Spartans Pepped Up For Gators

Alumni Plans Homecoming For Nov. 8

"To Be Gayest, Most Colorful," Ailor Says; Committees Are Named

Looking ahead to the climax of the football season, the University of Tampa Alumni association is making big plans for the fifth annual homecoming Nov. 8 when the Spartans play Oglethorpe university of Atlanta, Ga. "It's going to be the gayest and most colorful homecoming yet," promises Billy Ailor, vice president of the alumni who is acting in the absence of John Hall, Camden, N. J., president of the organization.

Committees already have been named to start shaping the program and will have every detail worked out well in advance.

Asks for Cooperation

Cooperation of the university students with the alumni is especially important, Mr. Ailor declared. He urged organizations of all types on the campus to start work on their floats for the big parade which will precede the game so that the Tampa U. homecoming show will be second only to the great Gasparilla procession.

Last year for the first time, fraternities and sororities started the practice of entering parade floats and alumni leaders hope the idea will spread to other groups this year. Students, especially the freshmen, also are urged to gather material for the huge bonfire that will set off the activities for the homecoming week-end.

To Hold Election

A nominating committee, headed by Robert Kasriel, last year's student body president, will report this week on nominees for the various alumni offices which will be voted on at the general session of grads and former students during the celebration. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Al Yorkunas, Don Guinta, Rudy Rodriguez and Campbell Criddlebaugh.

Other committee chairmen and assistants named include: Parade, Joe Carr and Don Guinta; bonfire, Fred Manuey and Tom Johnson; game, Miss Mary Frances O'Berry and Walter Hoy; dance, Miss Virginia Roberts and Hampton Dunn; publicity, Hampton Dunn, Al Yorkunas and Miss Betty Jo Mims. Additional members will be named later.

The first edition of the alumni magazine is expected to come off the press next week, featuring news of homecoming, and will be distributed to Tampa U. alumni residing all over the United States. Edgar Andrews is editor of the bulletin, which will be issued quarterly.

Miss Haverstick To Give Concert Tuesday Night

Miss Mary Haverstick, piano instructor recently sent here from Juilliard School of Music in New York, will present her first of a series of concerts Tuesday night in the ballroom.

The program is scheduled as follows:

"Three Sonatas" (Scarloti); "C Major"—allegro; "C Minor"—allegro; "D Major"—presto; "Chaconne" (Bach-Silotti); "Nocturne C Sharp Minor"; "Ballade, A Flat Major" (Chopin); Intermission; "Sonatine" (Moderate); minuet, "Anine" (Ravel); "Annees de Pelerinage," Sonetto 104 del Petrarca, Gnomonreigen (Liszt); "Intermezzo E Flat Major" (Capriccio); "F Sharp minor, Rhapsodie," E Flat major (Brahms).

Candidates were announced yesterday as follows:

Dr. Mooney Appointed as Naval Aid

Will Aid Officers In Establishment of Dirigible Bases Here

President Mooney has been appointed civilian consultant to assist navy officers in the establishment and development of a dirigible base in Florida. The appointment was made by Commander C. E. Rosendahl, the nation's leading dirigible expert, who was in Florida last week in the interest of selecting a lighter-than-air craft naval base.

The exact location of the first dirigible base for the navy which now has six dirigibles in operation at Lakehurst, N. J., and has 48 more included in its expansion program, has not as yet been determined, Commander Rosendahl said, but will be somewhere in Florida. Prospective sites have been looked over in Tampa, Sarasota, Fort Myers, St. Petersburg, and points between Miami and Key West.

Commander Rosendahl plans to have a heavy training ship, similar to the Los Angeles, located at the base along with a group of semi-rigid ships for coastal observation purposes.

Commander Rosendahl is regarded second only to Hugo Eckner of Germany as a leading aeronaut of the world. He is the author of many papers on lighter-than-air craft and is the author of a book called "What About the Airship?" in which he had the assistance of Dr. Mooney.

Dr. Mooney will work in close conjunction with the office of the secretary of the navy, Frank Knox, in an advisory capacity on lighter-than-air craft in Florida. Dr. Mooney is the author of "Upship Adventure," which outlines the history and science of lighter-than-air craft.

"In making the appointment," Commander Rosendahl said, "I wish to have the close cooperation and assistance of Dr. Mooney with whom I long have been associated in things aeronautical. He will be able to give us valuable assistance in connection with this work during these critical times. It is expected that he will be called to Washington in the near future to assist in the development of the program."

Tampans Are Ready For Toughest Foe In Battle Tonight

Team Is in Better Condition Than Last Year With Better Morale and Reinforced With New Material; They're Out for a Victory This Time.

By FRANK MANISCALCO

Pepped up with a new spirit, the Tampa U. Spartans will line up against their toughest opponent of the 1940 season on Phillips field tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock when they take on the defeated, but still powerful University of Florida Gators. Facing an uphill battle, the Spartans are out for a win.

The kickoff is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock and a crowd of 10,000 fans is expected to witness the contest.

Last year, with a crippled squad and not half the material now available, Tampa lost a hard fought battle to a superior Gator team, 7-0. Florida apparently is just as strong as in 1939, but the Spartans definitely are better.

Spartans In Come Back

Tampa lost its opening engagement to the powerful Appalachian Mountaineers, 13-6, but came back strong in the last quarter of the Stetson game to nose out the Hatters, 6-0. Undoubtedly, the Spartans were outplayed in last week's game, but fans should not judge too rashly the ability of the local gridders. Demoralized by three successive fumbles during the first quarter, Tampa was unable to show its real power until the last few minutes of play.

The Gators, on the other hand, were routed 25-7 by a powerful Mississippi State squad in their first encounter of the year. Lack of capable reserves proved fatal. You can bet your last penny that Florida will be out for revenge tomorrow night, but they're going to find tough competition in the Spartans if the latter play the brand of ball they are capable of playing.

Gators Are Favorites

History of the rivalry between Tampa and Florida shows the Gators out in front with two victories. Tomorrow night they will enter the game as the favorites.

During the past week Coaches Higgins and Pierson have drilled the Spartans in pass defense and power plays, designed to strengthen some of the weak points noticeable in the Stetson game. The Spartans will wind up the week's practice with a light workout at Plant field today, and, with the exception of Vic Hatch, injured in the Hatter game, were pronounced in fine condition for the third meeting with State University.

Spartan Sparkplugs

Local fans are pinning most of their hopes on the running ability of Champ Williams, who played an important role in the downfall of Stetson; on Milan Buchan, plunging fullback; and Howie Beynon, hard blocking and defensive fullback, will much depend for a local victory. The service of Vic Hatch, one of the Spartan's top-notch defensive experts, will be missed.

"Big Boy" Wolfe, 225-pounder right tackle, Waisley Zaiko, 220-pounder left tackle, Jack "Pappy" Newlands, rugged guard, and veteran Bill Fisher, are counted on to provide the bulwark of line defense. The flank positions will be capably handled by Tony Kolka, Dixie Howell, Cecil Reed and Dick Slichter.

Mush Battista, big senior guard, and Forest Ferguson, one of the best ends in the south, are expected to be the spark-plug in the Gator defensive.

Civic Music To Bring Leading Musicians To Tampa U. Students

University of Tampa students will be permitted this winter to hear free five of America's leading music artists brought here by the Civic Music association as its annual winter program.

All regular students who have paid full fees for the semester will be given season tickets covering all four performances.

The tentative program is as follows:

Nov. 14—Luboschutz and Meminoff, a duo piano team.

Jan. 14—Ann Jameson, soprano.

Feb. 7—Kollisch quartet.

March 27—Efran Zembalist, vocalist.

Rho Nu Deltas Elect Cannella, Tramontana In Special Voting

Xavier Cannella was elected vice president and Fred Tramontana was named treasurer of the Rho Nu Delta fraternity Tuesday to fill vacancies caused by students not returning to school this semester.

President Frank Maniscalco appointed Fred Tramontana and Eugene Hagerman as representatives to the Pan-Hellenic council.

Rudolph Barker was named pledge captain and Victor Schell was appointed his assistant.

BEAT FLORIDA, SPARTANS

Go to it, Spartans. The Gators aren't little tin gods propped up on a pedestal to be bowed down before and worshipped. They're just another gang of fellows, just like you are. And last week proved two things—that they can be licked, and that we can win (but we always knew we could win).

Look back at the past two years. In 1938 the Spartans were on the Gator five-yard line and clamoring for a touchdown, before Florida even threatened to score. We had more punch in the first quarter than they had. And last year—well, you all remember that.

Well, the Spartans have that extra punch this year, to put across a winning touchdown over the mighty Gators. It'll take "the will to win," with a lot of football behind it. And that's just what the Spartans have.

Beat Florida!

THEY'LL FOLLOW THE CHAMP

Champ Williams has been appointed captain for the annual Tampa-Florida game. Regardless of the strength of the Gators, Tampa will have at least its equal as a captain.

Champ, by his ability and willingness, has proved game in and game out to be an outstanding leader. Victory or defeat has not altered Champ's sincerest efforts to give all he had.

And so, no one can deny Champ's ability to lead our Spartans. We may all rest assured that each and every player will do or die for "the Champ."

The coaches have paid Champ an honor and the players will do their best to pay tribute to a great team-man by winning this game.

Follow the Champ and you are sure to go places.

—THE SPARTANS.

THE NEW TAMPA U.

A new president, a new dean, new faculty members, a new bookstore—this is our new Tampa U. And even a simple mathematician can see that all of these factors are bound to add up to a new college spirit.

Already people in the city are remarking on the different school feeling, and students on the campus feel the change everywhere about them. Smiles are quick to flash, and a greater friendliness is the by-word.

With only 10 years experience back of it, the University of Tampa is still a young college, and now is the time to build its future spirit. We think we're off to a good start—what do you think?

In The Social Whirl

Dear Maudie—

The class of '44 will strut its material tonight when "ye olde pajama parade and bonfire" again makes its appearance on the principal drag of town. Nightshirts, pajamas and what you have will be the latest thing in fashion. I expect to see one and all of you out there.

Congratulations to the new pledges! And also their sororities and fraternities.

Eds and co-eds attending the Beta Chi party were given the golden opportunity of peeking into their second childhood (or adding a little more to their first) when they played "Drop The Handkerchief," "Red Light," "As I Draw This Magic Circle" and "Kick The Can." From the bruises seen around, it must have been great fun.

Studes who attended the T. O. shindig were entertained by Composers Brandenberger and Whitehead, who took it upon themselves to intrigue (???) the guests with their own original version of their own original grand opera. Wow! Was it sensational (????). And several other breath-taking events also took place.

Toola Carter, former Tampa U'er, has deserted this fair city for Washington, D. C., where she will study art.

Deke members and rushees wiped up the floor at the coliseum on the eve of their skating party. 'Tis said,

"On nearly every round, a gal went down." Freshman Frances Alexander holds the tumbling record for the night. But battered and bruised as they are, they're ready to try it again.

Johnny Wainwright had a little trouble with his speech making at the spaghetti supper Saturday night. Arising and hoping to shine, Johnny began his speech thusly:

"When I came to Tampa U., I was interested in aviation. People said I was flying high."

Right here came the trouble. Upon the utterance of the "flying high" Johnny's voice cracked and went "flying high" too. Poor Johnny! He did too much cheerleading and the speech remained unfinished as Johnny retreated in disorder.

S'long. See you at the game.

Love—

Chorus Begins Work On Christmas Program

The chorus has already begun work on music for the annual Christmas candle-light program.

"We are planning to make several concert appearances this year," Mr. Wiltse said. "But we do need more people in the chorus. If you can sing, come in. We need you."

3 Students Get Awards At Tampa U.

Scholarships Provided In Master Teachers' Training Program

Three students of last spring's Tampa high school's graduating classes have been awarded academic scholarships in a master teachers training program which is being inaugurated at the University of Tampa, it has been announced by Dr. Mooney.

The program will undertake to train Marion Neil, Plant high school; Paul Fernandez, Jesuit high school, and Betty Holton, Hillsborough, to be master teachers in the teaching profession. The students were selected for the scholarships by the principals of their respective schools because of their marked ability looking toward a career in the teaching profession.

According to Dr. Mooney, there is a recognized need for the teacher who has not only attained scholastic excellence in school but who is adapted to the teaching profession by virtue of personal capacities, one who has an understanding of major problems of social life and who has an extensive experience in the field in which he or she must work. The prospective teacher should have personality to lead young people in their learning experiences, he said.

"In recognizing superior talent as a pioneering step," Dr. Mooney stated, "I have asked the principals of the high schools of this area to select graduates of merit who show marked ability in a prerequisite toward a career in teaching."

313 Masquers Adds 11 Members After Annual Try-Outs

Eleven new members have been admitted to the "313 Masquers," Priscilla Hunt, president, announced yesterday.

They are Judith Benson, Bunny Wolfe, Fred Tramontana, Beth Hotchkiss, Dorothy Ann Kelly, Nouna Hitchcock, Donald Bevis, Kitty Ann Sweat, Jewel Fernandez, Daisy Lewis and Miriam Quarles.

These were selected through tryouts which included as dramatic scene the reading of a humorous story and pantomimes, and were voted on by the organization.

Spartans Take to the Mountains—Here's the Low Down on Them

By TED BRAVAKIS

While our big Spartans were at Poland's drugstore trying to impress the Blue Ridge Mountain Lassies with their city talk between bites at their five cent ice cream cones, Doctor Victor Hatch was hid away in a mountain cabin with his man "Friday," working on a secret formula to create a mechanical monster with the shiny square head.

After many days of patient efforts the secret formula was realized and it yielded "Soda Sam Stout" in a new fantastic image of mankind. Doctor Hatch did a very remarkable job keeping his monster under control. Although there were a few casualties while the monster was in camp at large, Doctor Hatch predicted his monster would come back to normal after the first week of school, but Doctor! this is the third week of school.

An unhappy camp note to waiting University of Tampa co-eds: All the scented gay colored letters that were received by seemly expectant beaux at camp each day were not all postmarked "Tampa." Evidently the boys were not socially idle this summer.

The dinner bell rang three times daily and it was like the "Call of the Wild." The wolves rushed for the much needed nourishment as the cabin bunks flew, and the water of the swimming pool parted as if Moses had given the command.

The ardent horseshoe games were broken up by the golfers who came shrieking over the hills waving their golf clubs like Indians attacking a covered wagon. The mad pack killed all the small ones in their way and went over the big ones. The innocent bystander didn't have a chance.

Burnville, N. C., at the first glance gives one the impression of a small mountain town, but our boys found it very spirited, and I do mean very.

The hill-billy ballads on all North Carolina radio stations lullabyed Zaiko into a serene mountain slumber every evening under the musical Carolina moon.

The theory of the moon effecting the mind was proven by Pug Read's continuous loud chattering during what he called sleep. Funny moon says Pug.

Bill Read put the aroma of the mountain flowers to shame with his wave of commercial fragrance.

Tom Albers the big blonde blizzard who was winged in the first game is still to be feared by the ladies for Tom is ambidextrous.

Milan Buchan was boxed by an over-sized mountain blonde. Buchan said she was a "Stage Star" who came to the mountains for a "rest cure." I hope she got cured because I know she didn't get any rest...

If you ever want to know about postal rates from Burnsville to Tampa ask Tony Kolka about them. He's an authority on "special delivery air mail" and time tables.

Dick Sleicter and Howard Beyon were the undisputed "barnyard swing" champions. Don't be alarmed Emma Jane or Louise, I mean just horseshoe champion... Champ Williams really missed his many Tampa sisters. He said he couldn't find a suitable sister in all Burnsville.

There were many large cornfields in Burnsville; Anderson was right at home with all that "corn."

As the fir flew
The beards grew
We all knew
We had a fine crew
To start the season anew.

Dr. Mooney Addresses SKN's, Rushees, Dates At First Dinner-Dance

Dr. J. E. Mooney spoke on "Social Functions on the Campus" at the Sigma Kappa Nu's first rushing dinner dance at the Crescent.

Dean Sanford also gave his first talk to any social organization here and Rabbi Zielonka, fraternity adviser, discussed fraternities in general.

Dancing followed the dinner for members, rushees and their dates. Bob Porton and his band provided music.

A novel SKN idea of dating for their rushees for the affair was founded by Art Burrows in his new "date bureau."

The SKN's greeted their pledges in an informal meeting last Wednesday and formally greeted them at formal pledging ceremonies at the home of Jack Goodson. Pledge pins were distributed at this time. John Andrews also received his formal initiation. The fraternity will introduce their pledges Wednesday at its weekly luncheon at the Crescent grill.

They say the only difference between a cutie and an old maid is that the cuties goes out with the Johnnies and the old maid sits home with the willies.

The smart girl doesn't trust a fellow too far, and she doesn't trust him too near either.

The Spice Of Life

Beynon, we bet E. J. didn't step out on you—or did she? Have you told her about Punchy? . . . Andy and Pug are swappers from way back—the latest material being Margie's letters to camp.

Anything of interest, boys? Oh well, maybe Vic Hatch did get Cooksey a blind date with her. . . "Pappy" Newlands is on a strike—he objects to Friday night dances our grid-iron heroes can't attend. 'Tch, tch, ain't that too bad?

What's this about Session's mother thinking it's rather unbefitting her senior-dotter dating a freshman? . . . Ella Beth Laird is back from New York looking as sweet as ever, and the wonderful part about it, boys, is she's heart-free—sorry we don't know her telephone number.

The Frederick, we hear, is trying to beat Buddy Gilmer's time with Louise DeLoach. . . Johnny, the rah-rah kid, has gone A. T. O. With Dottie-Ann Kelly attached to that pig, we do blame him.

Flirtie-Bertie is but definitely (A) "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"—too bad, living in the dormitory and all.

Jo Price is open for suggestions—what with her Tom from Florida U. joined the navy and Dale so far away. . . Mervin Beattie is getting exactly nowhere with Mary Merle this semester—she has good resistance to those sweet-nothings he whispers in her ear while she works on her sassy colyum.

And then there's the dope who asks if Virginia Richelieu is any kin to the Cardinal. . . While we're all in a dither, Graf just rolls along with Ball—and we do mean Mark. . .

Faculty Women Give Tea Honoring New Teachers, Officials

The Faculty Women's club of the university honored President and Mrs. James E. Mooney and new faculty members and their wives at a reception in the university ballroom Wednesday night.

New faculty members and their wives who formed the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Mooney were Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Bunting, Dr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Cramer, Dean and Mrs. D. S. Sanford, Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Leinbach, Miss Mary Haverstick and Raphael Ybor.

Faculty members who called were introduced to the honor guests by Mrs. H. G. Becknell, president of the faculty group, and Dr. Minna Denton, vice president. Mrs. W. F. Miller and Miss Blanche Calhoun presided at the tea table.

A green and yellow color scheme was used in decorating the reception room. Palms were banked at one end of the room and yellow blossoms were placed on the mantels and about the room. Marigolds and tall yellow tapers were used on the serving table, which held silver tea services at each end.

A string quartet provided the music for the evening.

Those assisting in serving were the Misses Bettie Berlin, Elsie Gill, Mary Merle Jones, Nouna Hitchcock, Yolonda Finney, Celeste Dervaes, Anne Marie Hargan and Louise Griffin.

Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. D. D. Bode, who was assisted by Miss Charlotte Ann Thompson, Miss Ruth Moffatt, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Lyman Wiltse.

University Alumni Name Dick Spoto as Director To Succeed Marbourg

Dick Spoto, assistant coach at Jefferson high school, was named to the board of directors of the University alumnae Wednesday night, filling the vacancy left by Bill Marbourg, who has left the city.

Nominations for president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the association will be presented Wednesday night at directors' meeting, and election will be held during the general session at Homecoming Nov. 2.

"A Sparks Theatre"

That Man Berry

He's an Actor (Watch Him), and He Tells You All About the Stage

Dr. Kenneth K. Berry has just begun his second year at the University of Tampa and a more colorful person doesn't exist. He's quite a guy, and if you don't believe it just ask him. He received his masters degree from George Washington university in 1936 and entered the University of Tampa, our Alma Ma, in the fall of 1939 and has taught happily ever after.

Finis? Oh no! for we have an actor in our midst. Yep, he was on the stage in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Cape Cod, serving as a stage hand, press agent, actor, director and, "Oh! what's the use," says he, "Believe it or not," says I, he worked for three years in the Theater Unit of Westfallmouth, Mass., with such stars as Margaret Sullivan, Henry Fonda and Jimmy Stewart. Listen, aspiring Theatians! For your benefit Dr. Berry has handed down his code—

First—"The theater is one of the few things really worth while."

Second—"To make good, be able to live on no income at all for the first 10 years."

Third—"Be content with no job at all for 11 months out of 12, then do an entire year's work in the twelfth."

Fourth—"Be willing to make any sacrifice to achieve success, and don't expect anything."

Like all persons of note he has his likes and dislikes. Among his likes baseball, old shoes, steaks and smelly cheese have the lead. His dislike—prejudice.

And to make this picture complete he smokes one corn cob pipe until, as he says, "the stink gets so bad I notice it myself." Then he throws it away and gets a new one. Kinda extravagant? No, for he has found he can get them for seven cents at the chain drug stores.

Intramural Plans Are Announced; 16 Sports Offered

In accordance with Dr. Mooney's talk in assembly Tuesday, the intramural department under Miller Adams announced today the intramural program for this coming year.

Touch football with five teams being represented started the program yesterday and it will continue until the Christmas holidays. Each team will play eight games.

After football will follow soccer, basket ball, volley ball and diamond ball as major sports.

If some boys cannot participate in these activities, there will be plenty of minor sports to choose from—pingpong, tennis, archery, swimming, track, handball, badminton, golf, cross country, horseshoes and fencing.

Sigma Theta Phi Steps Into Lead In Girls' Sports

The Sigma Theta Phi sorority took the lead in Girls' Intramurals Thursday by downing the strongly favored Alpha Gamma team in the first volley ball game of the year.

Alpha Gams took the first game by score of 15 to 13, and Sigma Thetas came back and defeated them in the remaining two games by 15 to 8 and 15 to 7. Both teams have been strengthened this year by the addition of pledges to their groups.

Berwanger and Perdicaris played outstanding ball for Alpha Gams, while the S. T. P.'s boasted the services of Pledges Hollins, Waters and Sewell.

All girls are urged to come out and support their groups on intramural days.

Rho Nu's and Skins Win Openers, Renew Football Rivalry

Rho Nu Deltas, defending champions, and the Skins, runners-up in intramural football, started out where they left off last year by trouncing their opponents in the first touch football games of the season, on Plant field gridirons.

The Skins shut out the T. O.'s in a slow game featured by the superb running and passing attack of Walter Frederick, captain and star back. Frederick scored standing up for the first touchdown on a 20-yard jaunt around left end.

The second tally was set up on a pass interference by Henry Vest, T. O. back, followed by a short pass from Frederick to Johnson. Beard scored the extra point. Chip Bergwin was the T. O. standout.

In the Rho Nu's slaughter of the Beta Chi's, 17-6, Joe Magudar, rookie end, proved to be the main threat for the winners, scoring two touchdowns. Vic Schell, veteran end, scored the other touchdown. Jeter's fluke pass to Rippa was Beta Chi's lone score.
