YANNIGANS DEFEAT REGULARS BY 6-4 IN PRACTICE GAME

Will Face Plant High in Second Practice Tilt Today

Pounding in five runs in a big third inning yesterday the lowly Yannigans showed the way for the regulars defeating them 6 to 4 in the first practice game of the season. With only two weeks of practice behind them both groups played better than average ball and showed that they are rounding out in great form. The opening date on the schedule is drawing near, with a practice game against Plant High school booked for this afternoon as a preliminary.

Newcomb, on the mound for the Yannigans turned in the best pitching performance of the day, allowing only five bingles in three innings and holding the regulars to two runs.

Wooten, chunking for the regulars was hit heavily in the big third inning when the Yannigans batted clear around, collecting five safe hits and a walk to score five runs, putting the ball game on ice. Marvin Chancey took charge of the hurling in the next inning and successfully stemmed the tide being nicked for a lone double.

The Yannigans took the lead in the first inning when Miller led off with a walk, took second on a passed ball and scored on Rodriguez's single to right field. However, the regulars tied it up in their turn at the plate when Cage tallied from second after connecting for a double to center. Scoring another in the last of the second the regulars took a brief lead which was completely wiped out in the following inning as the Yannigans put on their big spurt.

Both teams played tight ball, only two errors being chalked up during the afternoon. The box score:

Will Provide Room Accommodations For Co-eds Next Years

Next year room accommodations for University girls will be available in the beautiful Embassy hotel-apartment building, which is less than a minute's walk across the campus, it is stated in the new catalog.

An excellent location, complete equipment, and beautiful surroundings are outstanding features of the new dormitories. Room applications must be made to the Dean not later than September 1, and floor plans, prices and other information will be made on request.

In addition to the Embassy, the University has a number of well-selected rooms available for as little as $2.50 per week. Every student home is carefully inspected, and all women students and their quarters are under the direct supervision of the Dean of Women.

Plans Progressing For Music Festival To Be Held Here Next Month

Reception, Dance To Be Part of Entertainment

Plans have been going forward at a rapid pace for the seventh annual session of the Florida High School Music Festival which will be held in the University of Tampa on April 5, 6 and 7. The festival is sponsored jointly by the Tampa Junior Chamber of Commerce and the University.

A reception and dance will be given for the contestants Friday, April 6, from 8 to 11 p. m. by the students of the University through the student council. All of the participants are cordially invited to attend. The entire student body will act as host. John G. Holt, who was in charge of the publication of the new catalogue, is working with the student council in making plans for the entertainment.

According to O. A. Seaver, executive secretary, more than fifteen hundred students are expected to enter. Eight hundred have already registered from fifteen high schools over the state. All the hotels have made special rates to accommodate the out-of-town entries.

Alvin Magnon, of Adams Jewelry Company, has charge of awards, which will be gold and silver medals in solo events and silver cups in group events. Certificates will be given for proficiency.

The list of judges is not yet complete but will be announced soon by M. L. Price, who as Business Manager of the festival, is selecting them. Judging will be done on the point system. Among the qualities which will be stressed are interpretation, tone, personality, selection, phrasing, correctness of pitch, and general effect.

The contests will be held in the rooms of the University and in the Municipal auditorium. University students will help to serve as messengers, clerks and ushers.

Among the schools expected to attend with bands or orchestras are: Tallahassee, Ocala, Bradenton, Key West, Plant City, St. Petersburg, Fort Myers, Miami, Daytona, Clearwater, West Palm Beach and Lakeland.

Dramatic Class Will Present "Trial of Mary Dugan" April 2

The play, "Trial of Mary Dugan," is progressing rapidly and nightly practices are starting this week. Mr. Gordon Peters is showing his prowess in play-directing and is rounding the cast into shape. The first performance of it will be on the night of April, the 2nd.

Miss Margaret Boyle says, "Each member of the cast seems to be very well suited for his respective part. I think that the play will be very good and well-worth the price of admission. I hope that each University student will see it and I see no reason why they would not enjoy it. Much progress has been made lately and as soon as the nightly practices start, it will be much more rapid."

The cast has not been changed according to the latest reports. The Circuit Court room of the Hillsborough Court House will be location. While the play will be given on April 2nd, it will probably be given on the 3rd and 4th also.

"Pudgy" Pursues Prodigious Pursue

Last Tuesday Dot Pou dashed from chemistry lab to the Minaret office, from dancing class to Dr. Hawkins' headquarters looking frantically under chairs, behind pictures, under rugs and other objects. Her actions were accompanied by a constant stream of protests and pointed insinuations. She had lost her pocketbook.

In the missing article were penny postcards, seven cents, lipstick, rouge, compact, a valued fountain pen, and miscellaneous notes, about the character of which Pou was somewhat reticent.

It happened like this. She was coming out of chemistry lab—but if you have been within a radius of five miles of her you're heard the tale. However, the Minaret will print the story in a series of installments if there is sufficient demand.

Dot's shoes also seem of their own accord to have acquired the art of locomotion, because when she looked for them after dancing class, meanwhile gnashing her teeth and pulling her hair, she finally found them far under a couch, a long distance from their original resting place.

Stupendous news! Just as we were going to press, Dot dashed in. She had found her purse—in Dean's office!

Sigma Kappa Nus Trounce Pi Epsilons by 19 to 10; Plan Intramural Crew Race

The Pi Epsilons, intramural leaders, were soundly trounced 19 to 10 by the Sigma Kappa Nus Wednesday in the first game of the diamond ball league which was inaugurated this week.

While Adams, S K N twirler, kept the Pi Eps' nine bingles well scattered, the fraternity team pounded out twenty-three safe hits. A last moment rally by the Pi Eps brought them three runs but fell far short of saving the game.

Chancey, Sigma Kappa Nu short-stop enjoyed a perfect day at bat with four hits in four trips to the plate. O'Reilly, Pi Eps' first sacker, also had a perfect day with two hits and a pair of walks in four times at the plate. Each got a double and a triple.

Sullivan, covering third for the frat team turned in the best fielding of the day, and in addition collected two home runs.

The Spring program for the intramural league will for the greater part be taken up with diamond ball and track, but plans have been started for tennis and a grand finale crew race down the Hillsborough river.

Yesterday afternoon the Plebes were scheduled to meet the South Siders

CHANGE IN UNITS REQUIRED FOR A. B. SHOWN IN CATALOG

Also Reveals Revisions in Requirements for B. S.

According to the new catalog released at the beginning of the week, degree requirements have been changed in several instances from those of previous years.

The science units for the Bachelor of Arts degree have been reduced from sixteen to twelve, and electives increased from fifty-six to sixty. The Bachelor of Science degree now requires twenty-four science hours instead of twenty-two, fifty-four instead of fifty elective hours, and twelve instead of the former eighteen foreign language hours.

The new Bulletin is a decided improvement over the three previous issues. For the first time information concerning the College of Commerce and Finance has been published in the catalog. The College is under the acting deanship of W. M. Cunningham. The degree of Bachelor of Science in Commerce requires twelve English hours, twelve foreign language hours, twelve hours of economics, six of natural science, six of history and government, nine of accounting, six of law, six of insurance, eighteen of finance, three of trade, three of physical education and hygiene, fifteen of Commerce electives, and twenty-four of Liberal Arts electives.

The Bulletin is divided into four parts: a general introduction consisting of the purpose and foundation of the University, a description of the location, government, building and equipment, museum, library, laboratories, residence accommodations, and scholarships and student aid; a section devoted to the College of Liberal Arts containing the degree requirements and descriptions of the courses offered; a section devoted to the College of Commerce and Finance; and a register of students.

The Bulletin was under the supervision of John J. Holt. Students are entitled to one each, and may obtain theirs by applying at the Dean's office and signing for it. Due to the limited number of copies printed only one will be given to each student.

Higgins Speeding Up Track Preparations

Coach Nash Higgins has been giving his track proteges something to think about in recent practices. The field men as well as the track men have been taking strenuous exercises to loosen up the muscles and also to strengthen them. Sore muscles and feet have been abundant the past week.

The dash men are working at the starting and the exchanging of the baton in the relays.

The distance men are working their stride and developing their wind with daily jogs around the track.

Coach Higgins has been putting the weight men through their ups and downs and teaching them form and coordination.

Those working out daily are Rhines, Chancey, Ramirez, Means and Trammontana, dash men; Robbins, Patterson, Clinton, and Wooten, distance runners; Muench, Lee, Godwin, Hurn, Farnell, and Edison, weight men; Newkirk, Cage, and Newcomb in the high jump and pole vault.

Lee Represents Students In Athletic Association

Marion Lee was elected last Wednesday by the student council to be student body representative in the Athletic Association of the University which is composed of Tampa business men and faculty members including Coach Nash Higgins.

Greed?

Samuel Insull, a short time ago the ruler of a vast public utilities domain, is now little more than a hunted animal wherever he goes. With much money, evidently, he is a man without a country, doomed to be a Flying Dutchman all his life unless released by some unforeseen circumstance. There is a possibility that his life will be short—he may be dead before this appears in print—and there is a possibility that he will live years to repent his past actions.

This earth has been in the process of formation for many millions of years and is still changing with prospects of living for millions upon millions of years more. Man is a comparatively recent development and will probably pass away after a time while the earth will continue to live on.

How can one man, in his short life, get himself and others into so much trouble? Did Insull think that the bubble would last forever? Did he think that he would leave a fortune to his heirs? Or did he hope that the bubble would last until he died and then have those who came after him engulfed in a sea of ruin?

No matter what he thought about the paltry fortune that he was piling up, did he ever stop to think that he might possibly have a soul that would live long after the worries in this world were past? Sometimes the results of one man's monstrous greed seem to be visited upon everyone except the one who is responsible, buy many times the creature of a greedy imagination overtakes the man in his old age and haunts him in one form or another until he knows what he has done.

Hell may be a matter of mental torture endured in this life, or there may be a very real Hell in a future life. Be that as it may, there is exquisite agony for each one who fails to do his duty toward his fellow man. Insull's life may be a lesson to others who think of following in his footsteps. Let us hope this will be so.

It is much more probable, however, that men will not change. Human nature seems to remain the same in spite of all the lessons that could be learned from example. Men will laugh at what they have seen happen to Insull and others like him. Such things may happen to others, but never to oneself.

With all his money there is probably no one in the world today more miserable than this one who by greed has ruined countless lives. The little gold god does not reward his subjects as faithfully as they think he will. His rewards are campaign promises that fade as soon as the subject is won.

College is supposed to make people think. It is supposed to fit them for the battle of life, to fit them to live their lives in a happier manner than those who go without. Let college students then remember that money is much, but not everything; let them remember that position is much, but not everything; in short, let them remember that nothing is worth the sacrifice of one's self-respect and integrity. There is no satisfying reward in Heaven or on earth for one who has exalted himself at the expense of others. Ruin is the only reward.

Holiday Profit

The Easter holidays afford unusual opportunities for students lagging in their studies to do some concentrated work and bring up low marks.

Instead of improving after the scarcity of names listed on the honor roll, many grades have suffered a serious decline. Now, with no increased amount of work from day to day, students may catch up on the studies in which they are behind.

The idea of studying may seem distasteful in contrast to the varied and numerous entertainments planned for the holidays, but regardless of dances, house parties, and the like, some time will hang heavy on the hands. That time can be used most profitably for study.

Studying is not the dry, uphill pull that people are inclined to believe. If approached with the idea that it is to broaden and develop the mind it becomes an inviting subject, and not a disagreeable task. If one forgets that textbooks are proverbially uninteresting, he will find they contain interesting and even exciting facts. The joy of accomplishment, the thrill that comes from knowing a subject thoroughly should be inspiring influences in acquiring knowledge. Attack your studies not as chores to be completed as hurriedly as possible, but as something that will aid you in everything you attempt. As, if you will, something that will give you superiority over the common herd, the desire for which is inherent in all.

University Avenue

Tampa needs to be made more "university conscious." There are any number of ways in which to advertise the university both to Tampanians and to visitors, but one thing that would be a lasting reminder of the university's presence would be a street renamed "University Avenue."

To change the name of a street it is necessary to have a number of people sign a petition requesting such a change. It is best to have a number of property owners from the street in question among the signers. This could be accomplished by the student body or even the student council if it, by some miracle, should become energetic.

As there is little chance of any street being lined with fraternity or sorority houses any time in the future, that consideration could not be mentioned in the selection of the street to be renamed. The logical street would be Hyde Park Avenue, because the spires and minarets of the university are visible almost the whole length of that street. It is not unusually long, so the minimum amount of inconvenience would result from the change. Most of the original owners of the property are no longer living there, so the sentiment attached to the present name is relatively little.

This matter is one of importance to the university, and it is a project worth consideration by the students and the student council. Civic clubs would doubtless help us out if we would do our part.

Cause At Stake

This week the future of a cause is at stake, the success of which is of vital concern to our entire community. The Community Chest has begun its annual drive for funds.

The next year's work of seventeen agencies depends upon the favorable outcome of this drive. Its failure will result in the serious curtailment of the work of the various welfare agencies such as the Family Service, the Traveler's Aid, the Milk Fund, the Old People's Home, the Seaman's Institute, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Y. M. H. A. the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

With the full cooperation of the students the University will be enabled to aid materially in the success of this annual venture, to do its part for the welfare of the community.

Annual

Now that the annual is not just a possibility but a real thing, elections have been taking place for the coveted positions on the staff. These selections are made by the annual subscribers in regard to the merits of the nominees in scholarship and ability. The staff members elected are: Jean Lykes, editor-in-chief; Hilda Spradlin and Emily Bush, assistant editors; Jeanie Trice, snap-shot editor; Lillian Thornton, girls' sport editor; Richard Rodriguez, boys' sports editor; Peggy Jennison, art editor; Carl Opp, literary editor; Frank Lane, circulation manager; Wayne Walker, joke editor; John McKay, business manager.

Hi-Y Has Assembly Program

The Hi-Y club of Plant had charge of the assembly last Thursday and presented an interesting program. Mr. Graham, the advisor and director of the club, gave a short address at the beginning of the program. He explained clearly the objectives of all the Hi-Y clubs as well as their remarkable growth and attainments. The program then continued along the regular procedure of a club meeting. The four cardinal principles of the club were expounded in short addresses by Curry Stephenson, who spoke on clean speech; Norman Dron extolled the qualities of clean scholarship; Julien Pate spoke of clean sportsmanship, and all these were summed up by John Burnett's speech on clean living. The meeting was then broken up and a short skit given, showing a mock wedding. The bride was given away by her father, (Howard Gill) and much color was added to the scene by flower girls (Richard Rodriguez, Maynard Ramsey). The Rev. Paul Wagner officiated until the beautiful ceremony was rudely interrupted by a protester (Roy Williamson) who demanded the ceremony not be continued until the Hi-Y dance at a later date.

Tennis Team

The tennis team composed of Manuel Pelaez, Dixon Luce, Dana Groff, and George Bacalis won their meet Saturday by beating Orlando four to two. Nice work, boys. We hope you take down those K. M. I.'s tomorrow.

Swimming Team

The swimming team, Harry Houston, Jack Griffin, Erwin Bryan have been practicing regularly at the Y. M. C. A. pool, and are looking forward to a meet with the Terriers next Wednesday. Sink 'em! Boys, sink 'em!

Minstrel

The minstrel which was postponed a week ago today was held Wednesday and all proceeds will go to the annual.

Accumulating Dust

S'funny how so much dirt can get in Wayne's ears in just one week. (They aren't very big ears?) We wish to congratulate one of the P. H. S. sprightly sub-debs on her power to keep a certain gold basketball around her neck—so what Watson? Have you heard that: Logan has big plans for the future on a farm in Indiana? That Myron Jacobs has adopted the name "Kokomo"? Frank Lane has an idea of settling down? A certain "Perry" has two members of the late Newport Navy trembling!!

Don't Julien Pate and LaMotte look chummy together (instructions carried out).

Due to the scarcity of available girls for dates last Friday night Plant's young-men-about-town consoled themselves at the wrestling matches; we saw 25 or 30 friends there ourselves. (Yes, we've got that many friends). They say that confession is good for the soul, but you can't prove it by Francis Crowe, whose lurid and shady past was revealed last Friday night. Ahoy! there, Power House!! (If our girl is not one of the Lucky Six who hadn't made Whoopie with "C" we'll beat her to death.)

The Ladies-League-For-the-Reformation-Of-Wayward-Young-Men wishes to announce that Julien Pate has been persuaded to give up his weekly weekend excursions to Ballast Point.

Somebody, (we suggest Joan Johnston or Mary Elizabeth Harris, who, by the way, has a delightful new nickname) should ask Nelson Mason what he means by making that sawing motion on his wrist.

Billy Woodruff and Dorene Whitaker are that-way about each other.

Carl Opp's conscience is much clearer now that he has forsaken this job for higher literature. Congrats, Carl.

And last: Just to show we can tell a joke in which we were the goat: Is our company boring or do girls always go to sleep on yachting trips?

Spring Is Here

Opportunity

With the advent of the dance in honor of Music Festival contestants University students are offered an excellent opportunity to display their powers as hosts. Many of the guests will have no personal acquaintance in the gathering and, unless shown attention by the students, will leave Tampa dissatisfied with their reception here.

The dances given previously have been solely for the entertainment of the students and those giving the dances put forth a great deal of effort in insuring the students' enjoyment. For this one dance it will be no hardship to forget one's own pleasure and see to it that the guests are not left sitting lonesomely on the sidelines.

Much depends on the success of the dance. Coldness on the part of students will discourage those planning to attend the University, and a warm reception will turn wavering minds in favor of the University.

Each Tampa U student must consider in incumbent upon himself to assure the visitors a pleasurable evening. Common courtesy as well as the name of the University demands it.

Our Pet Dog

Our official bulletin board in the lobby is like a little boy's pet dog. It gets quite a bit of attention but few cleanings. Once in a while it receives good attention for a time, and then, slowly but surely, it falls into neglect. Students wander up and idly glance over it to see if there is anything new. Some students do not bother to read it more than once a week because the notices do not change often enough to require attention oftener than once a week.

It is our suggestion that a committee of students or faculty members be appointed to keep the bulletin board up to date. Standing announcements should be at one side of the board and new announcements at the other side. In no case should announcements be allowed to remain after the event they announce is past.

Perhaps the student council can remedy this trouble. It would take only one or two minutes a day at the most to keep the board up-to-date and presentable, and it would save much time to the students who conscientiously read everything every day when there are often no new notices at all.

Permanent Borrowing

Although the matter has been mentioned before in these columns, permanent borrowing seems to continue around the university. If we were sure that a student is the cause of the trouble, it would confine our search for the offender to the student body. As a matter of fact, however, outsiders are strongly suspected in some cases, and stringent measures will be necessary if the depredations do not cease.

Many articles of some value have disappeared, and other things of little intrinsic value but great sentimental value have been taken. Students should be loyal enough to keep their hands off of other people's things, and we politely request that light fingered visitors either remain off the campus or else control themselves while here.

Miss Morrill Traces Development Of Democracy in Faculty Article

By DOROTHEA MORRILL

"Democracy," says Stanley Baldwin, "is the most difficult form of government because it requires the participation of all the people in the country. . . Dictatorship is like a great beech tree — nice to look at, but nothing grows underneath it. . . Democracy . . . has been a failure in many countries but democracy was grafted in those countries on the stem of absolutism, and the graft does not do well."

The basis of Anglo-Saxon liberty is traced in part to the Magna Carta. Yet the proud barons of Runnymede no more conceived of national democracy, universal suffrage or freedom of conscience than they did of airplanes, trans-Atlantic telegraph, or the radio. Government "of the people, for the people, and by the people" would have been the rankest anarchy in a day when "the people" were bound to the soil, despised, and held less worthy than hunting-dog, or war-horse. Feudalism was the natural order of society, sanctioned by the Church, and the day had not yet come to say:

"When Adam delved and Eve span, Who was then the Gentleman?"

But towns grew up, trade flourished, the New World was discovered, a capitalistic society developed, and feudalism disappeared.

Now did democratic national government, universal suffrage, and freedom of conscience spring full armed from the new order. The Protestant Reformation did not mean that Herr Omnes could choose his own faith, but only that he might look to Protestant Prince instead of Catholic Pope as guide. The serfs, freed on the manor found new bondage in the towns. Power passed from the hands of the great feudal barons into the hands of merchant princes and capitalists. And freedom remained the ideal of philosophers.

"Liberty, equality, fraternity" became a momentary reality in France in 1789, and democracy as "dangerous" as communism is today. But slavery still existed in the United States, and in the British Empire, hours of labor were from dark to dark, and property qualifications were demanded for the franchise. Alexander Hamilton looked upon the "people" as "a great beast," upon Jefferson as a dangerous radical while the latter upheld democratic ideals but saw in great cities evidences of a disease in the body politic. Jackson's administration brought frontier ideas of equality into practice, while Lincoln's and Johnson's saw the abolition of negro slavery.

Sixteen years ago we were engaged in a war to "end war" and "make the world safe for democracy." Sometimes we wonder whether the opposite did not occur. Munition manufacturers,

Baseball Schedule Starts Next Week

The Tampa U. Spartans went through two stiff workouts and a practice game this week endeavoring to get into shape for games next week as they inaugurate their initial baseball schedule against local amateur teams.

Coach Higgins is being assisted by Doc Nance, former professional ball player and recreation worker, Charlie Allen is expected to be back giving instructions after the Spring holidays.

A valuable ball player was added to the ranks this week with the enrollment of Joe Schiro, former Hillsborough High star, who has been playing city league ball for the past few years. Joe pitches and plays first base and is an average hitter.

It was announced early this week that the varsity and an all-star intramural diamond ball outfit will be entered in city league competition.

Spartan Sport Slants

By ELDON CAGE

Those versatile collegians from Tampa U are in business again. Just drop in to see one of the Cincinnati Reds' home games at Plant Field and you will notice that the business attendants are mostly Tampa U boys.

Last Friday proved to be a day of "tre raising" for the University workers, as "Kid Day" and the heavy rain came on the same afternoon.

"King Kong" Hurn put in two hours grid practice at Monday's game as he battled the would be "gate crashers" at the northwest gate. However, Marion Ray, with a theater advertising bus brought better spirits to Kong by playing the consoling tune of "The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze."

Joe Clawson, famed slugger for the Sigma Kappa Nu diamond ball team contributed four hefty base walllops in Kappa Nu's 19-10 victory over the Plebes in the opening game of the intramural league.

A new face appeared in the Spartan baseball squad last Monday afternoon. It was Joe Shiro, former Hillsborough High athlete. While playing for Hillsborough Joe hit two consecutive home runs in the same inning to crash Ripley's "Believe It or Not."

Coach Higgins seems to have more trouble getting some of his track candidates in the proper form of starting than in the art of stopping.

Wilbur Gunnee's popularity with the Cincinnati ball players is steadily improving with each coed he escorts up to said ball players to obtain an autograph for the femme.

More track candidates are expected to report to Coach Higgins as the girls began their practice last Wednesday. (It is necessary that reporters know.)

Eighty-five yard O'Reilly came out on top in a punting duel with All-American Beattie Feathers Wednesday afternoon on Plant Field and modest O'Reilly didn't have to tell it either.

The intramural diamond ball league started off with a bang Wednesday afternoon under the direction of Miller Adams. The Sigma Kappa Nus won over the Pi Epsilons, intramural point leaders by 19 to 10, watch out you Pi Epsilons.

The Adagio class missed an apt student by not obtaining the services of Monkey Rhines, who handles a baton very cleverly, never drops it and trips lightly over the hurdles. Or are the girls as easy to handle as batons and are dramatic steps in the same class as hurdling.

This column wishes all students a happy and free Spring Vacation. (Hey, boys, it's only thirty-five miles to Haven Beach.)

CONCERNING THE SPARTANETTE

In the final game of the City Recreation Girls Basketball League the Coca-Cola girls defeated the Spartanettes 36 to 18, to retain the city championship which they have held for the past three years.

Previous to this game both teams were undefeated, the only two teams in the commercial division having a perfect percentage. The game was the final and deciding contest.

The Coca-Cola girls were runners-up in the Gold Medal State Tournament at Clearwater this year and were heavy favorites for the local title. Although the Spartanettes were outclassed they played a good game, upholding as usual their high standards of clean play and good sportsmanship.

The Spartanettes have made an unusually good record for themselves this season and since every member of the team is expected to return they are assured of an equally successful season next year.

The line-up for the championship game was as follows:

Dot Talbot, Girls' Physical Ed Instructor, Inherited Love of Sports

Dot Talbot, brawny and lithesome director of girls' athletics at the university, whose bright smile and abundant health attract instant attention, was given up for lost at the tender age of eighteen months. Her mother was advised by attending physicians that due to a serious illness all hope was gone for the survival of her daughter. But even at that age Dot showed signs of the perseverance and love of life which have ever since been displayed so prominently in her actions. She recovered but remained frail until her parents moved from Clarksburg, West Virginia to Florida when she was fifteen.

Dot first saw the light twenty-four years ago in Philippi, West Virginia, where her father owned a coal mine and was once elected mayor. She probably gets her love of the water from him (he was an excellent swimmer), and from sailing on the Tygarts Valley river which flowed near her home.

From her earliest childhood Dot was a tom-boy. She scarcely remembers having any girl playmates. This was due to her admiration of her brother who is three years younger than she and whom she followed around everywhere.

When she was fourteen the family moved first to Clarksburg and then to Lakeland, Florida. Here she attended and graduated from high school, playing on the basketball team all three years and captaining the team during her Junior term. One summer she was Campfire director. In 1929 Dot first filled the requirements of the Red Cross Life-saving Examiners Certificate. She has passed approximately sixty Red Cross life savers since and is now a member of the Tampa Life Savers Corps. Six years ago the Talbots moved to Tampa where Dot has since been actively participating in every line of sports. In the fall of 1933 she joined the faculty of the University of Tampa as Women's Athletic Director. Dot is president of the Tampa

We nominate for oblivion those people who think that because they have had two drinks they should be excused for their actions. People who say to your gal, "you sweet thing," People who answer civil questions with a, "What do you think?" People who think bumming "dopes" is an art. Student leaders who think they are diplomats because they say "Yes." Professors who keep you overtime and the same ones who bowl you out for being late to class.

—MOUNTAIN GOAT.

Women's Tennis Association and was runner-up for the championship of the T. W. T. A. annual tournament last fall. In the recent basketball tournament held at Clearwater she was selected for the second all-state team and chosen second most valuable player.

Swimming is her favorite sport because it's such an all-round exercise. Next come tennis and basketball. In track she prefers discus and javelin throwing to the running events.

Dot loves movies even as you and I, but she is very particular about the plot—she will have none of your half-baked "meller"-drama. She prefers pictures made over from good books such as "Little Women." Katharine Hepburn and Fredric March are

Jo Penner is her favorite on the radio. Books like Huckleberry Finn used to keep her interested when she had time for reading but she's been too busy lately for much of it, as along with teaching the girls in physical ed, she is working for an A. B. degree in English. (We suppose a tall young man takes up any of her spare time.)

We've been trying to think up a suitable epithet for Dot. All we can think of is that she is a great sport.

PREVIEWS

Remember Mary Farrell?

She worked at the Rialto for quite awhile with that splendid company that entertained us during those glorious years of the boom. Since then she has been making pictures in Hollywood and has now returned to us with an all-star group which will play at the Victory Theater next Wednesday in a special midnight vaudeville attraction. "Smilin'" Jack Ulmer and his full orchestra are featured in the show which boasts 20 people and eight acts.

In addition to this, the Victory is offering "Three on a Honeymoon," with Sally Eilers, and Johnny Mack Brown.

The Sparks Theaters are, through the use of the house and operators of the Victory Theater, donating the entire proceeds to the Florida Exhibit at the World's Fair which will open in Chicago this summer again.

As all you who were at the fair last year know, Florida's exhibit was among the best. The Sparks Theaters are trying to make it better.

Miss Merrill Traces the Development of Democracy

we are told, are supporting Hitler because he can stir up the most trouble. Monarchies have been replaced not by democracies but by dictatorships; Fascism, Communism, Socialism threaten the liberty of the individual. The world changes so swiftly that no one dares predict to-morrow, yet when to-morrow comes how shall we meet it? It will be useless to cling blindly to ideals, to cry hoarsely, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" Rather must we stand by unromantically, and quietly study the history of the past, learn the real meaning of the great social and political movements of the day, suspend judgment, think clearly, unemotionally, and when the time comes—act fearlessly.

I like to look into those eyes,
That sets my heart aflame;
I like to sit here at your side,
And call your lovely name.

I love to kiss your ruby lips,
To hold you in fond embrace.
I could look for a million years
Into your powdered face.

Your feet and hands, your hair and form,
Each I so admire.
Please, dear, do believe me 'cause
I'm really not a liar.

Some students take ancient history, while others view the news reel at the local movie houses. Makes no diff, they're both the same.

College students and police are just like this at Iowa these days. Last spring a student was handed a red ticket for overparking his collegiate flivver.

Brought to court, he told the judge, "I haven't the money now, but I'll pay you in the fall."

True to his word, he dropped in at the courthouse in the fall and paid his fine. And now the cops will give

Social Flashes

It seems that Gus Muench is a lip-stick collector and does he like it but we haven't interviewed the girls yet. How about it, girls?

The spring holidays will open with a large social event . . . the Delta Kappa tea dance . . . and is a good time expected by all? U. D. T. Manuel Sanchez is going to furnish the rhythm for all dances, especially the Carrioca ! ! ! Hello, Julia! And the latest styles from Paris will be shown. It will be the formal opening of spring. The girls will be in their new Easter dresses and the boys in their new suits (that is, if they're lucky).

While we still have our minds on fashions, the Penney's style show that the university girls were in, went over big and the girls saw more and more good-looking clothes . . .

Dot Pou was looking rather wild the college boys everything in Iowa City . . . except maybe their badges . . . I hope our local officers read this.

Buddy Stuart would like to have returned to him, if found, his essay entitled "Why I Believe in More and Better Suicides" . . . New catalogs are out . . . Much larger than before . . . Now for a good rest during spring vacation.

late last Thursday. Her shoes and pocketbook were gone! One can understand why someone would take her pocketbook! Wednesday morning, however, she turned up smiling . . .

Bill Marbourg is certainly getting to be a ladies' man . . . Is it the blonde hair, the smile or the clothes?

It is most apparent that a big debate is taking place all over school and the negative (boys) side is seemingly the strongest. Have you noticed how all the Sigma Kappa Nu pins are still and yet reposing on the shirts of the boys and there are no reports of any girl having one . . . Oh, how the girls love (?) these strong, silent men!
