TO ORGANIZE FIRST AID UNIT

Dean Sanford Heads University Committee

The University has placed extra emphasis on its "College at War" theme with a project proposed by the Campus War Council Coordinating Committee. The committee is composed of: Dean Sanford, general chairman; Dr. Rhodes, Dean Dobson, Miss Ruth Moffatt, Dr. D. R. Angus and Professor Leinbach. Student members are Dot Thonneson, president of the student council; Charles Slocum, president of the senior class; Dan Shaw, president of the junior class; Leo Stalnaker, president of the sophomore class, and Bette Garrison, freshman representative.

The first project entails the forming of a First Aid Unit by Dr. Rhodes, who is in charge of emergency pre-caution work. The unit consisting of forty-eight members with three lieu-tenants will be divided into three eight hour shifts of sixteen members each. In addition, the committee hopes to form an air raid system with two or more wardens to each floor. The wardens will be both boys and girls.

The Council is interested in promoting a class in first aid and ask that all interested taking first aid contact Dr. Rhodes. Each member of the first aid units must complete the standard first aid course prescribed by the Red Cross and hold a certificate as evidence of completion. Students need not be a member of the unit to take the first aid course.

Upon completion of the course, the unit will receive first aid corp bands with registered serial numbers which will serve as passes during real or practice air raids.

The course is part of a nation-wide drive to organize schools into defense units and plans are being made to start next week. Students interested in taking the course are asked to give their name and address to Dr. Rhodes

A joint army, navy, and marine corps recruiting party visited the University Monday to enlist students in the reserve programs and to give information to all students interested in the service. About 30 students signed up.

Enlistment of students through the college program was authorized by the secretaries of war and navy in the belief that the training afforded by the study at colleges was useful for their preparation for service in the armed forces and that a substantial number of those enlisted would prove qualified for selection as candidates for training as officers, enlistment au-thorities said.

The students who enlisted in the reserve programs are subject to call when the secretary of war or the navy deems that it is necessary. Until that time they are to continue their

CAPITAL to CAMPUS

A. C. P.'s Correspondent Reports from Washington

WASHINGTON.—(ACP)—Latest Washington figures show that college enrollment has fallen off at least 10 percent; the final figure may prove to be much higher. Nobody knows yet exactly how drastic the drop.

War needs for technical and professional men have probably kept enrollment in such courses at a relatively high level. However, the liberal arts curricula have taken a kick in the face which, as an official in the Office of Education here put it, is "somewhat disturbing."

What's the answer? Apparently there isn't any while the war lasts. And it's a moot question whether an answer should be sought before the war's end.

Manpower Commissioner McNutt has said that "nonessential courses we have come to regard as essential to a classical education must be replaced. This war demands chemists, engineers, doctors, experts in nutrition, public health and

Then there were Secretary of War Stimson's two contradictory statements of recent date which, once unraveled, seemed to echo McNutt.

Since there's nothing to be done about war-inspired curriculum changes, the attention of educators here is now focused on two problems: getting a specific policy on the Selective Service status of college men, and clearing the way for much more government-financed college training.

The former presents some knotty problems. Shall deferment depend entirely upon the courses taken? Then what courses shall be basis for deferment? How far along in his studies should a student be before he is considered for deferment, if at all? And what about the 18 and 19-year-olds if the age limit is lowered?

Some of these questions have been partially answered, but on the whole the answers have been inadequate and confusing. A clear-cut system is needed.

The question of getting more funds to finance capable students was answered in small measure last spring when Congress appropriated $5,000,000 for student loans. The money is being loaned to students majoring in physics, chemistry, engineering, medicine (including veterinary), dentistry and pharmacy.

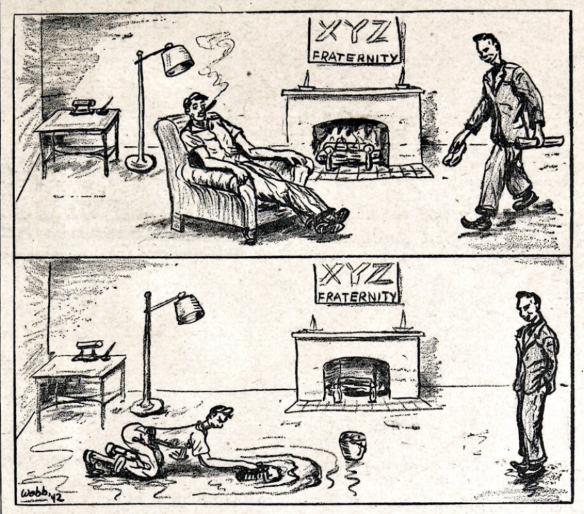

But sources here point out that the fund is not nearly large enough. Four millions have already been allocated to 240 colleges, and the balance of $1,000,000 will be parceled out soon. On the average, the schools got only half the money requested. And requests were presumably based on dirct need.

In order to get a loan from this fund a student must be studying under the wartime speedup plan, a situation that makes it virtually impossible for him to take a job on the side, or to work during the summer. If he can't get a loan and must have help to get through school, there is only one answer—get out! Which may mean that a man already partially trained for highly specialized work goes into military service to do a job that might be done by any one of thousands of untrained recruits.

Severe, wartime logic leaves no room for argument on the question of whether there should be more funds for this purpose. The question of who shall have an education should never be left to economic chance, or mischance. In wartime it cannot be.

An official here points out that "if need can be shown, supplemental funds may be forthcoming." It is congress, of course, that must be "shown." The question is do congressmen recognize "need" when it acratches their eyeballs?

and is now stationed here in Tampa.

All of us will remember Doyle as "Rhumba King." In the Varsity show last year, Doyle startled us all by developing one of those rhumbas that would put a snake to shame. But where he really learned to dance was at beach parties. Maybe that apple juice he introduced to the crowd had something to do with it,

A Beta Chi, Doyle loved to have something to do with everything going on at the university. By the way, I think that I should tell you now that those weren't real ghosts you saw Halloween—those were just Bette Campbell and Doyle masquerading as such. They went to a contest dressed like that and nearly scared everybody out of the theater.

All of us miss Doyle, but even though he doesn't have Junior (that's the one-cylinder contraption he called a car) to drive around, he's driving something better, something that will help us win this war. We miss him, but we're glad to do hat much for our country!

Girls---Crawl at Rat Court

The other day I was in the lobby, minding my business (and everybody else's) when I heard a loud thumping. To my surprise, I found out it was the freshmen girls knees knocking together—there was just one answer—"Rat Court."

Unobserved, I looked on at the door of the asembly room where they met. Not a word or laugh could be heard. I found out later—if they did, they had to wipe their smiles off on the floor. I never saw so much standing up and down—up and down—for as each upper classman came in, they had to stand up. Every now and then, I'd see some girl crawling in the door backwards. I thought maybe she was just the eccentric type until I found out all late freshmen had to come in that way. I had just decided to leave (some of the freshmen decided to too!) when who should come in but Rosalie Mathis—oh! I mean—your honor, Miss Mathis. Up went the girls again. No wonder they were so tired afterwards. (Oh well, I guess life is justa bunch of ups and downs, at least Freshman life is.)

I'll relate to you just one of the cases—and boy was it a case! Quote from Judge Mathis—(in a gruff voice).

"First case, Catherine Bowen." My, what a case, hopeless one, anyway. "Well, Catherine, what have you to say for yourself?"

"Nothing, your honor."

"I guess not, looking at your face, I'd say that nothing could come from it. Do you think you could fill up like a waste paper basket? You couldn't? Well, of all the inconsiderate, dull, unthinkable people. Case dismissed."

All this time, faces are going up and down wiping their smiles off on the floor at the commands of the sophomores, It's a good thing it's all right that the upper classmen laugh.

The freshmen were also given some individual homework such as making time with Paul Rippa, and then getting slugged by Judge Mathis, if they spoke too friendly to him. Another favorite command from the Sophs was sweeping the lobby or telling the "Student body" your troubles.

I really enjoyed being an onlooker of this court but I have plenty of troubles to tell the "student body" because I'm a freshman myself.

Now that all the excitement of pledging is over, everybody can settle down and study for a while.

P. J. Harvey has been doing some first-class "wolfing" around here. Seems he went steady for four years (with the same girl)! but he now believes there's safety in numbers... "Boopa" Nichols was back in town for the week-end. When he and "Butch" Wilson get together, it looks like old home week.

Johnny Wainwright also came in for the week-end. He's leaving this week for Camp Blanding and for a while it seemed he was going to take Elsie out of circulation permanently, but she's still foot-loose . . . "Coloner" Tittsworth is another one whose intentions are serious, with Rebecca Weekly as the object of his affections.

Orchids to Janis Harmon—from Doyle Bluemle for the Deke pledge dance... Va. Bentley has a steady date every Friday and Saturday night with Sgt. John Duke. At least she's doing her part to keep up the soldier's morale.

Nita Medina seems to agree with the freshman who said he liked everything about the school—especially Mr. Baronowski . . . Wonder if the moon over Miami had any effect on Lois Sanchez and Johnny Read after the game last Saturday.

Heart's of some of the upper-class girls as well as freshmen are all aflutter when footballer Fred Hancock looks their way . . Maybe it's the nurse instinct coming out in Dot Giles, the way she seems to prefer the company of injured football players.

In the case of Bill Sadler, appearances are deceiving he's definitely the bashful type . . Miriam Davis is on her own again this year since David White didn't come back to school.

Eloise Parr is being true to her first love—Jimmie Gormley. That's another romance that got started in high school . . . Dot Thonnesen is wearing a T O pin . . . It belongs to Lieut. Clarence Lovejoy, on foreign duty.

Hilda Bethea now has a lovely engagement ring . . . Joe brought it down on his leave this week.

Alabama State Teachers Meet Spartans Tomorrow

The Spartan gridders, with two games already played, will clash with the Alabama State Teachers from Troy, Alabama, at Phillips field tomor-row afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The entire team has been shifted around since the beginning of the season due to a number of injuries and change in the ability of players under fire. The members of the team, under the strict guidance of Coach Vines are improving steadily every day of practice.

Vines is speculating on tomorrow's game with the fact in view that Alabama had a strong, well-manned team last season at the time they played the Spartans.

The first game proved to be a close and hard-fought one, in which a couple of bad kicks plus a few breaks gave Florida a 26-6 victory. A tough, experienced Miami team beat our gridders last Saturday by a score of 65-6. It might be well to mention that Paul Straub has been responsible for both of the tallies the Tampa boys have

Unbiased experts who have seen both games have commended veteran Bill Lassen, left end, on the exceptional performances which he has turned in for both games. "Junior" Thornton, left tackle, has been right in there breaking up the plays consistently, and both of these men really deserve some praise.

The probable line-up for tomorrow's game is not very definite, but here is a crack at it. Lassen and Kaptur will hold down the end positions next to "Junior" Thornton and "Sweetpea"
Reed at tackle. Fuller and Dziewguc will act as guards, and if he is able,
Fantel will center.

In the backfield, "Bugs" McCullough will probably play blocking back. Art Spoltore is slated for wing-back in front of Tail-back Bob Alexander, and of course Paul Straub will hold down the fullback spot.

Prospective army fliers in Chicago are invited to call upon sorority girls --- for lessons in mathematics.

The pre-army study course is of-fered by girls of Kappa Kappa Gam-ma sorority to help any air-minded men needing instruction and, possibly, supply a bit of comph to induce enlistment of aviation cadets.

The sorority's Northwestern university chapter announced a corps of the more mathematically minded sisters would act as tutors and coaches to candidates for induction as aviation

The girls will cover subjects featured in tests of 150 questions, 80 of which must be answered correctly to qualify for training.

Thorton and Lassan Are Co-Captains Of 1942 Spartans

Fleming (Junior) Thornton and Bill Lassan, veteran junior linesmen, were elected co-captains of the 1942 Spartans last Wednesday night.

In the past, captains have been elected individually for each game. However, this year it was decided to pick a field general for the rest of the season.

Thornton, rugged 200 pound tackle from Frostproof, has been the mainstay of the Spartans line for two seasons. His stellar play on both defense and offense has earned him a rating as one of the best tacklers in the state. He has already proved in the past that he is capable of strong and intelligent leadership.

Lassan, 185 pound end hailing from Chicago, has proved in games to date Chicago, has proved m games to date that he is a definite threat in any game. Aside from his sensational pass catching ability, as demonstrated in the Florida game, he is a bulwark on defense. His fine all-around play will prove him a very capable leader.

The voting throughout the meeting was very close between Thornton, Lassan and Paul Straub, veteran full-

Those girls who came out enjoyed the game very much. They gave their teams support by cheering them on.

Beta Chis Trim Last Year's Champs

-Minaret Photo

GEORGE JACK'S PUNT is partially blocked after Tau Omega was forced to kick on the last down. Beta Chi's aerial attack proved too powerful for the last year's champs as they bowed to a 26-0 score. Bunny Mick accounted for all four touchdowns.

Tau Omega Frat, Sigma Epsilon Win In Touch Football

Edwin Baranowski, 190-pound Tau Omega back, completed two long passes during a final period drive to pace his team to a 13-0 victory over the Sigma Kappa Nu fraternity. Sigma Epsilon tallied twice to defeat a scrappy Rho Nu Delta eight, 12-0, in the University of Tampa touch-football toursement vectories. football tournament yesterday.

Tau Omega's rugged line pushed Sigma Kappa Nu all over the gridiron during the first half but was unable to punch through for a score.

Robert Price starred for the victors when he got off several long end runs. Tau Omega clicked in the third quarter when Baranowski, captain, called for a sleeper play which gained 30 yards. Baranowski again passed to Jack Brockman for 25 yards, but pen-olities halked its drive gradlward. alties halted its drive goalward.

Early in the fourth quarter Tau Omega started an aerial attack down the field. Baranowski passed to Robert Bretz for 35 yards. The victors ace passer threw again, this time over the goal line to score. A pass to George Jack added the extra point. Again Tau Omega scored when Brockman, on another sleeper play, snatched a 40-yard pass and ran for a touchdown. The try for extra point failed. Sigma Epsilon scored late in the second period on a short pass, Brown to Letzner, after LeHue, on a sleeper, ran the ball up to the eight. The conversion attempt was smeared. The winners scored again in the second period on another pass from Brown to Letzner, who ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

Tampa U's. intramural program, un-der the direction of Mr. Miller Adams, was launched to a surging start in the first game of the season in which the Beta Chi's trounced the Tau Omega's last year's touch football champs, 26-0.

Guided by experienced Coach Thornton, Bunny Mick took the TO's for four touchdowns, the majority on passes from Bud Reinert.

The inexperienced Tau Omega's threatened in the second half, but failed to get into scoring territory in spite of the efforts of such players as Robert Price, George Jack, and Edwin Baranowski.

For the Beta Chi's: Mick and Heath were ends; Loftus and Hill, guards; Shiro centered the ball, and Reinert, Tanner, and Mosshell formed the back-

The Tau Omega's lined up as fol-lows: Bretz and Brockman at end; Crabtree and Pepper as guards; holding down the centering position was Trubiano, and Baranowski, Jack and Price in the backfield.

The Tau Omega's are developing players from their pledge material in hope of strengthening the team, and they have also secured the excellent services of "Bucky" Hawk as their coach.

Junior Thornton is proving to be a great help to the Beta Chi's as their coach, and they are fortunate to have some men who have played football in high school.

You can remember them in our moral victory over Florida as the men who stood out and stopped many Florida thrusts not only in their direction, but all over the field. Both made their presence felt in the Miami win over us, and both, if they continue their stellar play, should merit all state selection this year.

This is just a gentle reminder to the boys that are playing on our athletic teams. Socially Speaking

Dear Annette:

This last week was a very full one, what with pledging ceremonies and formal dances to occupy everyone's attention. The Skins pledged 13 boys at an impressive candlelight service Sunday evening at 8 p. m. It was held in the fraternity room and Dan Shaw was in charge of arrangements. Several alumnae were present as well as all active members and those pledged. The rabi gave a short talk and 13 happy pledges left proudly displaying shiny silver pledge pins.

The Alpha Gams are stealing the march on everyone by having the first girl bid dance of the year and the first tea dance. They are going to use a Scotch theme and favors will be butterscotch candies, which will be presented to each guest at the door. The decorations will also carry out the Scotch theme. Frances Piazza, Rosemary Didier and Muriel Yarborough will be hostesses.

The T. O.'s had their annual pledge breakfast at the Hillsboro hotel last Friday. Members and new pledges attended and Charles Slocum, fraternity president, presided. The new pledges will meet next week and select officers. Jack Brockman, sophomore, was named outstanding pledge and was presented the outstanding pledge trophy.

Plans are being made by the Beta Chi's for a dance which will be given Nov. 21. It will honor the football players at the end of the season.

The new pledges of the Delta Kappa sorority were delighted with the prom cards which were in the same shape as their pledge pins. This was a double surprise for they had never seen the pins before and they were impressive with the shields. The dance honoring the pledges was the second formal dance of the season.

Formal pledging for the Sigma Theta Phi's will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. It will be at Dottie Thonneson's home at an impressive candlelight service.

Love,

SUE.
