Curci Announces
Gridiron Objective

The University of Tampa has named Fran Curci, 29-year-old University of Miami assistant coach, to the position of head football coach as a replacement for Athletic Director Sam Bailey. Curci accepted the job January 25. Grady Lester, chairman of the selection committee at Tampa U., pointed out that Curci is a young coach, energetic and offense minded. And despite his youth, he had a wealth of experience in his seven years at Miami.

Fran Curci

Along with his appointment as head coach, Curci also brought with him two new assistant coaches, Bob Carlton and George MacIntyre. Carlton, 35, is a former U. of Miami guard and for the last three years was head coach at Miami High School, where his teams won 29, lost 3 and tied 1 game. MacIntyre was a head recruiter and assistant coach at Miami University. He and Curci played together at Miami, where he was a quarterback and defensive back. Curci will also have Charley Bailey working with him as an assistant, and also wants three part-time assistants.

One primary job now is recruiting, and Curci has already signed ten players to play with the Spartans, most of them being junior college transfers. He has also signed one of Florida's most sought after high school football players, Leon McQuay, a halfback from Blake High School. With his remaining scholarships, Curci said that he is going to concentrate on the recruitment of graduating high school players.

In the future, Curci wants to meet with the students and enlist student body support. He said he wants football at TU to be something the students can be proud of, and feels a good football team is important to the students. He also feels that a football team puts something into college life that the students need.

As far as next year goes, Curci said that he expects no miracles. He said Tampa has a very difficult schedule, but a good schedule. He mentioned Tulane, Southern Miss. and Miss. State as being some of our toughest opponents, but that the most important game right now is the first game.

For the upbuilding program at TU, Curci said that Tampa simply needs more money and more football players. He hopes to have a freshman team sometime in the near future, and encourages all male students who want to play football to try out for the team.

Curci started in football as a star at Archbishop Curley High at Miami. He later starred three years as quarterback at the University of Miami, shattering most of the school's record and was named an All-American in 1959.

After graduation he played a year of pro football with the Dallas Texans, now the Kansas City Chiefs. Then he was called up by the Army and coached the Fort Eustis team to the national service championship, beating the Quantico Marines in the Missile Bowl at Orlando.

At Miami, he coached the freshman team for five years before becoming coach of the varsity offensive ends in 1966.

University of Tampa's amazing Spartans, under second-year coach Dana Kirk, notched their 16th win of the season, but more important captured their first Florida Intercollegiate Conference Basketball championship ever with a 95-77 over Florida Southern College here last night.

More than 200 Tampa fans made the trip to Lakeland to see the Spartans win their 16th game of the season against eight losses. The Mocs, who went into the game with a chance at a National Collegiate Athletic Association small college tournament bid, are now 15-9. Tampa finished 5-1 in the FIC, Southern 3-2. "WE PLAYED a real good defensive game," Spartan coach Dana Kirk said as his squad boosted its record to the best in 21 years of Tampa U. basketball.

"Lested Henley had his best game," added Kirk. The sophomore from Hillsborough collected 22 points and 14 rebounds for the Spartans. Kirk also had kind words for Rudy Bradley and Jimmy Smith.

Big Bob Stevens was Tampa's second highest scorer with 18 points, while Smith, replacing the injured Vic Thixton, added 17 and Bradley scored 15 points.

The Spartans battled back to a 10-8 and fell behind twice by five point margins before moving into the lead for the rest of the game.

WITH TEN minutes remaining in the game, Tampa went on a scoring spree, with sophomore forward Lester Henly leading the attack. The Spartans scored 25 points and cooled off the Mocs who were able to collect only nine points during the Spartan rally.

Tampa went into the half with a 43-30 lead and a 47 floor percentage. Also, they had piled 26 rebounds. The Mocs hit for only 38 per cent of their shots and had only 20 rebounds.

In the opening seconds of the second half, the Spartans sensed the victory that would give them one of their finest seasons ever and the FIC crown and played superbly in the next few minutes collecting 26 points to the Mocs 14.

WITH SEVEN minutes remaining, and a 29 point lead, Kirk substituted his second team The Mocs pulled closer against the second string, but they were unable to pull to within reach of the win that would have given them a tie for the FIC title with Tampa.

U. Of Tampa
To Hold Teacher
Exams April 6

The University of Tampa has been designated as a test center for administering the National Teacher Examinations April 6, Dr. C. J. Ho, director of testing announced today.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials are eligible to take the tests. The examinations are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

The designation of the University as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Dr. Ho said.

At the one-day session, a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the 13 teaching area examinations, which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to teach.

"Bulletins of Information" describing registration procedures and containing registration forms may be obtained from Mrs. Jane Young, Room 142, Dr. Ho, Room 308 or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N. J. 08540. Prospective teachers planning to take the tests should obtain their bulletin promptly, Dr. Ho. advised.

Will Faculty Ever Speak?

Each counselor in the men's dormitories has been asked by Dean Terry to turn in two names a week for failure to get haircuts.

Women students are having their skirt lengths measured to assure that the skirts are not more than two inches above the knee.

Last semester, professors were asked to give incomplete grades to men students with sideburns below their ears.

It is amazing that an institution supposedly dedicated to educating the mind must devote so much time and effort to regulating the length of hair and skirts. Now, people not responsible for the making of dress rules must make it part of their job to enforce them.

Further, to establish a quota of "longhairs" to be bagged by each man's dorm counselor is to extend a ridiculous rule to the height of absurdity.

The administration has its set of explanations for the dress code, ranging from impressing the nearby community to preparing the student for life in the business world. No doubt it is important that we present a model appearance to the Plant Park degenerates and the State Fair crowd. The argument that the school is vitally concerned with the assimilation of the student into the business world rings with hypocrisy.

Few students would resent some regulation of dress. But more leeway for individual expression should be allowed.

On whose standards of taste are the current rules based? Esquire magazine, as well as other arbiters of men's fashion, acknowledge the trend toward longer hair, definitely longer than allowed at this University.

Miniskirts have been accepted fashion for some time, particularly in the northern cities most students are from. Why set the inflexible 2" rule?

The University seems to have lost itself in trivialities. Do administrators distrust their students to the extent of imposing such regulations? What is the point in imposing these restrictions on legally, technically and biologically mature 21 year old, and older, students?

Administrators frequently pat themselves on the back for having a well-dressed student body. Just as logically, they could assess each student for a charitable donation and pat each other on the back for having a generous school. Most importantly, are they not concerned by the sense of resentment and distrust growing in student minds?

Where does the faculty stand on this? Why are they never heard from? Do they agree to concern themselves with what is going on outside the student head rather than what is happening inside?

Perhaps this is the time for the faculty to speak up.

COMING ELECTIONS

The student body has often voiced its disapproval concerning student government. The House of Representatives has members from every organization and dorm on campus. In September there were 45 members. Since then there are only 25. Twenty were dropped due to their lack of interest and failure to attend three consecutive meetings.

The meeting, Feb. 14th, at which Mr. Eugene Cropsey, Registrar, was asked to speak, was only Cropsey, Registrar, was asked to speak, was attended by only 13 members. This proved very embarrassing for the conscientious representatives and Speaker of the House, Michael Taylor.

The obvious disinterest in student government is not due to inefficiency of student government execu-

Voice of Students

By Seth Chase

This is a letter of bitter protest and righteous criticism resulting from many past experiences with the foul forces that govern this feeble-minded Institution. Despite my great desire to follow the golden mean of non-existence hallowed at this school, a particular incident of no consequence to other than myself has forced my pen from my pot.

The incompetent, thoughtless, and badgering Offices that sail our little ship of state have done everything within their earthly power to defeat all love and respect that I once had for our Moorish frigate. My record at this Institution stands as testimony that I am not bitter or too hasty in my attack. Patiently and purposefully, I have endured many rudenesses and inadequacies, because I hoped that their causes were truly accidental, and that our Good Ship Hashhesh was eventually going to find its true course. I have worked as a Student Assistant at this school in several capacities and in several departments. My inspirations were essentially financial. I needed an increased source of revenue, so chose the closest. I have worked for three years for the paltry salary of $.75 per hour, and more recently for the benevolently augmented sum of $1.00 per hour. Although this Scroogian salary hardly warrants the time and effort that I put into earning it; finding no other means of temporary work, and assuming that I was, in my little way, helping the University continue along the rough seas that it has been travelling since I arrived, I endured in my servile capacity, wondering at the incompetence in the upper echelons of the Administration, whose duty it is to acquire new money and manage it accordingly, for the benefit of the University and not their political and personal ambitions.

One would assume, would one not, that the economical eunuchs who handle the Emperor's Treasury would be appreciative of the near-slave labour that they are able to command, and that as a result of this recognition, payment for their services would be immediately and gratefully forthcoming — especially if they, Our Illustrious Doleers of Pittance had required the early submission of HOURS SLAVED, in order to straighten out the Imperial Son's semestrally puggled books, a feat that only the cleverest of clowns could hope to perform.

Such a deadline of submission was presented to us, the Student Coolie Force, not less than three weeks past, with the announcement from the Emerald Office of Celestial Business and Most Petty Cash that we were to present ourselves for audience and reception of our awards two days hence. Preparing to depart for our long-awaited period of rest between semestral onslaught, with commitments already made for our slaved payments, we arrived at the Emerald Offices promptly, only to be informed that our vocational sustenance had not yet been prepared. We would have to await further action on the part of His High Magistrate of Bills and Slave Payments. Present plans for the future were destroyed in that announcement. Our present concerns were now finding a means of feeding ourselves until the Institution saw fit to concern itself with our payments. The situation forced us into the ranks of beggars and parasites upon our more affluent and appreciative acquaintances.

Assuming that the functionaries of our Imperial Benefactor would be repentant and full of remorse for their over-sight of the week past, we once again approached the Emerald Gates of the August Coffers to receive our pittance and means of livelihood. Smiling the unfortunate news, Our Lady of Petty Cash, announced that time had not been kind to them and that, in all the confusion of meager sums, recompense had been once again overlooked. She smiled her regret, which was a polite form of dismissal as we were obstructing the way for those who had come to pay tribute to the coffers of the Imperial God of Registration and Orderly Instruction and Beloved Red Tape. The sacred cow must be fed, she smiled. Surely with such a well-fed cow, our dung must be ready, I said, praying against the odds, alas to no avail.

The scavenge began again. Food was scarcer, and one simply could no longer approach his more affluent associates for a temporary reprieve from the pangs of hunger and humiliation, as they themselves were digging into their resources until help arrived from home. A sense of disaster and catastrophe settled over the heads of the Student Coolie Force.

Today is Sunday, and the Pearly Gates of Academe will open in one day. My doubts concerning the opening of the Emerald Gates grow daily. My apprehension is paramount.

This state of affairs exceeds human endurance, although I have learned a lesson that many people have been trying to teach me, a lesson I chose to disbelieve in order not to weaken my faith in my now bloated emotion for my Alma Mater. The administrative organs of this Imperial State of Indifference and Deceit exist for the sole purpose of themselves; and their control over our educational ambitions is one that is governed not by any quality of mercy or quest for cultural and scientific enrichment, but rather by a desire to see the August Educational Empire they control expand to such an extent that their pockets and mansions overflow with the riches which should rightly be turned to academic improvement and betterment. Their appreciation for their positions is nonexistent, something they constantly jeopardize with ignorant and meaningless political affiliation to enhance themselves, with useless General expenditures wasted on frivolous adornment through the offices of a meddling Princess. Something is rotten in the State of Tampa, of that there can be no doubt.

When I receive my generous degree of release from this Den of Most Greedy Dragons, stamped sloppily by the righteous Minister of Papers on behalf of his Imperially Pre-Occupied Majesty, through the good offices of the Emerald Gate guarded by the eco-eunuchs whose faith in us the students is inspiring — I say farewell to all that is wrong with this cancerous entity called Higher Education under the Benevolent Dictatorship of Sops a la Tampa.

tive officials as many students like to believe. The fault lies in the student body itself. Every student is invited to attend House meetings at 9:00 Wednesday nights, and executive meetings at 4:00 Monday afternoons. Both are in the Student Center. Organizations should elect candidates who have a true interest in student government and will work rather than sit silently unconcerned or not attend.

Elections are coming soon, and all students running for an executive office must fulfill the following requirements: attendance of at least five student government meetings (House of Representatives or Executive), and 10 meetings if running for president of the student body. Time is short, and prospective candidates must attend these meetings now. Student government can only accomplish things if the student is willing to work.

CAMPUS REFLECTIONS

Greetings! After a short vacation from the stress and strain of newspaper deadlines, I have returned to condemn, coerce and comment on all that involves and instigates the students in their every day existence.

Student Government elections are rolling around again and the question in everyone's mind is if they are going to be as giant a farce as they were last year. If the students aren't interested they don't run for office, if they aren't qualified they can't run, and if they don't vote, they shouldn't criticize. It is unfortunate, even tragic, that some students seem to think that it is necessary to constantly harass their class officers rather than trying to help them. This is particularly true of the freshman class. Never before have freshmen class officers done so much for student government and their class. They are to be commended.

Rumo rhas it too, that if there isn't a greater turn out in petitions to run for an office, the rules governing elections will be discreetly ignored. I hope that this year's election committee is above this, and that no one tries to pull a shady deal like last year.

I am also glad to hear that the Student Government advisor finally decided to show up at a few meetings. It's too bad one Dean has to do all the work and take all the rebuffs that should be shared equally. Thank you fine lady, the students appreciate your interest.

Not to sing the same old song, but one of these days someone is going to find a tray of cafeteria food, as served to the students, on their desk. It's not that the food is bad, it's terrible! When you can't get something fit to eat from three choices, there's got to be something wrong. And to say that the food served on the weekends is disgusting, well, that's saying the truth. Enough on food. (Sorry students, it's the only printable word I can call it.)

With a great number of fraternity parties comes that dear game, The Giant Snake. This much practiced game, of course, is not confined to only one of the Greek organizations. No, they all get in on it. And if they can't play Snake, they just play Dropsy. Perhaps someone will invent a new game and call it Sticky With Datey. It certainly will be a refreshing change.

To be sure, G. Jameson's best-seller list is still hanging in there.

A GLIMPSE OF DORMITORY LIFE?

Home Sweet Home for many male students.

How sanitary is this toilet facility?

Broken glass is as dangerous as it is ugly.

Rotting wood is exposed after floor tiles disappear.

This is not a tenement, but a college dormitory.

AN EDITORIAL

Pictured here are sights most visitors will not see on a tour of the campus. These photos will not be seen in the University catalog or the alumni magazine. Prospective students and donors are not shown rooms such as these in Lykes Hall.

Residents complain of falling plaster, broken windows, leaking water pipes. But what is done? Is it wise for the University to modernize classrooms but overlook the rooms students spend most of their time in? What would the Dean say if a fraternity house looked like these pictures?

This is just Lykes Hall. Is Delo Hall any better? It is time for the University to clean up its own backyard.

Paint peels off a bathroom wall.

Inadequate trash disposal creates a fire hazard.

Pinned are Will Mellin and Miss Pam Doster of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and Mac McCoy and Carly of Wilmington, Delaware.

The Pi Kappas kicked off their spring social calendar with a successful Valentine's Day Party. Buz and Bobby G. got things rolling by souling out their sounds and introducing the new Pi Kapp dance, "the buz."

Pi Kapp Quickies - Rusty says, "He who paints walls should paint at night." The Arab should have been satisfied with a camel. The Brothers would like to thank Dr. Gilgash for helping invent our new dance, "the buz" and for the Brother involved for falling asleep in his class. Sugar Bear is now content since he received "Simple Simon." Did Larry ever see that fat girl with a bathing suit go by during the Gasparilla Parade? Hey Joel, (Charlie Brown) why don't you write a note to that little red haired girl? The Dirty Eleven had a wonderful "outing" last week, courtesy of the Clearwater Recreation Department. — Bye! —

TAU KAPPA

Tau Kappa Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, the National Educational Fraternity, had its first meeting of the new year, January 24, at the Student Center. Douglas C. Smith was elected President, Vice President, Hazel Ballou; and Sec.-Treas., Evelyn Lee. Dr. Umholtz will continue in the capacity of faculty advisor.

Kappa Delta Pi is now accepting applications for membership. The requirements are stringent, but if you have the desire to join see Mr. Douglas C. Smith, Room 362 as soon as possible.

THETA CHI

Once again the brothers of Theta Chi are out to "try again" to remain in good standing on campus. Though small in numbers, we are big in spirits (90 proof) and thanks. We would especially like to thank the I.F.C. for their support and also Dean Terry. Thanks also to the many other people who were instrumental in helping us to be reinstated.

It was our pleasure to attend another official meeting where we elected new officers. Good luck to Charles H. Gamarekian, president; Jack Rodriguez, vice president; Chris Meister, secretary; and Don Laricks, treasurer.

Recently two brothers took the "long journey" down the aisle of matrimony. Congratulations to Don Laricks and Ed Wicks.

Patience through three semesters paid off for four Theta Chi's as they are now no longer pledges. Congratulations to John Mulry, Ted Patterson, Chris Meister and Steve Bernstein. The best comes to those who wait.

Never lagging behind, we were Moroccan candidate.

We enjoyed our "traditional" rush party. It feels great to be in the swing of things once again, not that we were ever stagnant!

A special thanks is extended to Pat Rimm and Elsa Garcia for their kind thoughts. We appreciate your faithfulness.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Boy, are the Sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha bursting with news. So much has happened since the last article. Once again, Zeta lavaliers were turned in, and congratulations go to Jean Way and Chuck Sprietsma of Delta Sigma Pi, and Carolyn Grose and Joe Virgilio of Pi Kappa Phi, on getting lavaliered over the semester break; we haven't lost two sisters, we've gained two brothers!

On February 13th the new officers were elected, and as President is Anita Carbone; V. Pres., Janet Lewis; Sec., Mary Bergstrom; Treas., Mary Sue Gaudio; Historian, Reporter, Carolyn Grose; Ritual, Jean Way; and Membership, Sandy Stern. The Sisters are all confident that our new officers will continue the great job that last year's officers did.

The biggest CONGRATULATIONS goes to Sister Merry Barr on being this year's Moroccan Queen, and Sisters Fran Foran and Dixie Miller for being on the court, and "Zuta" Jill Katcher for being chosen Lady In Waiting. We are all proud to have another Queen in our sisterhood.

The trials and tribulations of being a pledge are now over for our ten "baby" Zetas who were initiated Feb. 17th. The new sisters are Donna Blaes, Jan Cook, Ellie Covert, Sharon Davis, Barbara Dupee, Lyn McKenna, Carolyn (Kinini) Price, Jane Toulman, Liz Worthing, and Sue Zawaski. The sisters are all anxiously awaiting our spring pledge class, and the spring semester with its parties, and of course, the weekend!

Zeta love, and good luck goes to Zeta Knight Bill McManigal and wife Sue MacEllen on their move to the north. We're all hoping for his return around the first weekend in May!

With prize money in excess of $50,000, the 12 Hour Grand Prix of Endurance at Sebring, March 23, has already attracted applications from over fifty potential entrants.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

The University Players held their first meeting of the semester on Tuesday February 8. The club decided that its project for the year would be to sponsor a scholarship for a deserving player. The club also decided to donate funds to the library for books in the field of theater arts.

The club elected Danny Ekstein to be the new Student Council representative for the coming year. The club also is sponsoring a lab theatre to be produced February 26, consisting of 3 one act plays.

SPANISH CLUB

Dolores Bolivar, president of the Spanish Club and Tom True-love, vice-president, have announced that the club's main project this semester is to obtain Latin American flags for Room 232, the Room of the Republics, in Plant Hall.

Presently, pictures of Simon Bolivar, liberator of South America, and Benito Juarez, liberator of Mexico, have been placed in the room with plaques depicting coats of arms of Costa Rica and Venezuela.

In the spring, the Spanish Club is planning a tour of Ybor City and its local Spanish movie-houses.

The University of Tampa has come of age. After 31 years the time was ripe last week for a panty raid. For half an hour, all electricity was out in this area of town. Rising to the occasion, the men grouped outside Howell Hall clammering for pants and other things. Much of the humor of the occasion was lost however, when the words and actions became a little gross.

Steak and Shake is on the move and now they have a truck to move in. Dr. Jason Zulla and Field Marshall Ritchie Nazaro are whipping the boys into shape for rush.

"C. J." Morell has again copped the coveted Alpha Chi hippo, Hugo.

Has anyone noticed the animal farm developing at 315 Hyde Park? The Sig Ep House boasts a Roach, a Hound, a Fly, a Crow, a Swan, a Monkey and a Porky Pig.

Those Theta Chi's certainly must know how to give a rush party. The rushees are still talking about it, to say nothing of the Sweden House.

The University seems to consider the revenue from Fair parking more important than the parking necessities of students. The Fair crowd appeared to take over the area anyway, as shown by the amount of livestock that roamed over to the campus.

Although the Gasparilla Parade did not come through University streets this year, students seemed to throw themselves into the spirits of the day anyway. No one can accuse us of having no interest in community activity.

An expression of the arrival of good luck has always been "the ship has come in." For many students, this has taken on a double meaning as they have "Adopted" a Swiss freighter which comes into Tampa's port frequently. The ship's crew has been more than generous with time, food and drink.

The rumor that the TEP House is to be featured in House Beautiful is false. The brothers disapprove of such gaudy publicity.

The 209 Club has changed management and is now known as Dougie's A-Go-Go, regularly featuring the squeaky Dirty Dozen.

Tu has installed a bell system for use during class hours. Maybe next year we will get lockers in the halls.

A former University student has hit the big time by being the only person to jump off the George Washington bridge and live. This is a trick one cannot practice. It is either done right the first time or not at all.

Icky Delle Valle gets the Smokey the Bear Award for being so concerned with stamping out fires, often before they start.

Considering the number of girls eligible for rush this spring, perhaps a women's branch of Steak and Shake would be in order, called, maybe, Shake and Bake?

Many familiar faces have vanished from the college scene this semester. As the Minaret predicted, students who hadn't racked up the necessary quality points found no packet waiting for them in the registration line.

What kind of man reads the Minaret?

This month we were fortunate to catch Rick "Chivas Regal" Lede in one of his admittedly finer moments.

Rick, the Errol Flynn of the sixties, as he modestly refers to himself, is a man on his way up. It has been rumored that he has landed the part of Dax in the forthcoming production of "The Adventurers," co-starring with Shirley Temple as Sue Ann Daly. He has also been offered the speaking role of Walker in the Disney cartoon version of "The Pride and the Passion."

Between engagements, Rick can often be found at a popular local nightspot enjoying the cuisine and reading the newspaper that keeps him entertained and informed, the Minaret.

HENRY MORGAN Sophisticate-at-Large

Honesty is Henry Morgan personified. He is capable of stunning one mentally and his sting can make one either completely mute or evoke grand stimulation. This depends of course on the subject.

The famous "I've Got a Secret" panelist, and sophisticate-at-large, as he terms himself, was the "very" expected pleasure of the University of Tampa. Henry Morgan, television's natural humorist, addressed a student convocation on Feb. 14, in the Falk Memorial Theatre at the University of Tampa.

Zeal and fervent egotism are the basic elements of Morgan's shockingly honest personality. They are shocking for only those who have the opposite traits and unacquired natural elements!

"I worked late last night in Fort Lauderdale, where I wasn't much of a hit... with anyone but myself. It took a lot out of me. 'You put it back in for which I thank you very much.' Morgan told the inspired students.

George Wallace... miniskirts... the President's proposed travel restrictions... the New York garbage strike... the Vietnam war and many other subjects and topics of interest were discussed by Morgan in a goading hour of lively approval by the student body.

Children, says Morgan, present a problem, but "the problem isn't that they haven't had enough love. They haven't had enough of the back of the hand." Having witnessed the usual charm of Henry Morgan, or the extremely complicated simplicity pattern of Morgan's wit, one might assume that he wanted to say, "Our children are spoiled rotten in this great country."

The Joe Pyne Show, according to our "sophisticate-at-large" who had only seen it twice, is nauseating. His critical statements are of this type and very striking, simply because they are true! Morgan's nausea would not be a common symptom among many of the public, as Edward Albee would certainly agree. Albee stressed that too many of us lack individual taste, much less universal tastes. Is it true we are often too immovable to any type or form of creation, be it artistic or otherwise?

The House Of Bernarda Alba Features All-Female Cast

Roles have been awarded to 18 women for the all-female production of "The House of Bernarda Alba" to be presented in March by the University of Tampa drama department.

The realistic interpretation by Federico Garcia Lorca will be performed at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 20-23, in Falk Memorial Theatre, according to D. J. Cermele, director. General admission is $1.50.

The 11 Tampa residents in the cast include Miss Diana Bellamy as Bernarda Alba, Mrs. Donna V. Hair as Angustias, Mrs. Celeste Ayala as Amelia, Mrs. Nancy Jean Barber as Martirio, Miss Regina Schonbrun as Adela and Mrs. Radiance D. Gardner as La Poncia.

Misses Debra Dolney and Nancy Cave will portray two young girls and Miss Janice Swanser will portray the small girl.

Mrs. Lilyn Schonbrun and Miss Patricia Evans will be women in mourning.

The cast includes six University of Tampa students and Mrs. Elyse Sheppard, assistant professor of mathematics who will play the aged grandmother, Maria Josefa.

Miss Edris Elkin of North Miami will portray Magdalena; Miss Frances Coughlin of Fitchburg, Mass., will be the servant; and Miss Holly Nisewander of Bethesda, Md., is cast as the female beggar. Students portraying women in mourning are Misses Mary Sue Gaudio of Lyndhurst, Ohio, Janice Burda of Carabelle, and Barbara Larkin of North Salem, N. Y.

Jon Walter will be technical director and scenic designer.

"Young California" Show Presented By Tampa Art Center

A major exhibition, in both scale and scope, is the upcoming "Young California" show of at least 50 paintings at the University of Tampa's new Tampa Bay Art Center. "It is undoubtedly the largest, most inclusive exhibition of younger California painters ever staged in the East," boasts Director, Jan von Adlemann. "We have gathered together the most lively show seen in this corner of the U.S. in years, a show of nearly all colossal canvases," he adds. "Canvases" isn't quite right either, since many of the works are in the new materials: plexiglass, acrylic, masonite, neon, polyurethane, steel, and many other "21st century" materials are present, as are radical expansions of the traditional concept of what constitutes a painting. "There are shaped canvases, stretched on odd-sized frames, constructions including fluorescent light, cut-out human figures, etc." The exhibit is to be shown in Tampa from April 8 to May 11.

"Art today, more than ever before, is engaged for the young, and I try to plan my exhibitions for the 'Intelligent' College-Level student." Mr. von Adlemann later went on to say that he intends to devote his entire exhibition to ultra-modern paintings.

This is just one of the several exciting exhibitions planned for the Spring season of the TBAC. Closed now while the State Fair art exhibition inhabits the building, the Center opens on March 9th, featuring work by Tampa U's Marie Freckleton, a Danish artist, Mikael Schiotz, and Walt

Tampa Bay Art Center Director Jan von Adlemann

"The Messenger" by Clayton Pinkerton, an acrylic on plexiglass will be on display in the Young California: 50 Painters showing April 8 - May 11.

Tomsic, from Arkansas State.

Many students do not know this, but the TBAC is part of the University, and it is the only Art Museum in the city. The exhibitions coming up this Spring will prove to be very exciting for everyone; yes, even for the students majoring in Religion! "I am very disappointed," von Adlemann says, "that students seem so apathetic about the great show we stage for them!" "I'm hoping to see herds of them here this Spring." So far, von Adlemann has been able to count, on one hand, the number of intelligent, college-level students that have visited the center.

The campus Art Center is located on North Boulevard, just below the junction with B Street, only two minutes from campus, and is open daily 10 - 5 except Sunday and Monday.

Mr. von Adlemann is a native of Rockland, Maine, and has been the Director of the Center since August 1. He is also an assistant professor of the Art Dept. at Tampa U. He obtained his B.A. in English at the Univ. of Maine; an M.A. in Art History from New York Univ., and did Post M.A. study for three years at the Univ. of Vienna and Free Univ. in Berlin. He is presently working for his Ph.D. at Berkeley. He stated that he would like to stay in Tampa and continue his work at the University. von Adlemann is not married and lives in an apartment here in Tampa. This Sunday, the St. Petersburg Times is doing a complete spread on his "bachelor pad."

An Afternoon at The Races

Many new oarsmen have been added to the crew boats this season as the crew season prepares for their first race this month. Returning oarsmen include: Richard Johnson, Ron Fernandez, Steve Charleton, Mike Snellgrove and Bob Bailey.

"How well the team does will depend on how fast the new oarsmen learn to row and the desire to work on the part of the team as a whole," commented Coach Wickersham, crew mentor.

With the warmth of Spring comes the crew races. Students line up along the wall by the Hillsborough River on Davis Island waiting for the 4:30 p.m. races to begin. The smooth, measured strokes of the rowers bring the boats past with even speed. In an effort to keep up, spectators run to their cars to follow the boats. This shouting, horn-honking parade weaves its way down the island to where the race ends and the boats are pulled out of the water. Another race is run.

VASH ANNOUNCES T.U. TENNIS SCHEDULE

The University of Tampa Varsity Tennis Team will start its 1968 schedule on March 2nd. At present the team consists of two veteran players, Charles Maston and Jack McWilliams, and six new members, Steve Squires, Harry Kaminsky, Sandy Cadel, Charles Niff, Dave Ryan, and Ron Brenner. The lineup is not final and all experienced tennis players are invited to try-outs for the team.

Coach Gene Vash, back for his second year with the Spartan netmen, boasts a 5-7 record from last season. Coach Vash, a tennis professional for more than 20 years, currently runs the Davis Island Tennis Club, and among other things hosts the Dixie Invitational Tournament. Coach Vash looks quite optimistically at the schedule and looks forward to a winning year.

Tennis is a relatively new sport at the University, now in its fourth year. Since tennis is termed a minor sport it is often neglected. Student participation is always welcomed, and the Davis Island Tennis Club, location of some matches, offers excellent facilities for spectators. Home matches will start at 1:30 P.M. and consist of 9 competitions, 6 singles and 3 doubles.

INTRAMURALS

TUG-OF-WAR

The University of Tampa's annual Tug-of-war contest was held January 16, 1968, at Plant Field. Six organizations were represented in the round-robin contest.

A strong Sigma Phi Epsilon team swept first place honors by emerging as the only undefeated team. The Pi Kappa Phi fraternity posed the most serious threat for the champions, but simply could not overcome the weight advantage.

Delta Sigma Pi and McKay Hall, with gallant tries tied for third place honors in the exciting contest.

VOLLEYBALL 1967-68

The Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity won the Intramural Volleyball Championship by defeating the Physical Education Majors' Club in the championship game of the year. This game was played as a result of each team winning their respective league titles.

The TEP's won the championship for the second consecutive year. The perennial champions, TEP's, have not lost a single match for two seasons now.

In capturing second place the Physical Education majors swept through league play undefeated. They were 2-0 in league play before losing to the TEP's in the championship match.

The Pi Kappa Phi fraternity won third place overall with a 4-1 record and Lykes Hall took fourth place points with a record of 3-1.
