

STUDENT COUNCIL TO BEGIN SECOND YEAR ACTIVITIES

First Political Body Proves Success

The beginning of this semester will be the second anniversary of student government in the University of Tampa.

At the beginning of last year on the petition of the students it was decided to organize a form of student government. Marcus Hall was elected president of the student body, Wofford Wait, president of the sophomore class, Jacqueline Bettis and Bill Hippenmeier, representatives of the sophomore class, Theodore Lesley, president of the freshman class and Winston Fowler and Morton Hackney, representatives of the freshman class. These students comprised the council, which immediately began to organize extra-curricular activities.

The first step was the organization of the athletic committee for the purpose of directing and controlling athletics. This committee succeeded in building up a football team, which played only three games due to the lack of a coach and the proper facilities. The basketball team, coached by Miller Adams, played a regular schedule. Miller, chairman of the committee, also instigated the Florida Athletic association, which is an association of Florida colleges.

The girls' basketball team was quite successful, winning many out-of-town games as well as several of the games played in the City league. The girls also had a volleyball team which played a team composed of men faculty members.

The council appointed Theodore Lesley chairman of a social committee which planned many successful social functions for the students.

Edna Frances Prince was appointed chairman of the publications committee, which began the Tampa Junior College Bulletin, a weekly mimeographed publication and the forerunner of the present Minaret.

The council also drew up a constitution delegating powers and authorities, which was adopted by the students. This constitution was purposely made broad and general so that it may be applicable to future problems.

M'Curdie Appointed Head Custodian At Tampa University

A. S. McCurdie, christened "one of God's Own Gentlemen" by his numerous friends, and one of the best loved personalities of Hillsborough high school, has been appointed building superintendent at the University of Tampa.

In the five years that he spent at Hillsborough McCurdie made a splendid record. During the first nine months he succeeded in putting the building into shape and kept it in that condition from then on with the aid and full cooperation of students and faculty members.

Although he appreciated Mr. Spaulding's invitation to become custodian of the university building McCurdie did not want to leave Hillsborough, where he had built up so efficient an organization.

"I realize," he said, "that this is quite a large building to put into shape and that it will be a hard task to get everything to running smoothly, but I am sure that if we get the cooperation of the faculty and students we will have the building in fairly good shape within a few months, and as time goes on we will keep improving it and making our school a more comfortable place for everyone."

"Mac" said that he was pleased with the fact that a number of the faculty members here were previously associated with him at Hillsborough. He especially requested that the students cooperate with him as much as possible this fall.

Arrangements Made For Chapel Program

Chapel is scheduled to be held every Tuesday morning in the music room at 10 o'clock. The program will be in charge of the Rev. John Page Jones.

Mr. Jones served as lieutenant of artillery in the A. E. F. in 1918. It was here that he became known as "Chaplain" Jones.

On his return to the United States Jones was retired for disabilities incurred in line of duty. He served at Grace Baptist church, Clermont, Fla., and was pastor there for four years.

Classes for Teachers Booked for Saturdays

Classes in education, sociology, psychology, and philosophy will be offered for public school teachers on Saturdays. If there is sufficient demand other courses will be installed.

This program should be of benefit and convenience to teachers in nearby schools who wish to continue their studies.

Days of DeSoto Recalled By Memorable Tampa Oak

Gigantic Tree Is More Than 4 Centuries Old

It was DeSoto himself—DeSoto the daring adventurer—the gallant explorer—it was DeSoto's nine ships weighed anchor in Tampa Bay late in the month of May, 1539.

At the mouth of the Hillsborough river he disembarked—and he and his 600 young Spanish nobleman in their costly armor and the trappings of chivalry. Their suits were of the pattern of knighthood with silk embroidery and gossamer scarfs. A great store of arms, tools, and other necessities were provided, cards for the stimulation of gaming, 12 priests to lead to religious ceremonies, blood hounds for the recovery of fugitives, and a drove of swine to fatten on the native vegetation.

Spirit of Conquest
Eager for excitement and the wonders of exploration, the cavaliers pushed into the silent jungle in the spirit of conquest. Swimming rivers, wading through swamps, fighting unfriendly savages, they pressed ever onward toward their goal.

Later it was DeSoto again who paused in the shade of a gigantic oak tree to parley with the Indians. It must have been a memorable sight; the daring Spanish explorer in conversation with the red-skinned first Americans.

Four Centuries Old

The tree was not so enormous then as the hoary monarch which stands today before the University of Tampa. Its branches have a spread of 120 feet; some of the lowest being only eight or 10 feet above the ground and stretching out almost horizontally. It has withstood the inroads of heat, cold, and storms for more than four centuries.

It was Ferdinand DeSoto, the "most cavalier of the cavaliers," the first white man to look upon the Mississippi river—it was he whose body was consigned to the waters with which his name will be forever linked—who stood one day in the shadow of our DeSoto oak.

Spaulding Welcomes New College Paper

By FREDERICK H. SPAULDING

The Minaret is the student publication of the university. In this issue it makes its bow to the world as a new college paper and at the same time publicly announces the opening of Tampa's first institution of higher learning. The Minaret will become an intimate part of the college life reflecting the spirit of its students and championing its ideals. At the same time it will have an important part in determining the future.

The college and the Minaret must work out their destiny together and success or failure for one means success or failure for the other. Those who have the responsibility of publishing the paper must think wisely and well, they must place the good of the school first and direct their efforts toward essential objectives. The university expects much from the Minaret. The officers and trustees wish it success in its career. I am happy to welcome the Minaret to the life of the university and assure its staff of my interest in its welfare.

FIRST ASSEMBLY WILL BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

All Students Expected to Attend

An assembly, for general announcements which all students are expected to attend, will be held ~~Tuesday~~ ^{Monday} morning at 10 o'clock.

The formal inauguration of student body and class officers who were elected on the last Friday in May, 1933, will also take place. The old members who are retiring are: Marcus Hall, president, Wofford Wait, Jacqueline Bettis, Bill Hippenmeier, Theodore Lesley, Winston Fowler, and Morton Hackney.

Wofford Wait, the president-elect, graduated from Clermont high school in 1929. After a lapse of two years during which he did not attend school, he registered at the University of Tampa, then known as Tampa Junior college. Last year he was elected president of his class, and, as a member of the student council, helped draw up the constitution for the student body. In May Wofford was elected president of the student body for this year.

The other members of the incoming council are: Dorothy Pou, representative of the junior class, Winston Fowler, president of the sophomore class, and Edna Frances Prince, representative of the sophomore class. W. B. Dickenson was elected president of the junior class, but decided to attend Florida State College this year. There will be an election soon after the opening of school to determine who will take his place.

The freshman class will also have an election soon to determine who will be their class officers. The president of the freshman class automatically becomes a member of the student council.

Faculty Members Given Assignments For Offices Here

The offices for members of the faculty were assigned last week. University officials and secretaries have been placed in the north corridor on the first floor, and most of the offices of professors and instructors have been assigned to the second floor.

The arrangement is as follows:

FIRST CALL

Students, here's a chance to get that life long thrill that you have been waiting for. All of you boys and girls that would like to try for a place on the cheer leaders squad are requested to get in touch with either Nash Higgins, Spartan Coach, or Wofford Waite, President of the Student Body. Be sure to turn in your application as soon as possible for pep meetings are on tap in the near future.

Physical Education

In the same degree and with the same thoroughness with which they address their time and energies to the mind our schools and colleges should study, train and cultivate the character and the body.

The body is the temple of the spirit and of the mind, as well as the engine through which their energies become manifest and operative. You may have plenty of coal and water in your tender and plenty of fire under your boiler, but if the boiler leaks and the reciprocating parts are out of order you cannot move ahead and do effective work.

No people can achieve a progressive civilization on a decadent physique, and a sound body is of greater importance to society than a mental development at the expense of health. Vigorous men and women are the prime essential to healthy social evolution, and cannot be purchased at too high a price.

We are fortunate in having with us in the persons of Mr. Higgins and his staff an organization which is in every way fitted to build up an efficient physical education department.

Hello, Pal

Have you ever walked down a hallway crowded with persons whom you have never seen before. Did it not make you feel ill at ease and slightly self conscious? This will be the position of a number of young men and women who have come to Tampa from nearby cities to enroll in the university this fall and we feel that it is our duty to make them feel as much at home as possible.

There is a freshman rule at the University of Florida that requires every "rat" to speak a friendly salutation to any upper classmen who may pass him on the street, or in any of the buildings on the campus. As we understand it, this is the best way in the world for fellow students to become acquainted with one another and it makes each student feel that he is a part, no matter how small, in a large institution.

The act of greeting the "higher ups" at the State University becomes habitual with the Freshman and he continues hailing his fellow students with a friendly word throughout his four years in school.

The suggestion that we at the University of Tampa adopt this rule may not prove so successful in a co-educational college but we are of the opinion that it is a plan worth trying. So let's always try to greet the other fellow with a cheerful "Hello, Pal," or any other words that will make him your friend.

School At Home

We've heard a lot of discussions recently, both pro and con, concerning the idea of attending the University of Tampa in preference to enrolling in any out-of-town college. A number of fellows, it is strange to say, want to go off to school to get away from their mothers and fathers and to have a good time without apron strings attached.

We admit that the idea of packing up your grip and starting out on the road to hitch hike to another college is certainly appealing when you come to think of it. In fact, it always seems to stir up that wanderlust in our veins.

However, let's give the matter a thought. What is the primary reason for attending higher institutions of learning? Surely it can't be for a good time when the hours of pleasure are being paid for by the hard-earned dollars that our parents cannot very well afford to part with.

The University of Tampa is still in its infancy. This fact, alone, should stir up enough pioneer character in us to make us want to be a part of its foundation and to feel years from now that we lent a helping hand to our alma mater in its early days.

Existing conditions at other nearby colleges are established. Rules are cut and dried and very seldom changed. We are not trying to discourage students who are planning to go to other institutions in the state but are endeavoring to point out the numerous advantages that a student has for progressing more readily in the University of Tampa, as far as making a name for himself in any school activity.

Financially speaking, it is immediately realized that it is more economical to attend the University of Tampa than to go away to school. And we feel that any young man or woman can receive as well rounded an education within the study walls of the Old Tampa Bay hotel as in any other accredited college in the south.

Patronize Your Advertisers

Advertising is the greatest source of revenue to a newspaper. Those advertisers who so generously have cooperated with the Minaret deserve the fullest cooperation of the university students.

Read the ads in your school paper before you buy anything and, if possible, patronize those advertisers, for without them you would have no paper to read.

SOCIAL SHORTS

Something ought to be done about this girls... I have just heard that Edna F. Prince and Dot Talbot are the only girls attending the university who can boast membership to the Tampa Women's Tennis association.

If you see a nice looking young man walking around here (there seems to be plenty present) who has brown wavy hair, and blue eyes, you will know him as W. C. Buchanan, jr., from Wauchula, Fla... A tip though, he answers to the name of Buck, and attended the University of Florida last year.

Dorothy Pou... Dot to all of us... has just returned from Jacksonville where she has been doing big things... Such as getting a big rush. Dot is back to take over her position on the student council.

Wonder what Jack Fitzgerald means strutting around looking so all-fired important while all the rest of us work. A hint to the wise is sufficient, Mr. Fitzgerald. You had better quit picking on these helpless little girls... Jack was reputed to be our only two-letter man last year.

The inevitable has happened... I hear from a certain reliable source, that Hasus Castro has sprung the question on Leah and she accepted. Watch this column for announcements of the date. Leah Lucas, you know, played in the Hillsborough orchestra last year... she was the energetic young lady who beat the drum.

Maggie Litschgi is a very fortunate young lady... she has been offered the position as fifth grade teacher at one of the Tampa schools. She also plans to attend night classes here at the university. Maggie and her sister Mary recently returned from Natchez, Miss., where they spent most of the summer. It seems that they had a grand time.

Raymond Hurn (better known as Tiny) cut quite a figure when he was a soph at Summerlin institute.

I wonder if he recalls the times he use to annoy certain teachers by cutting up in study hall? ... and he was just as big then as he is now.

Marcia Bierman, who was secretary of the student council last year, is now visiting in Kansas City, Mo. Before returning to Tampa she will stop at St. Louis to attend a wedding... She plans to return in November but that means we won't have Marcia this year at the school... I wonder how Johnny is making out. He received a card before Marcia even got out of the state.

Saw Woody Garcia taking an exam in the library the other day... Woody had better study more this year and leave the rest of us alone.

Winston Fowler is one of those fortunate chaps that was able to cover a little territory during the past summer and see what the rest of the United States looks like. He visited his summer home in Chattanooga and while there acted as instructor in one of the vacation camps.

From Chattanooga he journeyed to Chicago where he got a bird's eye view of the world's fair. On the return trip Winston took a sight-seeing tour through the famed Mammoth cave and from there he visited numerous other points of interest.

Book Review

"Wuthering Heights" by Ellis Bell (Emily Bronte).

This is a strange story of the wild moors of the north of England—a tale of unbroken struggle and excitement. The characters are men and women rough and strong in speech, and harsh in passion, hatred, and partiality.

Through much of the book there prevails an atmosphere of storm-heated gloom, with only occasional intervals of cloudiness and half-light. A weird fascination hangs over the dark and windy dwelling called "Wuthering Heights." A fierce, turbulent undertow of relentless natures and unconquerable spirits is portrayed; an undertow which strengthens and increases as the tale goes on.

It is the story of a slow but certain vengeance, and of a man who could be broken but never bent. Heathcliff is the villain and, at the same time, the principal character. One can not but pity him at the loss of the only person in the world whom he is capable of loving. His passion amounted to madness and the effect of his bereavement to sheer demon insanity. Although he stands quite unredeemed and dies as he has lived, a mystery and a menace, there is something vaguely admirable in his sullen and uncompromising nature and in his capacity for suffering.

The book is well worth reading for its vivid natural descriptions and its terrific power. Its characters, although somewhat exaggerated, are undeniably real. You feel that you have known them and are apt to find that the force of their personalities is a haunting influence long after details have been forgotten.

Bridge Members Are Entertained

Social Group Meets At Litschgi Home

The Misses Marguerite and Mary Litschgi entertained members of their bridge club at their home, 5706 Miami avenue, last Wednesday afternoon. The pink and green color motif was emphasized in the appointments and dainty refreshments. The hostesses were assisted by their mother, Mrs. A. W. Litschgi. Miss Carmen Cosio received the prize for high score, and Miss Louise Leonard was awarded the consolation. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Martha Carter, 5120 Seminole avenue.

The bridge club, in reality only a genial social gathering, has met every Wednesday afternoon during the summer months at the homes of the various members. Because membership is limited to students of the University of Tampa who meet the approval of the group, and several of the girls have either gone to other schools or will not enroll at the University this fall, the attendance has been somewhat depleted.

In addition to the weekly bridge parties the club has had many other social affairs. During the last week of August the group of girls spent the week end at the Anestine cottage at Haven Beach, where they entertained a large number of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. William Maness were chaperons.

The club plans to have a reception soon after the opening of school, the time and place to be announced later.

Members of the club are: Miss Carolyn Maness, Miss Dorothy Pou, Miss Rosemary Gavilan, Miss Carmen Cosio, Miss Marguerite Litschgi, Miss Mary Litschgi, Miss Hazel Webb, Miss Martha Carter, Miss Marcia Bierman, Miss Martha Cowart, and Miss Louise Leonard.

Social Committees Plan Wide Program For this Semester

Social events at the University have been few and far between during the past two years but this fact has not been due to the lack of interest. It has been caused by unfortunate delays and financial difficulties at various times.

The social committees this year are planning to schedule a bigger and better program of events for the coming term.

The outstanding event last year was the annual dinner dance given at the Forest Hills Country club in the latter part of May. Another successful social affair that proved very entertaining was a benefit bridge, the proceeds of which were used for an

THIS LITTLE RAT

'Twas on a Thursday night. The hall in the University of Tampa building was a silent void of Stygian blackness. Came a faint scratching, then an eerie patterning. An ancient rat was making his nightly rounds. His head drooped. His attitude was one of dejection. A horde of humans had invaded his sanctuary and the necessity for evading the constant pursuit of these beings had taxed his old legs to the utmost. He was tired of living.

Suddenly his nose came in contact with a piece of cheese. Warily he examined the surrounding territory, then sniffed in disgust. Another of those traps by which ignorant humans hoped to ensnare sly rats. Then a thought entered his brain and gradually assumed form. Life was no longer worth living. Resolutely he approached the cheese again and grasped it firmly in his mouth. A loud snap. A convulsive jump. Silence.

Next morning when the hated humans found his still body, they laughed gleefully and proudly exhibited their trophy. By their superior strategy they had caught a troublesome rat.

Both rat and humans were content.

informal party at the Villa Del Rio.

Only students of the school were present at the final social event of the year, a party at the Villa Del Rio. The committee in charge of the affair worked tirelessly to put it over in a big way.

The social committee of last year was composed of Theodore Lesley, chairman, Billy Gillen, Mary Litschgi, Martha Cowart, Carmen Cosio, and Louise Leonard.

Some of you might be interested to know that Martha Cowart has registered at Tallahassee this year, Dorothy Easton at the University of Minnesota, and Billy Gillen at the University of Florida. We certainly will miss the old students.

Here Is Some Dope About Our Spartan Grid Eleven

Wanna meet the football boys? O. K., here they are!

Phil Patterson: Hillsborough high star end and captain 1931. Class president there same year. Helps disperse equipment to the football boys, consequently has multitudinous worries.

Red Means: St. Pete. Football, basketball. All-state center and captain of all-state team 1932. Trackman.

John Edison: Football at Tech high, Atlanta. Played Hillsborough in 1928 at Tampa. Made all-state (Georgia) end at Georgia Military academy.

Willie Middleton: Football and track at Columbia high, Lake City. Star end. Member Northeast Conference.

"Primo Carnera" Hurn: 6'5" Captain of Bartow high last year.

Marvin Chauncey: Star football, track, boxer for St. Pete. Member state championship track team last year.

Joe Palmer: Member state championship track team. Pole-vaulter. Star footballer—and is he fast?

Jim (James, please) Blomeley: Fairfield high, Birmingham. Boxer, halfback, and the other half of the multitudinous worries Phil has. Jim's an organizer, ask the boys.

Hewitt: Three years All-Ridge Conference man for Mulberry. He plays basketball, too.

Henry Alfonso: Remember? Hillsborough football, track and golf, and can that boy run?

Wilbur Gunnoe: Only 230. He's one of those great big Lakelanders. Good footballer and a real boxer. Came from West Virginia at first.

McGinnis: Palmetto All-Southern Conference halfback. Baseball, basketball, and track and he's good at them all.

Beasley: He's McGinnis's pal. Only he was satisfied with being an All-South Conference halfback without showing them how to play baseball too.

Day: The big boy with the little name. A football, baseball and basketball player from Bradenton.

Johnny Arthur: Plant City, almost a home-towner. Football, basketball and baseball. He's a halfback.

Joe Carr: Ask Ken Hance about him. All-State guard from St. Pete and he plays baseball.

Willie Godwin: And we're going to say something about him! Tsk tsk. He's the boy who was All-State for three years. All-Southern last year. He plays everything. Made four letters his last year. You'll like Willie.

Rudy Rodriguez: Well, we're bringing two big ones up at once. All-State quarterback on Plant's State championship team 1931. Plant captain for three years. Student leader in Plant. Honor-roll student, too. Plays everything from tiddlywinks to handball.

Hart Overstreet: Our other big Lakelander. He reminds us all of Joe Shiro. Fullback on Lakeand's State championship team in 1930. Plays basketball and baseball, too.

Ken Hance: Former Plant star and Florida Frosh ball carrier last year. Halfback on Plant's 1931 State championship team. We oughta have Doug, his brother, too.

Fraser: Football, track, and basketball from Fort Lauderdale. He's quiet, but he's good.

We gotta lot more we'll tell you about next week.

COACH HIGGINS HAS ABLE STAFF

Former Gator Players To Assist Here

The University of Tampa, fortunate in securing Nash Higgins as director of athletics, has also acquired an exceptionally good coaching staff.

Jimmy Steele, a prominent home-towner, has been selected to help Higgins handle the line. As is commonly known, Steele was a member of one of the best teams the University of Florida has ever had. He graduated from Hillsborough high school in 1927, and upon matriculation at Gainesville, became one of the best linemen in the south.

Joe Jenkins, who has been assisting Higgins during the last several days with the early-season workouts, is also a former University of Florida star. He captained the 1932 team, and was one of the finest tackles the university ever produced. He hails from Leesburg.

Red McEwen is the University of Florida's Barry Wood. Each season, after quarterbacking the team through a tough schedule, he would devote the spring to starring in the mile run. In the meantime, he kept his grades above 90, and graduated with that average. He will assist in the backfield.

Si Osgood held down a guard post at the state university while devoting a large portion of his time to wrestling, a sport which he will coach here. He will also help Coach Higgins with the line.

Their schedule follows:

Oct. 14, Bowden, there; Oct. 21, unannounced, there; Oct. 27, Southern College, here; Nov. 4, Southern Georgia State, here; Nov. 11, unannounced here; Nov. 17, Rollins, here; Nov. 25, Stetson, here; Dec. 1, Norman Park, here; Dec. 9, Howard college, here; Dec. 16, Miami university, tentative; Dec. 25, unannounced, here. The Christmas game will probably be with a northern college, and will be played on Plant field.

Spartan Sports

Football, king of campus sports, has popped up for its annual show with the great old American public. And what a relief the pigskin game has been to every sports scribe who has been writing about the fly on his typewriter for the past month.

Naturally, we at the university are interested primarily in the welfare and success of our grid team. How much school spirit will come to the surface this year would be hard to tell thus far but we are nursing a sneaking suspicion that there will be plenty of the rah rah spirit and die for dear old Rodgers on the campus long before the opening football battle on the Spartan's schedule.

You know, there's a peculiar thing about the average sports scribbler. He gets his greatest kick out of building up air castles and concocting beautiful and fantastic dreams about the future accomplishments of his favorite football team. In fact a lot of these scribes will make the public actually believe that such and such an outfit can lick Notre Dame, when in reality that some group of fellows could not hold their own against a sandlot aggregation.

Now, reams and reams of optimistic stories have been written about the University of Tampa football team. We never like to be looked upon as a pessimist but we are afraid that the Spartans are in a tough position. The football fans in our community are expecting an experienced outfit to trot right out onto the field of play at the opening whistle. In other words, our team is going to have a hard time living up to expectations.

We, like the readers of the public prints, want to see our team go out and chalk up a string of victories. But we're not going to make any predictions about a world beating outfit, at least not for the first year. These gridders are in the friendly shadow of the townspeople at the present, but four months from now there may be another story to tell.

Suppose our fighting Spartans get a number of tough breaks and drop two or three tilts that they should have marked up in the winning column? A sports crowd is peculiar. The reward of our fellows might be pop bottles from the crowd in place of sweet words of praise from the newspapers.

Of course we sincerely hope that our boys will never have to undergo such an experience. In fact we are willing to venture the prediction that they will never have to.

Your faithful writer took a walk down the hall the other day to get a glimpse of these towering huskies who will go forth to battle under the Spartan colors. And were we impressed! Talk about beef, Higgins has certainly got plenty of the old muscle and bone on his squad.

These fellows are big enough to stomp a number of college outfits that we have been fortunate enough to see in action. Big players, you'll say when you get your first glance at the group. And should they have power!!!! The Spartans may go places and do things and they may flop. It's a toss up, either way you look at it. Some of Nash's gridders have never tossed a football in their life. Right now they are green but they can learn and they are certainly willing to try. If winning teams are built on enthusiasm, you can put it down in your little red notebook that the Spartans will have a championship team.

So here's hoping that the fellows get their touchdown combination to clicking before the first game. They are a fine group of fellows and have one of the most efficient and popular mentors in the south at their helm. With almost everything in their favor the future looks bright and rosy and we feel that we have a good chance of seeing our own little air castles become realities in the accomplishments of a winning eleven.

Celo Company Plans To Sponsor Program For Tampa Students

This week represents a double milestone for South Florida along the road of progress in education. Parallel to the opening of the University of Tampa in its first distinctive home, the Celo company of America announces the first non-commercial, educational and welfare program entered into by any industrial concern in this section.

Divided into two parts, the program consists of informal addresses and round-table meetings for parents, and a plan for recreation and instruction for children in Tampa schools. A nationally recognized child-welfare specialist has been secured by the Celo company to conduct the first half of the program, bringing to Tampa mothers and fathers valuable, new, and interesting information concerning the best way to meet all problems of the growing child of school age.

The recreational and instructional division will be conducted by local directors chosen for their understanding of child psychology and recreational needs. Plans for handicraft instruction, model building, and prize contests for models are included among the plans for the recreational program.

According to the advertising director for the Celo company, this concern feels that no appropriation of its public-relations funds could be better than its use as recently announced. This attitude is reached through the knowledge that the product of the company is of great benefit to the growing child and youth

STUDENT ATHLETIC TICKETS

Who wants two dollars? The University of Tampa football, basketball and baseball teams want every student and parent in the city of Tampa to have the most convenient and economical means possible of seeing their games this fall. They have, consequently, arranged season tickets to sell for $5.

Now, here's the point. You students cannot afford $5 tickets. You students want to be members of the Student Athletic association. Now, put two and two together and get season tickets and that membership both for only $3! Nothing more need be said. You're all going to get them.

In case you would like to know, the funds obtained from these tickets are going to be used to help equip the football squad, and to make possible a program of intramural sports.

of today. And that every work done to insure the health and happiness of today's youth is work done for the success of Celo with tomorrow's men and women.

"We offer this, service to Tampa parents and children," said the advertising director, "without obligation to them and as our contribution to education.

"Our most sincere congratulations go to the University of Tampa at the time when it opens its beautiful new home. We truly feel that we occupy a real place in building fine Americans and welcome another among the institutions who build fine intellects for healthy American bodies."

Here are Names and Degrees of Tampa U. Faculty Members

The University of Tampa is fortunate in that it is beginning its third year with such an efficient and competent faculty. Following is a list of faculty members, their degrees, and the names of colleges from which they graduated.

Judge H. P. Baya, mathematics, graduated from the Virginia Military Institute of Civil Engineering, and has had higher mathematics at Cornell.

Dr. Guy G. Becknell, physics, has both the B. S. and M. S. degrees from Northwestern university and a Ph. D. from Clark university.

Mrs. H. D. Berrett, instructor in the history of art, attended the Chicago Fine Arts academy and Indiana State Normal.

Richard S. Berry, economics, received the Ph. B. degree from Yale and the M. A. from Florida university.

Asa Cassidy, art, studied at the Cincinnati art school and the Chicago Art Institute. He also received training at the New York Art Students league.

Dean John Coulson, astronomy, has both the A. B. and M. A. degrees from Harvard.

Mrs. Marie W. Coulson, French and German, attended Schule Zum "Heiligen Krenze" Berlin, and received the degree of licene-es-letters from the University of Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Ridgely C. Dorsey, assistant professor of history, received the A. B. degree from the University of Richmond, and the Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins.

Louis Nava, Spanish, has the A. B. degree from the University of Oviedo, Spain.

James Martine Pearce, chemistry, has both the B. S. and M. S. degrees from the University of Florida.

Walter M. Pearson, biology, received the Ph. B. and M. S. degrees from Emory university.

M. L. Price, music, has been prominent in Tampa music circle for many years.

Miss Louise Robles, education and hygiene, has both the A. B. and M. S. degrees from the Florida State college.

Mrs. Irene Sparkman, assistant in mathematics, received the A. B. degree from Shorter college.

Cornelius Steinberg, Latin, has the A. B. degree from Tulane university, and the M. A. degree from Princeton.

Robert F. Webb, assistant professor of mathematics and geology, received both the A. B. and M. A. degrees from Harvard.

Rabbi David L. Zielonka, Old Testament history and sociology, has the A. B. degree from the University of Cincinnati, and the B. H. degree from the Hebrew Union college.

Reverend John Page Jones, minister of the University chapel and instructor in New Testament history, studied at Newberry college, Rollins college, and the University of Berlin.

Dr. Albert C. Metts, psychology and philosophy, received his M. A. degree from Columbia university and his Ph. D. from the University of California.

John Gee, art, has studied at schools of illustration and design in both Boston and Philadelphia and is a graduate honor student of the Art Institute of Chicago. He has also had three years of study in France, Italy, and Spain.

Arthur Hartzell, public speaking, received the A. B. degree from Indiana university and has done graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

M. W. Hatton, English, has the M. A. degree from McGee college and the Litt. M. from Grand River college.

Dr. J. Erskine Hawkins, assistant professor of chemistry, received the Ph. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

Nash Higgins, physical education and athletics, has the B. S. degree from Wabash college.

Dr. Edward B. Hinckley, assistant professor of English, possesses the A. B., M. A., and Ph. D. degrees from Harvard.

Samuel C. Johnston, history and Greek, received the A. B. and M. A. degrees from Colgate university.

Miss Helen Lastra, Spanish assistant, has the A. B. degree from the Florida State college, and an M. A. from the Teachers' college, Columbia university.

Miss Dorothea Morrill, history assistant, received the A. B. degree from the university of Michigan, and is a graduate student of that institution.

Miss Thelma Jones, dramatic art, has an A. B. degree from the Florida State college and an M. A. degree from the George Peabody college.

It seems as though this year the usual unusual weather has been more unusual than usual.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Student Tickets For Sports Events Are Now on Sale

Student season tickets are here! The Student Athletic association will be composed of those loyal students who hold ticket-books containing admission to eight University of Tampa football games, six baseball and six basketball games, and which will cost only three dollars. This is the lowest Student Athletic association membership fee charged by any school in the south.

Control of policy will be in hands of a committee composed of the president of the university who will be chairman, Coach Nash Higgins, two faculty members, to be named by the president, the president of the Student Body, and two members of the Student Athletic association to be elected by that group.

Until the association has been completed, three students, Phil Patterson, Jack Harding, and Rudy Rodriguez, have been asked to represent the interests of the association. Elections of student members will probably be held concurrent with freshman elections early in October.

Sales of membership, including the season tickets to all the games, will be handled by Patterson, Harding, Rodriguez, and President Wofford Wait.

Both President Spaulding and Coach Higgins feel confident of the success of the Student's Athletic association.

Kitchenette—"Why did you marry such a homely man?"

RED SEZ:

"I'm doggoned glad about the University of Tampa. It's what Tampa has been needing for years. It's gonna keep our children home and put money in Tampans' pockets, and it's gonna give those who ain't had a chance to get one before an education. Tampans should support the University now while it needs their support, for in just a few years the University of Tampa'll be doin' more'n its part to support them.

"Red's gonna do his part to help the University if it takes his last dime, and Red's gonna see this University grow to be the biggest and best in the South and maybe in the whole blamed country. Old Henry Plant would be a mighty proud man if he could wake up and see the beginning of the country's best college in the building that he made the South's best hotel. And don't forget, boys and girls, to come over to Red's and get a cold glass of the best beer in town."

SCHOOL RULES FOR LIBRARY, DORM, GIVEN

Dean Says Only Necessary Regulations Issued

The University of Tampa, according to Dean Coulson, is following a policy of "the fewer don'ts the better." Those necessary rules, listed below, pertaining to the use of the library and dormitories are the only regulations of any kind which have been issued.

Library Regulations for 1933

1. Books may be borrowed for a period of two weeks.
2. Every book borrowed must be charged at the librarian's desk before being taken from the room. (Failure to observe this rule may lead to the cancellation of the library privilege.)
3. Books may be renewed for a second week's period if not previously reserved by another student.
4. Not more than six books may be charged to any student at any one time.
5. A fine of five cents a day will be collected for books overdue.
6. Books on the reserved shelves may be taken out over night with the consent of the librarian. Such books may not be taken from the library until half an hour before closing time; they must be charged at the librarian's desk; and they must be returned by 8:30 on the following morning. Books returned late will be subject to a fine of 15 cents.
7. No reference works are to be taken from the library under any circumstances.
8. Marking, defacing, or mutilating a book in any way is prohibited.
9. Every student will be held personally responsible for books charged to him. In case of damage or loss, the student will be expected to pay for the cost of repair or replacement.

Dormitory Regulations

Students wishing to occupy rooms in the college must file a written application with the dean. Rooms will be assigned by the building committee. Students rooming in the college building must conform to the following regulations:

1. No more than two students may occupy one room.
2. Rent per semester for one student, $36.00; for two students in a room, $60.00.
3. Room rent must be paid to the Bursar in advance, or a student must furnish bond for $100, signed by two bondsmen, one of whom must be a property owner and citizen of Florida, and not connected with this university.
4. Each student will be furnished a bed, bureau, table, chair, electric light, water, and service for cleaning and care of the room.
5. Each student must furnish his own bed linens, consisting of: Four sheets, two pillow cases, blanket and bed spread, and be responsible for his own laundry.
6. Guests are not allowed to remain in a student's room overnight.
7. No woman, except a student's mother, may be received in his room, or in the section of the college assigned for students' quarters at any time. A mother who wishes to visit her son's room must obtain permission from the dean or the proctor.
8. No student shall be permitted to keep a dog, or other animal in any room in the college.
9. No food is to be kept or served in a student's room without permission of the dean or the proctor.
10. No electric heaters or other electrical devices may be used in a student's room.
11. Occupants of a college room will be held responsible for the destruction or injury of college property in the room.

12. The playing of musical instruments in college rooms shall always be carried on with a proper and generous regard for the rights and convenience of other students. It must not be a nuisance or disturbance to men at their work.

13. It is the duty of the proctor, under the direction of the dean, to prevent offences against order and decorum within the bounds of the student's quarters.

14. The penalty for infraction of the above regulations will be dismissal or expulsion from the university.

15. Fire escapes are not to be used except in the case of fire.

Freshmen Reception Has Been Scheduled For Next Wednesday

President Spaulding has announced that there will be an informal reception for the freshmen next week with the upper classmen acting as hosts. The reception will be given in the music room, Wednesday, Sept. 20, from 4 until 6 o'clock. The committee in charge consists of Louise Leonard, chairman, Helen Aronovitz, and Jack Fitzgerald.

According to Wofford Waite there probably will be many social activities throughout the year. The social committee will not be one standing committee. All social affairs will be under one chairman, directly responsible to the student council. There will be a committee appointed for every affair of importance, with the chairman in charge. This, it is hoped, will give every one a chance to help out.

The social calendar will be worked out so that, if possible, there will be at least one social affair every month. The school is planning to have the annual Christmas dance and the annual dinner dance, which has been held every spring, and other affairs which will be worked out later.

Congratulations— And a Welcome . .

To the students who are matriculating at the University of Tampa we offer our heartiest congratulations—both for having successfully completed a high school education, and for enrolling in a new university that seems destined for greater things.

And to those students from out-of-town an especial welcome. We're glad that we can be of assistance in making your stay here more pleasant. When you get a bit lonesome, or just want to talk to the folks, nothing could be easier or more convenient than calling them by Long Distance. It's inexpensive, too—for example, after 8:30 p. m. only 35c for a three-minute station call to a point 100 miles away. And you can reverse the charges, if you prefer to.

Spartan Football Team Grieves Death Of Plant High Player

The tragic death of Frank A. Winn, third, aspirant to the Plant high football team, was remembered by Coach Nash Higgins and University of Tampa football candidates when prayer was given by them on Plant field after Friday's workout. The grief and sympathy felt by the boys and coaching staff was expressed by Higgins in several minutes of reverence.

By way of expressing sorrow and loss, the coach, during the morning session, earnestly requested all boys, not only in the University of Tampa, but in all schools within range of his plea, to refrain from playing football and other strenuous games when they are not positive of their physical condition. He advised parents to be certain of the correct function of heart and lungs through a doctor's examination before permitting the boys to play, regardless of how much the game is enjoyed by them.

Coach Higgins urged the boys to quit immediately if there was or had been any doubt as to physical fitness. He declared any and all sports to be unworthy of risk of permanent injury. He explained football to be a means of increasing self-reliance and courage, and the development of bodies, not the destruction of health for material gain.

3-Year-Old Spartan Is Getting Ready to Go Places This Fall

In spite of the fact that the old Spartans were known for their courage and spirit, the Persians would probably have had a tougher time had they tackled one of the enthusiastic groups of modern Spartans seen in Tampa today.

Year before last the Spartan was born. Last year, he kicked around some, and, like the little Hercules, administered some pretty sound lickings. That second year, the birth of Spartan football, is one to be proud of. This school still wet behind the ears, made a good average playing on equal terms with teams from some of the best schools in the state.

This year, with the spirit we have, a half-dozen healthy line men tipping the beam at over 200, a good string of fast stepping backs, and the best coach and staff in this end of the country—well, step aside, folks, step aside, make way for a three-year-old adult which is going places!

Tampa University Bookstore Carries Numerous Articles

The University bookstore, located in the lobby of the building, opened for business last Tuesday morning. One of the advantageous features of the new department is the acceptance of used books for resale, with a nominal charge of 10 cents per book for the exchange.

Besides carrying the regular line of textbooks for the college curriculum, the bookstore has numerous other articles on hand including pencils, binders, fillers, ink, erasers, notebook paper with the college seal, candy gum, cigarettes, and other tobaccos on sale at prevailing prices. Cold drinks will probably be on sale for the opening of school.

The bookstore will be open for business every day of the week, opening at 8 a. m., and closing at 8 p. m., except on Saturdays when it will close at noon. This is a home-owned institution and it is hoped that the student body will patronize the bookstore for all its requirements.

As demand warrants, additional items will be carried in stock.

Football Players Will "Hop" Tables At New Tea Room

Six University of Tampa football players are going to have something more to do this year than to display their ability on the gridiron. These fellows have been employed for "hopping tables" in the Dragon, the latest soda fountain and tea room on Grand Central avenue.

These six stalwart gridders are Willie Godwin, Hillsborough high school all-state player for three consecutive years; Rudy Rodriguez, all-state quarterback at Plant high last year; Johnny Arthur, Plant City star; Marvin Chancey, St. Pete grid ace; Red Means, another St. Pete player, and J. T. Long, from Fort Lauderdale.

The tea room is being operated by Mrs. W. T. Covode, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and state sponsor for the Delta Zeta sorority, and Joe York, a graduate of the University of Florida, a member of the Blue Key and O. D. K. senior leaderships, and president of the debate council last year.

Both Mrs. Covode and York have organized fraternal groups in the past and expressed their willingness to cooperate with the students and to lend assistance in the forming of any club or social organizations on the campus this year.

A complete line of college novelties will be carried in the Dragon and football and season athletic tickets will soon be on sale in the tearoom.

"Have you any alarm-clocks?" inquired the customer. "What I want is one that will rouse father without waking the whole family."

"I don't know of any such alarm-clock as that, madam," said the shopkeeper. "We keep just the ordinary kind that will wake the whole family without disturbing father."—Wheeler's Magazine.

Said the boss of his typist, Saphira, Hard times will compel me to fire 'er. Hugh Johnson said "phooey, Cut out that blue hooley, With NIRA You HIRA Not FIRA."

Why wear a HOT, THIRSTY FACE even at home

Refresh yourself
Bounce back to normal

It's so easy to feel refreshed and look refreshed. Keep a few bottles of Coca-Cola in your refrigerator. Really delicious, it invites a pause—the pause that refreshes. Pause and try an ice-cold bottle. You'll bounce back to normal... Order from your grocer.
