

Moroccan Queen

Miss Wilanne Starling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Starling, 421 S. Florida Ave., Wauchula, was named Moroccan Queen at the University of Tampa in judging held Tuesday night, December 17, in the college's Student Center.

The statuesque 20-year-old beauty, who was one of nine candidates sponsored by campus organizations, was selected by a panel of judges from the Tampa community. She was sponsored in the queen contest by Delta Sigma Pi, national honorary business fraternity at the University.

Pictures of Miss Starling will be featured in the 1964 edition of the Moroccan, the University of Tampa yearbook.

This is the second recent honor for Miss Starling, a junior education major at the University. She was named as first maid in the college's Homecoming Court in October. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, which she serves as historian.

Major Merritt Speaks On Space Exploration

Maj. Clements B. Merritt, of the Air Force Missile Test Center, Patrick Air Force Base, spoke on "Space Exploration" at 8 p.m., on Thursday, January 16 in the Student Center cafeteria of the University of Tampa.

Assigned to the 6555th Aerospace Test Wing at Patrick, Major Merritt was formerly project officer for Tiro-Transit satellite programs with the Air Force Ballistics Missile Division at Los Angeles.

Major Merritt entered the military service in 1944 with the U.S. Navy, serving in the South Pacific until May, 1946. He attended the University of Florida, where he was awarded a BS degree in mechanical engineering in 1950. In 1955 he received his MS degree in aeronautical engineering from the U.S. Air Force Institute of Technology.

Dean King Sponsors Nassau Cruise Again

By H. Hossman

Yes! It is that time again. Dean King has announced that there are only about 15 more vacancies, so you had best hurry. Every year about this time the school attempts to have some activity for the students' leisure. Since the time is limited, a cruise to the Bahamas was thought appropriate.

The school has made reservations on the 's/s Bahama Star' leaving Miami February 3 at 4 P.M. The duration of the cruise is four days, meaning, you arrive back in Miami February 7, at 9 A.M. The charge for this enhancing trip is $64.00.

Dean King will accompany the trip all the way. There will be medical assistance on board the ship. So, all you need is a way to Miami the fourth of February and requisite spending power.

Dean King and The Minaret wish everyone an enjoyable mid-term adjournment.

Fairground Parking

In the future, the policy on parking during the Florida State Fair and Gasparilla Day is as follows: The parking areas will be available only to students, faculty and staff with parking permits on their cars.

Fairgrounds parking will again be available after completion of the Florida State Fair.

AAUW Accepts TU; Dean King To Sponsor

The University of Tampa has met the qualifications for corporate membership in the American Association of University Women and now joins 840 other American colleges and universities holding membership in this association for women college graduates.

Dr. David M. Delo, University

president, received notification of the University's acceptance into membership from Dr. Pauline Tompkins, of Washington, D.C., general director of AAUW. One of the criteria for membership is that member colleges and universities must be accredited institutions.

IN MEMORIAM

Four Tampa University students (l. to r.) William M. Blatz, Frank A. Cantello, John C. Essig, and John J. Mackleanis were killed in a highway accident on Saturday, January 19.

Contemporary Paintings On Display In Gallery

The University of Tampa is presenting the first showing of new paintings by Silvio Loffredo, noted contemporary Italian artist, and continuing through January 25 at the University's Charles LaMonte Gallery.

This will be the first exhibition of Loffredo's paintings in Tampa, although he has had one-man shows in other American cities. He is married to the former Miss Suzanne Newell of Tampa.

A native of Paris, the artist spent his early years studying there with his father, who was also a painter. Later he frequented the Accademia di Belle Arti in Rome and Florence. He has had one-man shows in Florence, where he now lives; Geneva, Lausanne, Santiago, Chile, and Paris. In 1955 he was invited to participate in the Exhibition by Masters of the Next Thirty Years held in Prado, and is constantly represented at the Quadriennale of Rome and the Biennale of Venice. Loffredo has been awarded prizes in the most important exhibitions in Italy since 1948. In 1956 he won the international first prize offered by the Philadelphia Museum. Since then he has had five individual exhibitions in the United States. His paintings and engravings are in galleries and museums, libraries and private collections in Milan, Florence, Paris, Geneva, Boston, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

The LaMonte Gallery, located in the University of Tampa's Falk Theater building, is open daily during exhibitions from 2 until 5 p.m. Admission is free of charge.

Tampa U Students Clamor For Representation

Downgrading of Student Government Flares In Fla.

Each year following the Southern Universities Student Government Association conference, a conference report is drawn up by the executive council and its advising deans on the problems of student government in our schools today to decide the ideals which we should stand for.

This year I was honored in taking part in this report and have the duty of aiding our school and the other seven member schools in the state of Florida in keeping student government up to what it stands for and its duties in their respective universities.

John Hines

In the next few lines I would like to briefly break down this report and relate to you some of our problems and where we go from there.

Student government must change to meet the needs of the future, and student officials must be willing to lead, not merely preserve.

The nationwide trend is lately downgrading student government and the increased skepticism in student government on the part of the students.

Several factors contributing to the down-grade of student government which we noted were:

1. A new type of student who is no longer the typical Joe College.
2. Student government is taken for granted and no longer serves the needs of students.
3. American high schools have absorbed a lot of college social life.
4. Our nation is in a transition period; our national superiority has been threatened which has brought about an increased emphasis on education.

In order to offset this trend student government must:

1. Reassess its program: "are we a product of ideals of the past?"

Are we just concerned with perpetuating the past? It was pointed out that SUSGA can help is this reassessment and help student governments improve their problem areas by "providing a means of peaceful revolution to stimulate a better student government."

2. Find a new justification for various extra-curricular activities on campus, other than custom and tradition.
3. Orient new students who will be formulating new ideas and attitudes and make them aware of the vital role of student government.
4. Become a more effective instrument in education; it must be a catalyst and work with administrative and academic personnel.
5. Use issues that will do something for the student and help him in his future life . . . not trivial things.
6. Quit being a body of elected campus employees, but must serve as a body of elected leaders.
7. Promote school spirit through means other than sports events and entertainment.

Student government is not a complete self government, but is a joint venture with the administration, with the latter having the final word.

Student government's aim should be to support the goals of the institution, to create the best atmosphere for intellectual results, to point out the responsibilities as well as the rights of students, and to find joy in keeping people from doing things as well as catching them when they do wrong. The role of student government is actually determined by the nature of the institution.

Student government must do what its constitution states, and what it does on top of this is good.

It has the responsibility of providing a voice for the students and a voice for the administration, coordinating campus activities, serving as a training ground for future leaders, and keeping the student body informed of its activities thus bringing about more participation.

Student government allows students to become more intimately involved in college life, and on small campuses such as ours there is a wonderful opportunity to put things on a more individual basis.

The present members of student Congress and especially you who have three and four years left in school hold the key to student governments success — not only TAKE but to GIVE.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Congratulations to Brother John Hines who was elected Tri Sig's 'Man of The Year.'

We would like to thank Coach Cagiano and his All-Stars for placing second in Volleyball. Gary was also elected Secretary of the Intramural Council.

DELTASIG NEWS

Congratulations to Brother Robert 'Maynard' Padernacht on the completion of his novel 'Country Without Land.' It will be published in early 1965 by a New York firm.

Our Christmas project came off to a roaring success when a basket of turkeys and canned foods was presented to a needy family in the Tampa Bay area.

Our second victory in a contest this semester came when Wilanne Starling won for Moroccan Queen.

Congratulations to 11 new DeltaSigs. They constituted the 63-64 pledge class and were initiated last Saturday. They are Al Arnow, Tom Burwell, Al Cooledge, Si Doane, Carl Forsberg, Chuck Ferguson, Harvey Hiller, Jim Maultauf, Lee Perdigon, Larry Pinco, and Derek Taylor.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA SORORITY

We are all proud of sister Wilanne Starling who was chosen Moroccan Queen by a panel of judges. Other sisters in the court were Alice Carter, Lady-in-Waiting; Barbara Ubell and Katy Emrick, second and third maids respectively.

Our monthly carnation breakfast was held at the Pancake House, Pledge Luzette Sarcone was chosen outstanding pledge for the month and Kathy Battaglia outstanding active.

The annual Alpha Chi mother-daughter tea was held at the Ember's Imperial House, December 28.

THETA CHI

Congratulations to brother Jim Galmin on being voted 'Most Valuable Player' this year. Jim also received Honorable Mention All-State and Little All-American. Don Linton, a social affiliate was high scorer in the basketball game against Jacksonville last week. A hearty welcome to Brothers Peter Peck, Bob Mintz, Dick Faunce, and Frank Galombus newly initiated into the brotherhood last weekend.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Big plans are now underway for our Annual State Day which is being held in Tampa this year in March.

Instead of our monthly luncheon at the Hawaiian Village we are now putting the final touches on plans for a Valentine Dinner Dance.

Student Congress Reports

Hi! Here is your bi-monthly report from Student Congress.

THE HEADLINERS will record a record album here in April. They will perform in front of a LIVE University of Tampa student audience and on the cover will be pictures of the minarets and various scenes of the university!

THE CHAD MITCHELL TRIO will entertain us February 15, 1964, so get your tickets early. Everyone should remember how great they were when they appeared here last semester. The costs of these tickets will help pay for future groups like these, so let's get out and support them so we can have more.

SORRY SENIORS, the petition for exemption from exams has been denied. All seniors will have to take finals.

LIBRARY HOURS, especially around exam time, were discussed. We hope to remedy the situation for next semester.

THE SENIOR GIFT was discussed and many ideas were put forth. If you have any suggestions please present them to your class representatives.

THE CONSTITUTION is still being revised. Robert Paternacht presented a five point plan to the group and action is being taken on it.

The University of Tampa's membership in AAUW means that women graduates of the University are now eligible for membership in AAUW, including those who were graduated previous to the university's acceptance into membership. Each institution holding corporate membership is entitled to send a voting delegate to AAUW conventions.

President Delo has appointed Mrs. Lucile King, Dean of Women at the University, as liaison officer between the University and the Association. Dean King is a long-time member of Tampa Branch of AAUW. It will be her responsibility to keep President Delo informed of developments in AAUW of significance to higher education and to represent the institution at Association meetings.

The Tampa Branch of AAUW, of which Mrs. Fred J. Hohnadel is president, was instrumental in assisting the University of Tampa in securing qualification for AAUW membership. "We have long wanted to have University of Tampa graduates in our branch," Mrs. Hohnadel said, "and the University's membership in AAUW will strengthen our branch."

MEN will return April 22 according to Jim LoBiondo.

The invitation is open for all students to attend the Student Congress meetings. They are at 4:00 in the student center second floor next to the International Room.

By Maynard Padernacht

An issue came up in Congress not too long ago upon enlarging our representation. I would like it to be known that this article is a motion for such an expansion. If more students become interested in University affairs as most members of Student Congress are, it will increase Government efficiency and separate the workers from the non-workers in Congress itself. Others like myself in Student Congress have listened long enough to all kinds of answers to this problem.

Too many issues and questions go unanswered around the campus as well as in Congress. We have failed to set up a Judiciary Committee as set forth in our Constitution which should be a liaison between the student and the Disciplinary Committee. Our work in the Congress will be more successful if we spread responsibility and enlarge the representation. Even at Cornell it is said:

"Diversity of opportunity and freedom of choice and action are essential to a Cornell education, but excellence must depend upon the responsibility of each person to exercise the privileges of freedom with respect for his own integrity and the best interests of the community."

Congress needs more representation from the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes. I have just made a tour of some colleges in the North and here are some of the results of representation in Student Government:

University of Pennsylvania:

Thirty students elected for matters of Congress.

Pace College of New York:

Representatives of house plans, clubs and teams are chosen and sent to Congress as non-voting members.

Fairleigh Dickinson University

Students (20) are elected for specialty work in various projects dealing with activities at the three campuses.

New York University

Foreign students represent their nationality and are a permanent part of Congress.

I know I am not alone in this venture of enlarging our Student Government. Instead of just lingering on this all important subject let us begin now to strengthen our government by amending the constitution, accept suggestions from the student body and interview prospects for election.

MY FIVE POINTS

1. Elect FOUR Representatives from each class.
2. The leaders of all organizations or their representatives should be allowed one vote and be members of Student Congress.
3. There should be TWO Vice Presidents for the Student Body. Homecoming could be more effective and it will relieve the President of some of the burdens during Orientation week.
4. The President of the Student Body should appoint with voting power THREE foreign students to represent that minority group.
5. On Election Day, normal offices will be sought — President, Vice President, Secretary - Treasurer and FOUR Representatives.

From The Dean

Students contemplating the formation of new organizations or the revival of old organizations on campus are required to meet with the Dean of Men, Chairman for the Committee on Student Organizations and Student Life prior to initiating any further action. An awareness of the procedural steps involved in securing recognition and authority to organize will prevent needless work and delays, and be a tentative indication of the probability of acceptance by the Committee.

Prospective organizations should obtain complete data concerning the objectives, purposes and methods of the organization; extent of local, regional and national sanction, methods of financing; source of any off-campus support (financial or otherwise); names, addresses, and titles of persons sponsoring the formation of the organization; potential members; tentative constitution; and apparent justification for the formation of the particular organization on this campus. This data must be complete and accurate and in systematic and presentable form prior to the preliminary meeting with the Chairman of the Committee.

McKay Hall Residents Win Dragway Trophies

by Michael Buchbinder

Two residents of McKay Hall have recently won trophies at the Tampa Dragway by placing first in their respective classes.

On Sunday, January 12, Fred Tamalonis of Niagara Falls, New York, took first place honors in the L Stock class with his 1964 Corvair Monza. His time for the quarter mile was 17.44 seconds and his speed was 76 miles per hour.

Several weeks earlier, David Murphy of West Palm Beach, Florida, walked off with a trophy by placing first in the N Stock class. Dave was driving his white '61 Corvair Monza with a sporty red stripe that runs from bumper to bumper. His time was 18.98 seconds and his speed was 66 miles per hour for the quarter mile.

A GUIDE FOR THE GUIDERS

One of the most interesting academic theories advanced in many a long year has recently been advanced by that interesting academic theorist, E. Pluribus Ewbank, Ph. D. who holds the chair of Interesting Academic Theories at the St. Louis College of Footwear and Educational Philosophy. Dr. Ewbank said in the last issue of the learned journal, the Mount Rushmore Guide to Scholastic Advancement and Presidents' Heads, that we might be approaching the whole problem of student guidance from the wrong direction.

Dr. Ewbank, a highly respected pedagogue and a lifelong smoker of Marlboro Cigarettes, (I mention Marlboros for two reasons: first, to indicate the scope of Dr. Ewbank's brainpower. Out of all the dozens of brands of cigarettes available today, Dr. Ewbank has had the wit and taste to pick the one with the most flavorful flavor, the most filtracious filter, the most soft soft pack, the most flip top Flip Top box: I refer, of course, to Marlboro. The second reason I mention Marlboro is that I get paid to mention Marlboro in this column, and the laborer, you will agree, is worthy of his hire.)

But I digress. To return to Dr. Ewbank's interesting theory, he contends that most college guidance counselors are inclined to take the easy way out. That is to say, if a student's aptitude tests show a talent for, let us say, math, the student is encouraged to major in math. If his tests show an aptitude for poetry, he is directed toward poetry. And so forth.

She set the entire math department agog

All wrong, says Dr. Ewbank. The great breakthroughs, the startling innovations in, let us say, math, are likely to be made not by mathematicians—whose thinking, after all, is constrained by rigid rules and principles—but by mavericks, by nonconformists, by intuitors who refuse to fall into the rut of reason. For instance, set a poet to studying math. He will bring a fresh, unfettered mind to the subject, just as a mathematician will bring the same kind of approach to poetry.

By way of evidence, Dr. Ewbank cites the case of Cipher Binary, a youth who entered college with brilliant test scores in physics, chemistry, and the calculus. But Dr. Ewbank forced young Cipher to major in poetry.

The results were astonishing. Here, for example, is young Cipher's latest poem, a love lyric of such originality that Lord Byron springs to mind. I quote:

He was her logarithm,
She was his cosine.
Taking their dog with 'em.
They hastened to go sign
Marriage vows which they joyfully shared,
And wooed and wed and pi r squared.

Similarly, when a freshman girl named Elizabeth Barrett Sigafoos came to Dr. Ewbank to seek guidance, he ignored the fact that she had won the Pulitzer prize for poetry when she was eight, and insisted she major in mathematics. Again the results were startling. Miss Sigafoos has set the entire math department agog by flatly refusing to believe that six times nine is 54. If Miss Sigafoos is correct, we will have to re-think the entire science of numbers and—who knows?—possibly open up vistas as yet undreamed of in mathematics.

Dr. Ewbank's unorthodox approach to student guidance has so impressed his employers that he was fired last week. He is currently selling beaded moccasins at Mount Rushmore.

Pi Kapps Lead In Volleyball; Women Tied In Basketball

The Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity dominated the University of Tampa Intramural Volleyball league play by defeating all other opponents. Sporting a 5-0 record the Pi Kaps placed first with Sigma Phi Epsilon running a close second. A surprising Tau Epsilon Phi finished a strong third and played consistent ball throughout the season.

Dave Villari won the University of Tampa Intramural Handball Championships by defeating Lenny Cimador. Excellent competition produced some of the most exciting games ever played in intramural competition here at the university. There was a third place tie between Mario DeLuca and Greg Esposito.

The beginning of second semester will feature one of the highlights of the intramural season with a 12 team basketball league already being formed and the schedule of competition being drawn up.

As the first half of the Basketball Tournament draws to a close we find three teams tied for first place: The Phi Club with Liz Calandrino, Birdie Cirincione, Bobbie Sarns, Fran Levy, Vickie Berdie, Sharon Weinstein and led by Marilyn Bronstein; The Independents with Judy King, Judy Alvarez, Nancy Roos, Betty Thornberry, Lydia Yglesias, Jackie Beltram, Judy Bailey and captained by Miriam Pellegrino; and the Newman Club with Ruth Hayward, Clare Saft, Eve Guerra, Kathy Romah, Marian Parks and led by Captain Joann Russo. Right in behind the leaders are the Alpha Chis led by Betsy Madzula along with Janet Parker, Katy Tmrick, Hilda Reifkohl, Vilma Hevia, Wilanne Starling and Linda Kurre.

TU Women's Varsity Basketball Schedule

The girls' varsity basketball team opened its season Thursday night, January 16, in a game with Florida Presbyterian College in St. Petersburg. Tampa U. was expected to meet strong competition in the FPC team that has several players returning from last year's championship team.

The remaining schedule for U. of Tampa is as follows with all home games being played in Howell gym at 7:00 p.m.:

The Waterspout

By Al Waters, Minaret Sports Editor

For three seasons at the University of Tampa basketball was a guy named George Shary. He was the 'dream guy' of the squad. In an age when giants dominate the court this little 5-10 redhead could hold his own with the biggest of them and often out-perform them. On the night of December 17 his career was seemingly ended.

It happened in the opening moments of the third quarter and it was just 'another' play. George had the ball. He dribbled down court to the South goal, shifted into high gear to get past a defender, and tripped in the process. In the speed of a second, a wince of pain sounded a tragic note to the 63-64 Spartan hopes.

It was all too difficult to understand. Here was the Little All-America candidate on a typical night; 16 points already scored in the first half; 57 away from an all-time school career mark.

Now the Shary-less five stand with a 0-9 record. The team finally looked good on the night of January 6. Taylor beat them 102-99, but for the first time this year, they looked like a cohesive unit; yet they were a Shary away from a win.

What will become of the classy cager now? It looks like he just may have another crack at the T.U. career mark after all, but chances of topping 2,000 points are slim. With a lot of luck and some quick healing of his left hand, George might see some action in the Spring semester. Otherwise, the possibility of some play next Fall is good for he might have another semester of eligibility and will have to return to complete his studies after all.

Whatever the case, George Shary will long be remembered at the University of Tampa. We are all in his corner and the only thing we can do for him is wait and see and hope.

Ann Russo, Angie Troutman, Judy King, Betty Thornberry, Bonnie O'Brien.

Serving as official scorekeeper and manager for the team is Florence Barbar.

Tony Jenitis To Lead Oarsmen

On January 6, 1964, another season of intercollegiate rowing at the University of Tampa began.

This year's team is being coached by Tony Jenitis who replaces William Stalnaker who recently joined the F.B.I.

The team is fortunate in that it is getting back many of last season's oarsmen, among whom are: George Watson, Pete Peck, Bob Cerrett, John Veit, Ken Storz, Bob Mahr, Dennis Schill, Ed Theobald, Bob Ferwerter, Bob Carroll, Doug Dallier, and Bruce Rennick.

Although 1963's season was not as impressive as would be desired due to many reasons, the main ones being a lack of experience and adequate equipment (which still must be rectified), the team did show its desire by coming from a ranked fourth position and winning second place in the Florida Intercollegiate Rowing Championships.

The schedule for the 1964 season is as follows:

March 15 La Salle U. — Home
March 28 American U. — Home
March 30 Amherst — Home
April 1 A.I.C. — Home
April 4 Rollins C. — Away
