

UNIVERSITY OF TAMPA BULLETIN

May 26, 1933

OVER 400 BOOKS DONATED TO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY DURING UNIVERSITY BOOK WEEK

Over 400 volumes have been donated to the University Library thus far during University Book Week in response to the request issued last week. Among the valuable contributions are two sets of the "Harvard Classics," two sets of the "Encyclopedia Britannica," a set of Memoirs of the Courts of Europe, and a set of the complete works of Guy de Maupassant.

Dean Colson stated that it would have been three or four years before the University could have bought these books, and that we are particularly fortunate in these acquisitions.

About a month ago Dr. Johnston's medieval history class gave several valuable books on medieval history. With all these books the University will have a creditable library for next year.

The University wishes to thank the following donors: Mrs. J. R. Mickler, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. H. F. Diaz, Mrs. R.M. Mendez, Mrs. W. F. Adams, Mrs. Joseph King, Mrs. Hattie Branch, Mr. Robert F. Webb, and Mr. A. W. Squires.

Other donations will be acknowledged next week.

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY PICNIC SUCCESSFUL

An enjoyable picnic was given yesterday, at Camp Fowler, by the members of the Public Speaking, Psychology, and Physical Education classes of the University. Approximately fifty people, students, faculty members, and guests were present.

The picnickers entertained themselves by swimming, hiking, an impromptu beauty contest, target practice, and eating. The bathing beauty contest was for men only. Mr. Webb won first place, Mr. Hartzell second, and Wofford Wait third.

The target shooting was the girls chance to excell. Some highly respectable scores were turned in. Aleyne Clayton and Catherine Jackson had high scores.

The picnic was a "Dutch" affair; each student brought food, and no money whatsoever. The idea seems to have been a great success. Mr. Hartzell, who conceived the idea, Margaret Allen, who had charge of the food, and Jack Fitzgerald, who acted as general supervisor, and toastmaster at the dinner, and entitled to all the credit in the world. The hope has been expressed that the picnic will be made an annual event.

WOFFORD WAIT STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT FOR NEXT YEAR

Wofford Wait is the Student Body President for next year. The results of the second election, last Friday, in which Wait led his opponent, Theodore Lesley, by seventeen votes have been certified by the Election Committee, and checked and announced by the Student Council.

There can be no doubt that Wofford is the choice of the student body. Eighty-four out of one hundred and four eligibles voted, and the Wait votes lacked one of being a clear majority of the voting body.

Wait is well qualified for the office. During this high school career he took part in a student government program. This year he has served as President of the Sophomore Class, and has been extremely influential in Student Council activities. During the year Wofford has served in no less than three important committee chairmanships; the Committee on the Honor System, the Constitution Committee, and the Athletic Committee. In all of these activities his work has been praised by all involved. Although not a member of the Publications Committee, Wofford has worked on the Bulletin Staff during the second semester and is fully familiar with this field for student effort.

* * * * *

HISTORY CLASS TO HEAR SPEAKERS

The History 100 class in room 214, under the instruction of Miss Dorothea Morrill, has a special schedule today through next Friday.

Today, May 26, at 9 A.M., Mr. Harold Bierce lectured to the students on a phase of Medieval Art.

Monday, May 29, at 9 A.M., Rabbi Zielonka will speak on Medieval Religions.

Wednesday, May 31, at 9 A.M., Dr. Becknell will discuss Medieval Science.

Friday, June 2, at 6:30 P.M. Mr. Webb will take up Medieval Geography.

The public is invited to attend these lectures.

* * * * *

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Those students whose accounts are not paid before the date of exams, June 6, will be permitted to take their exams at the beginning of the fall term in September. This, of course, is on the assumption that the accounts have been paid before that date.

Staff

Editor-in-chief:

Helen Aronovitz

Assistant Editor:

Herbert Sullivan

Reporters:

Pat Stuckey

Wofford Wait

Woodrow Garcia

Advisor:

Mrs. Georgia Robles Conger

STUDENT CONTRIBUTIONS

Absence of Bells

Of the many needy things that are lacking at the University one is some system of bells, however crude it may be. The absence of these since the close of high school has resulted in a noticeable loss of both time and studious concentration of nearly all students.

Without a definite minute for class to begin, many have found it convenient to stroll into the room five minutes after the right time with a perfectly clear conscience. Sometimes it is fully ten minutes before the class is peacefully settled and ready for work. And the instructor is forced to wait for that length of time for his class to come to the point of order that usually comes with the ringing of the final bell.

Then, at the end of the period more time and concentration is wasted as students watch their time-pieces for fear the class will run overtime, causing tardiness for the next class.

The whole thing is downright confusing and annoying.

We should like to see either a student committee or a school official make some move to install some means of notification of the beginning and end of classes, even for the few remaining periods.

Since all classes are held on the second floor, it would not take much expenditure to fix such an arrangement. A bell, slightly larger than an ordinary doorbell, but installed in the same manner and operated by a designated person, would stop all clock-watching.

Edgar Andrews

* * * * *

At the close of the year the Bulletin Staff is planning to publish a special edition of the college bulletin, six or seven pages long. All students are asked to contribute opinions, criticisms, jokes, or any college news that has escaped the notice of the Bulletin Staff. Any contributions that will help to make this final edition of the Bulletin the best of the year will be greatly appreciated.

The Editor

Things I never did know until now:

That Theodore Lesley and Eleanor McIntosh have recently been high-hitting the Heavens.

That Mr. Webb was chosen as the most beautiful... (?) man by our young debs... especially Margaret Litschgi.

That Mr. Hartzell had a date with Miss Robles and we account for this as being the reason for the P.E. class going to the picnic.

That Dorothy Pou and Bill Logan were seen exactly one hour and a half after the picnic was at a close at a small chicken house on the road to Tampa. (We wonder why).

That Jack Fitzgerald claims to be an expert swimmer and nearly drowned in the attempt to prove it.

That Margaret Litschgi's bathing suit seems to have shrunk preoccupied, and our beautiful young darling was thrilled at the events.

That Billy Billen has at last found his girl.

That B. Smith is a wonderful swimmer and acknowledges it at that.

A will: As I am now grown up, I, Aleyne Clayton, do will and bequeath my cradle to our dear columnist because he may have need of it some day.

We wonder how Miss Clayton found out that our darling was going to propose to her.

* * * * *

COMING UNIVERSITY RADIO PROGRAMS

Tuesday, over W.D.A.E., James Green, violinist of Bradentown, will give a 15 minute program.

Thursday, over W.M.B.R., Theodore Lesley will speak.

* * * * *

EDITORS COMMENTS

We still wonder whether next year we will listen to lectures under Moroccan spires or in the midst of caressing sea breezes.

We wonder whether our new English head follows the quaint New England custom of eating B.B. Beans every Saturday night.

It's beginning to look like Mr. Howell is going to have to turn thief.

We hope that we will be able some day to try all the languages we are learning in the countries where even the children speak them.

The Dean's office looks like a second hand book store.

Let's all go into Room 206 and play in the sand box.