The Whiz-Kid's Returned With A Gripe Vine

That's right the Minaret's own ace reporter, reliable bloodhound, infallible whiz-kid, and all-around know-it-all, is back at his typewriter. The question is why and the answer is simple, for you, the reader that walks around day to day with all sorts of questions that you long to have answered.

There are things in the University and the world around it that we question, well now all you have to do is write the question down (don't bother to type just write in the king's English) and send it to me, J. Moose, box 1719, U. of T.

You have to sign it but if you don't want your name printed just say so and it won't. Also, I will not use stupid questions, but anything, from pregnancy, to the right hi-performance carburetor for your motor, to how many holes in the tiles in Plant Hall (293 in each tile by the way) and the affairs of the heart. Just about any reasonable question will get my personal attention.

I am waiting to hear from you out there so take a minute and ask me:

J. MOOSE, BOX 1719.

Special Events Committee: Who Is?

David Brinkley gave a lecture to University of Tampa students October 2, speaking on "The State of the Nation".

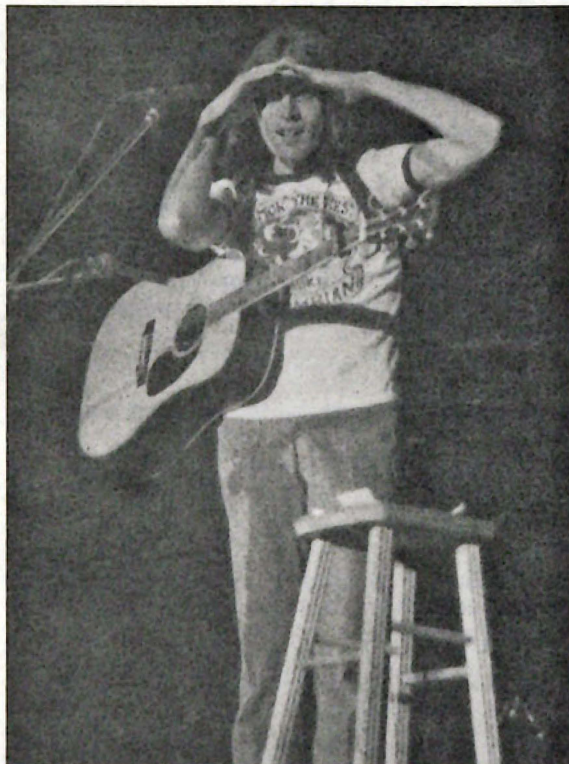

Dr. Hoyt Edge, another recent guest of the university, spoke on the subject "Psi, Psychics And Science: An Examination of ESP" September 20.

The Hoffman String Quartet is to appear on three separate occasions this coming year.

But why would David Brinkley, Dr. Hoyt Edge and the Hoffman String Quartet, representatives of three entirely different walks of life, decide to come to the University of Tampa?

These people, among several others, were invited by the Special Events Committee which is made up of faculty members and interested students.

In the spring of each year, students are asked to submit names of lecturers or performing artists they would like to have as a guest. These names are given to committee members on the Special Events council who then select a variety of guests to appear during the coming year.

ERIC ANDERSON — HELLO OUT THERE

The majority of university guests are handled through agencies, who schedule these guests by availability of tour programs.

But these guests don't live out of a suitcase just for the mere pleasure of speaking to students on college campuses!

The Special Events Committee is given a budget to work with each year. Half of that budget is used in getting speakers for the Impact Series. The rest of the money is distributed in no particular portion for the use of getting other performers.

The budget this year was $8,200.

If you'd like to put in a word or two, or even get in on some of the decisions, check with Richard Rodean, Vincent Petti, Irv Edelson, Dr. Stanton Truxillo, Dr. Herman Saatkamp, Joanne Stygles, Bruce Krepley, David Elsey, Barry Lydon, or Butch Heils.

University Of Tampa To Show Film Series

The first film of the new six-part film series, Pioneers of Modern Painting, written and narrated by Kenneth Clark, will be shown at the University of Tampa beginning November 13 at 7:30 in Library West. A second showing for the community will be held November 14 at Tampa Bay Arts Center.

The University of Tampa will receive the six Pioneers of Modern Painting films on loan, free of charge, from the National Gallery of Art in Washington, under a program offered through the Gallery's Extension Service.

The distribution of Pioneers of Modern Painting has been made possible by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

In making the grant, the National Endowment for the Humanities and the National Gallery requested that college presidents, rather than art history, or humanities departments, be asked to sponsor the program in order to emphasize its availability to the whole student body. At the same time, participating schools are required to make arrangements for co-sponsoring the series with a local or nearby museum, library, or cultural center for showings to the general public. This service follows the pattern of the Extension Service's distribution of Civilisation, Lord Clark's previous highly-acclaimed film series, which has now been viewed on more than 600 campuses and their communities.

The new series covers the life and works of six leading artists of the late 19th and early 20th centuries: Edouard Manet, Paul Cezanne, Claude Monet, Georges Seurat, Henri Rousseau, and Edvard Munch. A 45-minute color film has been devoted to each of the six artists whom Lord Clark considers to be "the pioneers of what we still call modern painting."

Pioneers of Modern Painting was produced by Colin Clark, Lord Clark's son. Although Colin Clark has been a television producer since 1956, this is the first father-son venture.

The National Gallery of Art through its Extension Service has developed a wide range of educational materials to make its collections available to the many people across the country who do not have an opportunity to visit the Gallery.

Edouard Manet (1832-1883) is the first of the series. As Lord Clark explains, "Modern painting has been a revolutionary movement, a breakaway, and Manet, strange as it seems to us, was considered the first revolutionary. There had been rebels before, but they had always found some form of official support. Manet was the first artist to be positively persecuted by the Establishment." In this film, Lord Clark also fully explores Manet's relationship with Claude Monet and other impressionists.

Letter To The Editor: McKay Hall Rip Off City

On the weekend of September 23, 1972, nine rooms on the second floor of McKay Hall were broken into. The rooms were all locked and entry was made with a key. As the dorm adviser the guys came to me when they found out that they had been ripped off.

I called security and Mr. Chandler took over. Last December the master key to the second floor was lost, and at that time the locks should have been changed! I was told on September 23, 1972, that the locks would all be changed the next day.

After a week had passed I asked when the locks were going to be changed and was told that at Thanksgiving the entire floor would be changed. Now I have been told that the locks will only be changed when they break. The other day I had a lock, which was broken replaced, only they replaced it with a lock that is on the same Master key which was lost! I

Well now it is November and the locks are still not replaced. But last weekend McKay Hall second floor was again ripped off. Now a grand total of over $1100 has been ripped off from the second floor! I! WHAT THE HELL DOES IT TAKE TO GET THIS "LANDMARK OF LEARNING" TO DO SOMETHING! I

Letter To The Editor: Get Your Facts Straight

This is a response to Jack Spirtos' editorial of October 26th on the Merle Kelce Library.

Baffled and amused is my reaction to Jack's editorial on the library. I really do not know where he got his information or should I say misinformation. I do not think it is from personal experience. The editorial is just hearsay.

It really is amusing. Jack sees the librarians as almost rude and very uncooperative while I see them as courteous and most cooperative at all times. Though, it is true that I spend a good deal of my days and nights in the library. It is funny that one who rarely spends any time in the library could make such a definitive conclusion.

As to the reference of students going to USF for research: Did you realize that several students from USF, including graduate students, use the Merle Kelce Library for research and study purposes? I personally took out a book under my name and lent it to a USF student who could not find it at the USF Library. These are high caliber students, unlike the ones who cannot use the card catalogue, Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature and New York Times Index. How many of you have taken pains acquainting yourself with the library facilities?

What would you do if someone asked you for such and such a book? There are over 100,000 volumes to choose from, I have not memorized all the titles and locations of these books as of yet. Don't you think the logical place to look for the book would be in the card catalogue?

I neglected to mention that I have been a library assistant for over three years. I do not only study and attend classes at the library; I also work there.

That Fountain Has Less Water In It Than A Tub

From the first day I arrived on the campus of the U. of T., there's been one piece of our lovely scenery that's been bothering the hell out of me.

Are any of you aware of the fountain in Plant Park next to the Student Union? Well those of you who are; have you ever seen the water in that fountain? It looks worse than the good old Hillsborough River and that's not saying much.

I can understand the Hillsborough being polluted because it would be a little difficult to take the water out and change it everyday. But that fountain has less water than a tub! Would it be so hard to keep the water in it clean?

I'm sure there are plenty of people here who don't take showers. There's extra water right there. It really couldn't be all that expensive. Think of all the parents that came for parents weekend. Now they're home thinking about what a polluted campus this is. Do we want our parents to worry?

We own Plant Park now. That fountain belongs to us. If U. of Tampa can't have a great social life, at least let the campus be nice to look at.

Will Accept Editorials

The Minaret is pleased to accept editorials from interested students, faculty members and administrators.

Editorials must be signed, though names will be held by request.

Minaret meetings are held on Mondays at 4:00 o'clock in room 439 of Plant Hall.

The Army Wants You For Our Environment

Once upon a time the world was born. It was written that the world was beautiful. There were lots of trees and flowers and birds singing and the air was clean. Everybody took their time and observed the world and liked it. They were always trying to make it better by planting more trees and flowers and keeping the air clean. They built their simple houses and spent their time being nice to other people they met. They liked the world this way. But one day somebody in the world invented pollution and for some unknown reason liked it. He walked around converting people in the world to pollution and building a big army of pollutionists. Then it happened. The pollutionists attacked the world. They killed almost all of the clean people and took over. They polluted the world. It was a victory for the pollutionists and a sad event for those few clean people left. But rumor has it, that the clean people are beginning to get together in different areas of the world and are building up armies to make a final defeat on the pollutionists.

They accept anyone who cares and is willing to fight for our environment.

Do you care enough to join the army?

VIVA Is Coming

VIVA, voices in vital America, is a non-profit, non-political national student organization dedicated to the fact that progress and freedom can only be achieved and maintained by rational and responsible action. Over 1,500 Americans are either Prisoners of War or missing in action in Southeast Asia. Aside from the inhumane treatment witnessed by those few who have returned, the most tragic aspect is that most of the families of these men do not know if their sons, fathers, or husbands are dead or alive. Hanoi won't tell them.

The student body of University of Tampa needs to be awakened. Only you, the people of our country, can help these men. One way is to wear a P.O.W. M.I.A. bracelet.

The P.O.W. M.I.A. bracelet honors the man whose name is inscribed on it and includes the date he was lost. It should be worn with the vow that it will not be removed until the day Red Cross is allowed into Hanoi and can assure his family of his status and that he receives the humane treatment due all men. All donations from these bracelets are used to print and distribute material for the P.O.W. M.I.A. program to reach communities and students throughout the nation.

Hopefully within the next few weeks a chapter of VIVA will be started on campus. P.O.W. M.I.A. bracelets will be available with a donation of $2.50 for a nickel bracelet and $3.00 for a copper bracelet. All donations are tax deductible. Also there will be free buttons, bumper stickers, fund pamphlets available.

These men desperately need the help that only you can give. Anyone interested in helping please contact P.O. Box 242. Any help would be appreciated.

M. S.

UT Kayak Champs: Down The Old Mill Stream

Those University of Tampa kayak champs — Nancy Kalafus and Linda Nagle — have done it again.

Fresh from the National Collegiate Kayak Championships at St. Mary's College in Maryland, the "Kayak Kuties" of Tampa U. have three more medals to add to their collection.

Junior Nancy, a 20-year-old Yonkers, N.Y., physical education major, placed third in the Kayak singles in the 500-meter race.

Senior Linda Nagle, a 23-year-old philosophy major from Fort Lee, N.J., teamed with Nancy to finish second in the Kayak doubles, also over a 500-meter stretch.

And both girls teamed with Nancy Purvis of Prince George College in Maryland, and

Peanut Butter — A Joy Of The Senses

Did somebody mention peanut butter? That smooth, moist, tanned substance that causes the tongue to exercise its abilities, that substance which launches the taste buds into ecstasy; which helps one to forget his present surroundings and escape into a moment of sensual, enjoyable consumption.

Peanut butter is universal, for it can be eaten with jelly, bananas, cheddar cheese, marshmallows, apple butter, on brownies, or simply and deliciously by itself. It is the essence of all rich flavors combined during an increase in heart palpitation, a rise in temperature, an outbreak of sweat beads.

How should one go about eating this sumptuous treat? Favorably, it should be eaten by itself. Slowly drink, excuse me, dip a teaspoon into the jar and shovel, excuse me again, submerge the spoon and lift slowly from the jar, and then enter it into your mouth, let all your senses tingle with delight and taste every morsel of that flavorful tanned substance.

After it has reached and remained in the esophagus; after one half jar of peanut butter someone, oh no, someone blurts out that peanut butter is 100,000 calories a spoonful, enriched with oils and fats, causing those gorgeous red, swelling pimples to erupt in all obvious places, such as, the tip of your nose, between your eyes, upon the upper lip. Yes, this delicious substance can also be destructive, fattening, a fake sensation, a fraud, but that's the price one pays for one moment of enjoyable euphoria.

Linda Murray of the University of Jacksonville, to capture first place in the 5,000-meter race. In the K-4 race, the winning foursome came in 1500 meters in front of the second place boat, making a runaway of the event. The time was 20 minutes and 35.2 seconds.

Miss Nagle, who graduates in December, represented the University of Tampa for the last time. She transferred to UT from NYU where in 1969 she won the Kayak singles in the 500 and 5,000-meter events in the national competition. Knee surgery for a torn cartilage prevented her from competing in the singles events.

The race was held at the mouth of the Potomac River where it enters Chesapeake Bay. It was sponsored by the American Canoe Association and sanctioned by the National Paddling Committee.

Miss Kalafus, in her freshman year at UT, won the K-2 (doubles) 500 and 5,000-meter races and placed second in the 500-meter singles. Last year as a sophomore she placed second in the singles and teamed with Miss Nagle for second place in the 500-meter and 5,000-meter doubles.

Since 1966, Nancy has won well over 100 medals for her kayaking. Linda has about 60.

Kathy Mosolino, another New Jerseyite, introduced Nancy and Linda to the University of Tampa. She later transferred to an Eastern school. Ed Walsh, another UT student, also races. And still another Kayak enthusiast will transfer in at mid-year to take up the slack left by Linda's graduation.

Homecoming Displays

Plant Park will come alive November 10th with Homecoming displays from Tampa U. The Student Program Council reports that eleven organizations will be represented this year with lawn displays adhering to the theme, "Happiness Is. . ."

Participating groups include Pi Kappa Phi, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Theta Chi, ROTC, Pen and Sword, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Beta Alpha, Zeta Tau Alpha, The Black Student Association, and the combined efforts of Delta Sigma Phi — Phi Gamma Nu.

Each organization submits a $10 fee and agrees not to exceed $300 in expenditures in making their displays. Construction cannot begin before November 8th, although some pre-fabricated parts can be started earlier.

Judges include town officials and members from our faculty, who will judge on the basis of adherence to theme, creativity, construction, mobility, and general appearance.

Awards will be presented on Friday night, November 10th.

Spotlight On Arts In Tampa, Fla.

by Dr. Howard Hanson

Pulitzer Prize-winning composer and Director Emeritus, Eastman School of Music

In these days of economic inflation and artistic deflation, when the arts are frequently dismissed as unnecessary frills on the garment of education, it is a pleasure to report a recent visit to the University of Tampa, Florida. Peggie and I were there as guests of the University where I spoke to a convocation of students and faculty on Thursday evening and, the following morning, conducted a performance of my "Song of Democracy" at the ceremonies inaugurating Dr. B. D. Owens as the sixth president of the university.

President Owens belongs to that brilliant group of young university presidents—he is in his mid-thirties—seeking new goals for the small private university. An economist by profession, with a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Pennsylvania, he served, first, as assistant to the President at Indiana University, and later as Vice-President in charge of Research and Finance at the State University of Ohio in Bowling Green.

His philosophy as an educator would seem to place a high priority on the importance of the arts and the humanities in the education of the undergraduate student. In following this philosophy he will be carrying forward the work of President David M. Delo, who headed the university for 13 years until his retirement in 1971.

President Owens' hope for furthering the flowering of the arts in the university will be greatly assisted by the presence on the faculty of Richard Rodean, a highly gifted musician and administrator, an Eastman School graduate who is firmly committed to the importance of both the creative and the performing arts in American society.

One of Rodean's most significant aims is to help bring about a fusion of all of the interests in both the creative and the performing arts in the community, the music department of the university, the visual arts, the symphony orchestra, et cetera.

Additional Homecoming Attraction

For those alumni who wish to sample a Variety of Homecoming Week activities, Delo Forensic Society invites them to a "mini-tournament" in Debate and Extemporaneous Speaking, to be held on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Delo Forensic Society, founded in 1964, has been awarded a charter of the national honorary fraternity Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, one of the senior and most prestigious national honorary fraternities in the U.S.A. — very highly esteemed by law schools and business firms. Its debate teams have conquered Yale, Princeton, and Harvard in its brief history, and have staged four international exhibition debates with the championship debate teams from The British Isles, including televised debates on local stations.

The "mini-tournament," arranged for Homecoming Week, will involve only three institutions of higher learning: University of South Florida, St. Petersburg Junior College, and The University of Tampa.

All visitors and students are invited to attend. The Debate topic will be, "Resolved that the Federal Government should provide a Comprehensive Medical Care program for all U.S.A. Citizens." The subject for the extemporaneous speeches will be current event topics selected from Weekly News Magazines. A schedule follows: Thursday, November 9th, 5:00-6:00 p.m. Debates in Plant Hall, Rooms 243, 301 and 303.

7:15-8:00 p.m. Extemporaneous Speaking in Plant Hall, Rooms 243, 301 and 303.
8:00-9:00 p.m. Debates in Plant Hall, Rooms 243, 301 and 303. 9:15 p.m. Awarding of trophies, Plant Hall Room 240.

Membership in Delo Forensic is closed until the Spring Semester of 1973. However, any students who wish to become members at that time should apply early, since membership is limited to 25 students.

Humanities — The Liberal Arts Stepping-Stone

The current trend of increased specialization has seemingly reduced the demand for liberal arts undergraduates with a major in English. A numerical reduction of students with majors in English and Literature may well attest to a current, and apparently widespread, belief that career potential in lucrative job fields is lacking for those with a background in Humanities.

A cold, hard, undeniable fact is that an above average English major can find above average jobs, and is likely to succeed where others fail. The traits normally associated with such persons are those of generals who stand at the peak of today's myriad of specialists. A knowledge of composition and rhetoric, familiarity with literature, and the ability to conduct research and report findings in a clear, concise manner are subtle values of a modern leader. The single most important attribute sought by employers is the coupling of flexibility and the ability to communicate.

The English major should search for career challenges beyond the limits of teaching. Such areas as medicine, law, business, creative writing, and military careers are both open and receptive to those who select English as an undergraduate major.

SPOTLIGHT ON ARTS IN TAMPA

Much has already been accomplished. The Florida Gulf Symphony under the direction of its dynamic conductor, Irwin Hoffman, now has its home in the concert hall of the university. The orchestra itself has recently merged with the orchestra of Saint Petersburg, serving both communities with greater artistic possibilities and financial security.

I found the students of the university highly interested in the cultural opportunities which the university and the community provide. The general student body proved to be alert, concerned with the importance of the arts and the humanities in today's society, and full of challenging questions.

The performing groups which I conducted were dedicated, enthusiastic and very capable in performance, although I am sure that only a small proportion are contemplating music as a profession.

The city of Tampa has, itself, taken on a new look. It is realizing the potential of the beauties of the Tampa River, the Bay itself, and the surrounding environs. It is becoming one of America's beautiful cities.

Dr. Achenback — Extremely Stimulating

On October 30th, Dr. Karl Achenback, well-known Neurophysiologist of the University of South Florida spoke on the subject "The Use and Abuse of Analogy in Neuroscience." Dr. Achenback traced the use and abuse of analogies from Plato and Aristotle through the present. The analogies ranged from the comparisons of the nervous system with the circulatory system (ie., nerves being similar to blood vessels) to the brain functioning as a modern computer.

Dr. Achenback's specimen of a human brain along with several detailed slides, showing the different areas of the brain, were most effective in correlating the different analogies presented. Several related questions were asked by those present which led to a discussion of the use of analogies in other subjects, such as Logic, Philosophy, Physiology, and Literary Criticism and showed their part in the analogical sequence.

Dr. Achenback's extensive knowledge of Neuroscience and his inquisitiveness concerning future analogies led to an extremely stimulating and informative presentation.

Amateur Radio Club

The University of Tampa Amateur Radio Club is in full swing with paint and brushes readying two rooms on the fifth floor for their December meeting.

Jim Owens, Steve Townsend, John Back, Mike Saunders, Frank Zedar, Jim Forn, Lou Cass, Tom Burch and Dr. Strother have worked to renovate this area into a radio room and regular meeting place for the recently chartered club.

Senate Report - Revenue Sharing?

A few weeks ago the question of revenue sharing was brought up in the SGA house. At the time it was going to be looked into. Now it may become a reality.

Revenue sharing would allocate SGA funds to worthy organizations at the end of the school year. Each organization would submit a request, along with their budget. A committee of six composed of three senate members and three House representatives would review the requests and then would allocate appropriate funds. The limit to the request would be $200. The organization would have to show need to be recognized.

Instead of an Environmental Day, Dr. West through Jack Lamond suggested we hold a Humanities Day in the spring.

ODK: New Members

The following students have been elected to membership in the University of Tampa Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary men's leadership society: Bob Bissell, Andrews AFB, Md., John M. Brown, Tampa, Florida, James Eversman, Jr., Brandon, Florida, Richard Gans, Ormond Beach, Florida, Ron Herbein, Seminole, Florida, Roger Laux, Lake Grove, New York, Michael Pender, Jr., Garden City, New York.

Circle K

Circle K is a coed service organization with goals of trying to help both the campus and the community. Already this semester, this organization helped out with Parent's Weekend, participated in the Physical Fitness Week, and helped host the Democratic Caucus held at the University. The next major project is the participation in the city's Project Cheer, which is the collecting of funds and merchandise from the city's merchants for Christmas presents that will go to the hospitalized and elderly over the holiday vacation. The group is optimistic in that they will surpass last year's quota of $1,500 in merchandise collected.

The club is also highly rated in the party department; not only throwing a few get-togethers for the Tampa U. students, but it also attends parties at the universities throughout the state.

Meetings are held every Thursday at 9:00 p.m. in the Student Union. All students, either male or female who are interested in attending the meetings, are cordially invited.

Pershing Rifles Drill Team

On Veteran's Day, the Pershing Rifle Drill Team, composed of Jose Morales, Earl Marlow, Denis Degamon, Jeff Dootson, Jim Zorn, Dave Jones, and Mike Hunter performed at Eisenhower Junior High School for their ceremonies. This was our first performance and was one hundred percent better than expected. The Drill Team will be performing at half time for the Homecoming football game.

Pershing Rifles had a victory party after our win against Drake University on October 21. It was held at River Bend Apts in Temple Terrace and there was a good turn out for it. No one went away unhappy.

The ROTC Sponsor Corps is getting underway with a better turn out than expected. With cooperation from Patricia Stevens College, we have about 10 highly interested coeds. Anyone else who wants to join is welcome.

Theta Chi

Although it was rained out two weeks ago, the brotherhood had their car wash a week later, which was a big success. We thank everyone who participated.

We would also like to congratulate Sue Boyle on being our newest carnation. Sue has worked hard in the past and we know she will keep on working hard in the future. Good Job, Sue.

We all have been working hard on our homecoming skit and invite everyone to come and see it tomorrow night. The talent is overwhelming, the direction is a credit to the industry and the acting is superb. All we need now is to see everyone there.

Epsilon Pi Tau

Epsilon Pi Tau held initiation ceremonies for 9 new members at the University of Tampa on October 30. After the ceremonies a banquet was given in the University dining room for the initiates.

At the banquet Professor James Bignell, Head of the Industrial Arts Department explained the purpose and organization of Epsilon Pi Tau. There were many important Industrial Arts dignitaries present including Jay Borden (President, Eta Field Chapter, E.P.T.), and Dave Skinner (Industrial Arts Supervisor, Hillsborough County).

University Of Tampa Folksong Society

Are there any musicians on campus outside of the marching band? A few people with guitars have been seen scattered about campus. We would like to see all these people interested in folk music get together. This is the beginning of the University of Tampa Folksong Society.

If you play guitar, banjo, harmonica, or any other related instrument you are welcome to come to the meeting. If you are interested in learning, listening, or just jamming, come join us. Our purpose is to just get together and learn from each other and have a good time!

The first meeting will be held on Thursday, November 9, at 7:00 p.m. in the student Union. The room will posted around campus this week. If enough interested students show up, a weekly meeting will be set up.

Also any person or group of people that show any sign of talent may be employed to play in the Rathskellar, and from there — who knows! Anyway, if you like music, come join us!

Pi Kappa Phi

The brothers of Pi Kappa Phi would like to wish their candidate for Homecoming Queen and Miss University of Tampa, Jennifer Leverette much luck in her upcoming debut.

In volleyball the Pi Kapps are once again having a great year. Pi Kapp goes into the championships this week with a 2-0 record chalking up victories over TEP and TKE.

Meanwhile down on Plant Ave., the brothers are busy constructing their Homecoming display, under the direction of Brad Stoner. Being last years winners, the Pi Kapps hope, once again, to make a good showing.

Tau Epsilon Phi

The brothers of TEP have been busy building up their brotherhood with the culmination of pledging and the promotion of all pledges who stuck it out to prospective brothers. Good work to all.

Bob Ford made the championship pool intramurals but lost with a close score. He displayed fine playing throughout the tournament but had to settle for second place. There's always next year, though.

Alpha Chi Omega

Is very proud to announce initiation of four new sisters, they are: Denise Lekisia, Marcia Milkiades, Debbie Tokin, Kerry Whitaker. A big welcome to our new sisters.

Why do so many college women come to Sawyer?

A sheepskin won't always pay the rent, nor does it always qualify a woman for a job in today's market. For many college trained women a few months at Sawyer results in the blend of office skills plus college background that opens doors to starting jobs that really go someplace. That's why more than one in five women in Sawyer Schools has a college background. Phone or write today to see how Sawyer can help you qualify for the kind of career you want.

Spartans Stumble Through A&M, 26-9

Big Jim Williams, former TU assistant and present Florida A&M head coach, brought a team of fired-up Rattlers to Tampa Stadium and scared our Spartans for three quarters, but finally fell to Coach Bruce's boys, 26-9.

The game, the last of the Tampa-A&M rivalry, saw the Spartans spot A&M 2 points via safety (when Ernie Dubose was tackled in the end zone), and then sputter offensively and defensively for one half. A Wilbur Grooms punt snap recovery for a TD and some great pass catching by Greg Piper and Paul Orndorff kept the Spartans in the game. The score at the half stood 13-9, and the Spartans were being embarrassed. The other first-half score by TU came on an 11 yd. Dubose pass reception from Buddy Carter.

The second half was better. The defense began to get, and the offense started to show some consistency. Coach Bruce complained that the FAMU band played too long, and the Rattlers were penalized 15 yds. on the opening kick-off. Bob Bissell recovered a perfect onside kick, and a few plays later TU took a more comfortable 16-9 lead on a 34 yd. Bob Cooper, field goal.

A fabulous punt return by Tom Thomas put the Spartans in position for another score as Cooper kicked a 40 yd. FG, putting the score at 19-9. A 52 yd. scoring scamper by Fred Solomon was called back by a penalty, but the Spartans continued to drive, anyway. Frank Pitts did the honors this time from three yds. to finalize the score at 26-9.

Defensive play was dominated by Wilbur Grooms, who earned the "Defensive Player of the Week" award. Offensively, Greg Piper had his best game and was named "Offensive Lineman of the Week," while Ernie Dubose (16 carries for 141 yds. and a TD) and Fred Solomon (13 carries, 113 yds.) were named "Backs of the Week."

The stage is now set for Homecoming with Fran Curci's (remember him?) Miami Hurricane circus. The Spartans have their work cut out for them to continue their winning ways. They must stop a great running back in Chuck Foreman, and must control Brandon product at middle guard, Tony Christiani.
