Lottery may be the last

by Robert Giraldi

Recently, all 19-year-old males received their draft number in what may well be the final lottery of the Vietnam War era.

The call-up is expected to be far under the lottery number 125 reached this year. Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr said:

"We do not know as yet what the draft call will be in 1973. Nor do we know as yet what the call will be for the remainder of 1972, but we do expect calls to be lower than they have been in recent years."

The Nixon Administration is aiming for an all-volunteer army by June 30, 1973 when current draft authority expires.

In a conversation with Tampa U's draft board secretary, she said that one of the main misunderstandings that the students have concerns the situation of sole surviving sons.

A man whose father, brother or sister has died, is missing in action or is a prisoner of war as a result of service after December 31, 1959 is exempt from involuntary induction, and is classified IV-G.

Also exempt is the sole surviving son in a family where one of the relatives above died in or as a result of service prior to December 31, 1959.

Full-time college students enrolled in the 1970-71 school year in programs leading to a baccalaureate degree may be deferred in class II-S. The student must earn at least one-fourth of the credits required for his degree at the end of his first academic year, half at the end of his second academic year etc.

If your number puts you in that eligibility category, there is still a way out if you are violently opposed to war. You can file as a conscientious objector. First obtain a 150 form from your draft board and return it within 30 days. Before doing so consult a priest or someone of high importance.

TU-Miami

by K. R. Lombardia

Next Nov. 4, Fran Curci comes to town. For the first time, ex-coach Fran Curci will come into Tampa Stadium as a Spartan opponent.

The game will somehow take the place of the Indiana State game. At this time Tampa has scheduled 12 opponents. Whether Indiana State will play on another date is not known at this time. Tampa has an open date 2 weeks prior to the Miami game.

Curci said after he had left Tampa a year ago, that he would do all in his power to transpire a Tampa-Miami series.

Last year was impossible since Miami had 11 opponents. This year the Hurricanes were looking at either North Carolina State or the Spartans. Tampa drew the nod last week into what could turn into as intense a rivalry as Florida and Florida State.

A&M hires Tampa Coach

by K. R. Lombardia

Jake Gaither announced last week that ex-All-American quarterback at Florida A&M, and now Tampa Spartan coach Jim Williams has been named as the fourth football coach at the Tallahassee school.

Williams succeeds the deceased Clarence Montgomery who passed away a month ago.

Coach Williams began his playing career at Middleton in Tampa and then moved to A&M.

He was head coach at Southern U. in Baton Rouge before being hired by Fran Curci and later by Bill Fulcher.

He was re-hired by new coach Earle Bruce but the new offer at A&M was too good to turn down.

Coach Williams plans to build the Rattlers to equality with all the other schools in the state. He plans to fully integrate A&M so that it will not be distinguished as an all black school.

Coach Williams has hired ex-Tampa coach Larry Gavin as one of his assistants.

Center exhibits displays

A tripleheader of Asolo paintings, Asolo, USF and Rollins theatre memorabilia and woodcuts offers substantial variety for the cultural-conscious gallery goers during March at the Tampa Bay Art Center, 320 N. Boulevard.

TBAC celebrates its post-fair return with a 6 to 8 p.m. Sunday, March 12 reception at the center that officially opens the March program. For non-members, admission is $1.50.

Roaring in like the March wind, the exhibit will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, March 13 through April 3 in the art center building.

Fifteen paintings from the Asolo Theatre will be on display. They include "Born Yesterday" by Syd Solomon; "Love For Love" by Ben Stahl; "Look Back in Anger" by William Pachner; "Tartuffe" by Craig Rubidoux; "Servant of Two Masters" by Carl Zerbe and "Joe Egg" by Thorton Utz.

"It is impossible to recapture a theatre performance after it has ended," notes Mrs. Jary Nixen, TBAC exhibits chairman. "What lives is the play script, program, pictures, reviews and memories of those present.

"So in our March exhibit we are re-creating productions of the Asolo Theatre, the University of South Florida theatre and plays from Rollins College," she said.

From the Asolo, there will be masks, weaponry, props and other memorabilia. Rollins College is providing set renderings, costumes and other materials from "The Imaginary Invalid" by Moliere being performed this semester on the Rollins stage.

USF is contributing costume renderings, a stage model and possibly other materials from this quarter's production of "Richard III" through the cooperation of Peter O'Sullivan, the director, and Van Phillips, the costume designer.

The Winslow Homer Woodcuts exhibition includes many used by Harper's Weekly and many which are Civil War illustrations.

Host for the TBAC cocktail reception on March 12 will be the organization's Board of Governors. Mrs. Stanford Newman is the official hostess.

Student speaks on tuition increase

March 1, 1972

Dear President Owens:

I am very concerned about the tuition increase of fifty dollars per semester, beginning the next Fall Term, 1972. The fact is known, with the present economic situation and each new improvement on the campus, that operational costs have also risen. However, many of the students who could at one time afford the tuition of this University will as a result of this increase, be in a financial bind or simply not able to afford the education it offers.

Although there have been many improvements on the campus over the years, many of the expenditures are unnoticed. The tuition increase was finalized in February, without sufficient student notification or representation beforehand. As stated previously, those who wish to graduate from this institution may no longer have the monetary funds to do so.

If, in fact, a tuition increase is required then I feel it is only fair to have the increase justified to those who must bear the burden. I am aware of an increasing number of student representatives on various committees of this University. I feel that qualified student representatives should at least be allowed to sit in on meetings concerning the financial affairs of our University.

There should be an available budget of expenditures for those who would like to know exactly where their money is going. Presently not even a general budget statement is available. If in fact, the University is in such dire need of funds, it would seem that the University would be more than willing to show exactly where the money is going and where more money is needed. It would seem that a well run university would plan more than one year at a time. The students and their parents should be informed well in advance (more than six months) of any major increase so that they can make financial arrangements.

The Personnel Deans know of our problems with a tuition raise, however, I feel that with a students' opinion on a financial affairs committee, a better solution can be reached. Perhaps when the University realized exactly how many empty rooms there

Theta Chi has boat party

The brotherhood used part of its leisure time last weekend to indulge in a little party making aboard the Dixie Queen that sailed from Clearwater. The purple passion and rough seas combined to make it a party to remember.

On the athletic front we suffered a loss to a very strong McKay Hall team 45-38, while in our next encounter we hung on for a 39-36 victory over Delo Hall. Cal Semel again was a crowd pleaser with 24 points and tremendous defensive play. Glen Fedele added a vital 9 points which proved to be the difference between victory and defeat. George Sulock showed he still can cut the mustard with 4 points that he worked hard for. Last, but not least was Magnificent Meltzer who was indestructible on defense and pulverizing on offense to say the least.

On the sky diving front Ralph Klein and Tim Lombardi are having a contest to see who will get killed first when they compete with each other on a 3,000 foot jump at their Brandon air base.

The bowling season opened last week with Joe Richardi in his usual rare form on the lanes. The team will be competing against other organizations on campus.

We are also involved in making plans for our annual weekend under the guiding light and direction of Lawrence T. Gordon. Larry is exhausting every possibility to assure the fraternity the best time ever. Good job, Larry.

TKE has raffle

T.K.E. is surging forward. The rush program is off the ground, the activities are numerous and the beer is flowing. The upcoming T.K.E. weekend seems to be shaping into the best yet — Sarasota will never be the same.

For the benefit of those freshmen and sophomores who may be considering a fraternity; rushing is on. With the open rush system, many students do not realize when or how to contact a fraternity if they are interested. T.K.E.'s pledge program has begun but it isn't too late for those who want us. We want you.

The gasoline raffle was a fine success. T.K.E. thanks everyone. The T.K.E.'s congratulate Bill Boulis, who won the raffle. We all realize that at times we hassle the student body for money; we do not apologize but we do sympathize with your feelings. T.K.E.'s next raffle will be soon, with the prize of a puppy. Secondly, T.K.E. will be having another chicken sale in the near future. It will be better than the last one. Your support is appreciated.

Feb. 25 found the Kinks, Fairport Convention, and Dion giving a concert at the Armory in Tampa.

Dion is a folk singer who's been around for some time. He really surprised me; he played a good, solid set, and really enjoyed himself. I might have enjoyed him more if it hadn't been for the bad audience.

Fairport Convention has also been around for a while. Earlier members were Ian Matthews, and Ian MacDonald (original King Crimson), and the only original member of Fairport is Simon Nicol, the guitarist. They now feature an electric violin as their trademark and it's quite good. The highlight of their set was the mandolin duet. A really talented band. Pick up their new album, "Babacome Lee," like them, it's good.

The Kinks put on a very entertaining set, but musically it was a let down. Ray Davies, their guiding force and writer (one of the best), was quite drunk, and was far below his standards, unfortunately. The Kinks are one of the most underrated bands in rock but their music is as good as anyone else's. They played a number of their hits: "Ape Man," "Lola," "20th Century Man," and the best of all, "You Really Got Me." Next time they're here, I hope they're up to par.

On Feb. 27, I trucked over to Orlando to see Sweathog, Black Oak Arkansas, and King Crimson.

Sweathog came on hard and strong and played without a letup. The good Orlando audience really got off on them; why not, they're great. They feature a good guitarist named B. J., and their drummer Frosty used to play with Lee Michaels. They put on a good set playing such songs as "Rock 'n Roll Hoochie Coo," and "Hallelujah." They encored with "Hound Dog," and "Tutti-Frutti."

From the backwoods of Arkansas comes a band whose roughness and raunchiness makes all others look like Romper Room graduates — Black Oak Arkansas. But these guys put on a dynamite show. They have 3 guitarists for extra rhythm power. Their song "Hot and Nasty" perfectly describes them. Lead singer Jim Magnum has about the raspiest voice you'll ever hear but it fits into the music well. It's no wonder they've blown other bands off the stage. "Up," the encore, was an understatement for the crowd's feelings, soaring would be better!

But the best band was yet to play. Another underrated band, King Crimson is by far the most musical band in rock. Robert Fripp is the best technical guitarist I've seen and Mel Collins has to be one of the best woodwind musicians around. The mellotron is Crimson's mainstay, and both Fripp and Collins are good at it. Their music penetrated our minds and flung them to the far reaches of the universe. The ultimate musical trip! Their best song was "21st Century Schizoid Man." Rumors are that Crimson will break up soon. I hope not, they're the best and tightest musical band I've heard.

Fernando Belaunde-Terry to lecture at Falk March 16

After five years marked by extraordinary progress in improving his country's economy and bettering the lot of its impoverished peasants, Fernando Belaunde-Terry was ousted from Peru's presidency in a military coup following upon his repeated refusals to expropriate a U.S. owned oil company. He strongly believes that foreign investment is urgently needed in his own industrially underdeveloped country and in other Latin-American countries.

Dr. Fernando Belaunde-Terry is now living in exile in the U.S. He has taught and lectured at leading universities in this country, including Harvard, Cornell, Stanford, Bowdoin, Duke, Wisconsin, Iowa, Virginia and Rochester.

The son of a diplomat, grandson of a former minister of finance and great grandson of a former president, Belaunde went to school in Paris, got a Master's Degree in architecture from the University of Texas. He then returned to Peru where he served as Dean of the National School of Architecture, designed private homes and also served as a government public housing consultant. Politics was, however, in his blood. In 1945 he ran for the Chamber of Deputies and won a seat where he gradually achieved fame fighting for law and job opportunities on a national basis, and these campaigns ultimately won him election to the presidency in 1963.

Praised as Peru's Kennedyesque "architect of hope," Belaunde, during his constitutional regime, built houses, schools, irrigation canals, rural airports and, as a symbol of his dreams for Peru, a magnificent new highway cutting across the Andean forests into the neighboring countries of Bolivia, Colombia and Chile. Its purpose was to unlock the vast, virginal resources of the eastern Andean foothills and open up some 5,000,000 acres of the country's richest land for colonization. The cost of progress was high. It brought inflation and then came a show-down with the military over his refusal to expropriate the U.S.-owned International Petroleum Company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Awakened, as he slept in the Presidential Palace, by a burst of machine gun fire, he looked out to find himself surrounded by tanks. The soldiers bundled him off to the airport and a flight to Argentina and exile. He has lived in the U.S. most of the time since. Though recently allowed to return to Lima for his mother's funeral, he was picked up by the military two days later and escorted to the airport and placed aboard a plane for Panama for more exile abroad. He now makes his home in Washington, D. C.'s area and is teaching at George Washington University.

He will be lecturing at Falk Theater March 16th at 11:00 o'clock. Lecture subjects are The Future of Foreign Investments In Latin America, Latin American-U.S. relations in the 70's, and City Planning for Today and Tomorrow.

Delta Sig initiates

The little sisters of the Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity were known, prior to the 26th day of Feb. 1972, as the Tempo Club of the University of Tampa. On Feb. 26, 1972 the women of the Tempo Club were initiated into the Phi Gamma Nu Sorority as the Beta Gamma Chapter of the University of Tampa. Their national affiliation has been a long sought after goal. Their initiation in the afternoon and the installation of officers during the evening was conducted by Mrs. Becky Austin from Memphis, Tenn.

The brothers of Delta Sigma Pi attended their initiation celebration on the evening of Feb. 26, 1972. Delta Sigma Pi extends its heartiest congratulations to these business oriented young women.

During the last part of March, Delta Sigma Pi will have a car washing and waxing concession. Plan now for your spring car wax. The date will be announced in the next Minaret.

Sig Ep has good weekend

Sigma Phi Epsilon was honored with the presence of alumnus Little Sister Donna Henningson when she flew down for the week. Donna's winning personality proved to be a great asset throughout Sig Ep. We wish you could have stayed for the party Donna, Carl didn't have a date. But don't feel bad, Rodney Dobler filled in for you.

Most of the brothers are still looking for the ground after that party last Saturday night. Social Chairman Rodney Dobler brought plenty of wine, cheese and other goodies to keep everybody cool, calm and dry. Rodney deserves a little red star.

The basketball squad really went wild and won their first game thanks to Athletic Director Jeff Molofsky. With one win under our belt we should be on our way!

We would like to commend some brothers on their improvements: Pete Brundrett who washed his hair last week, Nick D'Amato who ran into a power saw, Cal Iezzi who acquired combat boots and Chuck Smith with senioritis.

The brothers of Sig Ep congratulate Bobby Coombs on becoming engaged.

DOCTORS DISCOVER NEW PILL FOR TREATMENT OF ACNE

This report deals with a new form of sulfur. Sulfur is probably the safest medicine known to man. M. Hannon found particles of theionized or activated sulfur taken by mouth are so fine and tiny they can be absorbed rapidly from the intestine. Dr. Hannon feels theionized sulfur's effectiveness occurs because it reacts more rapidly to influence all organs including lungs, circulation, kidneys and above all the skin. This reaction takes place because theionized sulfur not only is rapidly concentrated in the blood but this high blood sulfide level is carried to the skin to produce high concentrations at the site where the acne begins. This is the reason theionized sulfur is so effective in pustular acne of the teenager. Dr. L. D. Bulkley confirmed Dr. Hannon's findings. He treated sixty-nine acne patients with theionized sulfur analogue. He found theionized sulfur analogue effective for acne when used alone or combined with other measures. The drug was most effective for teenage acne whether pustular or cystic. AVAILABLE without a prescription . . . AKNE-KAPS only $1.69 at better DRUG STORES and all KASH and KARRY.

Tuition increase . . .

are in the dorms; how many students have moved off campus; and how many students have transferred to other universities, it will then realize the effect tuition increases without justification have made.

As a student paying to learn and enjoy the benefits of this University I have watched the tuition climb from $600.00 to $875.00 per semester. I feel that a better explanation for this tremendous increase is owed to the students than the vague phrase "increasing operational costs".

Sincerely,

Baseball opens at UT with a winning note

by K. R. Lombardia

The Spartans opened their 1972 baseball season on a winning note when they defeated USF 8-5.

Sam Howell's tenth inning bases-loaded-triple broke up a 5-5 tie. Howell's shot aided him, as he was the winning pitcher in the game. He took over for Doug Campbell in the seventh inning and shut out the Brahmins the rest of the way.

On March 2nd, the Spartans played and beat St. Leo's Monarchs 6-4. It was catcher Mike Rubio's fifth inning 2-run homer that lifted the Spartans to the 6-4 victory.

Rubio's shot over the 377 ft. sign followed Burt Ramos triple. Ricky Hernandez also drove in 2 runs for the Spartans. Cecil Kent and Sam Howell combined for a six-hitter with Kent getting the victory.
