PLENTY TO EAT FOR EVERYONE

HOSPITALITY, SOUTHERN STYLE

Mr. Raymond Sheldon, State Senator and prominent Tampa attorney entertained Tampa University students and alumni at a fish fry and bar-b-que given at this home during homecoming week-end. This was the second bar-b-que Mr. Sheldon has given for the University during its big homecoming week-end, and is one of the outstanding events.

The food was donated by Tampa merchants who should be given special recognition for their help. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon worked tirelessly for days prior in order to make this occasion a success.

There was plenty to eat for everyone and menu varied to suit any taste. This menu consisted of: bar-b-que beef and pork, baked ham-fish and hush puppies, potato salad, baked sweet potatoes, cole slaw, potato chips, cold cuts, cold drinks, coffee, cookies and ice cream.

The Senate Coffee Company sent its own hostesses to serve the coffee and they reported they served well over 2200 cups of coffee. The party lasted from 4:30 to 7:00 and was crowded from the time it began until the last moment. The students came early, from 4:30 to 6:00 and the hour from 6:00 to 7:00 was mostly reserved for alumni who worked and could not come earlier in the afternoon.

Yard Decorated

The yard had been decorated during the morning and colored lights, crepe paper and strings of balloons added color to the homecoming festivity. The Sigma Kappa Nu fraternity had the party as their Homecoming assignment and certainly did a commendable job. Dick Johnson and his wife Leone and Alex Keiser worked especially hard. Students who donated their time and worked on the bar-b-que at some time are: George Felke, Don Munn, John Kuertz, Richard Hair, Pat Henry, Jack Thatcher. Her-

Professor Grace Presents Paper At U. of Kentucky

Prof. H. T. Grace presented a paper on "The Spanish Mineral Rights in the Americas" at the annual meeting of the Southeastern Division of the American Geographers Association held recently at the University of Kentucky, in Lexington.

The paper embodied results of the second study in the series by Professor Grace dealing with the development of the mineral resources of North and South America and the influence of this on political, economic and social conditions.

Following the official sessions, members of the association were guests of the University on a tour of the famous Blue Grass region of Kentucky, visiting several famous race horse farms.

Other Florida institutions represented at the meeting were the University of Florida, Florida State University and the University of Miami.

One Body Senate System Cannot Accomplish Work

Opportunity For More People To Obtain Honors And Help The University

It is time for constitutional reform at the University of Tampa. Since the original constitution was drawn, the enrollment has increased over 200 per cent. From its founding the University has kept pace with the times and progressed beyond normal expectations, with student government the single exception. This has become antiquated and outmoded. No longer is the present system of a single Student Senate adequate for a modern University. Desperately needed is a body to supplement the present Senate, such as a House of Representatives. Constitutional reform is a necessity promulgated by the forward march of progress and the passing of time. Time has passed—we have progressed. Now is the time for reform.

"Student government is an integral aid in the business of administering a college," declared the Rev. Robert H. Sweeney, vice-president of the University of Portland. "Every college needs dynamic student government, not to replace the administrative professional staff, but to work with them and develop leadership among the students," he continued. "The obligation of the college," the Rev. Sweeney explained, "is to produce, not only good business men, professional men, teachers and technicians, but men and women who are imbued with enlightenment of leadership." This is our aim . . .

Under the proposed system, representation would be more representative. Selected by ballot of the student body, in addition to the present Senate, there would be a representative for every one hundred off campus students, one for every fifty dormitory residents, or major fraction thereof, with a minimum of one. Also included would be one representative of each organization on the campus. All the above would have one vote, with the exception of organizational representatives, who would be allowed voice and active participation but would have no vote.

To insure a well informed governing body it is proposed that elections be held twice each year. One half of the body to be elected in the spring and the other half in the fall semester, both serving one full year term.

Because of the voluminous amount of work confronting the present overworked and understaffed senate, these new members would have more than ample work awaiting them. They could function as commissions or committees on the numerous problems that confront a progressive student body. The parking problem and student activities serve as prime examples for this demand of special committees. The committees would be required to meet once each week, and make semi-monthly reports to the senate. Members of the committees would be appointed by the senate and chairmen of the committees, who act together as an executive

Double Indemnity

This clause in our insurance policies is familiar to all of us and we know the meaning without question. It not only doubles our income, but extends and insures our security, enabling us to lead a more stable and normal life. Double Indemnity in health is even more 'assurance of insurance' for a future of happiness, usefulness and service to our fellowman.

Our free X-Ray for the detection of tuberculosis, is just such insurance. However, our records show that a surprisingly low per cent of our citizens respond to the appeal of our TB Association in this campaign.

The opportunity of having this free X-Ray is being offered to all the University students. The mobile X-Ray unit will be in the Rollins Room Dec. 6, 7, 8 and 9. Each student should take advantage of the chance to discover if he has any complications.

The X-Ray requires only a 10 second pose, is painless, no questions are asked, and even your report is mailed to you, if you receive your 'greetings' stating that you are a possible case.

Looking to the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure", is very timely and if observed, those who are of the 'positive' classification can receive the best of care provided by our State. And, simple cases are almost sure of control and recovery.

We owe this to ourselves and to our fellow-citizens to take these tests and assure ourselves of "Double Indemnity" in our health.

Petty Favoritism

The charge has been made—and, in some instances, well substantiated—that petty favoritism is being evidenced toward certain groups at the University. Undercurrents of ill feeling and dissension have been flowing for quite some time.

In many past instances this charge of petty favoritism was justifiably made. Steps were taken to satisfy the parties involved and the matter of disunity settled, and harmonious relations were again established. However, in some cases, nothing has been done to investigate the charges or attempt to adjust the dissension. The result has been a continued feud between certain factions.

The Student Senate and Panhellenic Council were established to cope with such situations. The matters of disagreement and disunity were to be brought before these governing bodies. In most cases, the matter has been settled to the satisfaction of all concerned, but in several instances, action has been deferred or forgotten altogether. Such acts of deferment are not excuses for disregard of the problems under consideration.

If these Councils are to serve their purpose as the bargaining agent for representative members, every matter brought before them should be satisfactorily concluded. Their existence is not, otherwise, justified, and they should be abolished. Their function as representative for all groups should be to serve all members collectively.

No expression of favoritism toward any one faction should be tolerated, nor sanctioned, by any group. The only means of impartial representation is by unanimous agreement. Discrimination and partiality are serious deterrents toward unity and harmonious relationships.

It is time something was done to reunite the student body into a whole. With the continued action of opposing forces, catastrophic results could emerge. The pinnacle of disunity could be reached and the entire student body would feel the impact of such repelling forces.

Music Notes

By George Harford

Stan Kenton is now on dance band tour through the country. He is expected in Florida next month. In mid December he plans to return to California to start rehearsals on his concert orchestra. He expects to pick up Vido Musso and Laurindo Almeida for his concert tour.

Ray Anthony's band is sweeping the nation with its new popularity. He opened up last month at the Hollywood Palladium.

Tony Martin replaced Dick Haymes on the "Carnation Contented Hour." Haymes headed east to play theaters. Jo Stafford continues as usual.

Billy Eckstine is signed to make a short flicker before March. It is not the seven year deal his handlers sought.

Remember Muzzy Marcelino, guitarist and singer with the old Ted Fio Rito band in the 1930's? He's back in business as music director of the "Life-With Linkletter" TV show.

There's still gold in them thar jingles—radio variety. Chevrolet just paid $20,000 for seven commercials running three minutes each. Dorothy Shay, Dick Haymes, Tony Martin, Dick Powell, Ginny Simms, Lauritz Melchior and John Charles Thomas each got $2,000 for singing and musicians behind them bagged $5,500.

Wake Up & Think

By Pankey Hall

Interest and enthusiasm for an honor system at the University of Tampa is increasing. Many favorable comments were received following an appeal in this column last issue.

The honor system works something like this: Before students are allowed to register, they are told about the system and how it affects them. They must then sign a pledge, promising to uphold the system. Those prospective students who don't care to make such a promise are not permitted to register.

To uphold the system, a student must (1) refrain from receiving aid during examinations, (2) refrain from giving aid during examinations, and (3) cheating, to the honor committee.

This honor committee is composed entirely of students. They hold a trial, allowing the defendant any witnesses he chooses. If the accused is acquitted, the records of the trial are burned, and good-will prevails. If he is found guilty he leaves the school immediately.

This system, or variations of it, is working in many universities today. The fact that it is working is proof that the students approve of it. They like having no oppressive "guard" present during the exam. (The professor leaves the room after distributing the quiz papers.) They like being permitted to leave the room for relaxation. They like knowing that all students will be graded on what they knew when they entered the room.

But there are deeper, more fundamental, feelings involved in the honor system. Those students living under the system appreciate being associated with men and women who are honest for honor's sake—not for fear of being caught in dishonesty.

They know that the reputation of their school has been greatly enhanced by the installation of the honor system. They know also that the individual student is looked upon with greater respect by all who are within the sphere of influence of the university. J. R. Roberson pointed out in his article which was quoted at length in this column last issue, "Merchants in Charlottesville will cash the check of any University of Virginia student if he has the currency to do so."

One phase of the honor system causes some new students to balk. They will promise not to cheat, but they are hesitant about promising to "squeal" on a fellow student. This attitude is lamentable.

In a democracy, citizens must assume many duties that are not required in some other forms of government. Among these duties is the aiding in law enforcement. We must serve on juries; we must act as witnesses in the courts of law; we must report suspicious actions of other citizens of a democracy, we must uphold our own honor, and we must protect and defend the honor of our community.

So, reporting a student for cheating, through regular honor system procedure, would be far removed from "squealing." It would be the duty of an honorable student.

Notify VA Of Service Recall

Veterans recalled to active military duty while they are receiving benefit payments from Veterans Administration can save themselves and the Government a lot of trouble by notifying VA immediately of their recall, VA said today.

These benefit payments include GI Bill or Public Law 16 subsistence allowance and compensation for service-connected disabilities.

The law does not permit a veteran to receive such V-A payments once he goes back into uniform. T. M. Rives, Assistant Manager, Pass-A-Grille Regional Office of the Veterans Administration, explained.

He added that if a veteran receives such a payment covering any period after he has entered active duty, he should return it to the V-A office which has his records. Otherwise, it will remain as an overpayment against him until disposed of.

The notification to VA of recall to active duty should include the veteran's "C" (claims) number, his complete name and address, the amount of the VA payment, what it's for, and the date he is to go back into service.

The veteran should send this notice to the VA office handling his records, Mr. Rives emphasized.

LACKADAISICAL ATTITUDE

FOR MORE SCHOOL SPIRIT

By Freddie Spencer

This school year started off with a bang. Everyone was right in there pitching to make this the best school year ever. The Freshman Class was hot and ready: wide-spread interest in all activities was exhibited; representation in all groups was their goal. New clubs were formed and a greater interest taken in furthering the old groups. Campaigning was off to a good start and much heated contesting ensued.

The Homecoming was a big event and every student was in on the plan to make this the grandest of all. Fraternities, sororities and independents, alike, were all putting plenty of effort into building floats, decorating, planning for entertainment and, in general, formulating a gala event. It seemed just everyone was in on everything.

But, all too soon, interest began to wane. The Freshmen forgot that they were Freshmen any longer, ignored wearing of their rat caps, scurried from the campus as soon as the last class was dismissed and seemed to lose any desire to add to the general spirit of the school. New members of clubs and independent groups soon forgot to attend meetings and didn't care if the club continued to exist or not. After all, they were just members; or if they were an officer, they couldn't command attendance by the other members, so lost interest themselves. That common "don't care" attitude had set in. It was catching, and everyone had caught it.

However, a very small nucleus had remained immune to this campus-mania and were struggling along as best they could, doing just about everything. The school paper and yearbook, clubs and other groups had to get by with a minimum of help. It has become a tough job to maintain any type of activity in furtherance of school spirit.

This lackadaisical attitude has

Secondary only to the House of Representatives is the move to establish, in a position to act in conjunction with the faculty, disciplinary committees on various matters.

The plans and ideas mentioned herein are believed to be rungs on the ladder of which we shall climb toward a brighter and more enlightened future. This is a basic plan of which major colleges, both large and small, throughout the United States, have made use of some variation in framing their student government constitutions. The single student senate is no longer practical. In order for the University to advance, the student government must catch up with the times, or we shall completely and forever be left enveloped in cobwebs.

"Students given such freedom in governing may make mistakes, but it is the duty of higher education to encourage and develop student leadership and civic participation, even at the price of error," said D. E. Deakins, dean of students at Illinois Institute of Technology. He added, "The ability of a college to absorb errors in student judgment is essential to effective student leadership."

NOW is the time for action. THINK reform. DISCUSS it with your fellow students and MAKE YOUR IDEAS PUBLIC.

been a serious set-back in all organizations. Such functions are almost a thing of the past. Their future looks dim. Are we going to stand by idly and see these ideals go down in defeat?

The University has accomplished a tremendous job in providing more of interest and recreation for the students. Now, it is up to us to do our job in maintaining these institutions. So, let's all get back in there and do our darndest to make Tampa U. a school worthy of acclaim.

It's up to you! The job cannot be done by a sustaining few.

WHICH DO YOU PREFER? BLONDE, BRUNETTE OR—

"Which do you prefer, blonde, brunette or redhead?"

That question will be asked every student at the University within the next few weeks. Prof. Darby's Statistics Class will be conducting a poll to find out your preference.

No, this isn't a joke; nor are they kidding. This idea is being utilized strictly as a statistical survey. The purpose is to acquaint the students with the various aspects of conducting a survey and to acquaint more students with each other.

Fourteen members of the Statistics Class have been assigned 75 students each to interview to determine:

- 1—Whether the student himself is blond, brunet or redhead;
- 2—What preference that student has; whether he prefers blonde, brunette or redhead.

Your individual preference will definitely be kept a secret. Only the total results will be made known. When all responses are in, the results will be tabulated and published in a later issue of the paper.

(Now, don't tell us you prefer a gray-haired Madame!

IRON CURTAIN IS A STARK REALITY

By Richard Martinez

Those of you who persist in thinking of the "iron curtain" as a figure of speech or as a myth fabricated by government officials listen to the experience of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Vail, Jr., who on a trip through the Scandinavian countries, had to cross a section of Russia and ran smack into the "iron curtain."

They traveled by train from Abo to Helsingfors through a part of Finland that now belongs to Russia. When the train arrived at the border it was stopped. The engines were changed and Russian policemen came aboard. The doors at the end of each car were locked and the policemen took their positions by them.

It was then that the "iron curtain" made its appearance. Sheets of metal one-half inch thick were placed before the windows of each car making it impossible to see what was happening outside the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Vail spoke to several Finnish governmental officials. These stated that on the train several fires had broken out and that some women had even given birth but little notice was ever given by the Russians on board.

Also, for some inexplicable reason, the train was stopped for a time in Russia.

Mr. and Mrs. Vail came to the conclusion: for the uninitiated, the experience was quite nerve shattering.

Mrs. Vail, a former University of Tampa student, and her husband left last March for a four month vacation trip which took them to Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark—and the aforementioned 50 miles of Russia.

They visited relatives in Sweden and Finland along with various other business and professional people. They also took in a little duck hunting and fishing.

They returned in July of this year.

SPONGE-CAKE CONCRETE

The same chemical ingenuity has gone into the improvement of housing and building. A number of new materials have been developed recently by industrial chemists for use in all kinds of construction. For example, a "sponge-cake" concrete can be made which is so much lighter than the ordinary mixture it may possibly be used for building water-proof roofs and insulating walls. It fulfills other purposes for which heavy concrete isn't suitable. The light weight comes from air bubbles which replace the sand usually needed. The Bureau of Standards in Washington reports that this concrete may solve some tough problems which have added to the cost of building.

MEMBER OF SOME NEW SECT?

A French Chapeau?

An eye-catching little hat made its appearance around the campus last week. It's quite unique (could it be a publicity stunt?)—not like most of the current vogues which have been in evidence. If it can be called such, it's more like a French beret than the traditional caps being worn by the Frosh.

It's brilliant purple, probably more appropriately called lavender, and white. It has a small bill, hardly visible, a white covered button on the very top and three strange-looking letters resembling the Arabic capital letters, KSK.

Music By Park Intricately Woven Colorfully Blended

Professor Stephen F. Park's Composition Recital on Nov. 14 proved to be one of the best recitals he has ever produced. The large audience was well pleased with the program. It was all modern music which was intricately woven.

His "Suite For Seven" was an amazing experiment with color. He exploited representatives of the reed, brass, string and percussion families into a colorful blend. Professor Park and Frank Barham, a young Virginia poet, collaborated to write two baritone solos, "Parted" and "Challenge." The words and music were put together so well that they gave the picture of a melancholy lover in his reminiscence of an old love.

"Sonata For Marimba and Piano" was contrasting throughout. The first movement was rather ethereal, followed by the second movement which contained several modern idioms. The last movement was fast which made a good show for the marimbist. "Adagio For Strings" was mainly contrapuntal but displayed splendid harmonic progression. "Concerto For Violin, Cello And Two Pianos" was less dissonant than the other numbers of the program. It received the most applause of all the numbers performed. Its romantic texture was in sharp contrast with the "Suite For Seven."

We are looking forward to more of Professor Park's fine interpretations of modern music.

The most unique fact about this brightly-colored tam is that it is being worn by the more illustrious members of our student body. Could it be for scholarship distinction, or some other outstanding achievement? Are they members of some new club, sect or subversive group?

The cap is conspicuous around the lobby and halls, but when the wearer enters the classroom, it seems to disappear. Whether this is a gesture of courtesy or from fear of attack by the professor hasn't been revealed. However, we prefer to believe it is removed merely out of due respect for the teacher.

Those wearers have been seen approaching certain other members of the student body with a tap on the shoulder, an exchange of several words and the obtaining of a signature. Could this be the manner of selection of a new member to this exclusive group? They should be investigated!

They have been seen on numerous occasions entering the club rooms of the Kappa Sigma Kappa Fraternity. They usually look through the door first, probably to make sure no prominent members of the Fraternity are present, then slither on into the room. Does the Fraternity know their club rooms are being utilized by other than KSK members?

No! It couldn't be! But, maybe you're right: those wearers are future KSKers. Let's see; there are:

Glen Adkins, Edwin Bell, William Brown, John Fernandez, Walter Hannold, Wilbur Jones, Justo Rodriguez, John Scheffer, Russ Shearer, Doyle Simmons and Freddie Spencer.

Yes, it's all very clear now. They are the new Pledge Class to Kappa Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

Wandering down the halls of Tampa U. Freddie, as Harlow Hassenpfeffer, is the wandering son of Maw Hassenpfeffer in the melodrama, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?". This melodrama is to be presented by the Les Farces organization after the Christmas holidays. The definite date will be announced later.

This is a melodrama in which the Widow Hassenpfeffer and her five little ones are on starvation at the old homestead, waiting for the only son, Harlow, to make his fortune in the world. The mortgage is due and the villain is about to take the farm. But at that moment Harlow returns with food and gold, and good triumphs over evil.

PSYCHOLOGICAL DRAMA AND EXPERIMENT

THE DREAM GIRL AND THE KILLER

The Drama Workshop of the University of Tampa is presenting its first three act production of the season, "The Dreamgirl and the Killer" an original psychological drama written by Dr. Marjorie Barstow Greenbie and students of the drama department, on Nov. 29 and 30, Dec. 1 and 2 in the Dome Theatre.

Two experiments in theatre will be tried out in the production. The first is a modern use of masks which have been a part of early theatre from the classical Greek to Japanese Noh. The masks being used were found in a Tampa dime store where Dr. Greenbie recognized their basic theatre cast. The second part of the experiment is the bringing of the Faust story into acceptable modern form. The signing of a pact between a man and the Devil has been a theatrical device often used. Most famous of these are "Doctor Faustus" by Christopher Marlowe, "Faust," by Wolfgang Goethe, and the opera by Gounald.

With the backing of the Administration and the physical effort of Tom Dodd, William Antonini and a crew, the stage in the Dome Theatre has been built out. William Bostick supplied paint and men to do the walls in buff and burgundy.

The production staff is headed by William Antonini and includes Louie Hoppe, Tommy Spicola, Paul Nunez, Jayne Anderson, Dorothy Cleotelis, Marion Terry, George Fairbanks, Carl Hay, Alex Hay, Chuck Carson, and Gloria Gonzalez. The cast is headed by Jean Steck and Charles Wadsworth, with Stanley Crocker, alternating in the male lead. Featured are Phyllis Hannon, Pat Dixon, James Menna, J. C. Goodfriend, Bobby Graham, Peter Hand, Paul Wegner, James Phillips, Jewelle Gibson, Peter A. Lawley, Charles W. Koch, Gloria Gonzalez, Lulu Belle Stalnaker. Original music has been improvised by James Phillips an original dance arranged by Mari Bec Stapleford.

Prof. Dees Writes For Encyclopedia Of Labor

Prof. Jesse W. Dees of the sociology department has been asked by the editors of the Encyclopedia of Labor to write two articles for the forthcoming edition of that work. The articles are "Vagrancy: Causes, and Cures" and "Shelterization: Its Process and a Program for Prevention."

The editors of the encyclopedia expect their publication to be the standard work in the field for some time and the official research source on labor throughout America.

During the first great season of the Tampa Bay Hotel, now the University of Tampa, 4367 guests were entertained. The hotel held its formal opening in February, 1891.

Homecoming Dance And Coronation

By Marjorie Christensen

All those attending the homecoming dance at the Davis Islands Coliseum will agree that it was a huge success and a well planned event of the Homecoming weekend.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the queen. Howard Sypher, the master of ceremonies, introduced our beautiful queen, Gloria Gonzalez and her court in a majestic atmosphere which was created with the effective lighting and fine music played by Don Francisco and his orchestra.

Gloria, who was sponsored by the G. G.'s is a tribute to the freshman class. She is the second freshman in succession to hold the coveted title of homecoming queen.

Our queen last year, Joann Henson, was also a freshman. The queen's court was composed of such lovely girls as Mary Esther Bartlett, Ann Ruth Beck, Shirley Rhodes, and Pat Batts. The Coronation was the most impressive one seen at Tampa University in many years.

The only thing missing at the dance was the presence of our football players, who were unable to attend because of the game the following day. It would be a great improvement in coming years if the dance could be held after the game so all could join in the festivities.

Many thanks to the Student Senate for giving us one of the best homecoming dances ever seen at Tampa U.

LAW ENFORCEMENT CANNOT BE WITH PUBLIC INDIFFERENCE

If organized gambling and other rackets are to be fought successfully, those who seek public office must be made to declare their stand on law enforcement before election and must be held to accountability after election, Daniel P. Sullivan, managing director of the Greater Miami Crime Commission and former FBI agent, told University of Tampa alumni at the Homecoming dinner.

Attributing the success of racketeers to public indifference and to 'public officials who, through ignorance or venality, refuse to enforce the law,' Mr. Sullivan called upon the alumni to assume the responsibility of their positions of leadership by being alert to every new threat of gangsterism in their home communities.

"This country today," he said, "is confronted with two major enemies—Communism from without, and gangsterism from within. Their methods are identical. By such arguments as that there always has been gambling and there always will be gambling, they succeed in convincing the public generally that there is no great evil in the gambling racket. The answer to that is that gambling corrupts public officials, and corruption will destroy our government."

EXCELLENT COOPERATION

U. Of Tampa Band Sent To F.S.U.

That the University of Tampa Band and cheerleaders were able to make the trip to Tallahassee Saturday for the Tampa U.-Florida State University game was due to the fine job done by Rudy Rodriguez, president of the University of Tampa Alumni Association.

Rudy had excellent cooperation from Pete Norton of the Tampa Morning Tribune, Will McKinley of the Tampa Daily Times, Milton Spencer of radio station WFLA and Sol Fleischman of WDAE. We are grateful to all these people for donating their services to this project.

"We also want to thank those who "dug down into their pockets." These contributors were:

The University of Tampa Athletic Association, which controls the Stadium, $150; Eddie Rouleau of the Tampa Dog Track, $100; Jim Warren and the Coca-Cola Company, $100; the M. E. Wilson Insurance Company, $10; Jim Montelione, a Tampa U. graduate now living in Chicago, $5; the Hyde Park Music Studio, $5; Theodore Lesley, $11.79; Paul W. Harris, $11.79; Ed Arthur, $3; Sam Buckalew, $5; Ed Blackburn, Jr., $5; Loper B. Lowry, $5; Plumbers' Local No. 624, $25, and Dr. C. O. Anderson of St. Petersburg, an alumnus of Tampa U.

Prof. Clyde T. Reed of the biology department attended a meeting of the Southeastern Section of the American Society of Bacteriologists Nov. 17 at the University of Florida, Gainesville.

ORGANIZATIONS

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club held its monthly Social Hour last Sunday. The purpose of the Social Hour is an informal get together for all members during which time coffee and cookies are served. The club's Corporate Communion was also held the same day at St. John's Church.

At the last meeting Father Hammond gave a short talk on the Church seasons.

NEWMAN CLUB

The members of the Newman Club are selling magazines to raise money for the club's treasury. The magazine, entitled "SPARK", has very interesting articles on the news of today, book and movie reviews, sport features and a few laughs. The publication sells for ten cents and is an excellent buy.

Father Mallon, at the last meeting, gave an interesting talk on the Albigenian heresy.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

A group represented the B. S. U. organization in Stetson on Nov. 15 and 16 at the Sims Allen Religious Building Dedication. Mr. Sims was the past president of Stetson University, and made it possible for this building to be started. Delegates from all parts of Florida were present, and the group from Tampa U. renewed old acquaintances.

Westminster Group

The Westminster Group, composed of all Presbyterian students, had a party on Tuesday, Nov. 7, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church. The highlight of the evening was the election of officers. The new officers are Verlin Gurnsey, president; Joyce Wiltse, treasurer; Harriet Mallard, secretary; Professor Keene is the faculty advisor of the group.

The Westminster group holds its meetings on the Tuesdays when there is no assembly, at 11:30 in its student room. The room is located in the right side of the circle above the library. All Presbyterian students are cordially invited to attend.

ZETA DELTA PHI

The Zeta Delta Phi sorority is planning their first Pie, Cake, and Coffee sale to be held at the University of Tampa before the Christmas holidays. Lula Belle Stalnaker, president, is in charge of publicity. Since it is the initial attempt of this young sorority to raise funds, it is hoped that all other Greek letter organizations will lend them a hand for as we all know it is harder for a young group to acquire furniture, redecorate rooms, rush, etc. than it is for the long established sororities. The progress shown by this group is to be commented upon especially for the work and expense, as well as time, that these girls put forth to enter a float in the Homecoming parade. Zeta Delta Phi alumni members, Louise Clayton and Vivian Law, who rode on the float along with Mary Sheridan, are also to be commended for their participation.

ALPHA GAMMA

Alpha Gamma sorority will hold an informal banquet and dance before the Christmas holidays begin. Sorority mothers and their daughters will exchange gifts thereby carrying out a tradition set by the sorority founders in 1936. Present plans include eats for the celebration. Rita Sosa and Dahlia Corces are making reservations for members and alumnae. Those who plan to go should contact one of these girls.

SIGMA THETA PHI

The Sigma Theta Phi sorority guarantees to "knock your hat off" with the dazzling setting for their annual Holiday Ball to be presented at the China Clipper, December 1. The theme is a "Chinese Holiday". Guests will be met at the door by a robed Chinaman, served by Chinese waitresses, entertained by a Chinese floorshow featuring the beautiful costumes of the Orient. Oriental lanterns will hang from the ceiling and the walls will bear the proverbs of Confucius—authentic ones, that is. Tom Bataglia will act as master of ceremonies for the floor show which includes semi-professional talent assisted by members of the sorority.

Dancing will be from nine to one to the music of Manzy Harris and his band. Clara Cuevas is in charge of dance arrangements and Sue Schaffer is planning the decorations.

Chaperones will be Dr. Herbert C. Laub, Dr. Sovington, Dr. and Mrs. Goodbar, Prof. and Mrs. Darby Miss Charlotte Thompson will be a feted guest as the sorority's faculty advisor. Dr. and Mrs. Ho will be guests of honor.

TAU OMEGA

The Tau Omega fraternity will hold its annual Candlelight Banquet and dance for members and alumni on Dec. 8 at the Palm Room of the Tampa Terrace Hotel. Victor Ruiz will provide music for dancing.

Honor guests include Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Nance, Senator and Mrs. Raymond Sheldon, Major and Mrs. Steck, and Coach Frank Sinkwich and Mrs. Sinkwich.

Nestor Lopez is making reservations and dance arrangements.

First Debate Of The Year Dec. 1

The first intercollegiate debate of the year will be with Florida Christian College Friday, Dec. 1 at 3:30 P.M. This debate will take place at the University of Tampa in Room 251.

On Nov. 30, the DEBATE SOCIETY ROUND TABLE on the debate topic of the year, "Should the Non-Communist Nations Form a New Organization?" will be conducted.

Members of the faculty will participate. The members taking part are: Dr. J. W. Covington, Prof. D. Urquhart, Dr. Sidney Greenbie and Prof. J. Keene with Professor R. McGillivray acting as moderator.

All persons interested are cordially invited to attend.

The Society will go to Stetson University for the annual non-decision practice debate with all of the colleges and universities of the State. The date is Dec. 9.

DELEGATES TO ATTEND FIPA-FISGA CONFAB

Delegates from The Minaret, The Moroccan and Student Senate will journey to Miami next week to represent the University of Tampa at the Fall Convention of the Florida Inter-collegiate Press and Florida Inter-Collegiate Student Government Associations. These delegates will take with them all matters pertaining to student publications and student government which have presented problems in the past. Such matters will be brought before the Convention to be discussed, and solutions will be offered by the other representatives as they pertain to all colleges in general.

The Student Senate will present such problems as the Honor System, Parking and other Senate regulations, and will seek answers to many of the difficulties which have been encountered during the year. It is anticipated that proper solutions will be found and, as a result our Student Senate will be more capable of coping with many future difficulties.

The Convention is scheduled for December 7, 8 and 9, at the Student Club on campus of the University of Miami. Delegates will be furnished room and board by the University. Carl Erickson will represent The Minaret, Freddie Spencer the Moroccan, and a delegate will attend from the Student Senate.

The Convention will open each day with a combined meeting of the two Associations. The remainder of the time will be devoted to panel discussions. Other social functions, including attendance at an Orange Bowl football game, and a Banquet will round out the Convention activities.

Chemistry 201 Class Is Tops

Congratulations are in order to members of last year's class in Chemistry 201, Quantitative Analysis.

The seven members of the class took the A. C. S. cooperative test last spring, and the results, just received by Prof. Laurence P. Geer, who taught the course, show they came through with flying colors, attaining a 90 percentile rating. This is in comparison with quantitative analysis classes from colleges all over the country.

The class was composed of Mary Ficco, James Russell, William Riley, Muriel Troughton, Clymer Noble, Robert D. Smith and Irving Philman.

RUDY RODRIGUEZ IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF TAMPA U. ALUMNI

Spartan Sports Spice

By JOHN MARZOLF

University of Tampa ended their 1950 football season last Saturday, when they went down in defeat at the hands of the Florida State Seminoles. Although there was 16 points difference in the scores, the Spartans did a fine job for three quarters in holding the highly rated Seminoles.

It was more than gratifying to see the fine turn out of Tampa University students who traveled to Tallahassee for the game. Most of them came via private automobiles and stood up very well under the northern weather which was prevailing in the State Capitol. In between efforts at keeping warm they did a fine job of cheering. It is certainly too bad that the game could not have been played under better spectator conditions, so that more people could have seen the two fine teams in action.

About the two trophies which have been presented to the school for presentation to the outstanding players on the football team. We would like to express our views as possible contenders for the trophies. On the defensive team how about: Ray Escobar, Tom Battaglia or Jack Marley. On the offensive team there is: Holland Aplin, Gene King or Vince Chicko (who played both offense and defense).

Another suggestion, this one to Head Coach Frank Sinkwich. In the near future you will be rounding up talent for the 1951 edition of the Spartan football team. We would like to suggest that in this round-up of prep stars you journey to near by Plant City and speak to Fred Cason who has been hailed as one of the best backs in the state. This lad who leads the prep scoring race in the Tampa Bay area stands 6' 3" and weighs 210 pounds. Besides being a big boy, he shows plenty of speed, and a fine passing arm. Add the fact that he can hold his own as far as kicking is concerned and you have a pretty good prospect for next year's squad.

Seven Players Dropped From Squad For Training Rules Infractions

We were sorry to see seven good men suspended from the football team several days ago. Every one of these men are nice guys and they could play good ball. The punishment meted out to them may seem harsh, but as athletes they were familiar with the training rules. It is too bad they forgot to abide by them.

Sinkwich's Circus

The suspension of these players hurt our chances against F.S.U. only inasmuch as the team lacked adequate time for closer coordination of gridiron plays. The cold weather in Tallahassee, which is not unusual, also hurt Tampa's chance to win. If Tampa had but a little more time and warmer weather, Sinkwich's Circus could have taken F.S.U. This is not an apology for the Tampa team, for it did give a wonderful account of itself. Next year the Spartan football team should rank as a number one threat against every team scheduled to meet it.

Coach's Decision

Coach Sinkwich's decision regarding the players breaking training certainly sets a precedent at the University of Tampa for future intercollegiate athletes. His decision which suspended seven players climaxed into the most successful drill of the season. Coach Sinkwich and his staff did a wonderful job in readying the new team for the F.S.U. game.

The Spartans soft speaking head coach is working very hard to produce fine athletes to represent the University of Tampa in intercollegiate sports. He has already won the admiration, in the short time he has been here, from the local citizens and the student body. The head coach has put Tampa U. on the map in the field of sports. The day of being the season's underdog is gone forever. His decision of suspending the violators of training rules was indeed an honorable step in the building of a team of men with high values equal to any in the nation.

Suspended Players

The seven men who were suspended from the team are John Natyshak, tackle; Ed Cassella, guard; Mike Rovnak and Jack Jennings, center; Dick Mace, tackle; Jim Hill, end and John Lahosky, quarterback.

Tickets On Sale For Basketball Season

Paul Myers, Athletic and Business director at the University of Tampa, announced recently the price of student and adult tickets to the Spartan's home games this year.

High school student tickets are 25 cents. Adults general admission tickets range in price from 75 cents to one dollar.

Mr. Myers also announced that he was taking orders for season tickets to the home games which are on sale for $14 and can be obtained at the University's Athletic office.

Tampa Drops Game To FSU Squad In Closing Contest

Nelson Italiano, a triple threat back for the Florida State Seminoles, spirited his team to a 35-19 win over the Spartans last Saturday in the final game of the season for the Tampa eleven. A bitter cold wind plus Thanksgiving holidays kept the attendance down to 2000 with only half remaining for the full time.

Favored Seminoles

The Spartans made a game stand against the highly favored Seminoles in the contest which found the players wearing gloves to keep warm. During the first three periods the Spartans allowed the FSU squad only two touchdowns, while scoring two of their own. In the last quarter Florida State's attack started to roll as they scored 22 points while the locals could only get one six-pointer.

Tampa Fumble

In the first period the Seminoles capitalized on a Tampa fumble which gave them the ball on the Spartan's five yard line. After two line plays failed, Mike Sellers crashed through from the five for a score. The kick was good.

The Tallahassee squad lengthened their lead when Italiano found end Bringger for a score. The point was missed. Tampa came right back with a score when Ray Jackson threw an aerial to Holland Aplin who took it on the Florida State 40-yard line and went the remaining distance for a score. Perrette's try for the extra point was no good and the half-time score was Tampa 6, FSU 13.

Second Period

Early in the second period Tampa tied the score when Charlie Harris took a pass from Jackson for the TD. Perrette kicked the tying point. The score remained tied until Italiano and company started the big fourth period.

With a strong wind in their favor the Tallahassee squad rolled to a quick touchdown on the second play of the fourth quarter. After the wind caught Aplin's punt and allowed it to travel only four yards, Italiano found his end Bringger in the end zone for a score.

Italiano Scores

Later in the period Italiano broke through the Tampa defense and went 27 yards for another TD. Then Brenner went 11 yards for a score when Aplin's kick from the end-zone traveled only 10 yards with the big FSU man grabbing it and going the distance.

Vince Chicko

Vince Chicko then took the kick off and ran it back 92 yards after a beautiful run which found him almost trapped several times. Tom Battaglia made the key block on the FSU 40 which gave the elusive Tampa back a clear field.

Final Minute

In the final minutes of play the Seminoles added another two points when they tackled Aplin in the end-zone for a safety.

Some 200 Tampa U. fans watched the game during the bitter cold at Campbell Stadium where the temperature did not get below the 34 mark.

Intramural Sports Slants

By Evan Karpel

The Beta Chi's, somewhat jubilant over Homecoming festivities last week, went into the final phase of the Intramural Football League riding the top position, with two victories, while the SKN's played only one contest, also victorious.

The Beta Chi squad roared over a win-hungry Tau Omega team on November 9, which needless to say is still looking forward to their first win. The final score was 34-0. A week later, the Beta Chi's scored a close 19-13 victory over strong Rho Nu Delta. This game was, after taking a look at the score, one of the most closely fought battles in the League, to date.

Meanwhile, the Sigma Kappa Nu team had to take a back seat, at least for the present time, as they had only one game scheduled, which they won 39-6 over Rho Nu Delta, on Nov. 14. The Rho Nu's, although losing by a big score, gained a moral victory in that they were the first team to score against the strong Sigma Kappa Nu squad this year.

Independents Tie for Third

While Rho Nu Delta lost to both top teams last week, the Independents slipped into a tie for third place as they smashed over the Ace Club 25-0, on Nov. 9. This was the second outing for the Ace Club. Neither was successful.

The Kappa Sigma Kappa's took a week off recuperating from their two defeats previous to this week's battles.

Another Big Battle

This game, between the two top teams, Beta Chi and Sigma Kappa Nu, looms as the biggest game of the season. Which ever team wins this one is most likely the winner of the League for this year. The game is scheduled for Nov. 30.

Although of lesser importance is the battle between the two third place teams: Rho Nu Delta and the Independents. Rho Nu will try to check the advance of the Independents, while the latter will be trying to gain a better berth in the standings of the League.

Beta Chi	5	0
Sigma Kappa Nu	4	0
Independents	2	2
Rho Nu Delta	2	2

OUTSTANDING ATHLETES TO RECEIVE TROPHIES

Trophies will be presented to the athletes most outstanding in football and basketball for this academic year. The trophies were presented in behalf of the University of Tampa to President Nance by the lovely starlet Miss Mary Hatcher at half time during the Homecoming game. Miss Hatcher's appearance was made possible through the auspices of the University Broadcasting Service.

The donors of these trophies are John B. Minardi and Hugh L. McArthur. Today, both these men are prominent Tampa attorneys.

John B. Minardi

John B. Minardi in 1932 was an intercollegiate boxing champion at the University of Florida. He also held the title of Southern Conference Bantam Weight Champion two times. In 1934-35 Mr. Minardi coached the boxing team at The University of Tampa.

Hugh L. McArthur

Hugh L. McArthur was a University of Florida basketball star in 1928-1929. In 1930-31 he coached basketball at St. Petersburg Junior College and St. Petersburg Junior High School. Hugh L. McArthur's award will be given to the outstanding basketball cager and John B. Minardi's award will be received by the outstanding football player.

Seven Judges

The judges who will select the athletes most deserving of these awards will remain anonymous until they agree to whom the trophies will be presented. This much can be said about the judges, they were selected from various walks of life and have been in close contact with the University's sports activities. This is to insure honest and unprejudiced selections.

Frank Czolgocz

Frank Czolgocz, by the way, is largely responsible for the arrangements of this affair. One professor remarked that Frank is a valuable student to the University and that he usually works in the background for this type of occasion and similar affairs.

This will be the only chance local fans will be able to see the Spartan cagers before they open their home season against Yale on December 27 at the Armory. The locals have what looks like a bright future with the return of the entire squad from last year which went to the semi-finals of the NAIB Cage Tournament in Kansas City last year. Season tickets are on sale at Paul Myers office, so why not urge your friends to get the good seats now for a top year in basketball. Many of the opponents this year were ranked near the top in the College basketball poll last year.

SPARTAN QUINTET BEGINS PRACTICE IN PREPARATION FOR OPENING GAME

By Jack Kichler

Sam Bailey, University of Tampa basketball mentor, officially opened the 1950-51 Spartan Cage season with an inaugural practice earlier this week.

With the end of the grid season, many ex-gridders will begin to turn their talents toward the basketball arena.

Bailey will have most of the players of last year's squad returning. Some of these cagers are: All-American Mac Williams, Jack Booros, George Montz, Harry and Avron Bryan, Bill Mullen, Bill Thrift, John O'Neal, Fred Baity, Jess Wavis, Jim Menna, and Holland Aplin.

Under the tutelage of Mike Gaddis, who resigned last year, the Spartans went to the semi-finals of the NAIB tournament at Kansas. They lost to the talented Indiana State Teacher's quintet in a nip-and-tuck battle all the way.

Tampa will be adding four new teams to their schedule this year:

University of Georgia, Yale, Louisville and Dartmouth, with most of these games scheduled on home courts.

The Spartan quintet will play a pre-season game this Friday at the Ft. Homer Hesterly Armory, against the MacDill Air Force Base. Tampa officially will open its basketball season on Dec. 6 at Villanova, where they will play in the first game of a cage doubleheader. The first home game will be on Dec. 27, against Yale, followed by Dartmouth, two days later.

Spartans Bow To Quantico Marines

Just as the fable of the mouse against the lion goes, so went the Tampa University Spartans against the Quantico Marines, last week in Alexandria, Virginia, with the Marines faring much better as they battled their way to a 48-0 win over the "Big Red" from Tampa.

Boasting such stars as Eddie LeBaron, who led the College All Stars, earlier this season, to a win over the pro-Philadelphia Eagles in the 1950 All-Star game; Bill Hawkins, who won fame at the Naval Academy a few years ago as Navy tied a strong Army team 21-21; and Hosea Rodgers, who was blocking back for Charley "Choo Choo" Justice at North Carolina a few years back.

LeBaron Stars

Led by the versatile talents of LeBaron, at the signal-calling position, the Marines staggered the Spartans with an amazing array of strength and talent.

LeBaron, who passed with exceptional accuracy, also ran, and on one occasion, went 99 yards for a TD. Bill Hawkins also carried the mail for the Quantico team with nice runs and good blocking.

Defensive Game

On the Tampa side, two boys shared the signal-calling duties, Ray Jackson and John Lahosky. Dan Sliman did well in his defensive quarterback position, ably assisted by Tom Battaglia, who held down the defensive fullback post very well.

Ray Escobar

The line, led by Ray Escobar, held up very good on occasions and the latter played a sparkling game at defensive end.

This was the first time this season that the University of Tampa grid machine was held scoreless.

TAMPA vs. FLA. STATE BY RADIO

A lot of us couldn't make it up to Tallahassee to see the Spartans battle F.S.U., and so had to listen to the game via ye local radio announcer who is probably a good guy, except for his "football lingo".
