Mr. Park To Play His Compositions

Will Give His Annual
Recital in University
Ballroom Tuesday

Stephen Francis Park, member of the music department, will present his annual recital of original compositions Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock in the university ballroom.

The program, showing his versatility, will include a variety of types of music.

Miss Elizabeth Becknell, daughter of Dr. Becknell, has written words for one of the numbers, "Spars."

The program will be as follows:

I. "Prelude and Fugue in D Minor," "Reflections on the Lake," from Water Suite; Henry Martin—"Variations on an English Folk Tune," written in comparative styles—Mary Haverstick.

II. "Spars," (words by Elizabeth Becknell); "Words for Music—Love Pictures of New Hampshire and Virginia," (words by T. S. Eliot); "De Good Samaritan," (words adapted by Louise J. Park)—John Trusler.

III. Mixed Octette: "The Lord's Prayer—Holy Bible, Book Divine," (words by John Burton)—Ena Robb and Daisy Lewis, soprano; Wanda Waters and Florence Flanders, alto; Henry Copps and Bond Giles, tenor; Hazen Carleton and Jack Armstrong, bass.

IV. Violin solos—"Nodurne" and "Berceuse"—Marie Lewis.

V. "Time, You Old Gypsy Man," (words by Ralph Andgson); "Pick It Easy," (Japanese lullaby); "The Verses"—Mrs. Ella Bryant Woods.

VI. "Quintet for Flute and Strings," Marie Lewis, first violin; Frances Alderman, second violin; Robert Stephens, viola; Williams Hayes, violoncello; Junior Spence, flute.

Accompanists will be Miss Haverstick and Mr. Park.

The program is subject to change.

President Mooney Addresses Women On Latin America

Developing of public relations and the advancing of cultural interests in Latin America, besides serving their own purpose, help commercial relations between the United States and Latin American countries, President Mooney told the University Women's group Wednesday night.

Mrs. Mooney was elected to the board of directors and Mrs. Guy G. Becknell, president, presided at the first meeting since the annual election.

"Through several corporations operating in South America," Dr. Mooney said, "Nelson Rockefeller is interested in such a plan to coordinate the cultural, political and economic interests of the Latin American countries, and the state department in turn has shown considerable interest in this phase of the Rockefeller movement."

Dean Sanford Injured, But Will Return Today

Dean Daniel S. Sanford received a head injury Wednesday afternoon when a filing cabinet, becoming top-heavy when two drawers were opened, fell upon him, knocking him to the floor. Unconscious for a while, Dean Sanford was taken to the Tampa hospital, where his injury was found not to be serious.

He left the hospital yesterday, attended President and Mrs. Mooney's reception for a while last night, and will be in his office again today.

"We Must Make Ourselves So Strong That No Nation Will Challenge Us"

—General Tinker

Miss Brown, Miss Smith Resign

Mrs. Hope McBryde To Be Dean's Secretary; Miss
Hyatt in Business Office

Miss Edith Brown and Miss Elizabeth Smith have resigned their posts at the University, effective immediately. Miss Brown was secretary to Mr. M. S. Hale, former dean and business manager. Miss Smith was his assistant in the business department.

There was no statement made as to their future plans. We all wish them success.

Mrs. Hope McBryde has been appointed as secretary to Dean Sanford. She has done special work at Forest Park University and the University of Wyoming. She has had 10 years legal experience and was secretary to the Hon. Geo. W. Maxey, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

She has worked as editor assisting Hon. Dudley Field Malone, former assistant secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson; Russell Doubleday of the firm of Doubleday, Doran and Company; F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Phyllis Bottome who wrote "The Mortal Storm."

Mrs. McBryde was secretary to the New York Examining Committee of the University of Virginia.

Miss Margaret Hyatt will occupy for the present the position held by Miss Smith. Miss Hyatt is a graduate of Duke University and the secretarial department of the Packard School of Commerce. She has been a teacher and has spent a number of years in business.

Miss Martha Jones who comes to the Business Office as assistant to Mr. Straus, is a graduate of Hillsborough high school with two years additional training at Brewster in the field of Business Accounting and Administration. Miss Jones has had experience in business before coming to the university.

Baptist Group To Hold Supper Meeting Tonight

The Young Women's auxiliary, unit organization of the B. S. U., will hold a supper and business meeting tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the Minaret room of the girls' dormitory.

After the supper a program on Baptist missions in Europe will be given under the direction of Betty McCord.

Commander at MacDill Field Urges Loyalty to Our Government

Brig.-Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, commanding officer at MacDill field, told of America's need for a strength "that no nation or combination of nations in the world would dare to challenge," and of the necessity for intense loyalty and service on the part of the young people of the nation, in an impressive assembly address Tuesday.

President Mooney introduced Cody Fowler, Tampa attorney and a reserve officer, who spoke also on the need for a strong national defense.

"The United States may be faced with the choice of three alternatives," Mr. Fowler said. "It may become a nonentity among nations, which none of us sees as possible; it may become a secondary power, or it may emerge from the world crisis as the greatest power on earth."

"This last possibility would come as a result of full and complete preparedness, so that we may combat any force we may be forced to meet. That is the only course for self preservation."

General Tinker's Address

General Tinker's address follows, in full:

I feel a deep sense of responsibility this morning in addressing you young people—a cross-section of the youth of our country—on the subject of "Youth and Its Relationship to our National Defense."

We of the passing generation inherited this glorious country and its blessings most lavishly endowed by nature and nature's God, with a government based upon the principle of free man and planned to safeguard man's freedom and equality, and we hope to pass on to a coming generation all of these things in their complete purity as we received them. This is a task of great magnitude.

We would like to visualize a continuance of this nation ruled by the same form of government and viewed with the same high principles of regard for man and man's desire for his freedom, and we shudder to think of the opposite, of the festering hatreds of Europe, of a decaying civilization attempting to perpetuate itself, not because it has value but simply because certain peoples like to enslave their fellowman in order to exercise a power which, I am sure, the Creator of the universe never intended.

As I said, to combat these evil influences is a task of great magnitude.

Duo-Piano Team Score In Concert

Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemenoff exhibited a masterful artistry as duo-pianists in the Tampa Civic Music association's opening concert of the season at the municipal auditorium last night, and responded graciously to repeated demands for encores. The audience demanded four encores.

The versatile artists moved with a confident ease and grace from the simplest of interpretations to an amazingly accurate display of rapidly alternated synchronization of fingering as expressed in Saint-Saens' ingenious "Variations on a Theme of Beethoven."

It was not until this selection was played, after four varied and well executed numbers, that the pianists attained the true height of their artistry. The selection itself is fascinating in the variations offered in the recurrence of its theme and this fascination was multiplied by the versatility of the Luboshutz-Nemenoff team.

Playing in superb duo technique, the pianists did not allow their mechanical perfection to detract from an injection of the human touch.

Their broad range of versatility varied from a delightful lightness of rhythmic touch to a vigorous and expressive strength, from the most casual trivia to the depths of emotional response.

In the graceful rippling at rapid tempo of "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," the music just rolled off their finger tips. The audience laughed appreciatively at the lightness of the fascinating scherzo. They played it as an encore.

Again, the audience sat in rapt silence as the pianists interpreted brilliantly Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Capriccio Espagnol," fascinating their admirers with the perfection of their technique, the rapidity and close coordination of fingering, and with the true spirit of their atmospheric interpretation.

Varsity Volley Ball Teams Beat Freshmen

The varsity volleyball team downed the freshman girls in the last intramural volleyball game of the season yesterday afternoon. High scorers were Alice Lee Sewall, varsity, and Muriel Yarborough and Marilyn, freshmen.

'Schools Are Vital Part Of Defense'

Carothers Cites Six-
Point Program for School Preparedness

M. W. Carothers, of the Florida State Department of Education, spoke at the Tampa Municipal Auditorium Tuesday on "Education for the Common Defense."

The meeting, sponsored by the Hillsborough County Teachers' Federation, was part of the activities carried on in connection with National Education Week. Dr. James E. Mooney, representing Tampa University and the private schools of Tampa, was a platform guest.

Mr. Carothers said there were three kinds of war—physical, economic, and ideological.

"In my opinion," he added, "America may not have to engage in physical war if she adequately defends herself, but she is already in the economic and ideological war. The schools are an important part of our defense, especially on these last two fronts."

Mr. Carothers cited a six-point program for the schools to undertake in the interests of common defense:

Six-Point Program

1. Give more material training and instruction in sciences.
2. Devote more time to health and physical fitness.
3. Give primarily to those parts of the school program dealing with human relationships.
4. Dramatize the development of our American democracy.
5. Develop an appreciation of American traditions and ideals—but without regimenting thought.
6. Develop civic attitudes, the will and ability to function as a citizen in a democracy.

Urges School Support

In closing, he urged continued and ever-increased support for our schools. "The ideals are absolutely essential to our defense for national security since war as never before depends upon all citizens and not just upon the strength of our armed forces," he said.

Professor Bunting, Dr. Denton and several students attended the program.

Association Official Lauds Dr. Mooney's Accreditation Work

The executive committee of the Board of Trustees learned yesterday from Dr. M. C. Huntley, of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, of Dr. Huntley's keen interest in the manner in which President James Elliott Mooney had taken hold of his duties at the university.

He said President Mooney was going about the procedure of accreditation in the proper manner and he was highly pleased and wanted to convey to the Board of Trustees his feeling of confidence for the future of the university.

Mrs. Sherman Recovering From Serious Operation

Mrs. John H. Sherman, wife of Dr. Sherman, former president of Tampa U., is recovering satisfactorily at Tampa hospital after a serious operation performed 10 days ago.

She was reported yesterday as being out of danger, and expects to leave the hospital early next week to return to her home at Babson Park, where Dr. Sherman is president of Webber college. While in the hospital she has been visited by several faculty members besides other friends in Tampa.

A NEW SENSE OF DUTY

In slowly measured words, quietly spoken but impressively, Brigadier-General Tinker, commanding officer at MacDill field, told the students Tuesday that this nation must be stronger than any combination in the world, so no combination will dare challenge it.

He told the students they will have a part in this program, already well under way. "The easy-going days are a part of the past," he said. "The future must bring to us a new sense of duty and responsibility to our country, a new concept of discipline."

And he added "a hope that you, one and all, will be intensely loyal to the principles of our government and our civilization, and that you will use the entire strength and the strength of your youth to combat every evil influence, regardless of its source, which seeks to undermine the principles of our government or our civilization."

These words, quietly spoken by a man of action, have a tremendous meaning to every student at Tampa U.

"Sense of duty and responsibility . . ."—College, if anywhere, should be a training ground for duty and responsibility. It should teach young men and women to set aside the lighter things of life, to meet the responsibilities they will have to face in later years.

This responsibility will be gained only through, to quote the General again, "a new concept of discipline." It is only through a rigid and well-controlled self-discipline that a college student is able to do the work assigned to him by which he may earn his degree. College work may be accomplished only through this regimentation.

These interpretations apply to all colleges, at all times. The General meant more than that. He meant a realization of duty, and responsibility and a discipline that will fit the young man and woman of today into the more exacting demands of the crisis this nation is facing.

But that discipline may be gained only after one has trained himself to meet the daily demands of an average life.

In this daily self-discipline, the fun-loving American youth is rather lacking. But a bright side of the picture is the fact that, when faced with a crisis, the American youth knows how to, can, and will come through.

As to the General's final hope: Some Universities and Colleges have anti-American groups, or individuals—Communists, Fascists, bund members.

We feel that Tampa U. is American, through and through. We feel that Tampa U. students will not let any talker of "isms," however disguised, swerve him from The American Way, from the ideals of our Democracy. We have already seen how the other systems work. How could we think and act any way except the American way of Democracy?

In The Social Spotlight

Dear Maude:

Things are really in a hub-bub this week 'cause everyone is trying to catch up on the things that they didn't get around to doing last week, and at the same time make plans for this week-end.

Homecoming was really a superb thing and the sororities around school put on their best for the alumni at the luncheons and suppers.

Deke were the first to entertain for homecoming when they gave a luncheon Friday. The table was decorated with the sorority colors of red and white, and corsages of tiny yellow mums tied with the sorority colors were presented to those attending.

Alpha Gams honored their alumni members at a supper before the game at the Cricket. The sorority colors of green and white were used and place cards were in the form of majorettes. Alumni were given a huge chrysanthemum as a favor.

S. T. P.'s carried out the football theme at their luncheon Saturday. Goal posts decorated in the school colors were placed at each end of the table. Suspended from the post was a miniature football. Tiny footballs were given as favors of the luncheon.

Alpha Gam pledges gave the members a wonderful dance Saturday evening at the Villa. Many of the boys from the north were impressed with the dance pavilion over the river.

T. O. pledges will play hosts to the members tomorrow night when they give a big hayride in their honor. All hope on their destination, etc., is "one great big secret."

Deke pledges will go to work this week-end when their sorority holds its house party at the Lucas cottage at Haven Beach. Members have solemnly vowed to take life easy and let the "dear little pledges" get their hands dirty. Big attraction of the week-end will be the wiener roast for the gals' dates Saturday p. m.

All the characteristics and familiar scenes of the old barnyard will be in appearance at the S. T. P. harvest ball this P. M. And there will also be a prize for the "hickiest" costume.

Haystacks, cider jugs, sugar cane, corn stalks, and what not will be around. So haul out your old farm clothes and your old straw hat and come on out and swing your "podner." See you there. Bye now.

Love—

M. M.

Week-End Quiz

We are holding a meeting this week of the business men who have joined with us to develop the possibility of a closer relationship between business and education. The citizens of Tampa are very enthusiastic about the prospects of service in connection with this cooperation.

Mr. Kenneth I. McKay, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has written me a very interesting letter in this connection, an excerpt of which I quote:

"I have read with much interest the memorandum of your proposal to organize a committee of Tampa business and industrial leaders for cooperation with the University in broadening the educational program, and feel fully in accord with your ideas. You may depend upon me for earnest cooperation."

We are being called upon to meet the many challenges which are incident to the great program of national defense. Our first meeting of the business and industrial leaders with our University officials will have as its theme "Education and National Defense." I hope it will be possible for many of the students of the University to attend this first meeting which will be held in the assembly room at 4 o'clock Friday, Nov. 15.

The whole cast of human thought and living may be changed by the technical devices that have emerged in the past and may emerge during this national crisis. Many of these devices make the various phases of education full of fascinating possibilities for the combination of creative forces toward the larger end of human achievement. We need not lose sight of the higher reaches of life and its cultural and its spiritual influences, yet we must face the realities of our industrial and business transition, and we must develop a program of study which will assist youth looking toward the business of tomorrow.

Baptist Publication Increases Its Sales

Forty copies of the December issue of the Baptist Student were sold this week, according to Alice June Wright, publicity director of the B. S. U.

"We ordered 10 copies the first month, 20 the second month, and 40 this month," she said. "We expect to order 50 or 60 next month and by January equal Stetson's record of 75 magazines a month."

General Tinker Urges National Strength

However, I think we shall be equal to the task.

The present world crisis, which must be met now and met promptly in order to preserve our national independence and the principles of government which we cherish so dearly, is mainly the responsibility of my generation. However, it makes no difference how well and thoroughly we perform that task, the same task will fall on your shoulders at a later date.

A Wasted Effort

Most of you were either children or not yet born when we fought a war to end wars, to preserve the principles of democracy, to have on this earth free man ruled by governments not set up to tyrannize him but simply to help him in his struggle to happiness and contentment.

You know now what a wasted effort that war was. At the end of 22 years practically every country that was engaged in the last World War, with the exception of ourselves, is again engaged in the wholesale slaughter of their fellowmen.

This being true, we can no longer delude ourselves with the dreams of a utopia, with even the remotest idea of a lasting international peace. That is a sad thought and I hesitate to propound it to you, and I am sure I would not have the courage to do so unless I thought that it was the only way to get to you the thoughts which must have your serious consideration during the next few years of your life.

If we consider then that we are unable in any way by friendly and peaceful methods to establish in the world a lasting peace based on understanding and friendship, we have left to us only the one alternative—to so strengthen ourselves that we can maintain here in our own country the outpost of civilized man.

We are now strengthening ourselves for that purpose. We are building war machinery night and day. We are feverishly at work training our people in the use of these weapons of destruction. The training must of necessity be thorough and conclusive. To survive we must build for ourselves complete defense.

This of necessity will bring certain variations in our national life. The easy-going days are a part of the past. The future must bring to us a new sense of duty and responsibility to our country, a new concept of discipline, and a new vision of the relationship of the citizen and the government.

As you all know from your study of civil government, particularly the government of these United States of North America, the government draws its power from the people, and the strength or weakness of the people is directly reflected in the strength or weakness of the government.

No democratic government can be strong unless it is elected by a strong people, by a people to whom the principles of that government are considered as a sacred trust.

A Priceless Heritage

We have a priceless heritage, both in our form of government and in the resources with which nature has endowed us. We have used of it lavishly without any great personal effort on our own part.

The time is now here when every effort must be made in order to preserve that heritage. We can no longer drift and expect the morrow to take care of itself. We must awaken to a determined national consciousness, otherwise we are liable to be pushed down the path of ruin and humiliation.

The making of war is no longer a contest between two armed teams with the rest of the country looking on from the side lines.

Make Ourselves Strong

War of today involves every national of the country which is at war. Every resource which the country owns and all of its scientific effort will come into play when a nation such as ours goes to war.

I believe as far as we are concerned war can be averted but only by one method, that is by making ourselves so strong that no nation, or combination of nations, in the world would dare to challenge our strength. This, I think, we will do.

I think the American people as a whole are aroused to the necessity of defending themselves if necessary against the entire world. This means that you young people will have to take your turn at service as will all of the other hundreds of thousands that will be trained within the next few years in the art of war.

As we consider the black side of the picture, we must never lose the light. In all our training in the most horrible methods of destruction, we must never for one moment get away from the thought we are a peace-loving people, that any preparation, any training which we undergo for the making of war is not because we want war but because we want peace and the freedom to fulfill our destiny in life as a free people.

Urges Intense Loyalty

You owe to yourself, to your country, and to your God to lend every possible effort, to undergo any necessary hardships for the preservation of our country and particularly of our type of civilization. If that is lost, there is no life worth living.

In closing I would like to leave with you a hope that you, one and all, will be intensely loyal to the principles of our government and our civilization, and that you will use your entire strength and the strength of your youth to combat every evil influence, regardless of its source, which seeks to undermine the principles of our government or destroy our civilization.

Sigma Theta Phi's Harvest Ball Tonight To Be Colorful Event

Barnyard Theme To Be Featured in Decorations;
Sponsors Are Announced

A large attendance is expected at the Sigma Theta Phi's annual Harvest Ball tonight from 9 to 12 o'clock in the university ballroom.

Decorations as usual will be extraordinary and will carry out the barnyard and harvest theme to every detail.

All are expected to dress in the farm manner, and an unusual prize will be awarded for the "hickiest" costume. Val Antuono's orchestra will play for the dance, and will swing out with old-fashioned square dance numbers along with the new ones.

Sponsors for the occasion are the Misses Elva Parodie, Lorraine Nicholson, Anne Marie Hargan and Virginia Schneck.

The decoration committee is composed of the Misses Gloria Gutierrez, Juanita Guerra and Lorraine Nicholson.

Tau Omega Pledges To Give Hayride

Pledges of the Tau Omega fraternity will entertain members and their dates at a hayride and party at Horseshoe lake tomorrow night. All members, pledges, and their dates are asked to assemble in the lobby of the university at 6:30 o'clock.

Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. David E. Bunting and Mr. and Mrs. William Walsingham.

Sigma Kappa Nu's To Have Luncheon

Members of the Sigma Kappa Nu fraternity will have a luncheon at the Crescent Grill Monday at 12:30 o'clock. Pledges and alumni also are to be present.

The plans for the annual Christmas ball have begun and members are urged to attend the next meeting as the plans must be completed immediately.

DK's Will Spend Week-End at Beach

Members and pledges of the Delta Kappa sorority will hold a week-end house party tomorrow and Sunday at the Lucas cottage at Haven Beach.

A wiener roast for the guests and their dates will be held on the beach Saturday night.

Chaperons will be Miss Ruth Moffatt and Mrs. Helen Dix.

Miss Melber Named Officer of Florida Home Ec. Group

Miss Caroline Melber was elected corresponding secretary of the Florida Home Economics Association at the group's annual convention at the Tides hotel on Redington Beach, St. Petersburg Saturday.

The Misses Mary Sears, Ellen Rice, Genevieve Sultenfuss and Jackie Jameson served as pages, and Dr. Minna C. Denton and Miss Melber represented the University of Tampa.

As the highlight of Saturday's program Dr. Benjamin R. Andrews, professor of household economics at Teachers College, Columbia University, gave an interesting talk on Family Economics and Dr. Denton gave as her part of the program a report on Consumer Education.

More than 200 guests attended the luncheon Saturday at the Bath club, followed by a motorcade visiting St. Petersburg's most interesting spots.

The World Federation of Education Association will hold a conference in Havana Dec. 26, 27 and 28, and Dr. Andrews has invited Dr. Denton to give a paper on "Food Science and Food Teaching" at the meeting.

Attend Brilliant Event;
Students Aid in Serving

At one of the most brilliant social events of the University's season, President and Mrs. James E. Mooney entertained members of the board of trustees and their wives, and faculty members and their wives, at their Bayshore boulevard home last night.

More than 100 persons attended this first gathering of trustees and faculty members, at which students assisted with hospitalities and with serving.

The students assisting were Miss Odessa Dietrich and Miss Olga Martinez of Alpha Gamma sorority; Miss Jackie Jameson and Miss Juanita Guerra, of Sigma Theta Phi; Miss Lucie Lee Marsh and Miss Tookie Jackson, of Delta Kappa; Miss Betty Berlin and Miss Nouna Hitchcock.

Tampa Professors To Be Speakers at Science Meeting

Three Tampa U. professors will be speakers at a meeting of the Florida Academy of Science in St. Petersburg Tuesday.

Dr. Guy G. Becknell will speak on "Tests for Determining Prime Factors" which is a new improved method originated by him.

In the current journal "Proceedings of the Florida Academy of Sciences," Dr. Becknell has an article on the same topic and on his "Cyclo-Geometric Series."

Willard B. Phelps will discuss "Heavy Minerals in the Beach Sands of Florida," on which he has been working for several months.

W. Porter McLendon will speak on "The Sugar Policy in the Everglades," an important controversial issue at this time.

The Academy is the largest scientific group in the southern states, and includes biological, physical and social sciences.

In This Corner

By EYE CUE

Well, chilluns, Mr. Cue is wondering if you are waiting impatiently to find out what the future has in store for you.

Judging from the number of studies who took the Vocational Guidance test, you must be quite anxious to learn whether you are destined to be a plumber, streetcar conductor, ditch digger or perhaps an executive.

In view of the present international situation, we didn't see much sense in taking such a test, what with a career (short-lived perhaps) as a buck private staring us in the face. Curiosity got the best of us, however, so we took it anyway.

It was all very confusing.

"Do you like detective stories?"

"Are you timid?"

"Would you rather be an electrician than an auto mechanic?"

"Do you like double features?"

"Do you eat Wheaties for breakfast?"

"What brand of cigarettes do you smoke?"

Pardon—We seem to be getting off the subject, but that is the way the questions impressed us.

Our hats will be off to Dr. Freeman if he can decipher the papers.—Better still, we'll appoint him head prognosticator for Tampa U. and consult him about the outcome of football games—placing our bets accordingly.

Seriously, the faculty is to be commended for offering this opportunity to the students. We only hope the grading staff is not as bewildered by the answers as we were by the questions.

While we have our hats off, let's give a rousing cheer for our new drinking fountain. The class of '40 is again to be commended for this fine addition to our lobby. We can't help wondering, however, what's going to become of all those cigarette butts now that their favorite resting place is renovated. Don't be too surprised, professors, if you find a few butts in your mail boxes—seeing as how they are in such a prominent place. (The mail boxes, we mean).

In parting, just remember:

"You may send your sweetheart letters By the mail if you desire.

You may send a loving message o'er The telegraphic wire.

You may pen a sweet proposal, receive An answer divine.

But a kiss not done in person Is a failure every time."

Delta Kappa Sorority Honors Its Alumnae At Annual Luncheon

Homecoming Event Held
At Jacaranda Tea Room
For Former Members

The Delta Kappa sorority held its annual homecoming luncheon honoring the alumnae members Friday at the Jacaranda Tea Room.

The table was decorated with red roses in low white bowls carrying out the sorority colors. Those who attended were presented corsages of button chrysanthemums tied with red and white ribbons.

Mrs. Elizabeth P. Connally, faculty sponsor, was a special guest.

Those attending were the Misses Dot Hill, Mary Merle Jones, Beth Hotchkiss, Lola Ann Sparkman, Emma Jane Sacrey, Mary Cantrell, Caroline McDowell, Elizabeth Edwards, Alma Hanson, Kitty Ann Sweat, Sooky Jackson, Yolonda Finney, Betty Jo Mims, Lucie Lee Marsh, Carol Thomas, Frances Alexander.

Also the Misses Frances Alderman, Jean Pryor, Ann Kelly, Frances Sessions, Margaret Davis, Phyllis Flanagan, Hilda Bethea, Carol Neef, Florence Woodruff, Florence Rogers, Mary Eve and Stella Rogers and Mrs. Henry McMullen and Mrs. Royce Monts.

Methodists To Have Fish Fry Tonight

The Methodist Students' Organization will entertain with a fish fry at Bullfrog Creek tonight. Any Methodist student is welcome.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday night, Nov. 26, at 8 o'clock, at the Hyde Park Methodist church, and all interested are urged to attend.

This week's program was devoted to music, Miss Lula Blake Gibson, in charge of the program, gave a brief account of the meaning and the purpose for the writing of "Abide With Me" and "The Old Rugged Cross." Jack Armstrong sang "The Lord's Prayer."

THE MANHATTAN CAFE

210 EAST LAFAYETTE

Introducing More Frosh Gridsters

JUNIOR THORNTON—Tackle from Frost-proof, where he was football and basketball captain last year and a leading linesman of the Ridge Conference. Good on offense, he's also a baseball catcher and basketball guard.

BILL LASSAN—End, from Lakefield high Chicago, three years and captain last year. He's an outfielder in baseball season, basketball guard, and was an oarsman in the Chicago regatta. He's big and strong, and he'll get along.

JOHN CLEMENTS—Twice all-conference fullback from Bunnell, he's off to a good start in Tampa U. grid activities. He's a forward in basketball, and may fill a much vacant position on the mound for the Spartan baseball team.

HENRY HARDIN—Another Clearwater boy, and they do pretty well at Tampa U. He's a wingback with three years experience; helped beat Plant 15 to 0, and ran 56 yards to beat Palmetto. He plays baseball; hopes to make the Spartan champ team.

BILL MYERS—Center, but was a halfback and center down in Arcadia for three years. His toughest game was the 13-12 Fort Myers battle last year, a thriller, and always a big game at Arcadia. Bill's a boxer, and plays baseball too.

OLIN COOKSEY—Frosh president, three-letter man every year at Madison high; on the team that lost to Pine Bluff, Ark., for national six-man championship. He's a tailback, as Rollins frosh learned; a track man, plays baseball and basketball.

Volley Ball Team To Meet St. Petersburg College on Challenge

The girls' varsity volleyball team will play St. Petersburg Junior college in the near future in response to a challenge received from St. Petersburg. There will probably be two games—one in Tampa and the other at the Sunshine City.

The Tampa U. team came out of the city league winning two and losing three of their games.

Members of the team are Louise

Griffin, Deltina Diaz, Jackie Jameson, Odessa Dietrick, Alice Lee Sewall, Dolores Menendez, Marie Sherman and Margie Segall.

Champ Williams Heads Physical Ed Club

The Physical Ed club elected Champ Williams president, at its first meeting of the year, with Johnnie Kaufman as vice president, Louise Griffin, secretary, and Howard Beynon, treasurer. Plans were discussed for activities during the school year to further the interests of sports and athletics at Tampa U.

Spartans Score 52-0 On Petrels

Open Powerful Attack To Down Oglethorpe In Homecoming Game

Unleashing a powerful scoring attack, the victory-hungry Spartans rolled over a hapless but courageously fighting team from Oglethorpe, of Atlanta, last Friday night on Phillips field in celebration of Tampa U's sixth annual homecoming. The score was 52 to 0.

Higgin's men, uncorking a good running attack with Champ Williams as the spearhead of the attack, scored early in the first quarter to run up a 13-0 lead.

The Spartans continued the onslaught until the half-time score had 32-0 in favor of Tampa. In this uprising, that repeated itself in the second period, Coach Higgins used all of his men in beating the Petrels.

Coach Patrick praised the brilliant work of Champ Williams who scored five times—two being called back, and compared his running to Frank Strickwick, sensational sophomore of Georgia. Georgia beat Oglethorpe earlier in the season 53 to 0.

Tampa came out of this game in fine shape, much better than Oglethorpe, who cancelled their game this week with Stetson because of injuries.

With the squad in top condition, the outlook for an upset victory over Rollins can be expected in the last game of the year next week, Nov. 21.

Between halves, the Tampa University band, which has won favor and praise as the best band in the state, entertained the Alumni by marching into a big letter "A".

Dekes, Alpha Gams Win in Shuffleboard

Delta Kappas defeated the Plebettes in shuffleboard yesterday afternoon, winning both the singles and doubles, as Carroll Thomas overwhelmed Alice June Wright by 77 to minus two, and Dot Hill and Mary Merle Jones rolled up a score of 100 to two over Wright and Norma Myers.

The Alpha Gams defeated the S. T. P.'s in singles and doubles, Berwanger, 52; Thonneson, 18, singles; Pardi-caris and Berwanger, 80; Guerra and Thonneson, 72, doubles.

Waters, Sigma Theta Phi, defeated Myers, Plebette, 57 to 30, and the Plebettes Myers and Wright won over S. T. P.'s Sewell and Waters, 81 to 12.

Co-Op Plan To Keep School Clean, Get Club Rooms Arranged

The Student Council agreed yesterday to cooperate with Mr. Walsingham in keeping the university clean so he would have more time to help the sororities and fraternities with their rooms.

This calls for the cooperation of the whole school, first in placing waste baskets in proper places and, second, in using them.

Mr. Walsingham said if he didn't have to waste so much time in picking up after the students he could help fix up their rooms.

Spartans, Jr., Hold Rollins In 13-6 Tilt

Cooksey Runs 63 Yards In Armistice Day Game at Lake Wales

Coach Fred Manucy's Baby Spartans aided by a sensational run of 63 yards by Olin Cooksey, elusive tailback, almost upset Rollins Larettes in a close game last Monday in celebration of Armistice Day in Lake Wales. The score was 13-6.

Because Rollins had beaten Miami Baby Hurricanes 25-6, and they in turn had beaten our squad 26-0, the outlook was black, but our boys played inspired ball, and bad breaks on a fumble and blocked punt lost the game.

Bill Tason, end from Chicago, stood out in the line as did Jim Daniels, guard from Kentucky.

Dr. Laub Lectures On Visit to Mexico

Dr. C. Herbert Laub gave an enlightening picture of the Mexico of today, as gathered from his recent visit, at a meeting of the International Relations club Tuesday night. Jack Goodson and Frank Maniscalco were program chairmen.

Dr. Laub pointed out its likenesses to Europe, its unspoiled countryside, the influence of the church on life of the people of the present and past. The vividness of his talk was enhanced by photographs which he took himself.

COOLER, Milder, BETTER-TASTING

With Chesterfields the smoking situation is always well in hand—because Chesterfields have what smokers want.

Chesterfield's right combination of American and Turkish tobaccos makes it the smoker's cigarette.

Do you smoke the cigarette that SATISFIES

YEARS OF PAINSTAKING STUDY and research have put Chesterfield far out in front in the blending and preparation of tobaccos to give you a cooler, better-tasting and definitely milder cigarette. (As seen in the new film "TOBACCOLAND, U. S. A.")
