WELCOME BACK, DR. MOONEY!

It is with gladness in our hearts that we welcome our president, Dr. James E. Mooney back to the University.

Dr. Mooney has been very ill for several weeks and is now able to be in his office for a while each day.

We welcome you back, Dr. Mooney and hope that you will soon be able to join us at our student functions.

WELL, SOPHOMORES

Well, Sophomores, it's up to us to keep up the good old school spirit, and from the looks of things, we aren't doing such a good job of it. It seems that the freshmen do not know the yells; the juniors are too dignified to give them; the seniors are too busy; so the Sophomores are held responsible.

Using as a basis the fact that the freshmen do not as yet know the yells—much to our disappointment—it looks like it is up to us sophomores to be the backbone of the school spirit here at the University.

So, wherever you are, Sophomores, in rat court, football games or pep parades, why not show that old Tampa University school spirit. It just can't be beat.

ARE YOU A SLACKER?

What has happened to the spirit with which our students jumped into defense causes last year?

For several weeks the Defense Council has been trying to organize a First Aid Unit with classes for those who have not as yet taken first aid.

How many students have signed up for this unit or course? Not enough to start it!

A few students have heavy schedules and cannot possibly take on an extra course. These few students are probably carrying the burden around here—but how about the rest of you? Do you think you can help win the war by sitting in the lobby every free hour?

This is a war in which every one of us must help—why not realize it now and quit being a slacker. Sign up for First Aid and help your school, yourself and your country!

LET'S GET DOWN TO WORK!

The first six weeks are over and most of you know your grades. Lots of you are disappointed and all probably wondering why you didn't make better.

There's only one way to make good grades. That is by studying!

Rushing and pledging are over. The matter of getting settled is a thing of the past.

Now is the time to buckle down to honest work. It is a privilege to go to college, more than ever before.

Let's show our appreciation by getting down to work today!

THANKS FOR THE PAINT JOB

We've started off to a good year, and one proof of this is the new pick-up on the building. Yes, our dignified halls have a new fall dress! The dress is a coat of light blue paint and gives us the light we have been longing for so long.

We want to thank those responsible for this fine work. We know that they felt that it was for our betterment that this work is being done. Now it is up to us to show our appreciation by taking good care of these clean walls. Pencil marks will rob them of their beauty and take away our enjoyment in them. Let's see just how long we can protect these walls of our Alma Mater from dirt, stain and marks.

Were They Fooled!

OUR BOYS
IN UNIFORM

Johnny Kaufman hails from Youngstown, Ohio, and proud should she be of him, as his old Alma Mater is for, Johnny is now in the Navy Air Corps, stationed at Norfolk, Virginia. He was one of the few selected to remain there after the others had been transferred. He is now on special duty as lifeguard for the Navy.

Looking back on "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," we see Johnny's name. A Beta Chi, he was very active in athletics. He played basketball, was on the track team, and was especially active in football. Besides all this, Johnny made good grades and was sports editor for the Moroccan, as well. So you see, he was pretty well occupied. The picture of Johnny in his uniform might very well serve as advertisement for other boys to get into the Navy Air Corps. It also explains another reason why Norfolk should want him to remain there!

But Tampa University is proud to be able to turn over to the Navy for leadership one who has been our leader in the past.

FINED FOR SCRAP TRADE

CANTON, Ohio—(U.P.)—The Canton scrap salvage bin is no trading center. Andrew J. Vrsan, 26, found this out when he brought 1000 pounds of scrap metal to drop in the bin in exchange for a scrapped machine gun that had caught his eye. He told the court that he wanted the machine gun to add to his firearms collection. The court gave him a $100 fine and 30 days in county jail.

What Price
Physics?

It was a cold and dreary dawn that found me pacing through the deserted halls of Tampa U. I was on the prowl for, among other things, a story of great human interest that would pull at the heart strings of my one and only reader.

As I approached the Physics Lab., I was startled by a thudding noise that reoccurred with alarming frequency. Rushing into the Lab., I was horrified to find a rather desperate looking individual, beating his head upon a nearby wall and crying out in despair, "No! No! I can't go on."

Stumbling over different objects in the uncertain light, I managed to reach him before he succeeded in doing serious damage to a vital part of the building.

"What is your problem friend," I said, brandishing a force table.

"Go away," he cried, "Leave me in my misery and woe."

For a minute I thought he was going to shut up like a clam and I would never hear his tale of heart-break. To my surprise he began to talk.

"I am a student of the study of Physics. At one time I was just a gay blade, just a gay college lad. I'm not dumb. I got out of high school in only five and one-half years. When I came to Tampa U. I was full of hope and life, but now I'm just a broken wreck of a man."

"At first it wasn't so bad. When I went home each night to battle with some brain numbing problem, I would say to myself, 'Buck up Algernon. Buck up old boy. They can't get a Bildgewater down.' (That is my name, Algernon P. Bildgewater). But now I have given up hope."

"Physics is a subject that I don't understand. So please leave me in my sorrows and disgrace. Bildgewater has spoken."

With this, he put his head upon the table and fell soundly asleep. I tiptoed out of the room and walked with unsteady step down the hall. I now go on with chin up and tear dimmed eye. You see, I too take Physics. I know that at this writing I am perfectly sane. I go to Tampa U. I am 18 years old. I was born in Brooklyn. All this I know, but what I don't know is, Physics. Therefore, if some dark and dreary morn you should see a desperate looking individual beating his head against a concrete wall, just leave me alone. I'm merely working out a Physics problem and don't want to be disturbed.

Shaw Heads
Pan Hellenic

Dan Shaw, president of Sigma Kappa Nu fraternity, has been elected president of the Pan Hellenic council. The election took place last week. Also elected to office at this time were, Marian Nell, vice president, Nita Medina, secretary, and Elsie Gill, treasurer.

STATIC

Graduates of Tampa U. are being scattered all over the U. S., now that so many of them are working for Uncle Sam. Dot Giles reports that Bill Reid is stationed in New York now with the navy. And Bob Hach is leading a millionaire's life in one of the swankiest hotels on Miami Beach while he gets his basic training.

From Jacksonville comes word that Joe Mills, Jimmy Whitehead, John Brandenburger, and Jack Williams (the Gold Star Mother of the Band) are going to fly down for Homecoming.

There's a cheering section that turns out for all the Boys' Intramurals composed of pledges who should be cheering their own sorority on to victory. And from the way they yell, Sherman Reed seems to be a one-man team. Incidentally, for anyone wishing to apply for a place in Sherman's affections, the line forms behind Martha Goddard—way behind.

Students have been wondering if Bob Gibbs ever goes to class or if he gets all of his schooling in the bookstore. His dancing lessons are coming along quite well.

Peggy Pepper objected very loudly when Doyle Heath tried to sit in on her dancing class, but at most other times he seems to be quite welcome and willing to be around.

Betty Jo Adair, Betty Jo Corley, Janis Harmon and Ellen Mooney went to homecoming at Gainesville last week. Ellen was chosen a sponsor of the only dance on the campus, given by the Cavaliers.

Barnes Named
New Business
Co-Ordinator

Taking over the university's new, expanded business department is Ewell Barnes, competent business administration professor and former high school principal from Rome, Ga.

Barnes holds a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration, and was principal of the Franklin, Ga., high school for three years. He came to the university in September and has played a large part in the reorganization program.

Addition of government forms and reports have placed an added strain on the business department, so it has been expanded and Barnes is now business co-ordinator and chief accountant.

TAU OMEGA AND RHO NUS SCORE UPSET IN I. M.

Chis Still Lead Circuit With Two Wins

Two upsets were registered in the Tampa U. intramural touch football tournament yesterday when a scrappy Rho Nu Delta eight held the unscathed upon Beta Chis, 0-0, and Tau Omega upset a fast Sigma Eps team, setting them back with a 6-0 score.

Beta Chi remains in first place with two wins and one tie. They must meet Tau Omega and Sigma Eps to complete the grid tournament. Sigma Epsilon is second with one win and a loss, and Rho Nu Delta in third, with a win, loss, and tie.

Paced by fleetfooted Frankie Villarosa, Rho Nu threatened repeatedly in every quarter but lacked the punch to score. The Chis intercepted eight passes which put them in scornig territory more than once; but they failed to ring up a touchdown.

Tau Omega tallied its lone score in the second quarter when Edwin Baranowski passed to Lee Beinhorn.

Early in the first quarter Rho Nu Delta was caught deep in its own territory but soon passed itself out of the danger zone. Villarosa sparked his team with long barefooted punts and brilliant runs. The Nus repeatedly threatened but their drives were halted by Beta Chi interceptions.

The Chis main drive came in the final period when Reinert tossed a long pass to Bunny Mick. Reinert again passed to Williams, setting the ball on the 8-yard line. Two more goalward attempts failed and the Rho Nus ran the ball out of danger.

Tau Omega started its aerial attack in the second period. Trubino intercepted a pass on his 35-yard line. Baranowski called for a fast punt and caught the safety offguard. George Jack recovered a fumble on the Eps' 35-yard line. Baranowski pitched a long pass to Beinhorn setting the ball on the 15. Baranowski passed again to Beinhorn in the flat for the lone score.

SURE STARTERS—When the Tampa U. Spartans meet the Tennessee State eleven tomorrow, Bud Fuller, Wallace Gillett and Val Dziewguc will see plenty of action. Gillett and Dziewguc went the limit in the Jacksonville game last week, but Fuller was injured in the first quarter.

Grid Fan Speaks

I'm just crazy about football games, even if I don't understand them. Take for example, the Alabama Teachers-Tampa U game. I was right there on the 50 yard line. Every now and then I'd hear the man in the press box—First down—when I know good and well I'd seen more men than one man go down. Another thing I couldn't understand was why one team would kick the ball and a man on the other team would catch it and be fool enough to run to the other end with all those boys coming toward him. It seemed to me that the boy would have run across the goal line he was nearest to. And why all those numbers on their backs? Like convicts! Oh well, maybe the suits came that way. Boy—I'll have something to tell Malsie. My first football game (and the last one, says my boy friend).

SPOLTORE SPUTTER

More enthusiasm is shown this year in intramurals, than any year heretofore. The fine teams participating in intramural touch football are waging a very heated race for first honors. The teams are all coached by a football player, and each team is potentially a first-place team. Beta Chi's are leading the race at present, with Sigma Ephi right on their heels, and Rho Nu's a dark horse. The race will be settled next week when B S and Sigma Ephi meet for the championship. The student body has also been following the games with interest, with the hapless S K N's having the biggest following.

The season is now in the stretch stage. Having met and been defeated by three teams much out of our class, the squad will now settle down to play teams in our own class. Starting with Tennessee State this week, the squad should have a successful season from here on out. Coach Vines has finally worked out a combination, and will continue to use it till the end. The combination (if you have been reading the paper, you'll know it, and all freshman and otherwise should) have played the last two games, and will hit their winning stride again this week. The followers of the squad should not be disappointed over their losses and should continue to follow them. So, student body, please continue to give the boys your moral support; they need it and they appreciate it.

Personalities: Each week this column will write a paragraph on 2 or 3 boys, giving you a little something about their history.

Paul Straub—Morgantown, W. Va., from St. Francis high school, graduating in 1940, Straub entered Stetson university and played freshman football there. When that worthy institution discontinued intercollegiate sports, Straub transferred to Tampa. He has made quite a name for himself here at the university, being the highest scorer in the state last year, and mentioned on all-state team. Straub, nicknamed "Bullet" played center for 3 years in high school and made the change from line to backfield at Stetson, and will go down as one of the greatest backs in the University of Tampa's history. Also plays basketball and baseball.

Fleming Thornton, Jr.—Frostproof, Fla., graduating in 1940. Junior entered Tampa U., played one year freshman football, and is now playing his second year as first string tackle for our varsity. Junior has been elected captain this year and is the main defensive cog in our lineup. Junior embodies all the great qualities that go to make up a good leader. He participates in intramurals after the football season.

Intramural Touch Football Rules

TAMPA GRIDDERS FACE TENNESSEE STATE TEACHERS

Spartans Challenge Winning Streak

| PROBABLE LINEUP | | |

An undefeated middle Tennessee State Teachers' team comes tomorrow afternoon at Phillips field to challenge Coach Vines' Spartans. The powerful team, undefeated in four games, is slated to give the Tampa gridders a real fight for their money.

The Spartans, who played one of their best games against Jacksonville Naval Station last week, hope to break the Tennessee Teachers' winning streak, and they stand a good chance of doing so.

Wallace Gillett, who played center for two years at Plant High, is going to start at center because of his good showing in this position last week when we played the sailors.

Fuller or Yarbrough will hold down the right guards position, while Glen Reed will be in there tackling for the right side of the line next to Kaptur at right end.

In the backfield, McFee or Hancock will be at quarterback; Matherly or Alexander at left half; Stranger is back in the line-up at right half, and reliable Paul Straub is starting back there at fullback.

A lot of things have been said about the Jacksonville game, but here are a few more. As you probably know, the Spartans lost by the score of 26-0. The score doesn't tell the whole story so here I go.

In the first place, the All-Americans were surprised to find that the Tampa team had seventeen freshmen on the roster. Some freshmen turned in a couple of the best performances in the game. Ted Alexander played very good ball in the backfield.

As has been the case in every game, Junior Thornton and Bill Lassen starred throughout the struggle, again proving their worth as co-captains.

Among the stars that the Spartans were up against were George McAfee of Duke and the Chicago Bears; Jim Brutz, 220 guard from Notre Dame; George Faust, All-American fullback from Minnesota; Vic Fusia, halfback from Manhattan who threw three touchdown passes; and Marty O'Hagen who blocked a kick and recovered in the end zone and also caught two of Fusia's passes. The gridders were also up against two former Tampa U. men: Joe Mills at guard and Oland Cooksey, a halfback.

This year as usual the D K's are having their bi-monthly luncheons. Today will be the first one of the year and is to be held at the Jacaranda Tea Room. Members and pledges will attend where plans for homecoming will be discussed.

The Skins are giving a novel dance tonight where the admission will be scrap and defense stamps. Tin can tops with the S K N insignia will be tied around the neck as tickets of admission. 'Tis said the more informal the dress the better. Decorations are to be all kinds of scrap.

Beta Chi pledges elected Bud Williams as president and at the meeting they started plans for their party for the members.

The Sigma Theta Phi's have had to change the date of their Harvest Ball but we are still looking forward to it. The date is now November 7 and will be held in the ballroom. Decorations will be in barn dance style. Don Francisco's orchestra will supply music. Since this is their first dance the pledges will be honor guests. Remember the good time we had last year and come prepared.

FASHION

Fashion magazines are saying "Sweaters, skirts, and saddle shoes are to be college 'uniform' again this season. While this is true enough, there seems to be a general trend toward more trimness and neatness which will replace the "sloppy Joe" and "drape shape" style of past years. The main reason for this may be that so many magazines have printed reports of male opinion on the sloppiness of the female. In other words girls, we've been "scared" into "slicing up."

Seen in the classroom: Margie Moran has some of the loveliest clothes for school. Monday she wore a light aqua wool sport dress. It has a long torso with a pleated skirt. The buttons are gold and round disks of the material form the pockets, giving the dress that "different" look. With this dress Margie uses black accessories.

Frances Piazza has a sweet blue wool two-piece suit trimmed in du-bonnet embroidery. The blouse has a square yoke and the skirt has eight gores for fullness. Frances wears navy suede accessories. Vivian Van Wormer, that lovely little "Yankee gal," has a knack for making a classic shirt and skirt look different. She has a belted grey skirt and a yellow tailored shirt. All of you who saw her Monday know that yellow is Vivian's color.

It seems that it doesn't matter what Tampa U. girls wear, it is the individual air which each one gives her clothes that counts.

Let me tell you about some of the gorgeous formals that the D. K.'s wore at their pledge dance last Friday. Elsie Gill was a boost for the colors in her long waisted, white marquisette gown with its red, white, and blue, horizontally striped skirt. Red certainly is one of Jeanne Hill's best colors. Her pique dress had a white skirt with huge red flowers.

HOLD SCHOOL ON SATURDAYS

MT. GILEAD, Ohio.—(U.P.)—Three boards of education in Morrow county have decided to hold school on 10 alternate Saturdays in November, December, January, February and March to permit schools being dismissed two weeks earlier in the spring of 1943. The boards taking the action were Jochimsville, Chesterville and Sparta.

Seeing was easy then...

Your eyes were made for simple seeing tasks like this—with lots of light, out of doors. Today when you work or play indoors, you give them much harder tasks with only a fraction of the light that you enjoy outdoors.

Don't put an extra burden on your eyes and risk straining them. Enjoy light conditioning throughout your home. It's easy, simple, and you'll be surprised how little it costs. Ask us about it.
