INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Hall Selected as Chair- man; 2 Talks Heard

John R. Hall was elected chairman of the International Relations club of the University of Tampa Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were Dale Petersen, vice chairman; Grace Bruton, secretary; Anne Way Peebles, librarian. Peggy Welch was appointed publicity director.

Oswald Delgado presented an interesting discussion on "Schooling Under the Dictators." He discussed the methods of instruction in the various countries which are under dictatorship, and told how the Russian method differed from that taught in Germany and Italy.

Mr. Delgado also discussed the danger of the teachings of the totalitarian states to the democracies. He impressed upon his audience the need of learning more about the Latin-American countries in an effort to preserve our own democracy.

Dale Petersen presented a discussion on several points initiated by Henri Lichtenberger in his book, "The Third Reich," bringing in several instances that he had witnessed while traveling in Germany last summer.

He emphasized the feeling that exists in Germany, that the nation is thankful to Hitler for building up the army to its present state, and breaking down the bonds of the Versailles treaty which limited the size of the German army.

Mr. Petersen was impressed by the unity to the German youth and the physical fitness and vitality the people possessed.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks. All students are invited to attend.

Library Observes Nat'l Book Week With New Additions

In observance of National Book Week, the University library is presenting an interesting series of new books this week.

During the summer and early fall many books, mostly for departmental use and reference, have been added to its shelves.

A few of these new volumes are: "Our Trade With Britain," by Bidwell; "Analysis of the Problem of War," by Eagleton, and "Czechs and Germans," by Wiskermann, all of which will be of interest to the International Relations Club members.

For those in the Math Club, or anyone interested in figures there are: "Mathematical Nuts," by Samuel Jones, and "Fun with Figures," by Collins.

Another very good book is the best seller, "The Evolution of Physics," by Albert Einstein and Leopold Infeld.

This fall a Boston donor presented the library with 34 volumes of studies conducted by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

For the students of music two valuable new books are: "The Changing Opera," by Bekker, and "New Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians," by Pratt.

Anyone interested in soap culture may get pamphlets on the art at the Circulation Desk.

An unusual volume, "Familiar Quotations," edited by Christopher Morley and Louella Everett, is now available.

Laub Re-elected Student Council Faculty Advisor

Dr. C. Herbert Laub was elected, for the second consecutive year, as faculty adviser of the Student Council of the University of Tampa at a meeting of the council Tuesday.

Resolutions made by the Florida Student Government Association at the convention in Tallahassee last May were reviewed and discussed.

Resolutions made by the F.S.G.A. are as follows:

Be it resolved, that the Florida Student Government Association go on record as favoring active and open politics, as valuable experience in developing better citizenship.

Be it resolved, that orientation in student government be emphasized, with certain periods during the semester set aside for the purpose.

Be it resolved, that the student government should have an honor system, which would develop self-respect in each individual.

Be it resolved, that the F.S.G.A. go on record as favoring better cooperation among student organizations.

And furthermore be it resolved, that each college have some program of honor education.

BAND WELCOMES SANTA AND SONNY CLAUS TO TAMPA

Santa Claus, this year accompanied by his son, Sonny Claus, arrived in Tampa last Saturday at 10 o'clock. Brought by his special 210 reindeer-powered motor-plane, he landed upon the wide portion of the Hillsborough river, north of the Lafayette street bridge.

There awaited a mob of gaily and lavishly dressed children, all crowding to see their favorite man.

Also there awaited the appropriately dressed University of Tampa band, who escorted the reverend gentleman to his abode of the next few weeks.

Music suited to the occasion was played as the long and excited procession moved east over the bridge and north along Franklin street.

This is the third year that the band has acted as reception committee, along with the parents and children, for the saint.

The affair always is welcomed by the band members who apparently have as much fun as the little tots themselves.

We can't say who started this idea of naming college teams after animals, but it seems to be the proper thing. Twenty-two teams have the title of "Tigers"; this is the most for any one animal, but "Bull-dogs" run a close second with 21. Also in the running are Wildcats, 14; Panthers, 9; Eagles, 8; Bears, 7, etc. Some even go down to the insect family, for there are nine Yellow-Jacket teams and one Wasp.—The Ward-Belmont Hyphen.

SPARTAN INNOCENTS SEE THE BIG TOWN

By LUCIE MARSH

Taking a good supply of Florida weather with them, Tampa U's Spartan "Innocents" went abroad to Boston. Their experiences were interesting and varied, especially to those who were making their first trip east.

On their way north, visits to the Washington zoo, containing almost every kind of animal known, the Lincoln memorial and Georgetown University, furnished entertainment.

Staying at the same hotel there, the New Colonial, was the Bucknell University football team. The boys also met the Notre Dame and Auburn squads who were in Washington at the same time. From there they went to Boston and the game. They spent Saturday night in the Massachusetts capital.

After partaking of the traditional Boston beans and brown bread they left the exclusive University club where

NEW MEMBERS INITIATED INTO THE QUILL CLUB

Thirteen Present Novel- ty, Entertainment

An interesting series of readings, musical numbers and other entertainment selections marked the initiation of 13 new members of the Quill club, literary society, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Hinckley, 2104 Marjorie avenue, Wednesday night.

The selections presented were as follows:

C. W. Adams, curious facts from, "Is That in the Bible;" Theresa Christel, poem of her own composition, "Rock;" Doris Davis, charade, interpreting "To Be or Not To Be," and a potato on a newspaper, interpreted as "commentator on the news."

Yolonda Finney, comic solo in make-up, with her own ukelele accompaniment; Martha Franco, balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet;" Hazel Hand, recitation of a humorous A. A. Milne poem; Margaret Hand, talk on first aid; Mayhew Ingram, "Cremation of Sam McGee."

Mortimer Lunsford, solo, "The End of a Perfect Day;" Raymond May, comic monolog; Sara McCaslin, two poems, one by a Japanese student and the other by the late D. B. McKay, Jr.; Russell Smith, poem of his own composition, "Blind Man;" Dora Valdes, humorous, informal essay "On Living Christmas Presents."

A. W. Mixner and Devoise Brown were absent, and Lincoln Dowell, arriving late, will join them at another meeting in their initiation.

The club will meet regularly on the first and third Wednesdays.

Paul Whiteman To Make Tour of Eastern Colleges

As so many of the top-grade bands do, Paul Whiteman and his band are going on tour of United States colleges. He will stop at any college on his route which wishes to have him, to play at proms, homecomings, jam sessions or concerts. He already has visited Duke, Annapolis, Tennessee, N. C. State, Washington and Lee and elsewhere.

Members of the ensemble who will be included in the tour are the entire Chesterfield orchestra, Joan Edwards, The Four Modernaires, Sonny Schuyler, Roy Bargy, Al Duffy, Jack and Charlie Teagarden, Mike Pingitore, Al Gallodoro, Goldie, the Whiteman Swing Wing, and a host of outstanding stars and radio entertainers.

they were guests and the sightseeing Spartans sallied forth to "little old New York."

All in a Night

They try not to boast of taking in three big shows in one night while there; or of the elaborate meals with caviar and artichokes and things, which they ate in the Hunting room at the Hotel Astor just off Times Square; or the extensive sightseeing trips they enjoyed under a guide, which, practically all of them swear, is the Duke of Windsor's double.

After a "light snack" for breakfast they rubbernecked to Grant's Tomb, Riverside Church and Battery Park where the famous Aquarium is located. There Quarterback Hance became so engrossed in the life of the sea-horses that the party was delayed for 20 minutes. But it didn't matter—the

313 Masquers To Produce "Holiday," 3-Act Play Dec. 6

The 313 Masquers' much discussed play, "Holiday," is scheduled to be presented Dec. 6, in the Municipal auditorium. This play is one of Philip Barries' most sparkling stories of love and heart-beats beneath the aloofness of the wealthy class.

Mrs. R. P. Connally, director, refuses to make any comment on the play except to say: "The cast has shown such fine spirit and faithfulness in rehearsals that we feel it will be a most successful performance."

Despite the absence of one of the casts' members, Joe Valantiejus, who only recently returned from New York, the play has progressed, and members are now rehearsing the third act.

Members of the Dramatic club received a thrill when hastily summoned ones appeared before David Arnoff, talent scout of Selznick International Pictures. He watched a love scene of "Holiday" in which Theresa Christel, Mortimer Lunsford and Ella Beth Laird took part. Being familiar with the play, he was pleased with the scene and said, "If that is a sample? I know the rest will be interesting." High hopes were rather let down though, for no movie contracts developed—after the interview.

This is not the only field that dramatic club members go into. Truman Hunter, Mortimer Lunsford, Carlisle Kyle and Anthony Freedy were called to WDAE for auditions in announcing. They were given favorable recognition.

The dramatic Technique class also is preparing one-act plays for an assembly.

Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Masquers, the group was entertained by Bert Hernandez and a portion of Mrs. Armour's dancing class. The program included:

Mexican dance. Alberta and Hernandez
Spanish tambourine dance.....
.....a group of dancers
Tangle-foot.....Louise and Lloyd
Song.....Sidney Phillips
Acrobatic dance.....Inclian sisters
Hot-cha dance.....Louise and Lloyd
Adagio dance. Alberta and Hernandez

Students received warmly the second musical assembly of the year, held last Tuesday. Mr. Wiltse was in charge.

The orchestra played the opening selection, then "Alma Mater." The students and faculty joined in group singing of "America." "Song of the Volga Boatmen" was sung once by the students in unison, then repeated as a round.

"There Is a Tavern in the Town" was selected next, in response to an overwhelming number of requests. The boys' quartet, Billy Martin, Earl Plano, Mortimer Lunsford, and Harold McClelland, made its first appearance, singing "Indian Dawn." Another unit heard for the first time was the women's three part chorus which presented "Ma Little Banjo."

Most popular with the students was the novelty song, "Short'ning Bread," in which Mr. Wiltse sang the solo parts and the students the choruses.

The group then sang the "Caisson Song" of the American army, and concluded the program with the hymn "Now Thank We All Our God."

DAFFINITIONS:

Pence: Trousers.

5 SOPHOMORES TO START FOR TAMPA TONIGHT

Spirit of Squad Is at Highest Peak

By OSWALD DELGADO
(Minaret Sports Editor)

The University of Tampa Spartans will attempt to return to the win column tonight when they meet the University of Havana gridders in an international football tilt at Phillips Field tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Much interest has been manifested in the game because of the surprise showing the Cubans made when they held the powerful Rollins Tars to a 7 to 6 victory last week. Due to their impressive play against the Tar men, the Spartans are being rated as the underdogs tonight.

The boys from Havana come to Tampa boasting the most improved and the best football team which has yet been developed in Cuba. The squad is composed entirely of athletes in various sports such as track and soccer ball which makes the Cubans a real threat to their opponents.

Like the Game

The Cuban gridmen are playing football for the love of the game. Football has never made much progress in Cuba where it has never been popular. Athletics in the island has been confined to baseball, track, soccer and basketball, in the major sports.

Recently, however, Coach Jimmy Kendrigan, of Havana University, has been introducing the game to the sports followers of the island and progress is being made. The fine work Kendrigan's men displayed against Rollins shows that football is being taken seriously.

The Havana team plays an open type of football featured by a great deal of passing. Spartan followers have been told to keep an eye on the passing game with which the Cubans expect to defeat the Tampa team.

Local Boys on Havana Team

Playing for the Havana team tonight will be two former Tampa boys, Jimmy Riviera and Frank Roig. Riviera played guard at Hillsborough High. He is one of the most consistent players on the squad and is considered a perfect blocker. Roig played quarterback for Tampa College and last year was voted the outstanding signal caller on the University of Loyola freshmen squad. He transferred to the Cuban university early this year.

Spartans in Spirited Practice

In preparation for their tough encounter with the Havanans tonight, the Spartans went through several spirited practice sessions this week. Coaches Higgins and Pierson had the squad working on their blocking assignments and reviewing their offense. The week's work was concluded with several conditioning drills.

The loss of several players due to injuries which have reduced the size of the squad considerably, has lessened the chance of the Spartans for a possible win over Havana. The spirit shown in the drill this week, however, indicates the Tampa squad will return to the type of play they displayed against the Cincinnati Bearcats and the Florida Gators.

Spartan Followers Optimistic

The crushing defeat the Stetson Hatters handed the Spartans last Friday afternoon has not downed the optimistic followers of the Tampa team, who feel that the locals will emerge winners.

Probable lineup the Spartans may use tonight is: Dick Schleiter and Russ Mumbauer, ends; Clair Pittman and Willard Driskell, tackles; Paul Alfieri and Ben Filipiski, guards; and Al Yorkunas at center.

The starting backfield may call for action from Dick Spoto, Paul Hance, Jim Mandula and Jap Simmons.

Important Game for Tampa

The game tonight should prove important not only to the Spartans who

THE ATTITUDE OF AN AUDIENCE

In almost any textbook written on the subject of good speech, there is usually a chapter devoted, not to the technique of speech, but to the attitude of an audience. This chapter is usually short, but of great importance to the whole course.

A famous American once said, "To be a good conversationalist, you must first be a good listener." And we all know that someone is of great importance to us when he or she will listen to what we have to say.

Books have been written on the psychology of self-expression. Speeches have been made on the subject. Most schools encourage the students in self-expression, and some even set aside certain periods during the week when students may get up and say anything they wish—anything for self-expression.

But all the above pertains to younger persons than those of college years. By the time we enter a University we should have learned how to express ourselves simply and willingly. There is no need of encouraging more than we find in the average college student.

The main problem lies now in determining where we should curb self-expression and apply a bit of self-control. In the average pupil of grammar and junior high school age, the teacher finds the terrible problem of showing each the difference between the two—or rather, where one should cease and the other begin. But, by the time a person reaches college age, he should have gained enough self-control—usually by external force—to be able to become the proper type of audience—a good listener.

No more than any other college, the University finds those in its ranks who have not learned the second important thing—self control. They have learned only to express themselves. They have not made themselves into good listeners.

To such an audience the Administration must introduce the guest speakers which it feels may be interesting. Think about being a good listener, the next time anyone speaks in Assembly. Practice on the students who make announcements, on the members of the faculty or other members of the school who get up before the student body. It is detrimental to the school to have audiences which have the wrong attitude.

GOOD SPORT SPIRIT

We, the University of Tampa Spartans, have steadily gone down before our opponents since the first two games of the season. We have besmirched, or so we think, our records of three years, with irredeemable losses. We have been swept under by teams which are more professionalized than the University will allow its team to be.

But we must remember that we are learning something besides football in this college. We must remember that the University is striving to teach something besides the kicking and tossing of the inflated portion of a pig's skin.

And so our team is doing its best, with the materials at hand. We are not losing pace by a year's defeat. Robert Bruce lost seven times before he finally won back England. Even if our team loses we should cheer it, knowing the effort it takes, even to lose a game. We gain pleasure from watching a game, win, lose or draw, and so we should put back something into that game, be it only an occasional yell. The game can be made more exciting for us and for those around us by a little enthusiasm.

Tonight we face Havana. It is up to the team to win or lose. But it is up to us to make the game itself a roaring success.

We wish to express to Joe Valentiejus and Robert Kasriel our sincere sympathy for their recent bereavements. Both recently lost their fathers.

'Long About This Time

An Open Letter To the Students

Are you reading this column of mine regularly? It will be a great relief to me personally if I may receive from you some direct evidence that you are, in large numbers if not in entire numbers, reading this column regularly.

This is not because I desire to have you read what I write; but rather because I am trying to put into this column the things which I believe the students of our University need to receive from me.

Into this column goes from week to week the material which, in my opinion, ought to be brought as vividly as possible to all students of the University. It is material which under other circumstances I would feel should be presented in the regular convocations of the University as subject matter so important that the administration has a duty to present it as clearly as possible to as many students as possible.

Now by presenting such materials in the convocations I can make certain that all the students hear what I have to say. And with required attendance, and your natural politeness, I can be assured that you will hear it; you will endure it, and you will suffer through it, to the destruction of real enjoyability in the convocation programs.

Is it not far better, then, to present such materials in this column? And if it is better so to present them, is it not far better that you, the students, read the column carefully, give evidence that you are reading it, get the material really into your understanding, and your sympathetic consideration—give evidence that you have done this also, and thus leave me free to develop the convocations as meetings truly enjoyable to all of our University body.

Of course it is true that on bulletin boards, and from convocation platform, as well as in an earlier article in the Minaret, students have been put on notice that they are expected by this administration to have read, and to have understood, everything which I publish in this column.

That requirement I can of course enforce strictly as an order, and when students come to me for concessions, aids, or advices, I can of course find out whether they are familiar with the thoughts, ideas, and facts, set forth in this column; and I can shape my attitude toward the individual student according to whether or not he seems to be one who has been conscientiously and open-mindedly trying to get the best he can from this, the best I can give him.

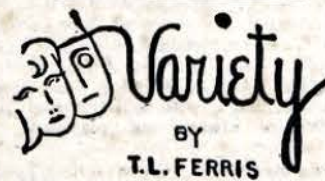

But that is not the basis on which I hope to secure your interest, and hold your cooperative friendship. Into this column has been going, and (if I can find reason to believe that it is being read) will go, the very best of helpful information, advice, or recorded experience, which I can find from all available sources to pass on to students, in effort to be of aid to them in their task of getting from the University of Tampa, and its curricular opportunities, the very best possible preparation for the life which lies ahead of them.

Therefore, will each of you as an individual make it a point to read and think over the offerings in this column? Not because I write them, not because they represent my opinions as to what you need—but because in every case they represent an attempt to bring to you some fact, some thought, or some consideration, which otherwise you might miss, and which someone who has given real study to your problem has believed would be helpful to you.

Please let me know: Are you reading this column? And do you intend to continue reading it? Do you want it continued?

Such-is-life true story.

A talent scout visited Tampa U. last week to pick out a Scarlett O'Hara or another Greta Garbo. Before he came, dramatic club members' phones buzzed and a parade of over-dressed students came prepared to make an impression. As they walked with oneness in front of the talent seeker, they were asked "What's your name—address?" and "That's all." Which meant, "Sorry, you won't do."

After the interview the movie scout's eye caught a glimpse of Florence Roberts, sister of Melvena. "Who's that?" he whistled. "She's got more ummm than I've seen yet!" The lovely-to-look-at was strolling around the porch when he stopped her, pencil and paper in hand. "I represent such'n'such firm. I'd like for my boss to interview you. You may receive a motion picture contract."

Florence smiled, "I'm sorry, but I'm not interested in a motion picture contract and I'm not an actress." She hurried down the porch to meet her boy friend.

"That's all right," drawled the old man, "so is the station agent."

A bachelor is a man who has made up his mind that he can't make up his mind.

We've been racking our brain in search of one or two good reasons to explain the 42 to 0 score with which the Stetson Hatters left the Spartans on Armistice Day. Not satisfied that we had found one, we pass on to you what others thought about it.

Here are several which were overheard:

That the Stetson Hatters with their 17 veteran seniors were unstoppable.

That Lynn Warren's passing was the big gun in the huge score which Stetson piled against Tampa.

That the Boston trip gave the Spartans little rest and not enough time to prepare for Stetson.

That the large number of injuries which have hit the Tampa squad has weakened the team.

That lack of experienced reserves was the big difference.

That the Spartans have not yet mastered the intricate system of play which was introduced to them this year.

That the team's fighting spirit is not up to the par for which all Spartan teams have been noted.

That the squad as a whole is not in good physical shape.

There are as many different reasons among different persons as there are players in a football team. Certainly all the foregoing criticisms can't be right!

We do believe, however, that the squad is not in its best physical shape. That and the fact that the team is nearing the end of its tough schedule with few capable reserves might explain the score last Friday.

Looking at some of the details of the game last week we couldn't help but notice that the blocking assignments of the various players was poor, and that the handling of the ball on deceptive plays was not up to the standard the Spartans manifested earlier in the season.

The fact, too, that the boys played listless ball showed that the team had been handicapped by its long trip and time to prepare for the powerful Stetson team which was in the best condition of the season when they played the Spartans.

The big disappointment last Friday, however, was not the fact that Tampa was defeated. Only the most optimistic gave the crippled Spartans a chance to win. The general expectation seems to have been that the game would not be as one-sided as it was.

No credit is to be taken away from the Hatters, either. There was no doubt that they were superior to the Spartans. We can easily understand why they licked the Gators and we believe that they could do it again.

The big test for the Stetson team will come in December when they meet Rollins for the second time this season. This time the Hatters will win the ball game and prove that they are the equals of the Miami Hurricanes.

Incidentally, this might be a good time to cease prognosticating and express our congrats to Mikell Hancock, co-ed student here, who showed speed boat followers the woman's viewpoint in the matter. Mikell won two first places at the speed boat regatta held Armistice Day in Avon Park.

Well, the Cubans are here and everybody is excited about it. The big surprise they handed Rollins in holding them to a 7 to 6 win has changed the aspects of what originally was planned as workout for the Spartans as they prepared to end the season against Rollins and Western Kentucky.

We understand that the Havanans play an open type of football and that they are plenty tough and plenty speedy. Rollins thinks so, too. But we wouldn't have believed it were possible. Football is not a popular sport in Cuba, where the national game is baseball. The Cubans excel in almost every sport but football,—or so we thought until this week.

Anyway, we still have faith in the Spartans. We believe they still have a lot of good football which they have still to play and will show it tonight. Tonight's game won't be easy for the Tampa boys but we have a sneaking suspicion they'll come through if they keep alert.

Dick Sexton Takes Win In Pingpong Finals; Easily Defeats Mobley

In the finals of the ping-pong tournament Dick Sexton, seeded star representing Beta Chi, defeated Hubert Mobley, Sigma Epsilon, 21-15, 21-9 and 21-7. Sexton went into the finals by defeating Frisbie Carr, independent entry, while Mobley won over Comparato, B. X. entry.

The next sports on tap in intramurals are horseshoes and soccer. The first round of the horseshoes tournament has been completed and soccer is scheduled to start soon.

BABY SPARTANS MEET AIR BASE AT PENSACOLA

Several All-Americans To Play for Navy

By BILLY AILOR

The University of Tampa Freshmen left by bus this morning at 5 o'clock for Pensacola where they will play the Naval Air Station squad tomorrow night.

The Baby Spartans, after losing their first start 13-0 to the Miami with the Rollins Tar Babies, have stressed offensive play in their practices this week.

Realizing the heavy line of the Naval Base will stop most of the ground plays, Coach Hatcher plans to have the Frosh take to the air.

The Naval Base has a squad of ex-college men, many of whom have played four years of collegiate ball. Several All-Americans are carried on their roster, one being "Buzz" Borries, who starred for the Navy and was known as one of the best ball carriers and passers in the country.

Willie Godwin, former Tampa U star, also is on the squad and may see some service although a knee injury will keep him out of the starting lineup.

The Frosh are in good shape with the exception of Thompson and Gregory, who have leg injuries and will not make the trip.

Coach Hatcher has announced his starting lineup as: Gray and Howell, ends; Jasunas and Smehtyl, tackles; Anderson and Read, guards; Brown, center; Howard Beynon, quarterback; Renz and Caldwell, halves; and Newlands, fullback.

are attempting to break into the win column, but it is of significant importance to the University as a whole. The athletic relations which may be formed with the Havana team will serve to form a strong link between the two institutions in future relations.

A large crowd is expected to witness the international contest.

Mikell Hancock Wins Outboard Championship

Mikell Hancock, University of Tampa co-ed, won top honors in the featured 24 horsepower runabout speedboat race in the American Legion's Armistice day regatta at Avon Park.

Miss Hancock entered two races, winning both. The first was restricted to 24 horsepower runabout speedboats. She won all three heats in this event, lapping the other boats in the third heat.

In the "bang and go back" race Mikell was again the victor. She outclassed all other entries in driving the speedy boat of Tom Kitchen, of Tampa, to two first places in the regatta.

Miss Hancock is a former Plant high student, where she was quite prominent in girls' athletics.

Intra-Murals

Final standings in touch football began to take shape yesterday when Rho Nu Delta, in first place, scored a 13-0 win over T. O. La Barbera took two long passes in the first three minutes of play for a pair of touchdowns. Jiminez made the extra point.

Beta Chi showed power in defeating S. K. N., 13-0. Wilson scored once on a run and Fendig took a short pass for the other touchdown. Zendeig converted.

Sigma Epsilon and Plebes played to a scoreless tie in a slow game.

After losing their first two starts of the season to S. K. N. and R. N. D., the Sigma Epsilon Engineers, last year's intramural touch champions, bounded back into the race with wins over Beta Chi and Tau Omega this week.

Rho Nu Delta, league leaders, were held to scoreless ties by S. K. N. and Plebes, while S. K. N. fought B. X. to another scoreless tie to hold second place.

Sigma Epsilon nosed out Beta Chi 7-6. The Beta Chi running attack, featuring some well executed reverses, enabled them to take an early lead. In the first quarter, VerPlanck, B. X. back, followed good interference and raced around left end 15 yards for a touchdown. Failing to convert, Beta Chi led by 6-0. As the half ended Wilson, Beta Chi back, carried the ball for what looked like another score but the ball was ruled dead on the one-yard line.

In the third quarter the Engineers put on a sustained drive for 60 yards and a score. Wilkerson, S. E. back, passed to Ailor, S. E. back, for the touchdown. Then Wilkerson shot a pass to Alexander, Engineer guard, for the extra point and Sigma Eps led 7-6. The fourth quarter was scoreless.

Engineers Win from T. O.

In their other game the Engineers took Tau Omega by 7-0. In the first few minutes, Hunter, S. E. back, got off a quick kick from his own 30-yard line that went over the T. O. goal line for a touchdown. On the second play from scrimmage T. O. fumbled and Mobley, alert S. E. end, recovered behind the goal for a touchdown. Ailor, S. E. back, passed to Hunter for the extra point and S. E. led 7-0.

T. O. put on a drive that carried to the 15-yard line but frequent penalties hurt their chances. In the last quarter T. O. resorted to long passes in an effort to pull up even. The Stewart-to-McClelland combination made numerous gains for T. O. while

Luxemburg played a good defensive game in the line.

Led by Vincent, guard, the Sigma Epsilon line played a great defensive game that broke up the tricky T. O. laterals and runs for frequent losses.

T. O. Defeats Plebes

In their other game Tau Omega defeated an improved Plebe team by 7-6. Bill Jones, T. O. guard, took a pass in the flat zone for the touchdown and Reid converted for the extra point. Leading by 7-0 Tau Omega was given a scare when Hampton, Plebe guard, crossed their goal with six points. Failing to convert, the Plebes went down in defeat to T. O. by 7-6.

Rho Nu Delta and S. K. N. battled to a scoreless tie and maintained their respective positions in the league, first and second. Neither could get its offense to clicking consistently although both teams flashed good form at times.

In their other game R. N. D. was unable to score on a scrappy Plebe team and a scoreless draw again was the result. The R. N. D. missed several chances to score while the only serious Plebe threat came on an interception by Hedrick.

The defensive line play of Alonzo and Villarosa, R. N. D. guards, hurried the Plebe backfield and prevented them from offering a real threat. Rho Nu Delta made three first downs to none for the Plebes.

S. K. N. in Another Tie

In the game between S. K. N. and B. X. the final score read 0-0. Both teams pulled several reverses but could not break a man loose. S. K. N. came close to a score as they worked the ball down to the one-yard line. Beta Chi held, however, and took the ball on downs.

Spartan Innocents See the Big Towns

rest were looking at the snails and mermaids and stuff.

After another little "bite" for lunch, the Spartans were guests of the Radio City Music Hall, visiting the executive offices and meeting the world-famous Rockettes, chorus girls of the Hall. They also deemed it important to mention the fact that they posed for pictures with the Broadway beauties.

Famous and Great

The boys stayed for the show, "The Young in Heart," saw the stage show, and heard Richard Leibert at the organ.

Then meeting with "Your Old Maestro, Ben Bernie and all the lads" and Lou "Monkies is the swaziest people" Lehr, on the Half and Half Tobacco radio show was next on the program. As they were special guests, the "Old Maestro" mentioned the University of Tampa several times and after the show was good enough to tell the boys a couple of extra jokes. "Good ones too," said the stalwart Spartans, faint red creeping through their tans.

They also attended the rehearsal of Eddie Cantor's radio program, where they all were impressed by his sincerity and good humor.

From then until 10 o'clock, when they boarded the train for home, Spartans were seen from Harlem to China Town, and all over Broadway.

"Too Much Broadway"

They saw the bright lights; they saw the huge signs; they saw the skyscrapers; they saw the Girls, Messrs, Pittman, Pogue and Mumbauer even found themselves a couple to help see New York.

Since the Stetson game these Spartan gentlemen have received a sympathy card from the girls with "Too much Broadway" inscribed with their names.

Probably Fred Manucy has most graphically described the trip as he saw it. Fred brags that they stayed at the Astor within sound of the din and bustle of Times Square. He wonders how New Yorkers ever sleep.

Says Fred, "The hotel is a pretty swell joint which has been visited by several other famous people besides the Spartan squad."

Badly bewildered by the defensive work of the waiters at dinner he dropped the menu containing the signals of the meal.

"In an attempt to recover my fumble," he explains, "I was thrown for a 10-yard loss by three waiters who took me out of the play. The scramble was just as terrific as if a plutocrat had dropped a quarter in the Tampa U lobby."

SCORES ON ALL-STATE

Margie Wells, freshman co-ed, won a place on the second all-state volleyball team in Miami last week. It was the first time Miss Wells had ever entered a state tournament.

SOCIAL SPOTLIGHT

Dear Minnie:

With the team in Boston things would have been rather dull around if we hadn't had the Baby Spartan-Rollins rat game Saturday night. Everybody moved up to the College Inn after the game for a little informal dancing.

Along about Sunday and Monday the Spartans were taking in as much of New York, Boston and Washington as time and coach would allow. They even had their picture taken with Ben Bernie just to prove they were there. And to prove they haven't forgotten the Spartans, two gals from Broadway sent "Clair, Rus and Tiny" a sympathy card after the Stetson game. "Tiny," by the way, is the nickname Pogue acquired during the trip.

Tony Freedy took the Delta Kappa girl's bid dance literally. He turned the tables and had the girls lead him. Jackie Jamison and Betty Jo were the unwilling Amazons.

Cynthia Toledo travelled up to Gainesville last week end to attend the Florida homecoming festivities. She went on the bid of her fiancé, Jo Moran, a Kappa Sig. Others from the U. who made the trip are Alice Williams, Patsy Wall and Jim Verplanck.

Celeste, Julia Mary, John Hall and Dick Powell were representatives of Tampa U. last Thursday at an inter-collegiate conference at Southern.

Delia's birthday dinner uncovered the culinary talents of Mr. Dobson. He cooked the steaks for the party. Plans were made for the party to enjoy some musical selections after dinner, but, as the crowd waited breathlessly, Delia dropped the portable victrola and all was lost.

Mrs. Sherman entertained the ladies of the University last Saturday afternoon at a tea in her home. In order to become better acquainted the ladies decided to form a club which will meet the second Wednesday evening of each month at the University. There will be seven meetings during the year. The first will be held Nov. 14 in the museum. Hostesses will be Miss Cahoon, Mrs. Steinberg, Mrs. Cone, Mrs. Nava and Mrs. Miller.

Elvira Mooney is giving a party tomorrow night. She says it's not her birthday, it's just for the fun of it.

The Sigma Theta Phi dance at the Villa was open to all University students after intermission. At the dance Harold Horton and Libby Bardin were singing a song which they had composed. Dr. Hinckley heard it and liked it so well it is going to be used in the operetta the Quill Club is writing.

By the next time I write, Helen and Red will be Mr. and Mrs. I will send you a MINARET, which will contain full description of all the parties given for her and of the wedding.

Alpha Gamma Pledges Plan Formal Dance In Honor of Members

Pledges of Alpha Gamma sorority will give a formal dance Friday, Dec. 2, at Villa Del Rio in honor of the members. Invitations have been issued to the officers of all the Greek letter organizations and to the officers of the various pledge groups.

Chaperons will be Dr. and Mrs. Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. Nava and the sorority's sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan.

Sigma Theta Phi To Have Script Dance

The Sigma Theta Phi sorority will have a script dance Nov. 26 from 9 until 12 o'clock at the University ballroom.

Hostesses will be the Misses Mildred Allison, Elizabeth Ball, Marion Beers and Grace Bruton.

"At this time I felt the urge of romance tingling in my veins. Love entered my lonely life. She, the eternal one, came to me out of the drab and casual, to thrill the essence of my being. I was changed; life took on a new meaning, and hill and vale, cloud and flower gained new color. The next year I graduated from the 'Sixth grade.'"

Annual Armistice Tea Dance Given By Delta Kappa

A large attendance marked the Delta Kappa tea dance last Friday, after the Tampa U-Stetson football game. The dance, held in the University ballroom with music by Manuel Sanchez and his orchestra, continued from 6:30 until 9:30 o'clock. The visiting Stetson students were special guests.

Decorations carried out the Armistice Day theme, featuring red and white, the colors of the sorority.

Chaperons were Dr. and Mrs. John H. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. George Strauss.

Miss Lucille Bull, hostess, was attired in a gown of yellow plaid novelty cotton. Narrow shoulder straps and flared skirt were featured on the dress. A short bolero jacket of matching material with puff sleeves was worn over the dress. Silver accessories completed the ensemble.

Miss Margaret Crenshaw wore a dress of dark blue crepe. Drop shoulders which formed puffed sleeves were an attractive feature of the gown. At the neck she wore a large flower. Her accessories were silver.

Miss Yolonda Finney's gown was of cream crepe. The high neckline was made more attractive by a large gold cross. The skirt was made along slender lines and the sleeves were long, with fullness to the elbow.

Miss Celeste Dervaes wore a dress of red dotted swiss. The dress was of two pieces, the blouse of white, and the skirt red dotted. The suspender effect made it very attractive. The sleeves were puffed and the skirt very full.

The sorority recently made plans for the annual Thanksgiving breakfast, held every year on that day. Alumnae and former members who will return from college also will attend. Definite plans will be completed next Monday night.

Delta Kappa and Sigma Theta Phi Lead Volley Ball

The D. K.'s and Sigma Thetas have an equal chance of winning the intramural volleyball tournament, although a stroke of good fortune may bring the Alpha Gamma back into fighting position. The Freshmen, Dormitory, and Plebettes are definitely out of the winning bracket.

The race first appeared to be an easy victory for Alpha Gamma but they suffered a surprise defeat to the spunky Delta Kappas.

Last week results were: Delta Kappas over the Freshmen 10-15, 15-4, 15-7. Alpha Gammas beat the Plebettes 16-14, 15-13. Sigma Theta Phi's won over Dormitory by a score of 15-4, 16-14.

The shuffleboard tournament has completed its first round. Sigma Theta Phi, last year shuffleboard champs, downed the Delta Kappa by a slim score of 75-73. Plebettes trounced the Alpha Gammas with a score of 75-63.

Alumni of S.K.N. Have Theater Party

The Sigma Kappa Nu Alumni Association gave a theater party for all local members and their dates last night. The group met at the Tampa Theater at 7:30 o'clock.

This was the first social event given by the newly organized group, which is composed of 62 graduates and former students of the University.

Every once in a while a silly pun runs rampant through a University. According to the Temple University News, the latest up there is, "He who gets hung is killed by the suspense."

HELEN WINDHAM AND RED MEANS TO BE MARRIED

Many Parties Held for Bride-elect

By FRANCES MATHIS

Miss Helen Windham has announced plans for her marriage to Edwin W. (Red) Means, formerly of Tampa.

The wedding will take place Nov. 25, at 6 p. m., at the Tampa Woman's clubhouse, the Rev. Father Felix Clarkson, S. J., officiating.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attended by her sisters, Miss Alice Windham as maid of honor, and Miss Barbara Windham, as junior bridesmaid.

Mr. Means will be attended by Walter Hoy, as best man. His brother, Oliver Means, and Milford Rhines, of St. Petersburg, will be ushers.

A program of nuptial music will be presented during the ceremony by Miss Helen Hunt, pianist; Miss Frances Alderman, violinist, and Miss Betty Jo Mims, vocalist.

After the ceremony, an informal reception will be held.

Miss Windham will be entertained Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at a luncheon to be given in the Cricket Tea room by the Misses Marguerite Howard, Leah Mae Hunter and Waverly Floyd.

Miss Mims Entertains

Miss Mims entertained at a seated tea for Miss Windham Saturday, at her home at 3308 Jean Circle. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used in the reception rooms, and a bridal theme was emphasized in the dining room, where a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered the table and a miniature bridal couple with tiny gold slippers occupied prominent positions.

Silver slippers were placed at each plate and the guest receiving the slipper bearing the name of Miss Windham was presented with a gift. Individual cakes, iced in white and decorated with lilies of the valley contained the traditional wedding symbols. Miss Windham was presented with a gift from the hostess.

Mrs. W. D. Gillen and Mrs. L. J. Kempf gave a luncheon Saturday, at the Tampa Terrace hotel in honor of the bride-elect. A yellow and white color scheme was featured and yellow tapers formed the centerpiece. Yellow baskets held nuts and mints, and bridal place cards were used.

The Misses Stella Rogers, Virginia Roberts, Frances Alderman, and Frances Mathis honored Miss Windham Sunday with a breakfast at the Gasparilla Tavern. A yellow and green motif was used and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the table. Bridal place cards were used and a gift was presented to the honor guest.

Committee for Dance Appointed by Beta Chi

The Beta Chi fraternity held its weekly meeting last Monday at the University.

Two committees were appointed, one for the initiation to be held the first of next semester, the other, consisting of John Hall, Paul Myers, Ben Filip-ski and Louis Zendegui, to complete plans for a dance to be given early in December.

Caroline, Why weren't you in class yesterday?

I have an excuse sir.

Yes, I know. I've seen him.

—Mich. Gargoyle.

Pan-Hellenic

The Pan-Hellenic council held its monthly meeting Monday, Nov. 7. Braulio Alonso, vice president, presided.

The meeting was devoted to the discussion of rushing rules. A plan was drawn up by the council to be submitted to each Greek letter organization to be approved or amended by their members.

Al Yorkunas, president, has called a special meeting of the council to be held next Monday, when the plan will be discussed further before it is submitted to the social committee for approval.

East Entrance of University To Be Opened Next Week

The east entrance of the University will be ready for use the latter part of next week, according to W. F. Thomas, superintendent of construction. The work was started last July, as a WPA project.

However, he said, the entire porch will not be completed until the first of the year.

The terrazzo porch will be "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," but the greatest improvements are being made in the rooms below.

Eight small rooms in the north section will be finished by the first of the month, to be used as individual band practice rooms.

A large room, directly under the main entrance, is being fitted with a special sound board to prevent echo. The band will use this as a practice and as an assembly room.

The men's lavatory will be located in the extreme southern end, with an adjoining lounge.

Several smaller rooms will be used as store rooms.

It was suggested that the smooth terrazzo porch will make a nice place to dance. Aside from providing entertainment, an occasional dance will help polish the surface and keep it in good condition.

The other day, Charlie, the water-boy of the gang, was called to get a lunch that his wife had brought.

"I thought I had my lunch," he said. "Gee, I wonder what's in that bag I brought this morning?"

Rho Nu Delta Plans For Annual Founder's Day Banquet, Dance

Rho Nu Delta held its monthly luncheon at the Alhambra restaurant Wednesday. Dr. Hinckley was the guest speaker.

Plans were discussed for the annual Founder's day banquet to be held at the Columbia restaurant Dec. 16, followed by a dance in the Ybor patio.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherman and Dean and Mrs. M. S. Hale have been invited. The four sponsors have not yet been selected.

Lydia Palenzuela Makes Week's Good Will Tour of Cuba

Lydia Palenzuela, University of Tampa sophomore, has turned ambassador.

The S. S. Cuba sailed for Havana Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6, and Lydia, accompanied by her mother and Leon Cazin, president of the Latin Carnival, sailed with it, on a good will tour of Cuba.

As queen of the Latin Carnival and representative of the DeSoto exposition, Lydia carried several letters from officials in Florida and Tampa to Cuban officials. Governor Cone sent a letter to President Bru of Cuba, and Mayor Chancy panned a greeting to the Mayor of Havana.

From the time the ship docked at Havana at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon until it left a week later, Lydia had a marvelous time. She and her mother had a suite of rooms at the Plaza hotel in Havana, the most beautiful hotel in all Cuba. A Packard automobile, complete with chauffeur, was turned over to them for their entire stay, and in this way, they saw all the interesting sights.

"I saw so much I could hardly take it all in," said Lydia, her eyes sparkling. "The Capitol Building in Havana is without a doubt the most gorgeous building I've ever seen. At a cost of $17,000,000, they have built a masterpiece of art and workmanship."

"We went through the La Tropical Brewery, which was very interesting, and then we saw the Tropical Gardens—the loveliest gardens I've seen anywhere. There are several real waterfalls and unusual shrubs of all kinds. Throughout the whole trip, we were treated like real royalty, and it was a grand feeling."

Lydia and her mother spent four days in Havana and the rest of the time touring the surrounding country. While there they visited her grandmother. After several more activities, including a Rotary club luncheon, at which the Tampa queen made an address, the trio embarked for home.

Alpha Gamma Plans Christmas Reception For Members' Mothers

The Alpha Gamma sorority held its monthly meeting Monday, Nov. 9, at the home of Miss Ann Lazzara, 3208 Fifteenth street.

Plans were made for a Christmas reception in honor of the members' mothers, to be held at the Tampa Woman's clubhouse, 315 Plant avenue, at a date to be decided upon.

Plans also were made for the annual luncheon to be given in the near future. All members, alumni and pledges will be invited and gifts will be exchanged.

The Misses Vivian Guogliardo, Dolores Menendez, Delina Diaz and Margie Segall constitute the committee for the reception.
