JOURNALISM FRATERNITY INDUCTS ELEVEN

"The responsibility lies with you, our future journalists, to carry on the fight to preserve our free press and to keep our freedom."

These were the words of V. M. Newton, Jr., managing editor of the Tampa Morning Tribune, who addressed initiates, members and guests of Pi Delta Epsilon journalism fraternity at a dinner meeting commemorating the national anniversary of the fraternity Dec. 5.

Mr. Newton urged the young people to regard their responsibility as a patriotic duty. Asserting that existing conditions place the constitutional freedom of the press in peril, he stressed the need of unremitting war against those who would destroy this freedom.

He related some exciting incidents of his own newspaper career and said that whatever else a young journalist's life may prove to be, it will certainly not be dull.

The following officers were installed at the meeting: Doris Duryea, president; Mike Capitano, vice president; Jocelyn Cooper, second vice president; Pat Dalsheimer, third vice president; and Bruce Atkins, secretary. Under the rules of the local group the offices of second vice president and third vice president may be held by members not currently enrolled in school.

Jocelyn Cooper, who was graduated from the University in August, 1953, was presented with the Medal of Merit awarded annually by the Grand Council of Pi Delta Epsilon for "significant contributions to collegiate journalism."

Educators Study Expansion Problems

by Robert W. Martoski

Dr. Elwood C. Nance, president of the University, and Dean M. C. Rhodes, dean of administration, attended the Florida Council for the Study of Higher Education last Friday at Gainesville. Present were representatives from 24 of Florida's public and private senior institutions both white and Negro and junior colleges and parochial schools.

The Council authorized by the 1953 state legislature and set up by the Board of Control, is to propose action in preparing for the state college increased student enrollment. It is estimated that in 1970 there will be some 100,000 students, more than 3 times as many now attending colleges and universities in the state.

The Council will report to the Board of Control in January, 1955. The report will deal with first the number of types of institutions which will be needed to coordinate and develop the program. It also shall include the functional relationship which will exist between the various institutions in an expanded program. Recommendations will also be made on the type of program to be developed in these institutions.

Dean Rhodes said the conference was "trying for a cooperative arrangement between public and private schools to meet the expanded enrollment." He further stated that the State of Florida would need 5 senior colleges to take care of the enlarged enrollment. These senior colleges would handle between 15,000 to 18,000 students. Along with these 5 senior colleges there would be need for some 16 community colleges. These community colleges would be preparatory institutions for the senior colleges. Upon completion of these community colleges, students would then take their graduate and master degrees at the senior universities.

Dr. J. A. Brunbaugh, Director of the Study Council stated studies in progress on various phases of the enrollment problem will include, the economic life of the state; population trends, especially on projection of growth concentration and characteristics; cost of education both to the institution and the individual; sources of state leadership; cost and organization of publicly supported schools, and where high school students go to college, including graduate study and criteria for establishment of junior colleges.

A foremost issue discussed at the conference dealt with the extent which private institutions can expand and under what conditions they will be willing to help take care of student load.

Dr. John Ivey of Atlanta, chairman of the Council, stated that if private institutions are unwilling or unable to expand, the state will face the problem of providing educational facilities for the 100,000 in 1970. He further states that "We are simply discussing alternatives." By the time the Council prepares its report, "We may completely turn our backs on the present alternatives."

Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, Board of Control secretary outlined ways

Merry Christmas

Christmas is one of the most festive holidays of the entire year. Gifts are exchanged and the poor are aided in the commemoration of the greatest gift of all—God's gift of his son, the baby Jesus, born in a lowly manger in Bethlehem of Judea.

Christmastide is a time of happiness and giving, and receiving of gifts and good wishes. Let it also be a time of giving thanks to God for his great gift.

We of the Minaret staff want to wish all of you a Merry and Blessed Christmas, and to you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Queen Connie 1

Connie Felicione—Miss Moroccan for the 1955 yearbook! This honor is bestowed annually upon the beauty elected by the Student Body. This year Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity picked the winner to represent them.

Connie was graduated from Plant High School here in Tampa and has completed two semesters here on campus. Other honors that she has received are: Spartan cheerleader for two years, member of Student Senate, and Secretary of her Sophomore Class.

Moroccan Maids and their sponsors are: First Maid—Ida Felicione, Sigma Kappa Nu social fraternity; Second Maid—Peggie Garcia, Rho Nu Delta social fraternity; Third Maid—Vilma Fernandez, Tau Omega social fraternity; and Fourth Maid—Barbara Harding, Methodist Student Organization.

ARTS - CRAFTS CLASS DECORATES CHRISTMAS TREE

That Christmas tree in the lobby is actually two trees. Prof. James Bignell who directed the decorating said that he couldn't find a tree big enough in the whole of Tampa. He took two trees and with the aid of a piece of pipe he spliced them into that eighteen foot beauty in the center of the lobby.

All of the decorations were made by students in the Arts and Crafts department. There are colored tophicks stuck in cork; then there are the Brazilian peppers, dipped in aluminum paint, which had been floated on water. Prof. Bignell said there are over two hundred aluminum coated plaster models among the decorations.

Prof. Bignell said he had to talk awfully hard to get his son to contribute the acorns you can see silvered and strung on the tree. They

Chorus Appears In Candlelight

The University Chorus was organized in September, as were most of our other classes. On Nov. 18 it sang Thanksgiving songs at the Alumni Luncheon which was held at the Hillsboro Hotel, on the 22nd it sang for the Ybor City Rotary Club at the Columbia Restaurant, and on the 30th it appeared before Woman's Club of Tampa, where three members were featured. These were Martha Thraikill, soprano soloist; Silvio Alvarez, tenor soloist; and Wayne Merritt, baritone soloist.

The chorus, directed by Prof. Lyman Wiltse, will participate in the Candlelight Service which will be held in the Ballroom today and will then go to Pinecrest, Fla., to sing for the Pinecrest High School graduation the same night.

Members are: Professor Wiltse, director; JoAnn Cochran Dunn, accompanist.

As We See It--

'IF HE HADN'T COME'

(The following editorial, written by Mrs. Bertha O'Hare, is reprinted from the Christmas, 1950, issue of the Minaret.)

The jeweled tree glittered beside the papier-mache fireplace where bulging stockings hung. The toys and packages, scattered with profligate abundance, lay as if in wait for the touch of some eager child. Tiny mannequins, clutching new toys, searched the chimney for Santa Claus.

The boy and the girl stood in the dark and the cold. Their thin bodies, more thinly clad, trembled under the force of the wind. They flattened their noses against the store window; their smoke-cold breath dimmed the bright scene they yearned over. Turning their eyes for a space from the vision before her, the girl whispered, "Wouldn't it be awful if he hadn't come?"

And we, too, pause and remember. Mankind, through the pride and disobedience of Adam, was estranged from God. And the world was spiritually destitute. The human race would have remained, desolate and hopeless of eternity but for the Baby wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger that midnight 1954 years ago.

Wouldn't it be awful if He hadn't come?

AN APOLOGY AND AN EXPLANATION

We must apologize to the Student Senate for our editorial of last issue. We were misinformed in most respects. We did not intend to imply that the Senate dragged people into the hearing to shout against the proposal. But we do know that other students did this. We won't name names without permission of our informants. That is a privilege of the free press and has been upheld in the courts.

A letter in "Letters to the Editor" explains the position of the Senate. After talking to a large number of people about it, we know that we have done them an injustice. We hope they will accept our humble apologies.

Now for an explanation—an explanation of our aims and position: It is our goal to publish the news that our readers want, as interestingly as possible, and with complete honesty. This column represents our opinions, with which we try to reflect the opinions of the student body.

Sometimes we make mistakes. When this occurs, we are more than glad to rectify the error, but it must be proven to us that we are in error.

No one need thank us for publishing their news in any particular place or style. That is based on our judgment of the news value of the story. If you have front page news we want it on the front page.

We'd appreciate your comments and criticisms of the paper and your thoughts for improving our University.

BUSINESS OFFICE DECORATES

As usual Mrs. Pate and her business office lovelies are leading the way. Have you seen those lovely decorations covering their doors, and wishing to all 'A Merry Christmas' and a 'Happy New Year'. And they say the job isn't half done. If you haven't seen it yet go by for a look. They almost make bill collecting look like fun.

Merry Christmas 'you all'.

ABOUT FOOTBALL

Now that the regular football season has drawn to a close, we feel that we might evaluate the results.

The team did a magnificent job of playing the game. They certainly played 'heads up' ball right down to the last whistle of the FSU game. They lost to greater numbers, but they can be proud of the spirit they showed.

Coach Huerta and the coaching staff must have done a good job of training and organizing. Otherwise the team would not have looked so good. Paul Straub had a hand in it too. He had the job of seeing that money was there to pay the bills.

And then student spirit was on the upswing all season with the Pep Squad and Spar-Spar whooping it up to lead the way. It has been a good season.

Perhaps next season will be even better.

HAVE YOU TRIED THE CAFETERIA LATELY

We must compliment Bill Fisher on the improvement of the cafeteria. Those of you who ate there last year, and have patronized it this year can see the difference. The food is better, and we want to offer a word of appreciation to the young ladies who serve it.

And those meal tickets are real money savers too. We have been using them ever since they were first introduced. There are three kinds: a five dollar cash ticket for four dollars and a half, a weekly ticket of twenty-one meals for twelve dollars, or a five day—fourteen meal ticket for only eight dollars.

There are two good reasons for students patronizing their cafeteria at least a part of the time. First, a larger volume of business will aid Bill Fisher in making even better buys available, and secondly, where else can you eat so well for so little. We'd like to suggest that you try it for a week sometime. He sure made a regular customer out of us.

Senator Blasts Minaret Editor

SEGUNDO SAYS—

"The Senate Loses Its Dignity" is the title of an article in which the Minaret attacked the Student Senate as having reversed a motion, passed at an earlier meeting, which stated that we would not approve any change in the seating arrangement for the FSU vs. University of Tampa football game.

I should like to clarify certain points in this connection.

Having been advised that the Athletic Department is between $7,000 and $10,000 in the hole, and that a suggested change in seating would bring them in $900 (the amount named at the time), the Student Senate voted against the said change of seating, on the basis that the Senate did not believe that this sum was sufficient reason for the student body to give up their seats during the best game of the season. Several days after the Senate meeting at which the seat change was vetoed, Dr. Nance, at an Assembly meeting, brought up the question: Would the members of the student body change their present seats to another section of the stands during the FSU game for the financial benefit of the University's athletic program? Thereupon Jim Berfield, president of the student body, immediately announced that the Student Senate had already voted upon and defeated a motion concerning this change of seats. However, in order that all students might have a chance to express themselves on the question, Jim Berfield announced that the next Student Senate meeting would be an open session, at which the Senate's decision on this matter would be submitted to the rest of the student body for discussion, criticism, approval or disapproval. In other words, this was to be a referendum of the question by the duly elected representatives of the student body to their entire electorate, in view of President Nance's appeal—quite a different matter from a reversal of a decision.

For your own knowledge, I should like to explain that an open meeting in which the student body is told that whatever they decide will be carried out, is a chance for each or any member of the student body to express his views individually about an idea and then to vote democratically for his point of view. It is entirely possible to call such an open meeting for discussion of a Senate decision, on occasion, while still, in the words of your article, "Being aware that we (the Senate) are supposed to represent all the students, not just those who happen to be able to be present."

This open session was carried on with order, but also with the elasticity required in a group discussion of this type. You must remember that each person must have his say and that oftentimes you will have an emotional reaction.

The Minaret article also stated that "students were grabbed from the hall and told to shout No! without knowing what it was all about." This is a very strong accusation, which should be proved with facts and names, not with simply "we have been told."

This has gone far enough, and, as your article stated, "Cooperation is a two-way street . . ." As human beings, we all make errors; but I'm sure that, though they may differ in viewpoints, the Athletic Department, the Minaret staff, and the Student Senate are all working toward the same goal, the benefit

GOVERNMENT NEEDS YOU

by Bernard Shufelt

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." This sentiment expressed by one of our early political philosophers is as true today as it was then.

If we fall to one of the many isms that are being preached these days, it is more likely that it will happen through the lack of interest of Americans than through the overt act of an outside force. We must not only be politically alert; we must be active participants in the game of government. Politics is as honest or as dirty as we the citizens allow it to become. We are responsible for government.

A relatively young organization to help college graduates get started in party politics used the facilities of our campus for an organizational meeting several weeks ago. Their aim is to help us to participate as partisans in the political party of our choice. The organization is itself non-partisan.

The organization, known as the Florida Citizenship Clearing House of the Heart of Education on the West Coast, "Our Alma Mater, Our Tampa U."

Sincerely,
Ernest C. Segundo

President of the Junior Class

merits the support of every college student. It has been financed by grants from philanthropic foundations but will need money from other sources if it is to do the job set out for it. Businessmen and community leaders could do well to investigate its potential and channel a portion of their charitable contributions to this organization.

We recommend Florida Citizenship Clearing House meetings to all students. They are interesting. They are informative. And especially are they vital to the preservation of our freedoms under the Constitution.

Read about government. Participate in government through active political participation. If politics are dirty, you let them get that way, and you can clean them up.

JAN. GRADS Attention!

Seniors wishing to order commencement invitations and personal cards please contact Mike Capitano or Clint Meadows.

Invitations are 40c each and the cards are $4.00 per hundred.

Student Senate

by Robert W. Martoski

It is said by many that this year's Student Senate is the most active in years. During the past two weeks has been no exception.

A discussion was held about the Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity as to their seating arrangements and behavior at football games. A motion by George Grant, seconded by Bob Swirbul, was passed, stating that a committee of three independent members within the Senate should be appointed by the president, to discover ways to discipline students who misbehave in the future. The three appointed were Robert Swirbul, Shirley Keen and Shirley Tucker. We shall await their decisions.

A motion by Ray Yvars, again seconded by Bob Swirbul, was passed that the Inter-Fraternity and Sorority Council be directed by the senate to consider the incident of the fraternity under discussion and advise the student senate as to the action taken.

The Minaret editorial of the passed issue was critized by the senate. A letter was presented to the newspaper stating the senate's position. The text of the letter is on the editorial page.

Bernard Shufelt, editor of the Minaret, recommended that an advisory board be set up by the student senate. The board would discuss publication problems of the Minaret.

A motion by George Grant, seconded by Bob Swirbul, that the senate appoint a publication committee was passed. Ray Yvars, then moved to table this until the next meeting.

The senate again working for the betterment of the school passed a motion of Yvars that the senate recommend to the faculty, that the pigeon hole boxes, suggested by Prof. Varney, be approved by the administration and the faculty. These pigeon type holes would be set up for all students to receive notes and other communications from each other as well as from the faculty.

The student senate wishes to remind the students that the Shrine Bowl game tickets are on sale by them in the lobby today and tomorrow. Price is just $1.00. Help a fine cause.

On Thursday night, December 16, 1954, at 8:00 p.m. the Jai Alai Fronton will be the scene of a general get together of alumni and friends of the University of Tampa for the purpose of witnessing one of the most exciting forms of entertainment of the current time.

Now why go on this particular night? Because all proceeds above expenses will go to the University of Tampa Scholarship fund for the purpose of giving scholarships for a university education to worthy young people who have the capacity for absorbing a college education, but do not have the funds to procure it.

Senate Hears National Figure

T. Coleman Andrews, U.S. Commissioner of Revenue, was a guest of the Student Senate last week. He told them he was trying to make the Bureau of Internal Revenue an elite service. "Procedures will remain in effect" he told the Senate, "only until better ones can be found."

He said that University of Tampa graduates had done well with the Bureau. They are looking for student material. He pointed out that after a year of service, employees of the Bureau can be sent to the University of Michigan for one or two semesters at government expense, to prepare for higher responsibility. The course may provide an M.A. degree later.

Members of the Senate questioned Commissioner Andrews about the new income tax law. He told them that any student could be counted as a dependent by his parents regardless of the amount he was earning.

FACULTY WOMEN

Mrs. J. F. Shinholser entertained the Faculty Women's Club with a Christmas story at their December meeting. Mrs. Shinholser is president of the Tampa chapter of Aladin Story Telling League.

The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations. Mrs. Lawrence Geer made a centerpiece using lighted poinsettias in a glass basket.

The party was held at the home of Mrs. Howard G. Baker. Mrs. Alvin McFadyen, Mrs. Charles Logue, and Mrs. James Bignel assisted in the entertaining.

WHAT'S THIS DROODLE?

For solution see paragraph below.

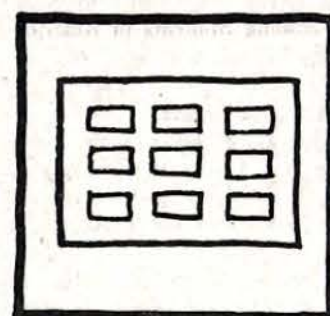

ACCORDING TO THE LARGEST and latest coast-to-coast college survey, college smokers prefer Luckies—and by a wide margin. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. Thousands of students appreciate Luckies' better taste almost as much as the pair in the Droodle above, titled: Sweethearts attempting to kiss and enjoy better-tasting Luckies at same time. Luckies taste better for good reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, "It's Toasted" to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better—cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Delta Zeta sorority placed two while Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Chi Omega failed to place any.

The team is as follows:

Independents:

Joan Strauman
Bobbie Robles
Iris Delegado
Shirley Keene
Jenny Hancock
B. G. Darrow

Delta Zeta:

Independents Roll Over Delta Zeta

The Independents, defending champions, opened the intramural basketball season in championship style by waltzing past Delta Zeta sorority to the tune of 35-19. The winning sextet was never in trouble as they took a commanding lead at the start and never let up. Pacing the winners was Penny Hancock who bucketed 12 points. Vilma Fernandez and Diane Kushmore were top scorers for Delta Zeta as they each scored eight points.

SPARTANS PREPARE FOR CIGAR BOWL GRID BATTLE

SPARTANS END SEASON

by TONY SALADINO

The University of Tampa has closed the lid on the 1954 regular season football schedule. The Spartan gridders compiled an enviable 7-2 season record throughout the entire '54 grid slate.

Tampa's final game on the schedule was a 13 to 0 setback at the hands of the strong Florida State Seminoles two weeks ago.

Fumbles proved costly to Coach Marcelino Huerta's crew, but the running of Seminole halfback Lee Corso was the decisive feature. Corso, shifty speed merchant, eluded numerous Spartan would-be tacklers for several lengthy jaunts during the game.

For the Spartans, Capt. tackle Bob Lovely, end Jim Mayo, and center Joe Onderko appeared as standouts. Halfbacks Fred Chicado and Tom Spack, and fullback Al Leathers showed good form in the Spartan backfield.

As a result of their fine play during the current football year, the Spartans were selected to play in the Cigar Bowl game tonight at Phillips Field. Opposition in tonight's annual classic will be offered by the Morris Harvey Golden Eagles of Charleston, W. Va. Tonight's post season game marks the third "bowl" appearance for Tampa and the fourth for Morris Harvey.

The Tampans are undefeated in "bowl" competition having shut out Brandies 7 to 0 in the Flamingo Bowl at Miami Beach in 1951 and having edged Lenoir Rhyne 20-12 in the Cigar Bowl in 1952.

The grand convention in 1941 took the stand that radio should be considered the newspaper of the air, the same effort being exercised by the staff in the preparation of the script as by the newspaper staff in the preparation of copy, and the proper functions of the campus radio station, as of the printed publications, being dependent upon a well-organized staff.

It is the purpose of the fraternity to elevate the cause of journalism, foster the mutual welfare of student publications, develop fraternal spirit among its members, encourage loyalty to Alma Mater, and reward those working on student publications for their efforts, services and accomplishments by admission to its membership.

Membership in Pi Delta Epsilon is open to men and women who have served for at least one year on one or more of the accredited publications in either the editorial or business department, and who have been enrolled in college for at least two years.

The University of Tampa chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon began as a local journalism fraternity, Alpha Phi Epsilon, in 1950. The original officers were Pat Musto, president; Leonard Gotler, vice president; Val Ripley, secretary-treasurer; and Ernest Lottman, historian. Other members were Winnie Lamb, Bruce Atkins, Marjorie Oglesby, Don McMahon, Bob Hancock, Sue Turkel, Deloris Patrick, Flo Fleischman and Irving Edelson.

Alpha Phi Epsilon petitioned Pi Delta Epsilon for chapter status in the spring of 1953, was approved, and was formally installed by Edward E. McDonald, grand executive secretary-treasurer of Pi Delta Epsilon, on Oct. 27, 1953.

DORMITORY GIRLS HAVE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas party for the Women's Dormitory Club was held Tuesday evening, December 14, at ten o'clock. The girls look forward to this time each year when they don their pajamas and wait for jolly old St. Nick to appear and to give out the presents from under the big Christmas tree. The electrical fixtures were bought by the Arts and Crafts Department. Prof. Bignell hopes to make the decorating of the tree an annual affair for his group, and will save this year's decorations to add to next year's. He wants a larger tree next year.
