UNIVERSITY OF TAMPA BULLETIN
APRIL 21, 1933

FACULTY FOR NEXT YEAR
TAKING SHAPE RAPIDLY

The faculty has been enriched by the acquisition of Nash Higgins as athletic director. Mr. Higgins comes to the University of Tampa from Gainesville, where he has been assistant coach at the U. of F. Mr. Higgins has signed a five year contract which takes effect July 1 of this year.

Mr. Robert Webb, mathematics instructor this year, has been selected as head of the geology department. He will also have charge of associated subjects such as geography.

Mr. Webb was born in Tampa, educated in Tampa's public schools, graduated with honors from Hillsboro high school, took his undergraduate work at Harvard, took his graduate work at Clark and at Harvard, taught at Radcliffe College, Harvard, Ohio State University, and in high schools in Georgia and Florida, and was at one time connected with the United States Geological survey. During the war, he was overseas as a captain in the field artillery. Since that time, he has been employed by several large companies as field engineer and inspector.

The office has promised an early release on other new members of the 33-34 faculty.

U of T RADIO PROGRAMS

Do you ever listen to the regular University quarter-hour programs? Last Monday Mr. Webb gave a six-minute talk on education. The talk was woven around the idea that one should take two or three years of general work before specializing.

Next Monday at 7:15 Miss Jesse Miller, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Manatee County, will speak. Mr. Gunter will be in charge of the music.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

The bursar desires to call the attention of all students to the fact that all tuition accounts should be paid in full by May 15, next, and not later than May 20. He asks the cooperation of the student body to this end.

The dean urgently requests all students to fill out their tentative schedules for next year. By doing this, the students will aid the office in arranging the times for classes. Each student is expected to go over a tentative schedule with the dean. Conferences may be had for this purpose on any day between May 1 and June 2.

If your friends are going to college this fall, kindly report their names to the office. Catalogs will be sent to them.

ASSEMBLY WILL BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, AT 6:00 P.M. FOR CONSIDERATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. YOU ARE ASKED TO BE THERE.

Marcus Hall, Pres.

The faculty will meet at 6:00 P.M., Friday, April 21.

You will find the June exam schedule posted on the Bulletin Board.

KEEP THE BUILDING CLEAN

Please do not smoke in the halls or class rooms. Help Mr. McCurdie keep the building and walls clean. Please don't put your feet on the walls, or throw paper in the halls. Loud talking in the halls is very disturbing to classes. Do you know that chewing gum is out of place in string beans and on the floor? Please do not use any except the North entrance, for if you do, persons having no business here can get access to the building too easily.

Just be thoughtful, and you will be careful.

UNIVERSITY ACQUIRES NUCLEUS OF A MUSEUM

Due to the generosity of friends of the University, we have recently received two excellent museum collections which are, no doubt, the beginning of a real University Museum.

The Stebbins Collection is largely Natural History and History Material. It consists of four distinct groups of specimens. One group contains diversified collections of rocks, minerals, and fossils; a second group is made up of Pre-Columbian North American Indian relics: spear heads, arrow-points, tobacco pipes, and pottery fragments; the third group is a biological collection illustrating Marine of the Gulf of Mexico; the fourth group is a Historical collection consisting of Civil War relics and a coin collection.

Of quite a different sort is the Collins Collection. This consists of objects of art, antiques and historical objects.

Mr. Webb, with the assistance of several students, is now cataloging the collections and preparing them for exhibition.

INTRODUCING:

Theodore Lesley, energetic, sincere, a gentleman, with amazingly beautiful eyes for a boy. Theodore is President of the Freshman Class and Chairman of the Social Committee.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lesley, 2707 Morrison Avenue.

By the way, the Lesleys have been prominent in Tampa's social and political life for the past three generations. And that's not all of Theodore's illustrious history. One of his ancestors has a bust in the Hall of Fame at Washington for (among other things) being Secretary of State and signing the Declaration of Independence.

Getting back to Theodore and going on to the future, the University of Suwannee will be the place where Theodore gets his Doctor of Divinity degree. He hopes to be an Episcopal Minister some day, and you can bet he'll make a good one.

Going hand in hand with his interest in the past (which you will discover if you question him on his ancestry) is Theodore's hobby. He collects old swords, guns, stamps, and autographs.

We're hoping, Mr. Lesley, that you'll carry on to even greater heights the glorious name of your ancestors.

CORNELL MAKES GIFT TO LIBRARY

Through the efforts of Mr. George Howell, a member of the Board of Trustees, the University of Tampa has acquired over 650 books from Cornell University, of which Mr. Howell is an alumnus.

The books, many of which are quite valuable, are being catalogued and repaired by Anna Regener, librarian, with the assistance of Mary Agnes Thompson.

The tentative list includes 114 volumes of Literature, 142 of Physics, 68 of Mathematics, 73 of Chemistry and Engineering, 52 of Law, 50 of Philosophy and Religion, 43 of Geology, 27 of French, 25 of German, 24 of History and 22 of Economics.

As there is no room for additional books in the Hillsborough library, they will be placed in a separate room but will be available to any students who are in need of them.

COURSE COMMENT

Well folks, this week we leave the calm but hectic everyday life of the North American college student, and move to foreign parts. A discussion of the second year Spanish course is now in order.

In the first place, the student who takes Spanish 200 must have two years of high school Spanish, or the equivalent, and one year of college work in this language. Believe me, these prerequisite requirements are not the least bit too high.

The course includes a general survey of Spanish literature, and a review and expansion of grammar already studied.

During the first semester, the students read two representative Spanish novels in class, and two more as outside reading. Exercises, translations from English to Spanish, are part of the work, but students are allowed to write their reviews of outside work in English.

The second semester is a different story. All reports and exercises are written in Spanish. The semester begins with the years allotment of grammar work. The remainder of the term is the same as the first semester except that the amount of work is increased, and that the English language is eliminated from the class-room.

That's the hard part of Spanish 200; now for the fun. The class is small, and the students get lots of individual attention. Also, a great deal of conversation in Spanish is carried on. It's quite a thrill to converse in a foreign language. After the assignment is covered, open discussion of Spain and Spanish affairs is held. Mr. Nava, the instructor, is a native of Spain. His views on Spanish life in general bear the mark of authority. More power to Spanish 200, in general, and Mr. Nava, in particular.

FOOTBALL AND BASKETBALL PLAYERS TO GET LETTERS

Letters have been ordered for members of the football and basketball teams by Jack Fitzgerald. They will be eight inches high and gold colored. Payment on the letters must be made this week. Members of the squads who are eligible for letters are:

Football

Jack Fitzgerald
Winston Fowler (manager)
Morton Hackney
Ray Kimball
Jack King
Herman Manson
Joe Scruggs
Octavius Smith
Pat Stuckey

Basketball

Miller Adams
Hasus Castro
Jack Fitzgerald
Arthur Friedburg
Billey Gillen
Bill Hippenmeier
Bill Smith
W. B. Dickenson

AROUND THE CORNER

Ikey is on a strike, so there has not been much dirt turned in for our ears. P. S. He's dead.

We wonder what sort of beverages Mr. Friedburg stores in his cellar.

Hasus Castro seems to be high-hitting the heavens with his one and only, Leah Lucas. Let's all wish him luck. However, remember that when puppy love weens there is bound to be a dog's life afterwards.

Joe and Mag Allen seem to be clicking well, and we understand that Joe's theme song is, "While you and I are young, Maggie."

And maybe we'll soon have our own beer (legal) to blow foam from. The dean has threatened to can any one found drawing pictures with a finger wet in foam on the bar!

E. Marchman has an admirer of whom she knows nothing. This young fellow has been trying to make contact for some time but without success. Give this guy a break, won't you, Eleanor?

We understand Tom Prince has a rival for the affections of Carmen Cosio. Page Lynwood!

We wonder what has become of Alice Dean Mabry and Jack Moore, her boy friend?

Manuel Rodriguez is blossoming forth as a Don Juan. His latest is none other than Marian Frazier, the little girl who makes the modern Venuses hang their heads in shame. Some say that Manuel does not understand! Do you?

JUST IMAGINE!

C. L. Craft ki---ng Mary Miceli under the mistletoe, or under a chandelier, or under a doorway, or anywhere!

Or the three most prominent faculty members singing Sweet Adeline at three o'clock in the morning?

Or Friedburg unable to argue?

Or Lynwood Smith proposing marriage to Mary---? (Any Mary)

Or Jaque Bettis in a bathing suit?

Watch your step, we'll get you yet! Pip, Pip.
(P.S. If you can imagine anything, let us have it.)
