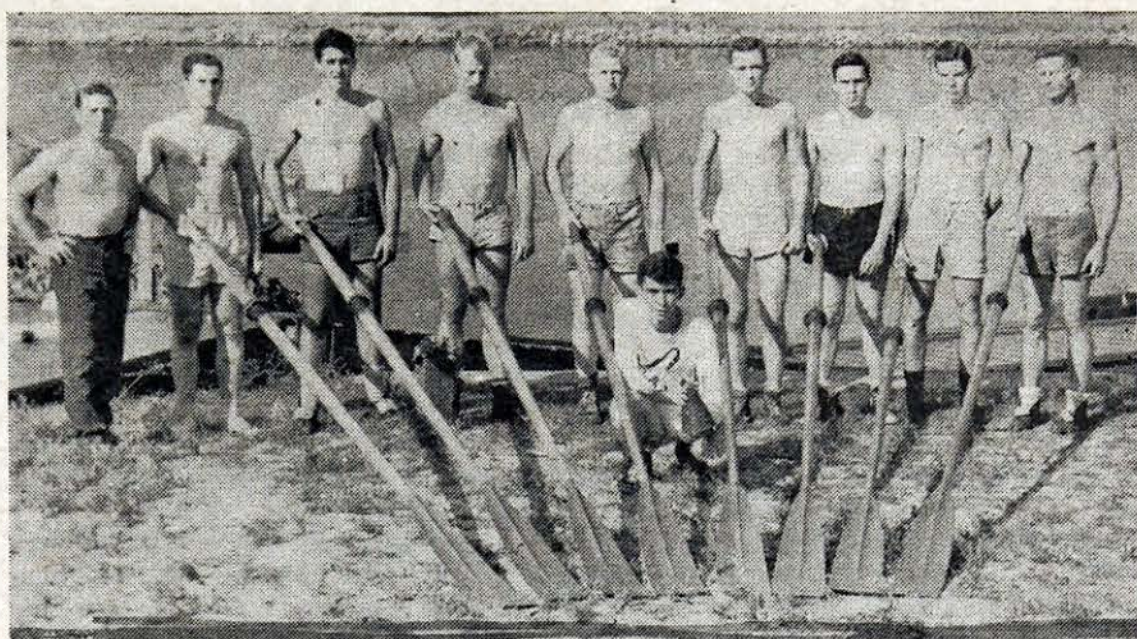

So there, my friends, you see why this powerful, agile and indispensable 6 ft. 2 in. Italian is worth $65,000. The Yankees are favored to win the American League flag, but only because Jolting Joe is leading them.

Fiery Tennis Matches

One bracket of the Intramural Tennis Tournament has reached the final round. Joe Kazakevich defeated top-seeded Emmet Gentry 6-2, 4-6 in the semi-final round. The match was an exceedingly interesting one to watch. Both players fought hard for each point.

The strategy of each was clearly shown. Gentry concentrated on his opponent's backhand while Kazakevich attempted to tire Gentry by forcing him to run for his shots.

Frankie Gannon reached the semi-final round of the second bracket by defeating Larry Rosenbaum 6-0, 6-4. The winner of the Tom Bissonette-Bud Reinert match will meet Gannon for the honor of opposing Kazakevich in the finals.

Tampa University's crew will match stroke with the Rollins College Tars on May 15 at 2:00 P.M. on Lake Merrill in Orlando. The Spartans are planning to leave a day before the race in order to have a trial run on Lake Merrill. The match race will be the only one for the T.U. oarsmen this season.

Coach Trubiano has been working on next year's schedule and almost has it completed. Rollins will come to Tampa next year to try the Spartans on the Hillsboro.

May 22—Miami at Miami
*Night Game.

The death rate in American cities 100 years ago was 30 per 1000 people, now it has decreased to 10 per 1000 people.

1-0 Score Highlights Hectic Game

In one of the best played games of the year, Tampa University defeated the Miami Hurricane 1 to 0 in 10 innings. The game was won by Doug Forster's double in the last half of the 10 inning.

The game was featured by Forster's steady pitching and the defensive play of the Miami outfield. The only time the Hurricanes were able to get a hit was when they had two outs. The Miamians out-hit Tampa 7 to 4, but they couldn't bunch their hits.

Jerry Fineman opened the Spartan's half of the 10 inning by drawing a walk. Mendez's bunt set the stage for Forster's game winning double.

Pepped up by their triumph over Miami, Tampa's Spartans traveled to Rollins for a doubleheader. However, the Tars knocked them off twice by scores of 1-0 and 7-2. Tom Spicola and Ed Norris were the victims of the Rollins bats.

The Spartans continued to lose as they were beaten by the Florida Gators 14 to 1. Jimmy Kynes and Bobby Forbes paced the Gator attack by smashing out homeruns. Bob Gramsley registered Tampa's lone run tally by cracking out a homerun, his second of the year.

This three game losing streak of the Spartans has all but eliminated them from any hopes of a State title. At this time Rollins is leading the race, with the Florida Gators running a close second.

The Delta Kappa Sorority held its annual Lead Out dance this year in honor of its seventeen new pledges, and one new member, Millie Mooney. It was held at Forest Hills Country Club April 17, from 9:00 to 12:30, with music by Steve Solak and his orchestra. Chaperones were Dean and Mrs. Rhodes and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Keene. Dr. Baker introduced the honored guests at intermission.

CAMPUS ARMONIES

By BOB GOLDEN

The Tampa Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Lyman Wiltse, has been a miraculous and outstanding cultural achievement. Though the orchestra came into existence almost overnight, through the persevering efforts of its conductor, Professor Wiltse, and its members, it developed into a musical organization that provided a season of wonderful concerts for the music lovers of Tampa. The several renowned musical artists who appeared as guests with the orchestra praised its splendid playing ability, and music critics gave crowning recognition to its fine performances. As a result of having attended these concerts given by the Tampa Symphony Orchestra, I can wholeheartedly say that it completely deserves all this favorable acknowledgement that it has been receiving.

The University of Tampa as well as the city of Tampa can be proud of this musical organization for its magnificent conductor is head of our music department, and many of its most important musicians are students at the University.

The orchestra ended its season as triumphantly as it was opened with the concert it gave on April 20, and in my opinion, which is based on the fact that it has been such a great success thus far, I think that the Tampa Symphony Orchestra will receive unlimited recognition when it resumes its excellent concerts next season.

EARLY TO BED . . . Practice rooms now close at 9:00 in order to permit all the students at the University who go to bed at this early hour to sink into undisturbed slumber. But between you and me the only ones who do go to sleep that early around here are the squirrels in Plant Park.

THE LATIN AMERICAN FIESTA . . . was a stupendous affair, filled with music and all sorts of entertainment. Among the acts to appear there was the Latin-American dance team, La Verne and Ray. I can easily see why they have been acclaimed the best of their kind in the country.

WHAT A WAY TO MAKE A LIVING . . . Leonard Bernstein, before his recognition as a great orchestra conductor made his bread and butter by transcribing from recordings the improvisations of top jazzmen.

MUSIC ISN'T ALL MUSIC . . . Drop into Professor Park's office sometime and take a look at his Schillinger books on composing and you will see what I mean. They have more pages filled with numbers, graphs and algebraic equations than calculus and geometry books would have combined.

WATCH OUT . . . It looks like Ted Walters, James Clark and George Harford are going to clash instruments soon, unless a certain young lady in the band informs them that she already has a boy friend.

New Members Of Psi Mu Alpha

The Psi Mu Alpha Music Fraternity announces the reception of new pledges who will be eligible for membership at the close of the present term. A public recital is being prepared for the first week of the summer session. All music lovers will be welcome and are asked to watch for the announcement.

Introductions were made by Doyle Bluemle, Student Body President, and were followed by the playing of "Stardust" for Sigma Theta members, pledges, and alumnae only.

Chaperones for the evening included Miss Charlotte Thompson, Sorority sponsor; Miss Marcella Hanley; Mrs. E. C. Nance; Dr. C. Herbert Laub; Dr. and Mrs. Howard Baker; and Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehead.

Decorations for the dance centered around the stardust theme. Pictures of the new officers were placed on a large silver star on one side of the ball room and various smaller silver glittered stars were placed around the room along with several arrangement of spring flowers.

In charge of arrangements for the dance were the following members of the sorority: Barbara O'Berry, invitations; Elena Rivero, orchestra; and Miriam Chastain, decorations.

Kelly Green And Gold For T.D.S.

By Bruce Atkins

Is there anyone at the University who has not seen the new T shirts that the members of Tau Delta Sigma Fraternity are wearing? If you have not, then surely you are color blind. Their T. Shirts are kelly green with yellow letters, that spell out, (in case you can not read) Tau Delta Sigma.

Equally dazzling is their stationary. Across the top is the legend Tau Delta Sigma Fraternity, University of Tampa, printed in green.

Tau Delta Sigma Fraternity is the youngest fraternity at the University. Looking back over the present year, they have made great strides. Although Tau Delta Sigma has not been able to give any public functions, George R. Robinson, III, their president, assured me that the fall semester next year will see many social activities on Tau Delta Sigma's part.

The F.B.L.A. is dedicated to better the education for business. Arrangements have been made to have local businessmen as guest speakers at meetings.

A committee has been formed to assist business students in securing employment in the field of business they are specializing.

La Tertulia Goes National

It was announced last week that La Tertulia, the University of Tampa's Spanish Club, is to become a branch of Los Picaros de Quevedo, honorary national fraternity at the University of Florida. The formal induction will take place sometime in May. This constitutes another of the many progressive moves taken by the University students during the current school year.

La Tertulia elections were held last week, at which time Marcelino Melendreras, outgoing vice president, was elected to succeed James Lefferts, as president for the coming year. Other officers elected were Agustin Gonzalez, vice president, Maria Rodriguez, secretary, and Augusto Cristales, treasurer.

The club is rapidly moving into the limelight as one of the outstanding centers of Latin-American cultural relations in the City of Tampa. La Tertulia sponsored a candidate for maid in the Latin-American annual fiesta for the past two years.

La Tertulia will meet in room 211 Tuesday May 11 and they want everybody interested to attend.

Rho Nu Delta Elects Ippolito New President

Officers for the Rho Nu Delta fraternity were elected at a past meeting. The new officers elected were: President, Tony Ippolito; Vice President, Ralph Vaccaro; Secretary, Joe Gomez; Treasurer, Charles Perez; Chaplain, Frank Messina; Pledge Captain, Roscoe Davis.

Plans were also made for a banquet to be held after final examinations in honor of the new pledges, at which time the most outstanding pledge will be honored with a gift. The alumni will also present a loving cup to the outstanding member of the fraternity for the past year.

It is told of a certain executive, that, after a busy day of dictating letters, he went to a dinner party, and being asked to say the blessing invoked as follows:

"Dear Lord: We thank thee for thy favors of recent date. We trust we may continue to merit thy confidence. Assuring thee of our desire to cooperate with thee in every way, and trusting that our cordial relations may continue, Amen.
