LIBRARY RULES GIVEN TO FROSH, NEW STUDENTS

Many New Books Are Added To Shelves

For the benefit of both new and old students, some of the general rules of the Library will bear repeating:

Circulation Rules

All students, old and new, must present, at circulation desk, Business Office receipts, as, or prior to, the first time they wish to check out Library material.

All regular students, those taking nine or more hours for credit, are entitled to the circulation privileges of the Library. Other students, special and auditing, are entitled to reference use of Library material only, unless they wish to pay the Library fee to secure circulation privileges.

BOOKS may be charged out for a period of two weeks, unless otherwise indicated, and may be renewed for a second period of two weeks, unless reserved by another student; at the end of renewal period, books must be returned. Books need not be brought to Library for renewal; students may request renewal by telephone or by a personal call at the circulation desk.

MAGAZINES, with the exception of current issues, and PAMPHLETS may be charged out for a period of two weeks, but may not be renewed.

5c per day on 14-day book.
10c after 8:10 a. m. on reserve book; fine increases by 10c for each additional night book is kept out.
2c per day on magazine.
1c per day on pamphlet.

RESERVE BOOKS are kept at circulation desk, may be used in Library throughout day, and may be charged out for overnight use between 4:00 and 5:00 p. m., Monday through Friday, and for week-end use between 11:00 a. m. and 12:00 noon on Saturday. Reserve books are due at 8:10 on the following school day.

REFERENCE BOOKS do not circulate.

Reasonable QUIET is to be observed in the Library at all times.

EATING, DRINKING and SMOKING are prohibited in the Library.

During the time since the last appearance of a list of Library acquisitions in the Minaret, numerous new titles have been added to the Library collection, including some interesting and helpful reference books, among them being:

Richard E. Harrison's "Look At the World; the Fortune atlas for world strategy." Text is by the editors of Fortune. The new type of cartography employed was discussed in an article in Life some time before the book appeared.

"Medical Physics," by Otto Glasser.
"Handbook of Chemistry," by Norbert A. Lange.

Maxim Newmark's "Dictionary of Science and Technology in English-French-German-Spanish."

"Dictionary of bio-chemistry and related subjects," edited by William M. Malisoff.

The "World Almanac" for 1944.

The 1944 edition of the "Political Handbook of the World," edited by Walter H. Mallory.

The 4-volume set, "The Chemical Formulary," edited by Harry Bennett. Harry Bennett's "Standard Chemical and Technical Dictionary."

Many of the fields represented in the curriculum and various subjects of general interest are treated in the following titles added to the regular circulating collection.

"The New England Mind; the Seventeenth Century," by Perry Miller; a religious-social history of the eastern section of the United States in early times.

"How Will You Celebrate When The War Is Over?" Asks Inquiring Reporter

By MARGARET HAVLIK

The war has brought many changes into our lives in the past few years. We have had to do without many luxuries and even necessities in order to give our boys the best to win a great victory.

Now that there has been shown some great signs of unconditional surrender on the part of the axis powers we are now thinking of what pleasures we want to enjoy after the Armistice is signed.

Many are happy because of the return of their loved ones; they will celebrate in various ways. Here are some of them:

Andrew Martinez—I wouldn't come to class because I wouldn't be able to. Know why? I just wouldn't be in shape—What shape?

Duane Locke—Stop worrying about the draft.

Jean Freeland—I would work toward reconstructing the world instead of ending the war. That's important.

Marea Bordt—Frankly couldn't say—let's wait till the time comes and then watch my smoke.

Bette Garrison—"Here Comes the Bride." Get it?

Rosalie Mathis—I'll go out to Doyle Blumles—I know he'd be having a party.

Frank Comparetto—If my pay-day comes on the same day, then it will be one big glorious day. If it's not my pay-day, I'll just have to wait and celebrate later.

Kitty Martin—Gee, it would just be too wonderful! I'd be speechless, they'd just better not hold classes that day.

Betty Israelson—I'd be so excited that I wouldn't know what to do first.

Mr. Josef Baker—I'd hold my feelings in check until my brother and two brothers-in-law got home from overseas—then we'd really throw a party!

Dr. M. C. Rhodes—By sober meditation and silent thanksgiving.

Ronnie Constantine—That would be the day! I guess that I would be too excited just like everyone else—me excited—ha!

Lois Sanchez—Need I say?

Dot Cheatham—Me and my li'l hubby would pack up our clothes and tour the United States.

Virginia Smith—I'd go out and celebrate but not like I did at Lois' house once upon a time. I'd go to Doyle's, too!

Alice Arias—Well, it's this way. I'll probably get drunk—what am I saying? Or else roam the streets with the crowds and yell at the top of my lungs, or maybe cry my heart out.

Clair E. Da Vore—I would take the day off and start figuring how long it will be until Japan is defeated.

Violet Conte—I'd take a one-way trip to Monroe, La. Hum—

Mildred Baucom—I would have a celebration with all the boys that were in my graduation class, as honored guest. May even get drunk for the FIRST time.

Doris Thompson—I would like to go to church with a few of my girl friends.

Miss Charlotte Thompson—I know what I would like to do, with two or three congenial friends, five new tires, unlimited gas, for a six-month trip to California, going by way of the Southern route, and return through Canada and down the Eastern Coast.

Miss Moffatt—I think perhaps school would close and I'd be downtown to watch the parade and get the general feeling of what people really feel at victory—it will be very exciting!

Laura Mayor—I'd just bid my classes good-bye for the day and celebrate with everyone else.

Aquilla Baker—Oh, I wouldn't go to any classes and would celebrate by doing all the things that we hadn't been able to do since the war.

Ruth Hardy—Oh, brother! Maybe I'd better not say.

Dr. Laub—I still remember the close of the last war too well to want to celebrate. Hectic celebration won't bring back the lost or heal the maimed. The end of the war should cause reflection and consideration rather than celebration.

Laura Richards—I'd stay home from school and keep my fingers crossed that my two navy brothers will come home safe.

Betty Jane Brownsey—Wait for "A. J." to come home and marry me, and then drive me to Boston "quick like a Bunny!"

Betty Faye Cumble—Words cannot express how thankful I would be and as for the celebration—I'll have to wait till my twin brothers come home.

Mr. Wiltse—Must I tell the truth?

Dot Mallard—Wow—I can hardly wait for Jimmy to come back.

Mr. Keene—Stay at home to keep from getting hurt.

Professor Clyde Reed

Freshman class editor: Billie Higginbotham.

Snapshot editor: Betty Israelson.

Cpl. From Plant Park Talks to T. U. Students

Cpl. Don Pesante, orientation officer at Plant Park Replacement Center, presented a speech to the student body at the regular assembly yesterday. His subject was "Why We Fight."

The chorus, directed by Lyman Wilse, sang "The Night Is Young and You Are So Beautiful" with Miss Ruth Hardy as soloist.

The student body then participated in singing from song sheets distributed by the chorus.

NEW PROFESSOR OF BIOLOGY JOINS TAMPA U. STAFF

Mr. Reed Comes With Excellent Background

By BETTY FAYE CUMBLE

The University of Tampa has appointed Clyde T. Reed associate professor of chemistry and biology.

Mr. Reed is a native of Meosho, Mo. He attended Campbell college in Holton, Kans., where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1914. His advanced graduate work in biology, physics and organic and physical chemistry was completed at Cornell university where he received his Masters degree in Bio-Physics in 1937. This was supplemented by graduate studies in Chicago university, University of Texas, Washington college at Chestertown, Md., and a summer of special research work at the Long Island Biological school, Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.

After World War I, Professor Reed taught biology in Robert college, Istanbul, Turkey. In addition to his foreign service, he has taught in several colleges in this country, including 10 years at the Texas State College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, Tex., where he was head of the department of biology; acting president and dean of Corpus Christi Junior college; professor of chemistry at Lambuth college, Jackson, Tenn.; head of biology department in a Presbyterian college at Clinton, S. C. Reed came to Tampa from Arkansas A. & M. college at Montecello, Ark.

Prof. Reed was twice president of the Texas Academy of Science, which he helped found, and of which he is one of only two honorary life fellows in Texas. He is rated in American Men of Science and holds membership in various academic organizations in his special fields.

Dr. M. C. Rhodes, acting president and dean, said, "I am pleased with the aggressive spirit demonstrated by Mr. Reed and his progressive ideas advanced for the improvement of the department of biology. Mr. Reed comes to us with an excellent background as regards preparation, supplemented by long years of teaching experience. He impresses me as being a man of unbounding enthusiasm and with an abundance of physical energy. It is needless to say the university is looking to Mr. Reed to do an excellent piece of work in the department of chemistry and biology."

Prof. Reed's comment on Florida and the university was, "My first impression of Florida and Tampa was one which impelled me to inquire how I could get back north as quickly as possible. After a week, I am thoroughly in love with Tampa and it more than measures up to my expectations before coming."

"The University of Tampa is one of the few institutions for higher learning in America that is able under these war conditions to carry on as effectively as the university is doing. I anticipate a very high degree of satisfaction in my work here."

Male Students Fill Many Class Offices

Annual elections were held October 2nd, the date set by the student council. The results are as follows:

Senior class president, Rosalie Mathis; vice president, Dorothea Mallard; secretary, Margaret Havlik.

LET'S RETAIN TRADITIONAL IDEALS

The freshmen will definitely want to cooperate with the upperclassmen and faculty in upholding the standard and traditions of the University. In order to do this, we have been informed just what is right and what is wrong. If freshmen are in doubt what is proper and permissible at various occasions they should seek advice of upperclassmen, who will be delighted to aid them.

The other day, freshman girls, unknowingly of the wrong, were seen dancing in the student union room in shorts.

Visitors to the University would be shocked at the standard of our institution if they walked in to see girls in improper wearing apparel.

There is, of course, no objection to girls wearing shorts but there is a time and place for everything.

CAESAR WAS AMBITIOUS

Caesar was ambitious! Look what happened to him. Napoleon was also. He met his Waterloo. Don't hurt the other fellow or overstep into that category of authority to satisfy your whims and petty desires. Do you still have as many friends now as you did when you were a frosh? If not, give an account of yourself. Why not? If you feel you do have as many friends, then you've taken your share of the honors and glories and have shared with the other fellows.

Many times a person feels he has put something over on somebody. But is he sure? Maybe that fellow didn't say, but he will remember.

Next time you start to push someone out of the picture, remember he'll not forget.

There are two kinds of ambition. One, you get what you want, and help someone else; the other, you achieve your goal, but are lonely.

DO YOUR PART

Students at the beginning of school were complaining and seemed quite disturbed because there was some doubt as to whether there would be a student union room selling drinks and cookies.

Now that there is a room for this and a girl who spends absolutely all her spare time in the room, we do nothing to help her keep the room tidy and clean. We could easily remove our empty coke bottles and paper wrappers from the tables. There are waste containers available in which to put the paper.

It is not the job of the clerk to take the part of a janitress, but only to sell us books, drinks and cookies.

If warned that the student union room would be closed, we'd be quite disturbed about it. But we do nothing to improve its atmosphere.

Let's do our part to make the faculty and students be proud of its recreational room.

SUGGESTIONS, PLEASE

During the coming year, the Minaret will play a most important part in the process of integrating the student body and the student council into a practical working unit. Therefore, it is proper at this time to present to the student body he aims of the council.

It is hoped that we can have open student council meetings. After the formal business is finished, the floor will be free to students. The council shall always welcome suggestions.

Much is to be done and much can be done. We realize that we must look for work; we must recognize the problems which are to be solved. We are also expecting suggestions and cooperation from the administration.

If your feelings want to be represented during a council meeting, it is your duty to tell us. With your help, we should have a successful year.

The Night Life of An Editor

The staff of the Minaret—to those freshmen who are in doubt, that's your college paper—was gathered in room 231, where the peaceful and quiet atmosphere was reflected on each serene face. The soft breezes blew in from the cool Hillsborough River, disturbing the quiet stillness of the Minaret room.

"Hey, Joe—!! Throw me the paste!" Amid the hustle and bustle of people passing in and out, double file, I was able to spy the Editor amid a stack of papers being blown about madly by the "breeze" coming in the open window. I went up to speak to her, but her attention was disrupted when she had to dash wildly out into the park to catch the Front Page News which had just exited through the open window.

When she returned, panting, I made my way again through the milling crowds and pecking typewriters to her table. I handed in my story—two days late, of course—and prepared for an afternoon of work.

"Where did Susie go, she promised to have her stories in to me today without fail."

"I saw her dodging you about 15 minutes ago — she just went that way."

So the frantic search began. I was selected as one of the posse to go out to look for the rest of the stories. I was able to rescue two from on top of the high Minaret, and three more were running through the lobby trying to make a quick exit. After leading them back to the Minaret Room, we began again—just in time to grab the typist as she was slipping out through the fire escape.

Now that the staff was so calmly together, the work again began. The biggest problem on our hands now was trying to make the stories fit into the spaces we had allowed for each. The Associate Editor had already laid out the pages for the stories — but where were the stories? After retrieving them from a distant corner, we began trying to put everything in. Now where did that Math Major go? He promised to help me figure out how to get the right number of letters in the headlines.

The next problem was trying to get the three sorority stories the same length, without adding anything or taking anything away. Quite a problem, but one must live, you know.

We finally filled the spaces. But a couple of new ads had left us with less space than we had counted on, with the result that there were three stories that had to be cut down. The frown on the Editor's face revealed that she was thinking about the reprimanding remarks that would come from this procedure the next day.

Let's see now, about those catty remarks in "Meow." Too bad we had to cut those out, they sure would have made good reading matter.

The press was now our next step, but that would come the next day. All we had to do now was take the material down and have the type set . . . printing would come later.

A couple of nights later, the Editor, Associate Editor, and Business Manager all went down to the printing press to see the paper printed. The printer had already lined the dummy sheets up in front of him and was putting in the type as stated on the directions.

When he finally finished, there were three stories left out. Thirty minutes of contemplation failed to reveal any possible way of getting those stories in without adding another couple of sheets. So the Editor sent it on to the press anyway, with tears in her eyes as she thought of the tongue-lashing she would receive the next day from the writers of the three stories.

At 1:00 we all climbed into the car for a quick hamburger and a cup of coffee. By 1:30 we were all in bed asleep, with the exception of the Editor, of course—she never gets any sleep!

A Pledge Make A Confession!

Oh, say! have you ever seen a pledge? Well, I did, and talk about some stupid people, those were the kind and even more so. It all began the day of the tea. There was Susie Potts and talk about dress she had it. She was dressed from the top of her lid to those jar stockings. Her hat was quite the thing and when I say thing I mean exactly that. Such a thing as it was, I didn't know exactly what kind of a thing it was.

Then Gertie Talkalots was so cute —she thought. If there is any doubt about that you just ask her. She was dressed to slay the mayors of 10 countries. And slay them she did as she talked faster than the Sunbeam. Champion and Meteor all rolled into one.

Hanging over on the punch table was Ida Stouder, and I thought she would be Stouderer if she drank another dozen cups. She wasn't in the least bit bashful about her diet, you wouldn't have thought so either if you had seen her open her purse and put 10 cup cakes in it.

Just as the eager guests were preparing to leave in came Batter Later and I do mean later. She explained how she had been misinformed as to the correct time. She said, "I was told it was to be 5 p. m." Of course it was 6:30 then so it was without a doubt her story and she was stuck with it. Talking about being stuck she was in a rut.

Then the rush parties started and you should have seen all the eager rushes hanging around in the lobby even missing classes to wait for their invitations.

So now I'm a pledge! Oh brother I worked hard for it. Spoke with the sweetest smiles. Every time a sorority gal passed I ran up and hugged her around the neck so hard, I was only trying to be nice when I broke the president of "The" I felt a Thies neck. When the girls ask me if I was going "I ate a pie"? how was I to know they weren't talking about food. Gee I'm dumb but its fun anyway and now I am a "BTO." and I do mean a big time operator. If anyone wants to know about anything, just ask me. I'm clever, smart, a cute kid and a general success cause "I'm a pledge."

Meow

By KITTY KOLUMN

After passing saucers out to all my friends I thought I'd get a little dope or dirt from them. We were all still thinking about the results of the last election and decide which was to be the ruling dynasty for the coming year. Well it looks as if it wouldn't be long before the saying will be it's a man's world now. One little tip to the person who stopped people at the polls and politely telling them who to vote for. Also under the sign telling where to vote were some suggestions on whom to vote. If the shoe fits you wear it but also take this tip that it is poor politics to get votes in this manner. You don't see signs at the voting polls at government elections or local ones do you?

Congratulations to the sorority girls for getting such a nice selection of girls. How times have changed since I was a rushee. Although given a bid from each sorority I still did my part by breaking my neck to run after all the sorority girls but it seems as if the actions have been reversed; now we run after them. Maybe it was worth it. (I keep telling myself.) It seems as if friendship has blossomed in the park this year. The freshman girls have done their part in creating a better relation between the University and Plant Park, at least socially anyway.

Walking desolately through the halls the other day I felt the need of company so I decided to talk to a soldier in the lobby. He came up to me and asked me where Eugenia Exum was. I finally tried to give him some help although I did it grudgingly.

Betty is doing simply a little bit of all right with her Lts. The fact that they also have a convertible also helps matters. I could take them without the car.

Catherine is expecting Gene to come down in a month or so to see her. Apparently she wasn't satisfied, so visited him for two weeks this summer. He graduated not too long ago as a pilot in the army air corps. Notice she is wearing the wings.

Seen at the Skyline of the Bayshore Royal was a little co-ed with two local Drew Field Talent Scouts. What's the matter, couldn't they find dates? Next day, not finishing their study they were seen at the skyline of the University—namely the Minarets.

Rumors have been going around that the student council have some interesting secrets that they will soon reveal, everyone will be interested in their outcome.

The new girls are interested in meeting some nice boys from the local fields in the right way. In order to do this we should have some well-planned dances on Saturday night or a get-together on Sunday afternoon. Do you agree with me girls?

The Moroccan staff is busily on its way picking out selected plans for their book in hopes that they will get ours by the time school is out.

Well, until next time and with notions of cream, I remain your correspondent for the Minaret.

KITTY.

Newly Elected Officers Of Methodists Are Announced to Students

Newly elected officers are:
President—Marie Gibson.
Vice President and chairman of worship—Billie Higgenbotham.
Secretary—Dorothy Jackson.
Recreation—Gladys Ford.
Publicity—Glenna Hill and Evelyn Jewell.
Faculty Advisor—Dr. C. H. Laub.

The officers had an informal supper at the YWCA Monday, Oct. 2, and they are planning to attend the Methodist Student Retreat at the University of Florida Oct. 21 and 22.

On Tuesday, Oct. 24 the Methodist Student Organization will sponsor a Halloween party at the Hyde Park Methodist Church. All students and faculty members of the University are invited. Committees are: Invitations—Dorothy Jackson; Decorations—Evelyn Jewell and Glenna Hill; Recreation—Gladys Ford and Billie Higgenbotham; Refreshments—Eugenia Exum and Dorothy Rankin.

Regular meetings will be held in the Browning Room at 12 noon on the second and fourth Thursday of each month. All Methodist students registered at the University are members of the organization.

Brush and Palette Plans Big Events For Coming Year

The Brush and Palette Club is primarily interested in developing a greater appreciation of art in Tampa, thereby becoming a very high cultural element in the city.

This year the club will be a very definite factor, not only in the social life, but in the community life as well. The club has been asked to make posters for National Education Week, which will be placed in prominent store windows in downtown Tampa, and in the street cars.

Other activities of the club will include sketching trips, the sponsoring of art exhibits at the University from time to time, and a closer association with the Civic Art Commission. This association, which meets in the Board Room of the University each month, is an organization composed of the organized art clubs in Tampa, and of individuals interested in art. The Civic Art Commission is very much interested in the Brush and Palette Club, and considers it the only representative group of art-minded citizens among the younger contingent in Tampa.

The officers of the Brush and Palette Club are:
President—Billie Higgenbotham.
Secretary—Bette Garrison.
Treasurer—Marea Bordt.

New Pledges Of Delta Kappas Are Honored At Banquet

The Delta Kappa Sorority honored their new pledges at a dinner at the Floridan Hotel Oct. 6, at seven o'clock. The dinner was preceded by the pledging ceremony.

Since pledge pins were unavailable silver bracelets were presented to the new pledges bearing the Greek letters.

At the banquet the pledges were presented with a corsage of red roses. The center piece was composed of white chrysanthemums and fern.

Those in charge of arrangements were Betty Garrison, Kitty Martin, Harriet Manning and Catherine Bowen.

Pledge daughters and their sorority mothers are:
Aquilla Baker, Lois Sanchez; Elizabeth Robertson, Catherine Bowen; Mary Fulton, Jane Lee; Ruth Hardy, Gloria Stathis; Glenna Hill, Harriet Manning; Mary Jance Lewis, Peggy Mack; Margaret Havlik, Betty Garrison; Cynthia Moran, Rosalie Mathis; Billie Higgenbotham, Dot Mallard; Mildred Dubois, Kitty Martin.

Tentative Plans Are Made by Newman club

The Newman Club held its first meeting of this semester, Tuesday, September 25, in the Browning Room of the University of Tampa.

Several of the new Catholic students attended and were introduced to the older members. Time for future meetings was debated upon but only a tentative date was agreed upon.

Plans were discussed for the coming school year and many interesting activities both religious and social were planned.

FASHIONS

By BETTE GARRISON

Although most of the girls have settled down to studying hard (am I kiddin'?) they don't neglect their appearances, except the Freshmen of course. Don't they just look awful.

Sophomore Jane Lee has been going out quite often with a certain Lt. and no wonder. He must like that little innocent white wool lamb she has on her gray wool dress. The lamb is white and fuzzy and believe it or not there is a bell around its neck. Bet you were the belle of the ball, Jane.

Eleanor Fisk showed me a preview of her winter attire the other day. It was a beige box coat and strictly on the beam.

Martha Jane Coler was seen wearing a blue linen suit-dress the other night. The jacket had short sleeves and the skirt was pleated. Both were trimmed with long white stitches.

Kitty Martin, the owner of many darling dresses, has an especially cute one. It is jersey with violets against a white background. The low round neck, waist and unique sleeves are trimmed with black velvet ribbons which sets off the lavender.

Dottie Mallard had on a particularly cute dress the other day. The skirt was beige with the waist, beige in back and vertically striped in front. The stripes were brown, chartreuse, and dark green. The buttons were dark green hats.

Marea Bordt certainly looks snazzy in her Spar uniform. Not planning on joining up, are you?

Dottie Gonzalez, always in the groove with styles, was seen racing around school in a dress anyone would like to have. The skirt was peasant style—an ice blue print with white leaves and dotted with red. The waist was of white eyelet embroidery. The sleeves and neck were gathered with a drawstring of the print.

I saw Virginia Smith Sunday afternoon with a date, believe it or not. Anyway she certainly did look pretty in a black crepe dress with a yoke of net and outlined with sequins. It was a stunning contrast to her red hair.

Lorraine Oglesby's white dress with the embroidery is just the most unique one I have seen lately. The low round neck has a collar with embroidery of pink flowers and green leaves on the points. The full skirt has the same design of embroidery on the front, starting at the hips and coming to a point halfway down the skirt. It has a belt that ties in front.

Dr. Lautz would say that the latest style was white uniforms. I bet. At least she insists that her cooking class wear them. I'm becoming quite attached to mine.

Violet Conte's yellow dress with the eyelet embroidery ruffles is just the thing now. So cool looking and just the right color for a brunette.

All the T. U. boys were dressed in their best for a luncheon the other day. Solid, Jackson.

Seems like the Freshmen have already started wearing lipstick, jewelry and not wearing their rat caps so by next time maybe they'll rate the fashion column. We may even have a freshman writing the column.

By 'til next time.

P. S. Lois Sanchez has the loudest red-striped pajamas.

DeSoto Club Installs New Officers at First Luncheon

The men students of the University of Tampa have organized the DeSoto Club for the purpose of advancing the social and cultural advantages of the men students. A luncheon was given at the Palm Cafeteria yesterday for the installation of new officers and to welcome the new members to the club. Clyde T. Reed, assistant professor of chemistry and biology at the university, was guest of honor.

The officers are: Duane Locke, president; Eugene Smith, vice president; Andrew Martinez, secretary; Matthew Aprile, treasurer; and Manuel Alvarez, reporter. The new members are: Henry Blount, Nick Acebel, Manuel Alvarez, Frank Compartmento, Edward Hall, John Kershaw, Sam Leto, Carrol Slayton, Raymond Younglove, William B. Myer, Charles Cuervo, Jr., Lin Hall and Ted Ross. Jesse L. Keene was chosen as faculty advisor.

Coast guard losses in World war I were higher, proportionately, than any other branch of the armed service.

Students To Have Convention Soon

The Baptist Student Union has really gotten down to work these past few weeks and the future outlook seems equally as busy.

The council meetings have been set as the first and third Tuesdays of each month at 1:00 p. m. They will, of course, be held in the BSU Room—a point which brings up another interesting bit of news. The new BSU Room is located on the third floor of Tampa U. in room 317. We moved over from our previous room in the First Baptist Church only yesterday. Baptist Students, this is your room. Come in and get acquainted with it.

Our next big event is coming October 20-22. That's right, it is the Baptist Student Convention to be held at Lake City. We hope to have a good representation of the BSUs from Tampa U.

First Volleyball Game Will Be Held This Week

The sport which holds the highlight for this particular period is girls volleyball. A team is well under way and the first game is scheduled for this week. This year there will be only one team, to be composed of all girls interested in playing. In previous years there has been a varsity team and a frosh team. However, this year it was decided to only have the one, varsity. The teams will be composed of upperclassmen and frosh. There has been quite a number to show interest in the team and the following girls have signed up: Joan Burnett, Aquilla Baker, Gertrude Cameron, Martha Cornelius, Evelyn Jewel, Elizabeth Robertson, Betty Cumble, Mary Lerios, Jayne Lee, Catherine Bowen, Mary Fulford, Lois Sanchez, Margaret Harlik. A meeting is scheduled for noon Thursday to elect a captain and to line out practice days. If any girls who did not sign up to play would like to do so now they still have the opportunity. So come on gals support your school and team to really get somewhere in the city league.

The first intramural games were played September 28 out on the volleyball court. The Delta Kappa sorority defeated the Alpha Gamma by a score of 15-2 and 15-6. Both teams worked hard and showed lots of spirit. The Alpha Gamma team was composed of Millie Tomasino, Rose Arce, Ebbie Park, Evelyn Jewel, Mary Leona, Gloria Franco, and Violet Conte who is the intramural manager. The Delta Kappa team was composed of Margaret Havlek, Catherine Bowen, Mary Fulton, Lois Sanchez, Jayne Lee, Glenna Hill, Ruth Hardy, Aquilla Baker, Elizabeth Robertson, and the manager is Lee. The referee was Cumble, the umpire was Gibson, and the scorekeeper was Brownsey.

The intramurals for October 5 were composed of the Alpha Gamma defeating the Sigma Theta Phi. The score was 15-10 and 15-3. The Alpha Gamma lineup was Millie Tomasino, Betty Ruth Israelson, Violet Conte, Ebbie Parks, Evelyn Jewel, Gloria Franco, and Mary Leona. The Sigma Theta Phi lineup was Alice Arias, Ronnie Constine, Betty Cumble, Barbara Lacy, Betty Brownsey, Lorraine Oglesby, Mildred Balcolm, and Marie Gibson. The manager is Brownsey, the referee and scorekeeper was Bowen, the linesman was Mary Fulton and the umpire was Nellie Rodriguez.

The recent industrial development of Alaska is indicated by the increase of incoming express shipments from 1,605,588 in 1941 to 3,205,636 pounds last year, according to the Railway Express. A large part of the shipments was concerned with the war effort and the building of the Alaska highway, and included machinery parts, confidential instruments, radio sets and batteries, and 15,000 souvenir post cards.

Ex-Dean of Tampa U. Now Marine Officer

First Lt. David E. Bunting

Marine 1st Lt. David E. Bunting, former Dean of the University of Tampa, recently was made executive officer of the Marine Aviation Detachment of the Naval Air Technical Training center here.

ASK THE WAR CORRESPONDENT

"I'VE GOT THE NEWS FROM AFRICA."

"BIGGEST HIT IN EGYPT? THAT'S EASY. HAMBURGERS AND COKE."

"You probably read that in your newspaper a while ago. That war correspondent found how our fighting men everywhere want Coca-Cola. It must have something special to be the favorite of the fighting forces. There's taste you don't find anywhere this side of Coca-Cola, itself. And there's that welcome feel of refreshment that goes into energy. Take it from me, Coke is good."
