Plans are being made for an exhibition of the work of the art students of T. U. which will be followed by a reception. ### AN INVITATION—

The Music and Dance Departments will present their recital at the Municipal Auditorium, Tuesday, May 8, at 8 p. m., under the direction of Mr. Wiltse and Miss Moffatt. You and your friends are invited to attend.

NEW MEMBERS, PLEDGES JOIN ALPHA MU TAU

Fraternity Also Gives Spring Musicales

The Alpha Mu Tau music sorority pledged two new music students yesterday, and took in six as members into the honorary music fraternity. At the candlelight ceremony, in Mr. Wiltse's studio, Glenna Hill, Mary Jane Lewis, Jennie Cusmano, Evelyn Jewell, Rose Marie Dolly and Gladys Ford were taken in as members of the group, while Eugenia Exum and Mildred Du Bois were pledged to the sorority. After they took their oaths from the president, Dot Mallard, they were welcomed by the sponsor, Mrs. Wiltse. Each was given a corsage.

At the meeting following the pledging, election of officers was held for the coming year. These officers will be announced in the next issue of the Minaret, after they have taken their oath of office.

Last night, May 1st, the Alpha Mu Music Fraternity also held its annual Spring Musicales at the Federated Clubs building. To open the program, Miss Hazel Bryan played the first movement of the Greig Piano Concerto. Mr. William Mathis supplied the second piano accompaniment. During the intermission following the concert, Dorothea Mallard, president of the sorority, welcomed the guests and presented to them the sorority's new members and pledges. Miss Mallard also thanked the sponsoring patroness group, and expressed her deep appreciation to Mrs. Lyman Wiltse for acting as advisor for the group.

After the intermission, the program took on a lighter vein, as Professor Lyman Wiltse presented the University All Girl Unit, which is composed of the chorus and orchestra which has performed all year for servicemen in this immediate area.

A reception, arranged by the Patroness group was held in the foyer of the building, following the program. Mrs. Richard Jackson, president of the Patroness group, was in charge of the reception.

Masquers Plan Play For Presentation

When the 313 Masquers met Thursday morning, April 26, a report on several plays for possible presentation was given by Catherine Campbell to the seven members who attended. She chose "Are Men Superior?" a one-act comedy which will be presented if Dr. Angus, advisor, decided that it is suitable. Action will be taken at a meeting to be held in the speech room tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

LIBRARY NOTICE

Will the girl student to whom, during Easter vacation, probably on Saturday, March 31, a soldier gave the following books to be returned to the Library, please bring these books to the Library at once, so that the soldier patron's account can be cleared:

Who's Who—

By Dalia Lera and Joan Burnett

Catherine Bowen

Catherine Bowen, a junior majoring in physical education, expects to receive her BS in Education. The many achievements that have been added to her name began in her freshman year when she was the only frosh girl that was an officer of her class, being secretary. She was also a defense council member, co-chairman of the defense bond and stamp sale, a member of the girl's glee club and chorus, President of Delta Kappa pledges, reporter of the Minaret, and a member of the volleyball and basketball teams.

In her sophomore class, she was the President, feature editor of the Minaret, a member of the varsity basketball and volleyball teams, sergeant-at-arms of her sorority, assistant of Miss Moffatt in physical education.

In her junior year she was elected again by her classmates to be President; she was also Captain of the Varsity basketball and volleyball teams, Associate Editor of the Minaret, Sports Editor of the Moroccan, a member of Pan Hellenic council, a member of the Student Senate, head Intramural manager, Sponsor of the Spring Formal, selected by the Student Senate. She is also a member of the Orchestral Club, "T" club, and a member of the 313 Masquers.

She is the only junior that is listed in the 1944-45 Edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Although Catherine devotes a great deal of time at the University in studies and extra-curricula activities she also works part of the time at the Tampa Morning Tribune.

Her interests in people is Catherine's main attraction in life as well as all athletics.

Betty Faye Cumbie

This week we take pleasure in presenting Miss B. F. Cumbie and Miss Catherine Bowen, the two candidates for president of the Student Body.

Betty Faye Cumbie, a junior majoring in sociology and minoring in history and government, expects to receive her degree in B. S. in Education. Miss Cumbie is secretary-treasurer of the Sigma Theta Phi Sorority, was president of the pledges and was elected the most outstanding pledge of the sorority.

During her freshman year, Miss Cumbie was president of her class, enlistment vice president of the B. S. U., freshman editor of the Moroccan, played basketball and volleyball, was reporter for the Tribune, business manager of the Minaret and reporter for the sorority.

During her junior year, Miss Cumbie has been representative of the junior class to the student senate, social vice-president of the B. S. U., news-editor of the Minaret, is a member of the "T" club, La Tertulia, Spanish club.

Upon graduation from H. B. Plant High School, Miss Cumbie was awarded the four year scholarship based on scholarship, leadership and social activities.

Betty Faye is 5' 3 1/2" tall, weighs 110 pounds, has light blue eyes and a parted chin. Freckles are her main attraction.

Although Betty Faye is very interested in Radio Work and is presently employed by station WDAE in the control room, she hopes to make social work her main aim upon graduation.

Eavesdropping Reporter Asks Prospective Graduates Of Their Future Plans

By MARGARET HAVLIK

Temporary plans have been made by the prospective graduating seniors when considering their plans for the future after leaving the University. Some students plan to resume their studies while others plan to benefit by the knowledge that they have obtained from our institution by putting it into practice. Still others plan to join another circle—the Matrimonial circle!

C. E. DeVore—I plan to teach in Florida; during the summer I plan to work on my Master's Degree.

Idelle Onur—I plan to keep studying and as soon as the war is over I'd like to tour.

Eleanor Fisk—I'll spend the summer packing my clothes and moving out of the Dormitory. Next winter I plan to see what it will be like to see the snow. As to my work—well it's a toss up right now.

Kitty Martin—Get married as soon as I can snag a man! I'll also try to forget what the text books look like. Dot Mallard—I'll work this summer probably and maybe next year I'll teach.

Bette Garrison—Get married, of course, and while Bill's at sea, I'll sit home remembering all the good times and people at Tampa U. After three years here at the University you really get attached to the place. Try it Freshman!

Margaret Havlik—It's about time I got a word in my own column. Yours truly is going to try her luck at teaching—yes; believe it or not—I'm still trying to overcome the shock myself.

Laura Mayor—Spend the summer recuperating so I can begin teaching in September.

Kathleen Wiltse—I want to devote time to the cello which hitherto I've not been able.

Nancy Marsh—I plan to save my money to make a trip to Paris to see Picasso.

Rosalie Mathis—I don't plan to do anything until I've gotten over the strain of election.

VARIETY OF NEW BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

Many Topics of Interest Represented in Pages

A variety of subjects is represented in the new books currently being added to the Library collection, as is shown by the partial list of recent acquisitions which follows:

Of outstanding interest on our campus is the new book, "Faith of Our Fighters," compiled by the new president of our university, Dr. E. C. Nance; a collection of views on faith and religion, expressed by men active in the service, ranging from chaplains, high-ranking officers, the regular soldier to "home-front" officials.

Sir William Henry Beveridge's "Full Employment in a Free Society;" proposals for post-war labor adjustment by an outstanding English political economist.

"The Use of Presidential Power, 1789-1943," by George Fort Milton; a timely history of the development of the presidency up to date; though provoking in this period of the beginning of a new chapter in that history.

The report of a survey made at Sarah Lawrence college, "Emotional Factors in Learning," by Mrs. Lois B. Murphy and Henry Ladd.

A selection of books in the field of home economics, but of interest to everyone in these days of necessity for careful planning in living, particularly with relation to homes, food and clothing; titles include:

"Mending Made Easy; the ABC and XYZ of Fabric Conservation," by Mrs. Mary B. Pickens.

Ruth L. Bonde's "Management in Daily Living."

"The Complete Book of Sewing; Dressmaking and Sewing for the Home Made Easy," by Constance Talbot.

Mrs. Marion D. Sweetman's "Food Selection and Preparation."

Turning to the fields of science and industry, there is the fascinating study of glass by Charles J. Phillips, "Glass, the Miracle Maker;" its history, technology and applications. The author is connected with the Corning Glass Works.

"Animals Without Backbones; an Introduction to the Invertebrates," by Ralph Buchsbaum; an understandable, somewhat popular presentation, splendidly illustrated.

"Plastic Horizons," by B. H. Well and Victor J. Anhorn; excellent study

Ask Aunt Carrie

Dear Aunt Carrie:

I'd like to run for an office, but I'm not in a sorority. Should I run anyway?

POLLY TISHUN.

Dear Polly:

Not in this school, it just isn't being done. What do you think this is, a democracy?

Dear Aunt Carrie:

I've been thinking of making some new signs for my campaign, but it seems rather useless, since they will probably be defaced. What do you suggest?

I. M. RUNNING.

Dear IMR:

Accusations that your sign was made with stolen materials were entirely false, as I personally went down and bought them myself, with money donated for such a purpose. So put up all the signs you want: everybody knows the truth now.

Dear Aunt Carrie:

Our constitution seems to be missing. Do you have any idea where it could be?

ALMA GOODSON.

Dear AG:

Why do you need a constitution? You never go by it anyway.

Dear Aunt Carrie:

It has been suggested that a certain sorority start a fund for material-buying for their campaign candidate, and I agreeably donated a nickel of my date's hard earned money toward this worthy cause. What do you think of the idea?

N. O. CENTBYSTANDER.

Dear NOC:

We would, but it wouldn't do any good: the sign would be torn down.

Dear Aunt Carrie:

What I want to know is, just who is supposed to vote for whom and run for what in this election. Under the present system, I'm running for an office, but I can't vote for myself because I'm not in that class. I'm a first semester junior now, so I'm running for a junior class office. Yet, in the second half of next year, I'll be a senior. Under the present system, I'll be a senior, but I'll hold a junior class office.

A. STUDENT.

Dear AS:

The student council is making plans now for a definite set of rules governing elections. We can't do anything about the present one, but next year's students won't have any doubts, because they will be written down. A vote of thanks for the far-seeing present student senate.

Dear Aunt Carrie:

I'm so afraid that I might lose a friend or two, so I'm not coming out and saying just whom I'm for in the on-coming election. I act sweet to both parties and tell them both I'm voting for them. Don't you think this is the best policy?

MR. IN-BETWEEN.

Dear Mr. In-Between:

You're not really fooling anybody. Neither candidate trusts you now, and you're liable to find yourself in an awful mess after the election.

Sport Light

By GLORIA FICAROTTA

Ping-pong has faded out of the picture as the sport, tennis takes its place. Badminton is still providing interest of the students. The girl students in physical education are still enjoying ping-pong.

The expert tennis players that have signed up for the tournament show promises for exciting games. The lineup for the tennis singles is as follows: Evelyn Jewell and Jayne Lee; Dot Rankin and Sarah Muniz; Violet Conte and Elisabeth Robertson; Virginia Rankin and Catherine Bowen. Winners of the semi-finals will oppose the winners of the groups, Betty Jane Brownsey and Catherine Campbell; Dalia Lera and Cynthia Moran; Glenna Hill and Alice Arias, and Neddie Rodriguez and Duckie Young.

JAIL FOR BOOKMAKING

OLYMPIA, Wash.—(U.P.)—Bookmaking was outlawed in Washington recently. The legislature approved a measure, which was signed by Gov. Mon C. Wallgren, providing a penalty of five years in prison for anyone operating a bookmaking establishment or influencing anyone to throw any sporting or athletic event.

Delta Kappa Makes Plans for Party

The Delta Kappa sorority at its last meeting made tentative plans for a lake party for its members and their dates. The temporary date has been set for May 6, at which time the group will assemble at the University and go to the lake in cars.

A temporary committee has been appointed by the president, Rosalie Mathis, to appoint members to be in charge of the arrangements. Those on the committee include Catherine Bowen, Cynthia Moran and Rosalie Mathis, chairman.

SENATE GIVES SPRING FORMAL FOR STUDENTS

Leaders of Affair Are Disclosed at Dance

The Student Senate sponsored a Spring Formal last Friday night on the verandah of the University. All students of the University and their dates were invited to attend. Don Francisco and his band provided the music from 9 until 12.

Those on the committee for inviting officers to the affair were Mildred DuBois, Betty Israelson, and Laura Richards. Assisting in selling coca colas in the Student Union Room were Bette Garrison, Jeanne Hill, and Matthew Aprile, the latter being in charge of obtaining the ice and drinks.

Clinic for Spastics Is Held at University

A clinic for sufferers of spastic paralysis was held in T. U. April 16 and 17 under the auspices of the Hillsborough County Association for Crippled Children and Adults.

The specialist in charge was Dr. Earl R. Carlson who has clinics in Pompano, Fla., and Long Island, N. Y. Dr. Carlson is a remarkable example of the fact that spastic paralysis sufferers can become useful citizens since he, himself, was incapable of complete self-control till he was 18 years old.

Lawyer A. Pickens Coles of Tampa became interested in the spastic's problem because his son has suffered from it for several years.

The purpose of the clinic held here was to give parents some knowledge on how to care for spastic children, and to ascertain the number of spastic cases of pre-school age.

Spasticism results from some injury to the child before or during birth. Known as cerebral palsy, it atrophies the automotive section of the brain which results in complete lack of self-control of limbs by the patient. It is not hereditary.

The youngster with spastic paralysis is known as the "forgotten child" because while there are institutions for all other types of paralysis all over the country there are none, except Dr. Carlson's which are privately operated, for spastic paralysis.

DORM RIOTS

By ELEANOR FISK

It always happens! This is the time of the year when all the Dorm girls stay home. By April, the girls have either found some long lost friend to decide to be true to, or the man shortage has become so acute that there are no real men to go out with. We are glad to see that one girl is able to turn on the charm in spite of the shortage. Ask Margaret Havlik about the fellow who is six feet two.

It wasn't unusual to see Helen Smitzes go out the other night, but one couldn't help smiling at the congregational meeting in the kitchen speculating as to the outcome. Virginia Rankin certainly must have all the good fortune in the world. Not only was her mother able to come all the way from North Carolina, but she also ironed all of Virginia's clothes. Most seniors haven't had that privilege in four years.

The anticipation of the student senate dance caused much excitement among the students here. Bette Garrison had a vision of dancing with one of her favorite professors. Her demonstration was so vivid that even Cappy showed signs of jealousy. Details can be obtained from Wolf Garrison. Evening dresses are coming out of the closets for the occasion. The first to be pressed was finished last week. Happy Ford has a beautiful new gown. Don't get conceited girls, but you sure are a good looking crowd when you have on your evening clothes.

Has Sharpie showed you any of her wood carving? It would be well worth your time to see the samples in her room.

Congratulations to Mildred and Eugenia for being pledged to Alpha Mu Tau. Happy Ford is a new member. It's a long hard grind, this music world, but the love of music makes it a guiding light in all other work. We are proud of you.

The night that Miss Hanley caught the seniors off guard about signing out was a good one. The seniors are so old, bedraggled, and worn out that they never go out anyway. They turned the tables on Miss Hanley by congregating in her room to have a party. The refreshments consisted of candy which belonged to Miss Hanley.

Enough for now. Yours truly couldn't find Havlik to include the dirt that she has collected. The next issue will be out in two weeks though. Beware of Margaret. She really gets around—so she tells us.

Outdoor Party Given At Lake Home By Newman Club

The home of Sarah Hale was the scene of an all-day swimming party last Sunday, April 29th. The members of the group assembled at the University where they proceeded on to "Little King's Lake." Fishing, swimming, boating, badminton, and dancing provided the entertainment. The evening was climaxed when the group roasted wieners by the bonfire.

GIVE CREDIT WHEN

CREDIT IS DUE

Due to a misstatement in the daily papers, there exists an erroneous idea concerning the sponsorship of the Pan-American program at the Municipal auditorium, April 14th.

The student who was responsible for its success and who was in sole charge of the arrangements of the luncheon was Sarah Muniz.

Although the LaTertulia has sponsored other worthy affairs, the Spanish club had nothing to do with the Pan-American program.

Fashions

By KITTY MARTIN

Guess you know that gardenias are in bloom—can't you tell by that luscious scent that's been invading the halls, and those beautiful flowers in every girl's hair? Definitely, the prevailing fashion!

Dahlia Lera was wearing a very cute jumper of rich brown to classes the other day. It has a set-in belt, buttons down the back. An applique design of red, yellow and green borders the neck and cap sleeves.

Mildred DuBois has a pretty two-piece lime butcher linen ensemble. The skirt is gored, the jacket fitted, and buttoned down the front. The three-quarter length sleeves and square neck are edged in white embroidery.

At the concert the other evening, Dot Nylander was ushering, in a beautiful formal. The skirt is full, of black net; the bodice, fitted, of chartrreuse. The low neck and sleeves are bordered with black embroidery and shining sequins.

Sunday morning found Louise Fonte dressed up in a black frock with V-neck edged in lace, and rows of the same lace inserted in the skirt. On her head was a darling black velvet calotte with pale blue velvet flowers on the side.

The same day found Mary Evelyn Sierra in a very cute outfit. The dress was lime shantung with wide gathered baby doll neck, cap sleeves, set-in belt and gathered skirt. Her accessories were sandals of matching lime, gloves and crocheted plastic bag of pink, and Dutch calotte of lime with a cluster of pink velvet ribbon and feather flowers on each side.

Gloria Ficcarotta was looking very nice recently in a summery dress of pink eyelet batiste; the high round neck, short puffed sleeves and pockets of the skirt are trimmed with rows of white organdy ruffles.

Thru The Keyhole

By DUANE LOCKE

I am very happy about the compliments that I received on my column last week, but I am more happy about the influence it had. It was reported that there was a rush for front row seats in every class room. I also heard a rumor that there was an apple shortage in town.

At the Spanish Park Restaurant: A certain boy was asking how to say, "Vote for Bowen" in Spanish. Betty Faye was there with her campaign smile. Ed Hall was drinking everybody's ice tea. Manuel Alvarez was singing "Let Me Love You Tonight" to Joan Burnett, but he was not waiting for night. Dahlia Lera was giving away flowers. Some of the students were shocked by the "Jook-movie" entertainment because a woman's legs were revealed. Pauline Cacciatore was examining flowers in everyone's hair to see if they were simple or composite. April put on a blindfold because the chicken was not dressed. Sarah Muniz was psychologically collecting money from everybody.

This is a vital time in the history of our school since we are to begin a new era with a new president. We need an efficient and aggressive student senate that will work for the benefit of our school. We should forget sorority pins by voting for the person with ability.

The history of the election, Part I: Frank Comparetto prematurely started the campaign with shouts of "Get Goin' with Bowen" at the Spanish club luncheon. After being refused by two boys, Manuel Alvarez and Mathew Aprile, Betty Faye Cumbie finally obtained a male, Spenser Bokor, as her campaign manager. Alvarez and other school politicians jumped on the Bowen bandwagon. Marea Bordt, Violet Conte and company became ardent Cumbie backers. The conservative element, Marie Gibson, Betty Anne Smith, and others seem to be supporting Cumbie. The more radical groups seem to be supporting Bowen. In the opening phase of the campaign, each side tried to outcardboard the other side with witty campaign posters. In the poster battle, the Cumbie crew quickly surpassed the Bowen supporters. No one has mentioned the qualifications or school record of either candidate except in face to face relationships. The campaign soon developed into the hottest election in recent TU history with torrid feelings being aroused on both sides resulting in more people not speaking to each other. Political innuendoes begin to smother out the once pure air. Some of the derogatory rumors were: ..... cheats in history ..... hasn't a chance because two sororities are backing ..... the ..... put their arms around you before election and afterwards they forget you ..... is trying to be dictator ..... is a bigoted, insular puritan ..... tells raw jokes to the girls. Violet Conte was reported spreading the "raw joke" rumor. The day petitions were issued was another hot day. Everyone expected rifles to be issued and firing to break out in the halls. It was reported Mary Julia Mena and Lorraine Oglesby opened a tear up campaign by defacing one of Bowen's posters. Oglesby claimed that she did not do the work. In retaliation one of Bowen's supporters put a line through the "not" in the "It would be sheer foolishness not to vote for Cumbie" poster. The Bowen gang wanted to tear up everything, but Bowen said, "no." Cumbie said that she had nothing to do with the sign defacing, and she also thought that Bowen would not do such a thing either. The senior president race has been very quiet. In the senior representative, Aprile was tossed back and forth. Conte of Alpha Gamma said she would support Hill and Arias to beat Aprile. Alice Arias of Sigma Theta asked Aprile to run with her leaving Hill out. Some of the Delta Kappas are backing Aprile and Hill to defeat Arias. The biggest expulsion was connected with the junior president race. Alpha Gamma

Dahlia Lera, who opposed Alpha Gamma Laura Richards, was asked to resign from Alpha Gamma, but I am sure Richards had nothing to do with this. I asked Marea Bordt, president of Alpha Gamma, why Lera was asked to resign. Bordt replied that she had press conferences only once a month, therefore she avoided my question. Lera, a backer of Bowen, claimed that the reason was purely personal. Since Bordt would not present her side, I can only ask the reader to find out the real reason for this unprecedented excommunication. The junior representative race has been another of those quiet affairs. In the sophomore president race, spectators witnessed an entertaining heated argument between Manuel Alvarez, who claimed that Bordt asked Mary Evelyn Sierra to run against him because he was backing Bowen, and Marea Bordt, who denied this accusation. Sierra also denied that she was asked to run by anybody. Manuel Alvarez was classed by a certain party as "a cheap politician," but this classification later degenerated into "a cheap, dirty politician." Still later Manuel became "a cheap, low down, dirty politician." There have been no developments in the sophomore representative race. (I have tried to be as impartial as humanly possible in the above account. I expect some to protest because the truth always hurts, but I think the students should know the truth. Part II will be included in my next column.)

Regular Assembly Features Students On Program

The regular Student Assembly was opened by an announcement by Dean McRhodes pertaining to the annual election and its procedure. The students were reminded of the practice of fair play during the elections. Students that are candidates for the offices of the Student Body as well as other members of the University were urged not to speak or say any words that might hurt the feelings of other candidates.

Students were also reminded of the Tubercular examinations which will be given in the Moldloft room across from the library. Every student and faculty member were urged to have the test taken.

Dr. Carpenter, pastor of the First Christian Church, discussed and appealed to the students through his address, On Guard Against Cancer. Several danger signals were commented upon by the speaker which may or may not indicate cancer. The points that should be watched throughout an individual's life are any sore that does not heal especially around the mouth, a painless lump or thickening; irregular bleeding; progressive change in color or size of warts, moles or birth marks; persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough or difficulty in swallowing and persistent indigestion.

Students were urged to go to the doctor promptly upon notice of these danger signals. If positive results appear the patient should remain in the care of the physician. Cancer is curable if the individual is aware in time. Thousands of cases are being cared for each year.

The remainder of the program was one in which students participated.

The chorus under the direction of Mr. Wiltse sang their theme song, "Neath the Southern Moon." Their second number rendered was "Blue Are Her Eyes." Glenna Hill captivated the students and faculty present with her rendition of "More and More," after which the chorus sang "Bless This House." The two original compositions of Frank Comparetto were played by the composer himself. They were "Inspirations in Pink" and "It's Funny, it's Love." Miss Dot James concluded the program with her selection, "One Kiss."

Background Is Given Of DeSoto Oak

When DeSoto landed on the banks of what is known today as the Hillsborough River, and encamped with his followers, under the spreading branches of the wonderful live oak tree which now bears his name, he little dreamed of the thriving and populous commercial town which would succeed the military fortress, and whence ships and commodities would go speeding to all parts of the world. Still less did he dream of the place of hospitality which generous forethought and unlimited resource would rear on the shore of the beautiful river. The tree, however, still stands, a monument to his gallant and adventurous spirit, and a reminder of the Old World, in close proximity to one of the most stately creations of the New World.

Many students who have entered the halls of Tampa U. little dream of this place was where DeSoto first landed to prepare for his march to the Mississippi. No more romantic page of American history is written than that which records the deeds of DeSoto on and around Tampa Bay.

This was the point selected by the American government for mobilizing the Cuban army of invasion, and from whence departed the New World's armada to replace the place of Ferdinand and Isabella with the stars and stripes on Morro Castle.

Tourists were often directed to this mansion as the Tampa Bay Hotel, the late naval and military headquarters of the Cuban advance guard.

The original plans were to bury the hotel further east toward the bank of the river. However in doing so they would have had to cut down this tree but Mr. Plant frowned upon this and had the hotel built on this site. Under the hotel was a spring that had to be moved up. This cost a great deal but was worth it to save the DeSoto oak our "lovers' oak" as it was frequently called by the visitors of the hotel.

Chatter Of Chapel

CHATTER OF CHAPEL

It was Tuesday at Tampa U. All the students they were there For to celebrate chapel week On that day so nice and fair.

They had filed into the ballroom Oh, so anxious to attend Without a doubt in any mind To the guest an ear must lend.

"Be seated," said the dean Then the students they arose For to sing the alma mater, So sweetly through their nose.

"Now we have with us today" said he When getting cozy they had done "A very solemn visitor" "Oh, boy," they cried, "Some fun!"

The visitor on the stage arose; His misplaced eyebrow he stroked He stood first on one foot, then the other And at the eager eyes, his finger poked.

"My friends," began the guest Although not one such thing he saw His voice resounded cannon-like As if he were to lay the law.

"Boo-oo," the classmates cried aloud Night hoarse with so much cheering But he with a smile continued For he was hard of hearing.

Then the guest was playfully struck Headfirst off the stage While the profs danced the rumba And looked their mental age.

They shuffled out of chapel A sorry crowd to see They mourned it was over With cries of Whoops and Whee!

And so assembly ended And all were glad and gay For the next assembly was Now only two weeks away.
