UNIVERSITY OF TAMPA, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1959

NUMBER 16

178 TO GRADUATE

COLUMBIA U. BAND MAN JOINS TAMPA

Hunter N. Wiley, associate in music and band conductor at Columbia University, New York City, for the last 11 years, will join the University of Tampa faculty this fall.

"Appointment of Mr. Wiley as associate professor in music and band director is one step in an extensive program designed to strengthen the University of Tampa," Dr. David M. Delo, president of the university said.

"Also included in the program is the use of key musicians of the Tampa Philharmonic Orchestra in part-time teaching posts at the University of Tampa and close cooperation between the symphony and the university," Dr. Delo said. "Other cooperative projects which will bring together talented musicians of the university and community are planned."

In bringing Mr. Wiley to the Florida West Coast area as a member of the University of Tampa faculty, for instance, the University hopes to establish a strong program of cooperation with bands in high schools of the area and with other colleges and universities. This program is expected to lead to a strengthening of concert and marching band organizations at the University of Tampa.

HUNTER N. WILEY

Before accepting the University of Tampa post, Mr. Wiley taught public school music education at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City, and organized and conducted the Summer Session Band there. This organization is composed of school band directors and music instructors who are taking courses at Teachers College.

He also conducted the Columbia University marching band which became famous for its performances at football games and other athletic and community events, and the Columbia concert band.

Mr. Wiley is a graduate of the United States Navy School of Music, Washington, D.C., where he was selected as honor

Parking Plans Given Approval

Preliminary approval of plans to increase student parking at the University of Tampa has been obtained from the Park Board and Tampa City officials. Work on the project is planned to be done over the summer vacation months and the enlarged parking area should be ready for use at the beginning of the fall semester.

Progress on solution of the University parking problem was announced by Dr. David M. Delo, President of the University, following a meeting with Mayor Nick Nuccio and Superintendent of Parks, B. B. Bradley. E. C. Fletcher, University architect, assisted in drawing up the plans.

"As finally worked out with the cooperation of the Mayor and the Park Superintendent and Board, the new plans are expected to almost double the amount of space now available for parking automobiles," Dr. Delo said.

"At the same time it has been possible to incorporate a program of landscaping and beautification for the grounds around the University and the two new dormitories," Dr. Delo announced. "The plan, as finally approved, will both add to the convenience of students and enhance the appearance of the University and Plant Park."

Convocation Salutes Seniors

Members of the graduating class of 1959 were saluted Tuesday morning, May 26, at a special convocation honoring the senior class of the University of Tampa. Speakers included Dr. David M. Delo, president of the University, Dr. Robert S. Tramonatna, president of the Alumni Association and Phil Rotolo, president of the Senior Class.

"You members of the class of 1959 are here today because of a collective vote of confidence," Dr. Delo told the convocation. He pointed out that the seniors had had confidence in the University of Tampa when they selected it and their parents had expressed confidence in both the student and the university when they agree to send them.

"The University officials, by admitting you, expressed their confidence that each of you was the type of person we want at the University of Tampa — that you had the ability and the motivation to make the most of our academic program — and that, as a member of the University community, you would

NBC VICE-PRESIDENT CULLIGAN SPEAKER AT JUNE COMMENCEMENT

MATTHEW J. CULLIGAN

The University of Tampa will graduate its 1959 class — 178 men and women — at 8 p. m. Saturday, June 6, in the 24th annual commencement ceremonies which will be held in the Municipal Auditorium.

Matthew J. Culligan, executive vice president of the National Broadcasting Company, New York City, will be the commencement speaker.

The annual commencement ceremonies, at which students who completed their work in mid-term will receive diplomas along with June graduates, will bring to a close the two day celebration.

Other events include:

A reception held at the President's home at which graduating seniors and their parents will be the guests of Dr. David M. Delo, president of the University, and Mrs. Delo, from 3 to 5 p. m. Friday.

Baccalaureate Services at 8 p. m. Friday in the Municipal Auditorium.

An Alumni Association luncheon at which graduating seniors will be guests of honor in the University Ballroom at 1 p. m. Saturday.

A dinner for members of the Board of Trustees and distinguished guests who will appear at the Commencement Saturday evening.

As Commencement Speaker, Matthew J. Culligan will represent the viewpoints of both industry and communications in his message to the members of the 1959 graduating class.

Brazil Booming Says Keene

Citing Brazil's tremendous vitality and rate of growth, and emphasizing her vast store of natural resources, Dr. Jesse L. Keene predicted that Brazil may become the Colossus of the South in the same sense that the United States has long been considered the Colossus of the North.

Dr. Jesse L. Keene

Dr. Keene, Professor of History and Political Science, was guest speaker April 21, 1959, at a luncheon given by the women of the Peace Memorial Church. The occasion was their annual Birthday Offering, and the 100th anniversary of Presbyterian Missions. The gift this year goes towards establishing a training school for laymen at Brasilia, Brazil.

Dr. Keene gave an informative speech on the historical background and present culture of the Brazilian people, and stated that their rate of growth is 30% greater than that of the United States.

There are three major Presbyterian missions in Brazil at present, and the training school for laymen is to be established in the new capital, Brasilia—the ultra-modern city being hewn from the jungle at fabulous expense by the farseeing Brazilian government.

It is easy to see why Brazil may become the Colossus of the South, if Brazil attains the rapid development which resulted in the United States when our own hardy pioneers trekked inland from the Atlantic Coast.

Minaret Editor Named

Clyde Ziegler has been named as editor in chief for the MINARET for the fall 1959 semester. Clyde is a native Tampa, but now lives in Dover. He graduated from Plant City High School in 1950, where he served as sports editor and reporter on the high school paper. He worked with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad in Tampa as an agent telegrapher for three years. He served two years in the Army as Personnel Administration Specialist with Anti-Aircraft Command. While in the Army he served as a reporter and photographer for Army newspaper. After leaving the service he entered the seminary and studied for the Roman Catholic Priesthood for two years. He studied under the Jesuits at Philip Neri in Boston and under Benedictines at St. Bernard College in Alabama. He also served as reporter on the St. Bernard College News.

CLYDE ZIEGLER

Clyde has been a member of the Minaret staff three semesters, is a member of the Newman Club. His hobbies are photography and writing, reading and outdoor sports.

EDITORIAL

This is it! The last issue of the MINARET for this semester, and as a graduating senior there are many things that I would like to say to the students, faculty and administration of the University of Tampa. First of all to the students: the future of this university as well as the greatness of it depend a great deal on each one of you. As I look back on my three very happy and fruitful years at this institution, I have several regrets. One, that I did not study harder, and dig deeper into my textbooks and did not spend enough time in the library. There are many activities that I did not take an active part in, that I could have . . . and gained a great deal by doing so. A college student's life is indeed a full one, but we could all gain much more if we would stop to think "Am I getting the most out of my college life? Am I contributing to the university in any way? Is there something that I could do if I would just take the time?" There are many talented students among the student body here, as there are in every college, but a lot of that talent is being wasted because the students just don't have time to use it. It may sound corny but it's true that we only live one life, we are an undergraduate only once, and if each student put forth his best efforts to contribute more, he could gain more by doing it.

To the faculty and administration my sincere thanks for the cooperation and the many things that you have done for the students of this university. As editor of the MINARET I have often criticized professors and members of the administration, but only when as a student I felt it was justified. The University of Tampa has an outstanding faculty and administration, and I sincerely hope that it will grow and grow and grow, and go on to bigger and better things for this university.

Since this is my swan song for the MINARET and the University of Tampa, I would like to take this opportunity to express my humble and sincere thanks to everyone who has helped to make the MINARET a successful newspaper. To each member of the staff who has worked long hard hours to get the paper out on time, to each person who has contributed an article or story, and especially to RINALDI PRINTING COMPANY who has put up with us for the past three semesters. They have all done a splendid job. A very special vote of thanks goes to the business manager of the MINARET for this semester, Eddie Edwards, who put in many hours to build up the business end of the newspaper, with her at the wheel we operated in the black and stayed out of the red. I hope that whoever takes over the reigns next year will continue to do as good a job as Eddie has done.

The MINARET will be in good hands next year, with Clyde Ziegler as editor in chief. He has been most cooperative and as you well know, has shown excellent journalistic abilities. I hope that all of you here will cooperate with Clyde and see that the MINARET not only receives state awards for excellence, but national awards.

Graduation is of course, a time of happiness, but it is also a little sad to think that I will not be pounding the antiquated typewriter in the MINARET office again. Thanks again for all of your help, and I'll see you next year at Homecoming . . . at the Alumni Luncheon.

THE ZOO IN THE FOURTH FLOOR

By Sino Chika

I received a very strange letter the other day from a good friend of mine which began like this: "Dear friend, I did as you advised and came to visit your university. If I am to be at all honest I must say that it seemed like most others except for the unusual mess on your fourth floor." I wondered what he meant by "mess," but I must admit I had a suspicion of what was to follow, and so, in anticipation, I read on. "Why," he asked "did the school permit the establishment of a zoo on the fourth floor?" I enjoyed the sarcasm of his statement, but I soon realized this was a terrible impression to leave on a visitor. After all, I too live on the fourth floor.

"Never in my life," he went on, "have I seen such a display of animalism from human beings." He was unduly critical at this point, that was obvious, but as I read on I couldn't help agreeing with him. "After having observed the conduct of these animals, I had wondered whether the skeptics who had denounced Darwin in his day could have looked upon those beasts which infest your fourth floor, and yet maintain, in all honesty, that the theory of evolution was untrue? Indeed, after having examined closely those odious, unruly creatures, it would be difficult to assume that evolutions had occurred at all."

I must admit I was quite upset by his opinion of the men's dorm. In my answer to him I tried to convince him that the particular people in question were mere boys, with little experience in life. Many of them had not yet been in the service. I tried to make him understand that these same boys who screamed in the shower room at 2 o'clock in the morning, who kicked at doors and who broke holes in cement walls were not alone in their fault. I tried to explain that this was a reflection on their respective parents; that it was proof of the fact that these parents never introduced what are now adult bodies and infant brained things to such virtues as discipline, consideration, or respect. But all this was in vain. Though he acknowledged that some fault belonged to the parents, he insisted " . . . these

Letter to the Editor:

One of the highlights of this semester was the debate that pitted the University of Tampa and Harvard. I believe that all who attended this debate enjoyed it; however, a debate should pit two groups or two persons who are intellectual equals. There are two men on the staff here that are equal and a debate between them would be both interesting and educational. Of course, I refer to Dr. Stephen Speronis and Dr. Pat Hardeman. I hope that we can look forward to a debate between these two minds very shortly.

Since interest in these two intellectuals runs extremely high, a small admission could be charged; the proceeds to go toward a worth-while project, such as, a men's rest room on the third floor or a full time window washing employee.

The Dreambeat

by Bernie McGovern

Thank you Sigmas, I don't deserve it but Thank You . . . This in our last column this go round. We've had a few laughs and a few troubles with this baby through the year but we're still in print, luckily . . . This bit has caused the most trouble with my fraternity brothers. It's ironic because the column was started as a pledge project last year. The first column for me was in the last issue of last year's Minaret and it featured:

THE BEST WAY TO get a good cup of coffee in the Spartan Room is to have it sent over from Ayers . . . The best way to lift a weight is with your arms around her . . . The best way to get her off your mind is to get her off your lap . . . The best way to let your wife know whose boss is by letter . . . The best way to get a seat in the lobby is to be a book . . . The best way to get even with your TV repairman is to sell him your used car . . . The best way to have people comment about your clothes is not to wear any . . . The best way to play Blackjack is to have one with you . . . The best way to learn all about electricity is to get hit by lightning . . . The best way to get hot water on the 5th floor is on the 4th floor . . . The best way to make 21 is still hard . . . The best way to kill time is to make some . . . The best way to listen to an Elvis Presley record is to listen to it break . . . The best way to read this column is through a beer glass . . .

And so it went . . . We had a few goodies this year too . . . Such as . . . Why don't they put wedding rings on those mannequins in the Maternity shop windows? . . . Why don't they make a gay musical out of "Compulsion"? . . . The best way to avoid giving her Argege is not to promise her anything . . . Understand that if Nasser doesn't stop yelling about Yankee imperialism, the Russians are going to accuse him of being in the American League . . . Understand that nothing keeps a girl on the straight and narrow like being built that way . . . Why is Mississippi? . . . Have the British been asked to leave Tarpon Springs? . . . The Edsel still looks like an Oldsmobile sucking a lemon . . . And the Renault looks like a pregnant roller skate . . . Those are a few that got the biggest laughs . . .

We'll end up with a few new ones for this week . . . Religion is the opium of the masses . . . "Sure you can be Secretary of State, if you give up smoking" . . . I want to thank both Tom Spettel and Jerry Herms and the score of others who have given me little bits, either humorous or otherwise . . . And I wish I could have been on hand to see these scenes: Dr. Delo carrying a cup through the lobby Elinor Ross Day . . . Ron Brickley on the carpet . . . We on the carpet . . . And our thought for the day: There's no place like Home when there's nowhere else to go.

GRATITUDE

Fellow Seniors:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to all of you who supported me in our recent Student Senate election.

Running against an opponent of such high character and initiative was indeed an honor and an experience I shall long remember.

I am very grateful for winning and attribute it to the help of you, my fellowmen and my fraternity brothers who faithfully worked in my behalf.

You have selected me to be your voice in the Student Senate, and I shall utilize everything in my power to represent you honestly and efficiently. We must work in unity to further develop our university into an institution of even higher standards, in which we may more effectively use our tools of higher learning. With the quality of the leadership in our university, there should be no stumbling block to hinder our journey to excellence.

Please feel free at any time to express to me your feelings or suggestions relative to anything concerning our university and the Student Body. The Senate is yours; use it!

Again, may I thank you for your support; it now becomes my obligation to support you.

Sincerely,
Sam A. Giunta

Minaret Editor Interviews Pat Boone

Pat Boone, well known TV and recording star made a brief appearance in St. Petersburg last Saturday to accept the JC award. Jean Morris, editor of the MINARET talked to Pat about college, music and teenagers.

Pat was as usual casually dressed in matching slacks and sport coat with a colorful tie and the inevitable white buckskin loafers. His manner was very relaxed and very courteous. He chatted with reporters, TV announcers and juked with the cameramen. He talked about his wife, Shirley and his four daughters, and was very anxious to get back to New York, where his daughter was to appear in her first recital.

When asked about his records, he said that he was just lucky to have eleven gold records, each representing a million sales. He is very critical of lyrics and will not record a song, whether rock and roll or ballad unless the lyrics are up to par. Pat Boone emphasized the importance of a college education, and he is a good example of one who went on to get a degree after he became famous. He has written a book about teenagers, that has been published in many newspapers. Pat looks forward to Sundays because he teaches a Sunday School class in New York. His latest venture is a new Long playing record of duets with his wife, the former Shirley Foley.

As for the future, he is going to spend the summer making another movie, and many public appearances. When asked what was her opinion of the incomparable Pat, Jean Morris said, "He is one of the nicest young men I have ever met in the entertainment business. He is sincere, conscientious, well mannered and a devoted family man. He took time from a terrific schedule to sit and chat with all of the reporters and radio personnel. I think he is just like the boy next door, the wholesome, All American type, and a credit to the entertainment world."

FACULTY HEARS U.N. DELEGATE AT ENGLISH SPEAKING UNION

On May 6th the English-Speaking Union, Sun Coast Branch, had its annual luncheon, this year at the St. Petersburg Yacht Club. The honored speaker was Brian Ashford-Russell, 1st Secretary and Aide to Sir Pierson Dickson, who is permanent Ambassador to United Nations for the United Kingdom. Among those attending from Tampa University were Dr. Dunn, Mr. Swart, Mrs. David Delo, Dr. Hardeman, and Dr. Speronis. It was the consensus that Mr. Ashford-Russell is a gifted speaker with a fine mind, and that his observations about diplomacy in the United Nations were penetrating indeed.

He emphasized the value of the United Nations as a stable framework for peaceable negotiation, and stressed the need for more organizations like the American Association For The United Nations activities. "This", he said, "is the great moral need of our times, and may be the very element needed to save the world from the precarious balance of terror governing it at present. He urged that each individual become an ambassador for the U.N. speaking of it to his friends and neighbors.

Speaking of the limitations of the U.N., Mr. Ashford-Russell cited several instances of crises which simply could not, or should not, be brought before the U.N., such as the Cypress question. He also pointed out the restriction in the U.N. Charter against interfering in the internal affairs of a country, but he suggested that the great work done by the United Nations in the field of economic and social advancement had to be weighed against the limitations before one could make a just appraisal of the organization.

It is possible that Mr. Ashford-Russell will visit the University of Tampa Campus for a Fall Conference dealing with International Affairs.

HIGHWAY PHILOSOPHY

By Trooper Bill

They say whiskey and driving won't mix, but you certainly can't say there isn't a whale of a lot of folks who still practice it.

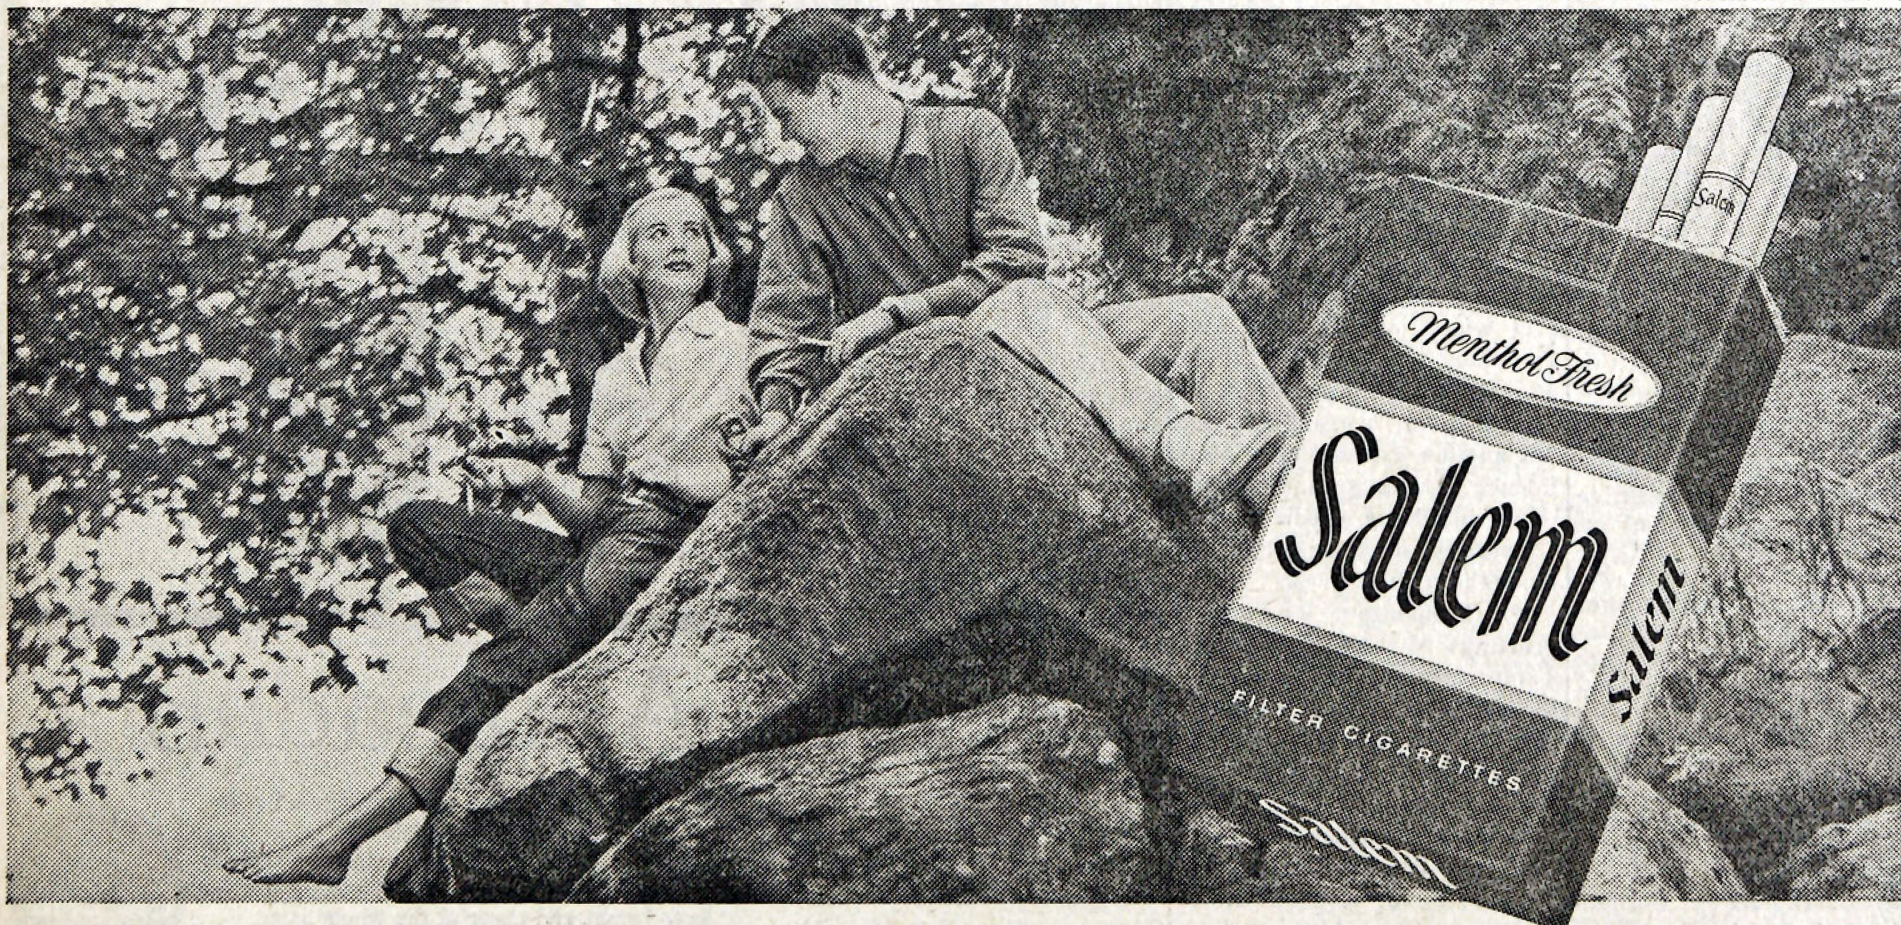

Statisticians tell us youngsters will be hitting the highways behind the wheel at the rate of 11,000 per day by 1970. Can you think of a better reason for starting to learn the art of dodging today?

"A bee, when loaded with his honey, slows down from his normal speed of 35 to 10 miles per hour," says an expert on bees. Some boys we know don't!

Harvard Debates Here

What was to have been the final convocation of the year instead turned out to be a debating team and representatives from Harvard, in may be termed the farce of the year.

Both teams displayed skill in style and technique, but completely evaded the main ethical issues of the subject they debated. An obvious insult to the Harvard team was the fact that at least 75 per cent of the student body didn't show up and those who did kept sneaking in out during the debate. The ironical touch was applied when Harvard apologized for our bad behavior.

The second debate held in the ballroom the following night was even worse. Only fifteen people showed up, only two of these were professors, and no administrative personnel were present. To top this off a group of our sophisticated sorority gals engaged in a cat-snip fight outside the room and refused to quit the premises.

The attitude displayed by the administration toward this affair was quite the opposite from that of their usual crusading endeavors against our barbarian paganism. No doubt the hallowed halls of Harvard are still rocking with laughter from the report taken back.

COMMENCEMENT - - -

He is completing his twenty-second year in industry and has had extensive experience in retailing, sales engineering, lecturing, sales, advertising, merchandising and marketing management.

Since assuming his position as Executive Vice President in Charge of the NBC Radio Network in August, 1959, Culligan has introduced a number of dramatic innovations to the field of Broadcasting. His NBC Network News on the Hour—five minutes of on-the-spot world-wide news over the entire network every hour on the hour from 7 A.M. to 11 P.M. and his NBC Hot Line Control Box—a bulletin service which brings on-the-spot coverage to important news events anywhere in the world to radio listeners at any time of the day or night—are two examples.

Before joining the National Broadcasting Company, Culligan was executive vice-president of John Sutherland Productions, which produces documentary films and animated cartoons for education and television broadcast. He has been associate advertising director of Photography, Modern Bride, Radio and Television News, Flying Magazine. Other associations include Rearst Magazines, American Radiator Company, Royal Typewriter Company, and various retail organizations in the food, drug and department store fields.

Culligan joined the National Broadcasting Company staff in August 1952 on special assignment to the TODAY show. He was associated with Dave Garroway, selected and trained candidates for NBC's executive training program, was sales supervisor of both the TODAY show and the HOME show. He was promoted to sales manager of participating programs, including TONIGHT, starring Steve Allen; became national sales manager of the television network, director of the merchandising department of NBC, vice president and director of sales, Television Network, before being promoted to his present post.

The Baccalaureate Sermon will be delivered by Rev. E. S. Campbell, D.D., pastor of the Hyde Park Presbyterian Church, at 8 p.m. Friday in the Municipal Auditorium. Rev. Larion J. Elliot, S. J., President of Jesuit High School, will give the Invocation and the Benediction.

Members of the graduating class also will receive a paid up Active Membership card in the Alumni Association, good for one year.

The guest speaker, Dr. VanDusen, is an alumnus of the University of Tampa, attending school here in 1933 to 1935. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Florida and his doctorate in psychology from Northwestern University.

Before his promotion early this year, Dr. VanDusen was assistant chancellor for planning and development at the University of Pittsburgh. He joined the university in September 1956, going to Pittsburgh from Northwestern University where he was a vice president.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honorary society, Sigma Chi, scientific honorary society, a Fellow of the American Psychological Association. He has had wide experience as a teacher and university administrator and as a consultant to business and industry.

make a constructive contribution to your fellow students."

Dr. Delo said that the diplomas which will be issued to graduates on commencement day are not only an award in recognition of accomplishment but also an expression of confidence in the graduates that they will bring credit to the University in their activities throughout their lives.

Dr. Tramontana brought greetings of the University of Tampa Alumni Association to the graduates, discussed activities and accomplishments of the association, and inducted the members of the Senior Class into the Alumni Association in a brief ceremony.

Phil Rotolo, as president of the Senior Class, responded for the graduates to the President of the University and the President of the Alumni Association.

Following the convocation, Seniors were instructed in plans for the Commencement exercises.

During World War II, he served as bandmaster on the U.S.S. Arkansas in the North Atlantic and as director of the U.S. Navy Band, Washington, D.C., and at the Naval Training Station, Newport, R.I.

He attended Columbia University and the Juilliard School of Music from which he received his B.S. in Music Education. He holds an M.A. from Teachers College, Columbia University, in music and music education.

Mr. Wiley has been trombonist and euphonium soloist with many of the nation's leading symphonies, concert, recording, radio and television bands and orchestras. The euphonium is a brass-wind instrument, now rarely used. It resembles the tuba but has a slightly higher range and a more mellow tone.

He has performed under the direction of Leon Barzin, Mitropoulos, Stokowski, Stravinsky, Bernstein, Walter, Morel, Irving, Koussevitsky, Kostelanetz, Sherman, Gould, Boepple, Shaw.

He has appeared in concerts and recordings and on radio and television with Symphony of the Air (formerly the NBC Symphony), Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, New York Philharmonic Symphony, Little Orchestra Society, Seuffert Band, Goldman Band, Harold Walters Band (MGM Records), Victor Symphony, Columbia Symphony, Victor Concert Band, Columbia Concert Band, Stokowski Orchestra (Capital Records) and in the orchestra for a number of Broadway shows.

Wiley was born in Houston, Texas and attended public schools in Pine Bluff, Ark., where he was student assistant band conductor and prepared the junior high school band and orchestra for a state contest to win first division honors.

He is married and has two children.

OPPORTUNITY IS RICHER THAN EVER FOR GRADUATES, SAYS WILL DURANT

Far from declining, opportunity for the young graduate is richer than ever in today's world, notes famed philosopher Will Durant in the June Reader's Digest.

To make the most of this opportunity, Dr. Durant advises, in effect: stay healthy, get married and learn when to keep quiet.

Sickness is a crime which in most cases indicates that you have done something physiologically foolish, Dr. Durant points out. "Perhaps one of the cardinal errors of our land and time is that we continue in a sedentary life the diet that once served to provide muscle for an active one."

To remedy this excess of "imports over exports," exercise for at least an hour each day, he advises. "Cut the lawn, clean the car, take a walk."

Early marriage—"as soon as you can keep the wolf from the door"—is another stimulant to success. "You will be too young to choose wisely, but you won't be much wiser in these matters at 40." Let at least six months elapse between first acquaintance and marriage, he says.

Finally, learn when it is wise not to speak. "If you can't say good and encouraging things, say nothing. Nothing is always a clever thing to say."

Having offered these guides to success, Dr. Durant warns not to make too much of success. "Build an economic basis under your life, but don't get caught in the retrap of money-making as a profession. That, like sex, can be a consuming fever, and it brings no lasting happiness."

The article, "Young Man—Your World," is condensed from a commencement address delivered by Dr. Durant at a Claremont California school.

NANCY ALCHEDIAK

Beta Lambda chapter of Pi Kappa Phi today announced the selection of their Rose Queen for 1958-1959 school year.

Nancy Alchediak, a twenty-year-old junior majoring in Elementary Education, was the choice of the Pi Kaps. She succeeds Nan Davis, 1957-1958 Rose Queen. Nancy will represent the Tampa Chapter in the Pi Kappa Phi National Rose Queen Contest.

Chosen as her sponsors were Sue Phillips, Anna Lee Fatzinger, and Floria Pettigrew.

FLORIDA COLLEGIATE ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

Membership in the Collegiate Academy of Science is now open to everyone interested in the physical, biological, social, or medical sciences. Upon graduation, Collegiate members may transfer membership to the Senior Academy.

"Participation in Academy activities gives the member the opportunity to 'rub elbows' with Senior members with whom he will be working, not to mention the other experience available to all members.

"The big activity we're all looking forward to is the annual meeting of the Senior and Collegiate Divisions, to be held at Lakeland near the end of the year. All members are invited and urged to present a paper at the meeting, and try for some of the prize money that is offered.

"Your Collegiate advisor, Dr. Robert Dew, has all the information concerning membership, the meeting, and other Academy activities. Please accept this invitation to drop by and see Dr. Dew. Find out soon what the Florida Collegiate Academy can offer you ... and join."

THETA CHI'S HONORED BY SORORITIES

All four sororities on campus have honored one or more members of Theta Chi Fraternity at their respective Spring Formal Dances this year. It is the first time in the history of Spring dances at the University of Tampa that a fraternity has been acknowledged in such a distinguished and highly esteemed manner. It is also a distinction that all members of Theta Chi Fraternity are proud and shall cherish for a long time. Those members of Theta Chi Fraternity receiving awards from the sororities were:

Joe Vega selected as a sponsor by Zeta Tau Alpha.

Joe Testasceca chosen as "Man of the Year" by Delta Zeta.

Joe Andrews was named "Sweetheart" of Alpha Chi Omega.

Andrew Puleo and Rene Carrera were chosen as "Prince Charmings" of Sigma Sigma Sigma.

The brothers of Theta Chi Fraternity would like to extend their sincere thanks and gratitude for the honors that all these fine organizations have bestowed upon them.

THETA CHI SCHOLARSHIP DANCE MAY 29

Theta Chi Fraternity will celebrate the end of the school year by sponsoring its annual Scholarship Dance, Friday, May 29, 1959. The dance will be held in the University of Tampa lobby from 8:00 p.m. to 12:00 p.m.

All money derived from the proceeds of the dance will go toward the Theta Chi Scholarship Fund which will be used to aid the brothers, in the form of loans, in paying for their education. In the past many brothers have had the opportunity to continue their education here at the University through loans from the Scholarship Fund.

Everyone is invited to attend. This will be the last dance of the school year.

On Sunday, May 24, Theta Chi held its annual Spring Banquet in honor of all Theta Chi Pledges. Professor Stephen Park of the University of Tampa Music Department was guest speaker.

The Spring Pledge Class included Louis Giunta, Pete Cicarello, Tony Castellano, Eddie

IFCA Elects Officers

The annual election of officers for the Inter-Fraternity Sorority Council was held in Dean King's office on May 13, 1959.

The new officers for 1959-1960 are:

President, Rene D. Carrera; Vice-President, Elmer Lincoln; Recording Secretary, Josephine Alvarez; Corresponding Secretary, Bernie Koon; Treasurer, Barbara Strickland.

Plans are now in action for a really successful Homecoming for 1959. The council is planning summer meetings so that advanced plans may be made.

The I.F.S.C. would like the opinion of the student body as to whether or not you would prefer one large name band, or two local bands for 1959 Homecoming. All opinions may be turned in to the new president, or any other member of I.F.S.C.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Summer time is "Mission Time" for the B.S.U.'ers. Several students are sent by the B.E.U.'s of Florida to a mission field for the summer. This year students are going to Hawaii and Alaska, while others will be sent to various states such as New Mexico and the Great Lakes Regions.

Each B.S.U. raises money to send these students. We have organized a deputation team with various students taking part as music director, preacher, seminar leaders, and panel discussion members. They go to various churches on weekends to lead youth meetings or regular church services.

University of Tampa B.S.U. members were the guests of the Florida Southern Baptist Student Union on April 30 for their spring banquet — "Affaire de Cour". Yes, it was an affair to remember, the food was delicious, and the entertainment which included many humorous skits as well as music and devotional talks.

The B.S.U.'ers are busily planning a picnic and beach party at Lake Carroll for Friday, May 22 from 11:00 to 8:00 P.M. There will be plenty to eat, volleyball, swimming, a campfire service and enjoyment for all.

Cigaran, and Ralph Lazzara. Outstanding pledge award trophies went to Raul Roque from the fall pledge class, and to Eddie Cigaran from the spring pledge class. Anthony Muley received the award for outstanding member of the year.

SORORITY NEWS

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The Annual Lead Out Dance of Alpha Chi Omega turned out many people. In the ceremony presented by Dean King, 14 pledges were presented; all wore white, floor-length formals, and carried nosegays of red carnations and baby's breath. Alumnae Advisor, Jane Smith announced that Lynn Cekal had been awarded the honor of "Girl of the Golden Lyre". Lynn received a bouquet of red carnations and a trophy bearing her name. The "Outstanding Pledge" award was taken by Jackie Nixon; an engraved gold key. Our handsome sweetheart this year was a Theta Chi, Joe Andrews and he was presented with an engraved trophy by President Angela Hunter. The evening was a sparkling success and many have called it "the best dance of the year". The Tampa Yacht and Country Club was decorated with pink gladioli and ferns, as well as the flower-bedecked trellis through which the pledges stepped when each was presented.

Graduating members of Alpha Chi Omega this year will be; Jane Bradley, Lynn Cekal, Peggy Guyer, Joan Jones, Betty Mann, Marie Riley, and Pam Shaffer.

Our interns this year have returned, battle-scarred and weary from their bout with the younger generation. All, however are looking forward to their newly-acquired jobs with various schools throughout the city of Tampa.

And last: a warning to any cows in the area; the Alpha Chi's annual Steak Fry is planned for Sunday 24th.

And very last: Since this is the last issue of the Minaret before summer, the Alpha Chi's all hope you-all have fun on your vacations and extend their sincere sympathy to all who must attend Summer School.

DELTA ZETA SORORITY

On Tuesday, May 12, all Delta Zeta actives and pledges honored their mothers with a Mother-Daughter Social. Delta Zeta is in the process of forming a new Mothers Club, so that the mothers will better understand campus life and will also be a part of their daughters social activity.

May 13 was Shoe Shine Day for all Delta Zeta Pledges. This is an annual pledge project for raising money.

The 1959 pledges are planning a party in honor of their sorority mothers, for May 26, 1959.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The Beta Sigma Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority was visited by Glenny Lee Costagnos during the weekend of May 15-19. Miss Costagnos is the regional collegiate secretary. She was entertained by the members of the sorority.

The actives of the sorority presented the new pledges with silver bracelets on which were engraved the Greek letters representing Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. Each "Big Sister" presented her "Little Sister" pledge the bracelet at an informal get-together for sorority members and pledges.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority held their Stardust Ball April 24th at the Hillsboro Hotel. The ZTA sponsors for 1959 were announced at the dance. They are:

Dick Lovett - Tau Kappa Epsilon; Jack Smallwood - Pi Kappa Phi; Joe Vega - Theta Chi; Paul Joyce - Sigma Phi Epsilon; Jerry Strickland - Independent.

The ZTA Mother and Daughter Tea was held May 18 at the home of Mrs. J. Frank Nye.

Five Sigma Phi's were initiated into Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority on May 25. Sigma Theta Phi was once a local sorority at Tampa University, until it was changed into the national sorority of Zeta Tau Alpha in 1952.

Congratulations to Sandra Perez and Yvonne Bretz for being elected to offices in the Student Senate. Sandra was elected Secretary of the senior class and Yvonne, Sophomore Representative.

The Big Sister and Little Sister Annual Breakfast will be held Sunday, May 31 at the Spanish Park Restaurant. Gifts will be exchanged by the sisters and outstanding pledges will be announced.

Gladys Hill, ZTA member and Ronald O'Dell will be married on May 29. The event will take place in Winter Haven.

Zeta Tau Alpha wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate the graduating seniors of the 1959 class.

The Trophy case and other woodwork in the main lobby have been re-finished blustering forth in a glorious new lustre.

SEASONAL DILEMMA

So What's To Do This Summer?

It's just about that time again. Hoards of students rush down to the post office clutching dozens of neatly typed letters carefully folded in No. 10 business envelopes in their hot, moist little palms.

They tremblingly lick and affix four-cent stamps to the epistles and drop them in the slot with an audible sigh. Then they walk slowly back to the dorm hoping at least ONE job offer for the summer will come through.

Most job hunters have to make one ultimate decision: To get a job for the experience it has to offer, or to get a job to earn some hard, cold cash.

The drama major can starve through a season of summer stock, or she can sling hash in a diner.

The journalist can hack out good crisp copy for some paper to the tune of $40 per week or he can work on a construction gang for at least three times that much.

For the student with less specialized talents, there are worlds of experiences awaiting him, such as picking peaches in Georgia for 35 cents an hour plus room and board, or putting up beach umbrellas at Ocean City for $1.25.

And of course, we can't forget the camps. Hundreds of thousands of little ones are shipped to the lakes, mountains, nooks and crannies of our nation each year while their parents take off for parts unknown.

It falls the lot of the camp counselors to suddenly become mother, father, teacher, and all-around-buddy to these disclaimed children for the eight-week camp season.

However, the current trend seems to be to banish any thoughts of employment from one's mind, anyhow, since the thing to do is to take off for Europe. Anyone who hasn't been to The Continent is to be avoided.

There are two ways to go to Europe, and only two ways: Ultra-first-class, or lower-than-the-lowest. Of course the ultra-first-class is the most attractive manner to go. It involves a great deal of flair and display. A gigantic sendoff on the Liberte, including "Bon Voyage" baskets of fruit, "Good Luck" wreathes of flowers, and telegrams from John Foster Dulles, Tom Lehrer, and Helen Hayes are all part of the bit.

The lower-than-lowest, however, involves an equal amount of showmanship, only in a more subtle way. You embark on the worst ship possible (we know some friends who did it on a cattle ship—similar in function to the traditional cattle car of a train, only the ride is longer.) The student should travel in a ripped tee shirt and old jeans, with only a handkerchief and volume of Ezra Pound for solace.

Whatever one does for the summer, he always seems glad to get back to campus in the fall and head for the Spartan Room to see who else is back at T.U.

NIGHT BEAT

Dr. William Darby Glenn, Jr., came to the University of Tampa in 1952, and has taught classes in the Night Division ever since his arrival. He is extraordinarily popular with us night students, and we are very popular with him. Dr. Glenn states that most of the night students are older people with more opportunity to have had interesting jobs and travels to discuss. Hence, he thoroughly enjoys teaching them.

I am convinced that I speak for the university as a whole when I say that we feel indeed fortunate to have such a distinguished faculty member as Dr. Glenn in our midst.

Dr. Glenn has had a most interestingly varied career. In earning his extensive education, he worked as soda jerk, factory worker, freight caricer, truck driver, and many other jobs. He feels these experiences help him to better convey meaning and communicate with experienced persons. He has also learned to value these varied occupations; hence, his interest in the students of the Night Division.

Later, Dr. Glenn became a clinical psychologist for the State of North Carolina, surveying prisons, county homes, etc. His task was to weed out psychotics and the severely retarded from state institutions. This job led into two years of social work for the State of North Carolina, which, in turn, led to a three-year study grant from the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Foundation scholarship (during which, according to Dr. Glenn, he "had one foot in sociology, one foot in biology, and both hands in psychology"). Finally Dr. Glenn taught at New York University for twenty-five years immediately prior to his coming to Tampa. However, at all times during his long teaching career, part of his work has been in the classroom and part of it in the applied, or practical fields (industrial psychology, clinical psychology, counseling psychology and personnel research).

And then, over a tall glass of 7-UP they can all lie to one another about how great it was being a bus boy in the Star Dust Hotel at Bethany Beach, or how horrible it was on the Riviera. Either way, you can't win.

Still, they agree it beats summer camp...

He has conducted research for the National Library, the Armed Forces, for various banks (on personnel abroad, working in foreign branches), various churches (on foreign-service missionaries), as well as his work in the field of physical therapy.

Dr. Glenn has been awarded titles that comprise an impressive and lengthy list. He is a Fellow in Clinical Psychology in the American Psychological Association; a Diplomat in Counseling Psychology in the American Psychological Association; a Research Associate for the Psychological Corporation; a member of the Professional Advisory Board of MacDonald Training Center; a member of the Cerebral Palsy Educational Advisory Board for the Florida State Psychological Association; and a number of others which he refused to let me use in this article, saying: "Who in the world would be interested?" I disagree!

Dr. Glenn was listed in the 1948 edition of who's Who, also; so, you see, we have a truly distinguished faculty member in our midst, of whom we can be really proud!

A cannot help but boast that I was also fortunate to worm an "exclusive" out of him THIS COLUMNIST IS PROUD TO ANNOUNCE THAT IT IS THE FIRST TO BE ABLE TO INFORM THE PUBLIC THAT DR. WILLIAM GLENN, JR. HAS BEEN AWARDED A FELLOWSHIP BY THE NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION TO STUDY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN IN ANN ARBOR, THIS SUMMER. They are interested in improving the quality of teaching in small colleges. This should prove a most interesting summer for Dr. Glenn, I am sure, since I seem to recall that he is among those of us who were clamoring for better teachers and higher educational and teaching standards long before any sputniks took flight. In fact, part of his popularity with some students can be ascribed to his views on the modern American educational dilemma, with its emphasis on learning "how to drive, how to eat properly, how to behave at a party, how to be just like all the others, how to have sex, etc."

Dr. Glenn is married, and his wife is also a person of no mean distinction. Mrs. Glenn teaches English at Monroe Jr. High School! has taught every grade from the third, upwards; has taught Math, Latin and English in High School; taught the severely retarded for four years, and has taught Creative Writing. In addition, she has done considerable professional writing.

The Glenns have one son, who is a physician. He is stationed at Pensacola in the Air Force, at present, and his wife is a practicing children's dentist there. However, his enlistment in the Air Force will soon be up, and he will become (in June) a resident physician at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami.

I think we will all agree that we are indeed fortunate to have Dr. Glenn on our University of Tampa faculty, for aside from his distinguished background, he is a superb teacher. His knack of describing difficult psychological concepts and values from several angles so that the "green" students of psychology can grasp them is also fortunate for us. However, when he lectures, his vast knowledge and his extensive experience causes one to sense that each sentence he utters reminds him of a thousand descriptive cases he would like to relate to the class if he had time, and one gets the feeling that one is being "left out" by missing all these. My personal feeling is that there is a little door somewhere there, and if I could only locate it and enter, all would become clear and I would become omniscient. If you have never been fortunate enough to have Dr. Glenn for a class, it is probable that you would thoroughly enjoy the result of electing a course with him. Dr. Glenn... Night Beat salutes you for your service to the University of Tampa in general, and your services to us, the Night Division, in particular.

WORKING? READ THIS!!

Many students, women and other part-time workers in Tampa and surrounding area plan to work "extra" during the vacation season.

"Now is the time to start looking for that social security card", said Jack D. Brown, Manager, Social Security Administration, 909 Ashley St., Tampa, Florida. "You will need your card when you apply for the job. And the employer might hire someone else if you do not have it with you."

"If you have never had a social security card, then apply for an original. But if you have had a card and have lost it, you should apply for a duplicate."

Applications for social security cards can be obtained at the local office, 909 Ashley St., Tampa, Florida or at any Post Office.
