University of Tampa August, 1972

Vol. 42 No. 4

The "Muezzin" is published six times a year by the University of Tampa, 401 West Kennedy Boulevard, Tampa, Florida 33606, with one issue in November, one in January, one in February, one in May one in July and one in August. Second class postage paid at Tampa, Florida.

Notice of address change should be directed to the University of Tampa Alumni Office, Room 344, Plant Hall. When requesting an address change, please enclose the old address label or print your old address exactly as it appeared on the label.

Our name "The Muezzin" originated in the religion of Islam founded by the prophet Mohammed in the early centuries after Christ and practiced primarily in middle eastern countries. The muezzin is the official who proclaims the azan (call to public worship) to which the Muslims respond with set phrases. The summoning is performed by the voice of the muezzin as he stands at the door or at the side of a small mosque (temple) or in the minaret of a large one. Today the muezzin still sounds the call to worship, but in some modernized mosques his voice is placed upon electronic recordings which are amplified to echo the azan throughout the countryside. The University of Tampa "Muezzin" publication performs a similar function in that it broadcasts the call for higher education among its readers. The name was inspired by Plant Hall's 13 Moorish style minarets, gleaming above trees and buildings as a landmark of learning in the heart of the city of Tampa.

About the Cover

Because a tree symbolizes growth and branching out, we thought it a fitting subject for the cover of our financial report issue. The tree selected was produced in the late 1700's by Thomas Bewick, England's foremost wood engraver.

GROWTH, A FULL Year's measure

This issue of THE MUEZZIN marks the first University of Tampa published annual report to the many publics served by the University. Its purpose is to communicate the University's significant progress toward its "Landmark of Learning" goal.

Many dedicated people have given us the personal assistance, financial help, and encouragement so necessary and vital for our continued thrust toward our goals. All of us at the University are deeply indebted and thus hope that this brief report will help keep you up to date.

The academic year 1971-72 was filled with enthusiasm, dedication, and the extra effort required to make considerable progress in our Key Result Areas. The Key Result Area document is a "management by objective" document. The KRA's were identified by members of the staff, faculty, students, and trustees during June and July of 1971. Two hundred eighty-nine (289) key result areas were identified as problem areas or areas of new dimension in which progress toward solution or implementation were desired. At the end of the academic year, the KRA's were graded out at 90% wherein either substantial progress or completion of the objectives were recorded.

Some of the highlights of the 1971-72 KRA's include:

Fairgrounds Property — Completion of negotiations and acquisition of the additional 33 acres of land.

New Marine Biology Program — Finalized and projected enrollment increases are most noteworthy in this area of study.

Academic Reorganization — Accomplished with the deletion of nineteen (19) departmental chairmen positions and the establishment of six divisional chairmen to replace them. The new divisions are: Economics and Business, Fine Arts, Education, Social Studies, Science and Mathematics and Humanities.

Administrative Reorganization — An effectiveness review resulted in the elimination of nineteen administrative and classified positions.

Upgrading of Facilities — This has been accomplished through gifts and greater internal emphasis on an attractive campus appearance.

Greater cooperation with National Professional Associations and organizations resulted in the establishment of the University of Tampa as the site for the following academic professional meetings: National Personnel Deans Association; Southeast Region, 1973; History Association, 1973; Kappa Kappa Psi National Convention, 1973; Financial Aids Association, summer 1972.

A Faculty Handbook — The first draft of a much needed faculty handbook has been completed.

The Minaret Society was established to recognize individuals for the levels of their financial support to the University. We are pleased to report that 61 members have given or pledged $211,000 during the first month of the Society's existence.

By Dr. B. D. Owens
President

The University of Tampa was accepted for membership in the National Collegiate Athletics Association in record time. This membership has greatly enhanced the University's intercollegiate athletic program.

The stability of the University's financial position has continued. The 1971-72 fiscal year was concluded with a small surplus. This is particularly gratifying since many colleges and universities have experienced deficits in recent years.

Approximately eighty per cent (80%) of the enrollment continues from non-Florida residents. The freshman class was represented by persons from all fifty states and fourteen foreign countries. It is anticipated that the student body will retain this same cosmopolitan mix.

The graduating class for both December and May totaled over seven hundred. Our students are averaging completion of their degree requirements in slightly more than three years. In addition, the military bootstrappers and transfer students remain in the student body only approximately two years since a portion of their college work has been completed at other universities and colleges.

The continuing education program gained considerably during the year. Several new conferences and seminars were added. This division makes it possible for the University to maintain better year-round space utilization while performing a most significant public service.

The University continues to move forward with its cultural programs. The Hoffman String Quartet played its Tampa engagements in the Fletcher Lounge. Esther Glazer as an Artist in Residence assisted with music instruction and performances. Dr. Duane Locke became Poet in Residence and began publishing the University of Tampa Review. Both Dr. Locke and Miss Glazer are known nationally and internationally for their respective talents.

Faculty publications reached a new high. During preparation for lectures and teaching assignments, our faculty produced some outstanding scholarly articles and books. Although the University of Tampa is primarily a teaching university, the publication interests of our professors is most praiseworthy.

Your University has reached new levels of accomplishments and academic prestige. It is particularly noteworthy that it is currently moving toward new goals at a time when many private colleges and universities face enrollment declines and financial obstacles which seem overwhelming.

Finally, a master plan is being developed which will encompass the academic, personnel, and physical facilities needs of the University over a long range period. This master plan will become the road map of your university as we approach the twenty-first century. Indeed, it will encompass our collective understanding of that which is necessary for distribution as a "Landmark of Learning".

ODK Is Here

Omicron Delta Kappa, oldest, most prestigious men's leadership fraternity in higher education, was chartered on the University of Tampa campus in May.

In a special ceremony in the Plant Hall Ballroom, 19 students and four faculty members were initiated into the University of Tampa Circle of ODK. Mayor Dick Greco was inducted as an honorary member.

During the meeting FSU law student Wayne Rubinas, first university student ever elected national president of ODK, presented the charter and addressed the new UT chapter.

Dr. B. D. Owens, president of the University of Tampa and a member of ODK, made the closing remarks.

Founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University, ODK now has chapters in more than 130 colleges and universities throughout the nation. University of Tampa efforts to form a chapter began in 1969 with Dr. Charles West, vice president for student affairs. The efforts were enhanced with the arrival last August of Dr. Edward Ward as director of continuing education. Dr. Ward is the national administrative secretary for ODK.

Six Outstanding Educators

Six members of the University of Tampa faculty and administrative staff have been named Outstanding Educators of America for 1972.

Those honored are: Dr. James Covington, professor of history; Dr. Eustasio Fernandez, chairman of the Modern Languages Department; Charles Hyde, associate dean of faculties; Dr. Duane Locke, poet-in-residence; Dr. Edward Ward, director of continuing education, and Dr. Charles West, vice president for student affairs.

Recipients are featured in the annual national awards volume, which lists those honored for exceptional service, achievements and leadership in education.

Dr. Covington, senior historian of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is a widely known authority on the state of Florida, having published much on the region's history.

Dr. Fernandez joined the University in 1951. He has conducted study tours of Mexico during mid-winter intersessions and a study tour of Germany last June.

A native of Missouri, Dean Hyde became part of the UT faculty in 1960 and served as associate professor of economics and business. In 1970 he received the University of Tampa Alumni Association Award as outstanding faculty member.

Dr. Duane Locke, an alumnus of the University, is one of the most widely published contemporary poets. He has been chosen to help coordinate the the poetry-in-our-schools program for elementary grades in the fall.

An attorney with background in student affairs and business management, Dr. Ward, assistant to the president, has been active in developing the University's Department of Continuing Education.

Dr. Charles West, former chairman of the Department of Philosophy, served two years as dean of students and last year was appointed vice president for student affairs.

Selection of Outstanding American Educators is based on an educator's talents in the classroom, his contributions to research and his administrative abilities.

First ROTC Scholarships

Four University of Tampa students were recipients of the first Army ROTC scholarships ever awarded at the University.

Col. Walter M. Turner, UT professor of military science, in announcing the awarding of the two-year full tuition scholarships said each is worth about $6,000.

Recipients were William Ringler and David A. Jones of Tampa; John G. Walsh, Wilton, Conn., and Dennis K. Degamon, North Massapequa, New York.

Scholarships cover all tuition, fees, books and supplies. Each recipient also receives $100 per month subsistence allowance.

The University had been allotted only two scholarships, but the Third Army review board awarded an additional two on the basis of the qualifications of UT applicants, Col. Turner said. Selections are based on character, motivation toward an Army career and academic and ROTC records.

University of Tampa Spartan John Matuszak, six-foot, seven, 270-pound giant defensive back is the new maitre d' at Bern's Steak House in Tampa. With him is Dr. and Mrs. Robert Turkel.

It's Official

Following approval by the Tampa City Council, the Florida State Fairgrounds' 33.11-acre tract officially became part of the University of Tampa campus, May 30.

Action by the Council endorsed a property trade deeding 23.72 acres of UT-owned riverfront property between Phillips Field and I-4 to the city in exchange for the fair land.

Appraised at $582,000, the fair property will swell the University campus to 48.11 acres. The present campus, minus the former urban renewal land now comprising the North Campus, totals 15 acres.

The University will take full occupancy of the grounds after the 1973 fair.

The New Administrative Structure

President B. D. Owens has announced the first major administrative restructuring in the University's 41-year history. The new system, a giant step toward the University's model management goal, includes six new major divisions encompassing the more than 20 existing departments.

Associate Dean of Faculty Charles Hyde said by appointing division chairmen to carry out the functions of departments the University can add 14 courses to the curriculum without the addition of faculty.

Hyde also noted, "With fewer administrators we expect greater efficiency in making curriculum changes and in being more responsive to needs of students and faculty."

Heading the new divisions are Dr. William W. Cyzewski, Economics and Business; Dr. Samuel Brick, Education; Wallace Green, Fine Arts; Dr. Francis Thompson, Humanities; Dr. Richard Gude, Mathematics and Science, and Dr. J. Ryan Beiser, Social Sciences.

New divisional breakdowns are Economics and Business: accounting, business and economics; Education: education, health, physical education, industrial arts and speech; Fine Arts: art, drama, and music; Humanities: English, modern language, philosophy.

The restructuring program comes under the purview of the vice president for academic affairs. The duties of that office had been administered by Hyde pending the August arrival of Dr. Michael Mendelsohn, who comes to the University from the U.S. Air Force Academy.

New Administrators

The University will add two key administrators this fall, a charter member of the Air Force Academy and a former professional baseball player.

Dr. Michael J. Mendelsohn became the University's new vice president for academic affairs and dean of faculties in August.

A specialist in modern drama and world literature, he has been professor of English and humanities at the Air Force Academy and supervises some 20 instructors in 14 courses beyond the freshman year.

John H. Meyer became the new dean of men in July after acting as assistant dean of students at Ohio State University.

At Ohio State Meyer was in charge of the administration and development of the 44-chapter fraternity system. His efforts within the dean's office have been directed toward a student development model.

The Inauguration

The forthcoming October inauguration of Dr. B. D. Owens as the University's sixth president will place UT in the national academic spotlight for an entire week and mark another historic moment for Tampa's "Landmark of Learning."

Formal inauguration ceremonies will be held Friday, October 6, at the Curtis Hixon Convention Center, climaxing a week-long program of symposia, featuring nationally known specialists in various fields of education.

NBC television news veteran David Brinkley will open the celebration with a 10:30 a.m. convocation Monday, October 2, in McKay Auditorium, followed by a reception in the University's Fletcher Lounge.

The inauguration is themed around the topic, "Private Higher Education in the 70's: Fulfillment or Failure?", with emphasis on the direction and goals of private higher education in the current decade.

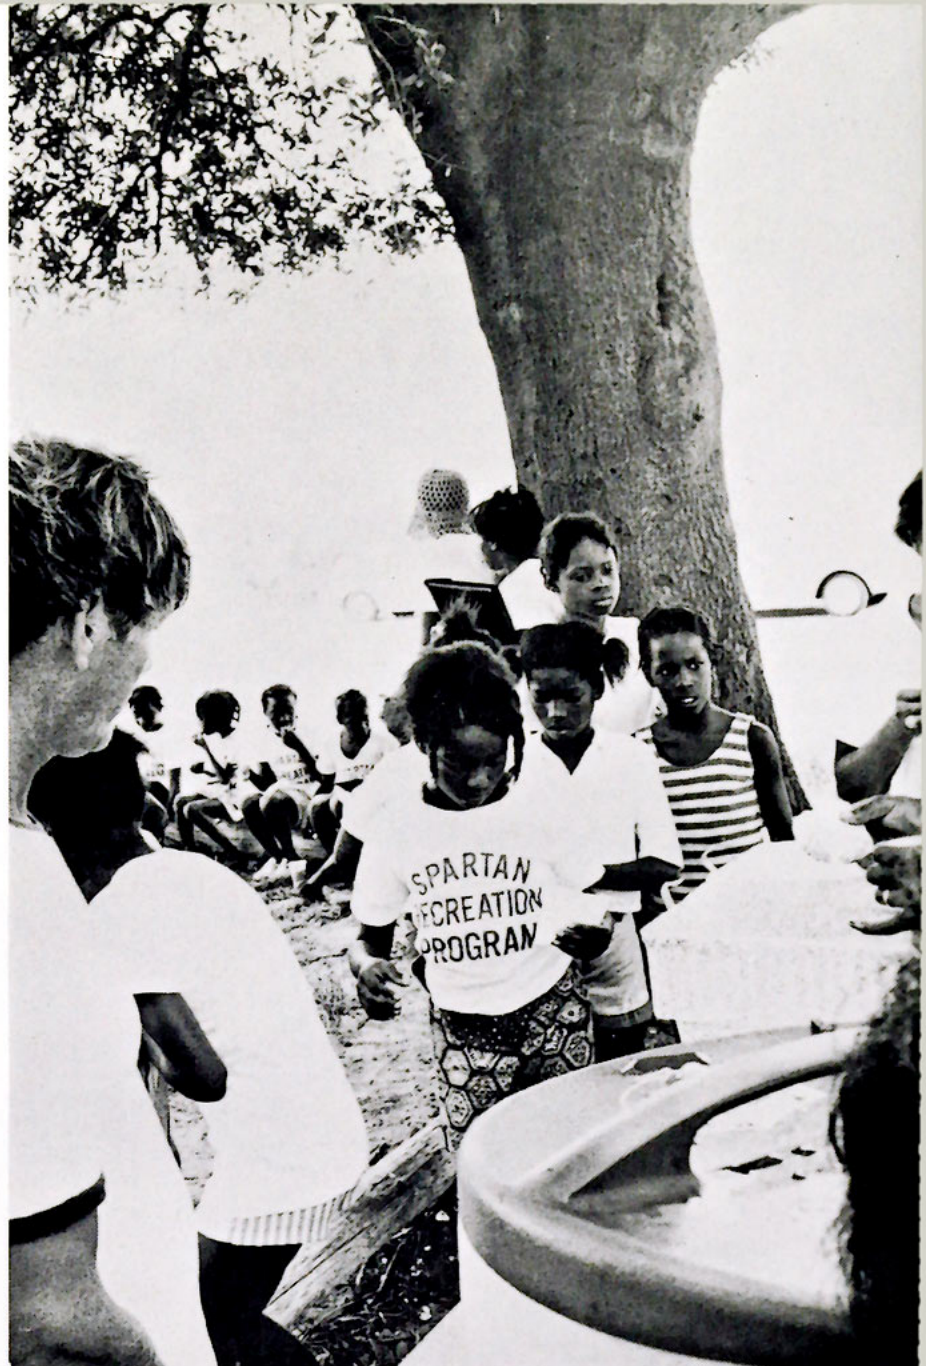

This question will be explored in two daily symposia by experts in the six major divisions of study: humanities, social sciences, fine arts, science, mathematics and education. Included in the discussion groups will be two distinguished college presidents, Msgr. Sebastian Menke, St. Ambrose College, Davenport, Iowa, and Dr. Timothy W. Costello, Adelphi University, Garden City, New Jersey.

"We plan to present a meaningful inauguration in every sense of the world," said Robert B. Gronlund, vice president for development and public relations, at the University, acting inauguration coordinator.

Dr. B. D. Owens will appear for the ceremony with the pomp and dignity traditionally accorded the occasion of an inaugural convocation. He will wear a specially designed robe and carry a new mace.

An inaugural luncheon will follow at 12:15 p.m. in the Gasparilla Room to formally conclude the event, although Dr. Owens will host special guests at Fletcher Lounge that evening.

"I believe in private education," President Owens said, "and I believe this area and this University have tremendous potential and a great future. I look forward to being part of it."

The University of Tampa and the City of Tampa with the help of federal funds co-sponsored the Spartan Recreation Program this summer, teaching underprivileged youth swimming and other athletic skills. Each participant was given an official Spartan T-shirt.

Preparing

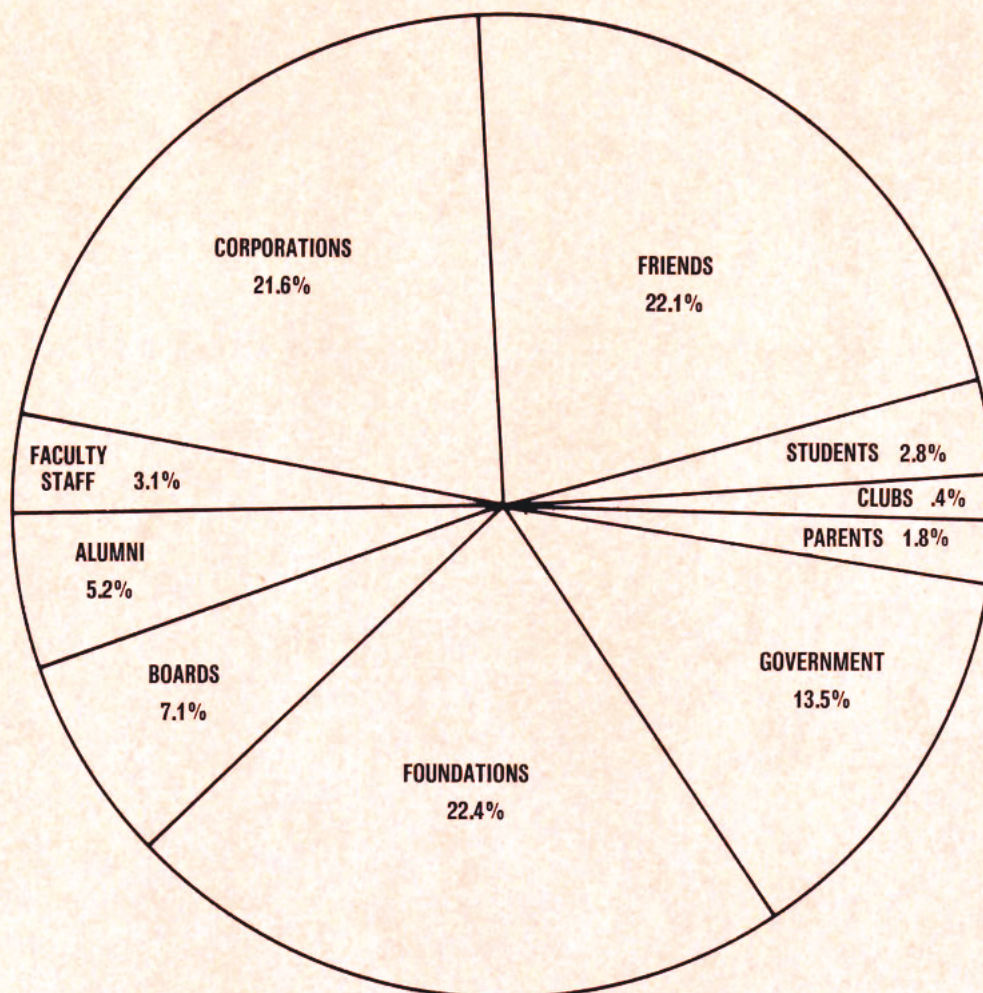

More than 29 Hillsborough County agencies engaging in disaster and emergency relief work were involved in planning the one-day Disaster Preparedness Institute held at the University of Tampa in May.

Exercises simulated actual experiences participants might face in handling problems that arise when disaster strikes. They included the collision of a 747 cargo plane and an F4 phantom jet over a heavily populated area; the aftermath of a hurricane, an industrial explosion and the wrecking of a train carrying cargo of chlorine.

Law enforcement, government, military and civilian disaster units took part in the program which was coordinated through the University's Office of Continuing Education and the Red Cross.

The Best Is Yet To Come

"A good year but the best is yet to come" would be a good summary of the fund-raising effort of the University of Tampa for fiscal year 1971-72. Alumni, friends and faculty-staff giving were all up 50% or more. Government grants dropped by almost 50% and accounted for the net dollar increase being limited to 9%. Number of donors increased by 10%.

During the year the University launched a new deferred giving program, a $200,000 bequest was placed in probate; the new Minaret Society got off to a record-breaking start and the annual Forward Fund went over the top in the large community portion held in the spring. Most of the impact of these programs is not reflected in this year's totals; so the best is yet to come.

The Final Gift Report of the 1971-72 fiscal year, ending June 30, 1972, shows a record high of 1503 donors. Total gift income amounted to $786,927.96.

Current operations received the largest dollar total — $464,342.42. Capital gifts totaled $164,529.45; the endowment program received $91,601.99 and scholarships and loan gifts reached $62,155.95.

Foundations contributed the largest single amount — $175,431.90. Friends were next with $173,378.24, followed by corporations with $171,696.65. Government, both local and federal, contributed $105,878.00; trustees, fellows and counselors — $55,968.81; alumni — $41,314.18; faculty and staff — $24,719.00; students — $21,408.68; parents — $13,852.50 and clubs — $3,280.00.

The pages that follow list the 1503 donors who have made contributions to the University of Tampa between July 1, 1971 and June 30, 1972. More important, this honor roll of supporters made possible the continued improvement and strengthening of higher education at the University of Tampa. To all who helped make this progress possible and especially to all who gave, a grateful University says "thank you."

Did We Break a Record...

The new Minaret Society, announced in the last issue of the MUEZZIN, continues to enroll members at a record rate. In just one month sixty-one members joined the new giving club and pledged and gave $211,000.

A national college consultant hearing of this total commented, "You've broken the record!" Queried as to what he meant, he explained that it is generally agreed the record for an annual giving club of this type was held by Washington and Lee University with a first year total of $198,000.

Trustee Robert Thomas, charter president of The Minaret Society, indicated the immediate membership goal is to reach one hundred charter members by October 6, the date set for the inauguration of Dr. B. D. Owens as president of the University. Thomas said he is pleased not only with the overall response to the new program but especially with the number joining at the Gold Crescent ($10,000 or more per year) and Silver Crescent ($5,000 or more per year) levels as well as at the Crescent level ($1,000 or more annually).

A full listing of Minaret Society members to date appears below. The attractive Minaret Society brochure may be obtained free by writing to the Chairman, Minaret Society, in care of the University.

Director for Income Trust and Bequests

The University of Tampa recently announced the creation of an Income Trust and Bequest Program as a service to our many alumni, parents and friends. In today's economy — and under today's complex tax laws — it is important to plan one's affairs carefully so as to avoid unnecessary taxes. This program is designed to be of assistance to the university's many constituents in their personal financial and philanthropic planning.

The program, the first of its type organized at the University, will provide long-term financial resources for our endowment, faculty salaries, student scholarships, special educational programs, building and campus maintenance and general operating expenditures. This in turn will help assure the continued independence of private higher educational institutions such as the University of Tampa in a time when increasing government support brings fear of governmental control over these sectors which we have long regarded as matters of private action.

Through the Office of Income Trusts and Bequests information is available to our prospective donors, their attorneys or financial advisors. This information will aid them in the planning of their philanthropic goals. The Director of Development for Income Trusts and Bequests will work directly with the interested parties and handle all the necessary details in establishing whatever method the donor and his advisors select, be it, gift by will, life income trust, testamentary trust or gift annuity.

Gifts by trust in which the individual retains lifetime rights to the trust income for himself and/or someone he chooses have become one of the best ways of making a gift to the University of Tampa. It makes it possible for a donor to benefit the University yet not sacrifice any personal security during his lifetime. In fact it may even improve his financial picture.

The Income Trusts and Bequests Program will substantially aid the University of Tampa in our drive for academic excellence. One university for example, established such a program in the early fifties and is enjoying an annual income of over $2,000,000 from the efforts of many years ago. We at the University of Tampa feel that this program is a definite part of our long-ranged goal of becoming truly a Landmark of Learning.

Remember when giving to a college gave you a good feeling inside,

Introducing...

Printy Arthur

Mixing the atmosphere of classical education with today's fast-paced business of modern finance is Printy Arthur, director of development for income trusts and bequests at the University. His third floor office is filled with soft music, and volumes of legal and financial reference books sit on his desk. His specialty is philanthropic tax planning.

Arthur began his career in education as a high school music teacher in McComb, Ohio. He worked in music education and still found time for directing an occasional local musical theatre production. His community service won him the First Rotarian Outstanding Achievement Award in Port Clinton, Ohio, for his musical direction of "Annie Get Your Gun."

After seven years of teaching, supporting a wife and five children on a teacher's salary began to weigh heavily. Arthur left education for the more lucrative rewards of the insurance business.

He joined the Equitable Life Assurance Society and quickly moved up the ranks to become a district manager, supervising the Toledo, Ohio, district. In 1965 he won the coveted District Manager of the Year Award.

While in insurance, Arthur learned the science of estate planning, helping people manage and maintain their personal assets.

Arthur returned to the world of education not as a teacher but as assistant director of development at his alma mater, Bowling Green State University, Ohio, in 1966. He soon became associate director and worked on such projects as "The Mission: Expanding Horizons," which overshot its two million dollar goal, obtaining $2.4 million in gifts and pledges.

Now Printy Arthur is at the University of Tampa directing the University's new deferred giving program and doing a little bass fishing in nearby Lake Kissimmee in his spare time.
