UT To Go 4-4-1

In a move designed to make the University of Tampa more competitive in the areas of student recruitment and job placement, as well as to increase space utilization, the University has adopted a 4-4-1 calendar effective in 1974-75.

The 4-4-1 calendar reduces the six-week intersession period between semesters, moving the three-week intersession to the end of the second semester.

President B. D. Owens, in announcing the change, said the University faculty had approved discussing the pros and cons.

At present, school begins Labor Day, with the first semester ending the third week of December and the second semester beginning the end of January. Spring commencement falls about May 20-21. Under the new calendar, the spring semester would begin the first week in January and end in mid-April.

The change will not be made the coming year because the catalog has been printed for next year, listing a three-week intersession in January. A number of seniors are depending on the intersession to make up three or four hours needed to graduate in May.

Principal advantages cited for the change include: (1) earlier opportunity for graduates to enter into their careers and for students working during the summer to begin employment; (2) vacating of dormitory rooms so that they would be available for renovation and for special continuing education courses; (3) improved utilization of residence halls space now unused during January.

Other advantages include the potentially better appeal for transfer students since more schools are compatible with the 4-4-1 calendar and the possibility of eventual use of the more lengthy summer period for a paid sabbatical arrangement for members of the University faculty or for travel time.

The principal drawback seemed to be the opposition from students who planned to use the mid-year intersession as a "catch-up" for credits needed to graduate. Providing a year's notice for the new calendar overcame that objection from some faculty at the meeting.

One faculty member, Dr. Richard Gude, chairman of the Division of Science and Mathematics, expressed some anxiety that placing the intersession at the end of the second semester might make it less attractive to students. The January intersession has drawn a number of marine biology students the past two years.

But Dr. Gude, along with other faculty members, agreed that the 4-4-1 calendar offered much more advantage than disadvantage in expressing approval for the change.

Cadet John Gordon Walsh, 21, of Pasadena, Calif., demonstrates the use of the grenade launcher during ROTC summer camp at Ft. Bragg, N.C. Walsh, president of the student body at the University of Tampa, completed the six-week camp August 3 with more than 2,000 cadets from more than 107 colleges.

School's In!

A new year begins at the University of Tampa. New freshman and transfers join the rest of us Spartans for what is proving to be the most fantastic year for student life here at UT.

Modified dorm visitation and the Rathskeller, with the help of Florida's new drinking age, and an enthusiastic student body will make this an historic year.

You're all thinking, "oh no, another rah-rah speech." Maybe so, but just remember how long we have worked for these changes.

We have proved that by working with the administration, rather than challenging, we have bettered our position and proven to the administration that the university student of today has a different head from one of ten years ago.

Rain, all it ever does is rain!

Welcome to the Sunshine State and to the University of Tampa.

Now it's our responsibility not only to UT, but also to ourselves to keep control of the situation. Not to act irrationally and ruin what we have worked for, for such a long time.

Let's just sit back and relax, go to class and do a little partying, and get it together for our future careers.

Straights, freaks, booties, fraters, whites, blacks, yellows, rich and poor just getting off on each other. Let's have a campus of Brotherhood, of love.

Everyone learning from everyone else. That's what university is all about.

P.S.

By the way, while I've got your attention.

The Minaret, that champion of the world's oppressed, needs help. Man power, materials, and bread (money to all you trustees out there.)

You see, our budget was cut $2,000, that's two thousand dollars, this year, and it's doubtful if we can print every week, probably every two. So if any of you have any spare change bring it up to the office 4th floor, room 419.

Our editorial meetings are every Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. on the fourth floor, starting this week. If you're interested, please come on up and check us out.

All you organizations out there don't forget to submit your articles no later than Friday at 12 noon in the Minaret box in the mail room.

The Orientation committee should be commended for a fine Orientation Week, they outdid themselves this year.

Hope you enjoy the issue, if not be sure to come to our meeting Monday and join the staff.

U.S. Commerce Dept. Wants Changes

The Need For Labor Law Reform

There is a crying need for labor law reform in this country, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States contends. And not solely for the reason that business suffers from laws so heavily weighted in favor of labor, but that the average taxpayer also is subsidizing the unions.

Consider the fact that strikers are now eligible for welfare payments, food stamps and in some instances, unemployment pay. These are financed by tax payments from individuals as well as businesses.

Consider the fact that one union bargains with the entire trucking industry. Should this one union be allowed the option of tying up the nation's transportation system?

Consider the fact that unions represent only 20% of the workers of this country.

Don't you think it's time to get going on labor law reform and take away some of this inordinate economic and political power held by organized labor?

Resurgence Of Our Democracy

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has repeatedly urged Congress to bring government spending under control. The national federation of businessmen published an advertisement earlier this year which said, in part: "It's time we apply good management to get the Federal Budget under control and stem the inflationary tide."

The National Chamber's admonishments are echoed by Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, in a commencement address he made earlier this year at George Washington University.

Here is what Dr. Burns said:

"Those who administer the affairs of government share a common problem with business executives: no private enterprise and no government can do everything at once. Both must choose among many desirable objectives, and the degree to which their efforts prove successful depends largely on their skill in concentrating available resources on those objectives that matter most. That is the very purpose of budgets. "The fact that the Federal budget has in recent years gotten out of control should be a matter of concern to all of us. Indeed, I believe that budgetary reform has become essential to the resurgence of our democracy."

The Clock Runs Faster

As the 1974 fiscal year began July 1, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reset its Federal Spending Clock to run at an accelerated pace. The reason is that Federal spending this fiscal year is estimated to increase by approximately $19 billion, up to $269 billion.

Rapidly changing digital figures across the top of the clock indicate how much the Federal Government has spent since the beginning of the fiscal year. Each day the clock registers expenditures of approximately $736 million.

Here's what the reset clock now shows:

$10,000, nearly the average annual income of a typical American family, spent every 1.17 seconds, displayed by a sweeping dial.

$100,000, spent every 11.7 seconds, by a light flashing on.

$1,000,000, spent every one minute and 57 seconds, by a beep sounding.

Should the clock run at a slower or faster pace? The National Chamber urges you to let your Congressman know at what speed you want the clock to run. After all, it's your money they're spending.

Dick Gregory Sept. 18

On September 28, when his 1971-72 lecture season began, Dick Gregory was on the 158th day of his fast. He had not eaten solid food since April 24, 1971, when he announced at an antiwar rally in San Francisco that he would "consume only liquids until the war in Vietnam has ended."

Dick Gregory's fast is one more dramatic illustration of the commitment and sacrifice which has earned him the description of "the world's foremost freelance humanitarian." He has fasted many times before. (In August, 1970, he withdrew to Toronto, Canada, for a seventy-one day fast to dramatize the drug problem in America. His humanitarian instincts were offended by the popular governmental practice of punishing the victims, the drug users, rather than the real criminals, the drug providers—the pushers and the smugglers. Said Dick Gregory, "I will never be able to understand how a nine year-old kid always seems to be able to find the heroin man and the FBI can't.")

It is difficult to label the prolific activities of Dick Gregory. He became famous as a professional comedian. Today he is a recording artist, author, lecturer, actor, human rights activist, social satirist, critic, philosopher and political analyst, who combines all these roles to serve the cause of human liberation and to alleviate human suffering brought on by ignorance and apathy.

Dick Gregory will begin this year's special events lecture series Tuesday, Sept. 18, 11:00 A.M., Falk Theatre with a reception following in room 3 of the University Union, co-sponsored by the SGA and Special Events.

Dick Gregory was born in the Black ghetto of St. Louis, Missouri. While in high school, he became a state champion in track and field, and later expanded his honors on the track at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Illinois. He entered the entertainment field and rose quickly to the top, once more becoming a "champion" in American society. But society's definition of (Continued on Page 4)

Academic Honors

28 University of Tampa students made a perfect 4.0 grade average during the spring semester. They were among 92 UT students listed on the Dean's List the past spring.

In addition, 370 students were named to the Honor Roll, 21 of them compiling straight A averages.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must make at least a 3.5 average on 15 hours of academic work. Students taking up to 12 hours and making from 3.0 to 4.0 are eligible for the Honor Roll.

The Dean's List was comprised of 29 coeds and 63 males while 86 of the Honor Roll students were females and 284 males.

Test Dates For National Teaching Examinations Announced

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced today by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: November 10, 1973, and January 26, April 6, and July 20, 1974. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations. The school systems and state departments of education which use the examination results are listed in an NTE leaflet entitled Score Users which may be obtained by writing to ETS.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations which measure their professional preparation and general educational background and an Area Examination which measures their mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

The Bulletin of Information for Candidates contains a list of test centers, and information about the examinations, as well as a Registration Form. Copies may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Dave Jackson New Union Head

TAMPA, FLA. (AUGUST 1) — David Jackson, who "hopes to promote student interests and revitalize student apathy," has taken over duties as the new director for the University of Tampa's Union and student activities.

A native of Decatur, Ill., Jackson earned his BS degree in education and his Master's degree in guidance and counselling at Eastern Illinois University.

The new director, who is an Army veteran, was formerly employed as a baseball-basketball coach and guidance counselor at Vandalla High School, Vandalla, Ill.

Jackson also held the position of resident hall counselor at Northern Illinois University, Dekalb, Ill. He came to the Spartan campus from Bridgeport, Conn., where he was assistant director and program director of the Union.

Discussing his new position at UT, Jackson said he wants to step up the entertainment program, making the University Union "a focal point for the students."

His goals include promoting student talent, increasing student-faculty functions and showing top-notch films on campus.

Jackson also visualizes a spring celebration comparable to the fall Homecoming festivities.

The new director views the college student today as much more sophisticated than the stereotype Joe College.

"Students are more active today," Jackson claims. "They have visitation in the residence hall, rights as 18 year olds and interest and awareness toward political positions."

Discussing his move to Tampa, Jackson said it was strictly for the position. "The weather didn't induce me," he quipped. "This is what I really want to do."

Early impressions of the University of Tampa include.

"The young and energetic professional staff is a big plus for this university.

"I haven't been here long enough to see the main student body, but I have seen the campus leaders. I feel we can work out some good programs for the students.

"The University's Rathskeller is remarkable for communication." (The Rathskeller is a model of an old German bear hall, opened in May as an on-campus lounge for students).

Jackson, a bachelor and a sports enthusiast, claims, "I'm a regular guy, here to do a good job, to help as much as I can."

He is a member of National Entertainment Conference and Association of College Unions International. In 1972, while serving with the U.S. Army, Jackson received the Army Commendation Medal.

New Veteran's Officer

In the future, veterans shouldn't have any complaints about not getting proper care at the University of Tampa — thanks to the appointment of Edward J. Osborne as the first full-time veterans affairs officer at UT.

With nearly 30 years experience in Veterans Administration work, Osborne knows the ins-and-outs of veterans affairs and veterans rights, according to Paul Sawyer, UT financial aid officer and Osborne's immediate superior.

Sawyer said Osborne's appointment was made possible through a $15,567 grant to the University from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to establish a veterans affairs office.

One of the provisions of the grant is UT must increase its enrollment of veterans by 10 per cent each year for the award to be renewed. UT received only 17 per cent of the amount sought. "I hope we can get 100 per cent next year," Sawyer said.

Osborne, whose appointment is effective immediately, said there are 299 eligible veterans enrolled. However, when widows, dependent children, orphans and service personnel eligible for veterans benefits are included, the figure is closer to 500.

"As veterans affairs officer, I am charged with getting veterans into school at the University of Tampa and apprising them of their full rights, including disability compensation, education, pension, medical, dental and loan guarantee benefits, home loans and so forth," Osborne said.

"It is my task to know every law and rule on the books that govern veterans rights and counsel and advise veterans of those rights," Osborne noted.

At the same time he will encourage veterans to attend college, whether it's full-time in a degree-seeking capacity, as a graduate student in the MBA program or as a part-time student in the New Horizons Program.

"For instance," Osborne said, "many veterans do not realize that under a new program they can apply for up to two months school compensation in advance of their checks in order to help them adjust. My job is to let them know about these benefits."

A World War II disabled Navy veteran, Osborne joined the veterans administration in his native Philadelphia in 1946. He came to St. Petersburg in 1959 and had been vocational rehabilitation specialist from June, 1970, until his retirement from the VA in July of this year.

Until permanent facilities can be obtained, Mr. Osborne will be located in the Financial Office (SC 252), ex #378.

GREGORY

"success" was not in line with Dick Gregory's moral passion. As he has described it, "The real champion, I have come to understand, is the man who has risen to the crest of life's highest purpose — singular and complete devotion to serving one's fellow man." Dick Gregory has ardently pursued his definition of "championship" by doing the things he does best—making people laugh, making people listen, and ultimately, helping them understand one another.

Dick Gregory chose a career in comedy at a time when Black comedians received bookings only in Black clubs and theaters. In 1961 he was called as a last-minute replacement at Chicago's Playboy Club. He was an immediate sensation. He soon appeared in all the top clubs in the country and on major network television shows, and consequently became the man who opened the formerly tightly closed doors of the white-dominated entertainment industry to all the Black comedians who followed his breakthrough. Having opened the doors of the entertainment industry, Dick Gregory began knocking on other doors. He used his fame as an entertainer, and whatever fortune that fame would bring him, to open the closed doors in the American system which barred the entry of any man or woman to the guarantee of full freedom.

During the civil rights movement of the 1960's, Dick Gregory participated in every major (and most minor) demonstrations for human rights in America. He devoted his

Slowpokes Should Keep Up With Traffic

TALLAHASSEE — Slowpoke drivers who do not move with the flow of traffic often contribute indirectly to accidents said the Florida Highway Patrol today.

Colonel Eldridge Beach, director of the Patrol said, "As summer brings the opportunity for many kinds of activity, traffic increases and the pace quickens. Slower drivers should watch traffic conditions and avoid impeding the normal flow of traffic. Impatient drivers often react by taking unnecessary chances and cause accidents."

Florida law prohibits driving at such slow speeds as to impede or block the normal and reasonable movement of traffic, except when reduced speed is necessary for safe operation or in compliance with the law.

The Patrol urged slower drivers to keep watch in their rearview mirror and either increase their speed to that of the normal flow of traffic or pull off the roadway when they see traffic beginning to "pile up" behind them. Slower traffic should keep right on four-lane highways.

"Safe drivers are not slowpokes," concluded Beach.

time and talent to giving benefits for civil rights groups, peace groups, and other clusters of people devoted to human liberation. And though, ironically, the doors he had opened in the entertainment industry began to slam in his face, he did not compromise with his ideals and his vision of a liberated humanity living together in peace.

His participation in the struggle for human dignity cost him over a million dollars in cancelled bookings, travel expenses and legal fees. He found himself behind prison bars many times, twice serving 45-day sentences—once in Chicago as a result of his daily demonstrations protesting de facto segregation in the Chicago public school system during the entire summer of 1965, and again in the state of Washington as a result of his demonstrating with the Niqualy Indians in their demand for full participation in American society. Dick Gregory fasted during both periods of confinement, taking only distilled water for nourishment.

In 1967, Dick Gregory formally entered politics, but typically in his own way and on his own terms. He ran as a write-in independent candidate for Mayor of the city of Chicago. The following year he was a write-in independent candidate for President of the United States of America. He lost that election, but on March 4, 1969, in Washington D.C., his supporters inaugurated him President of the United States In Exile, in a ceremonial which included the oath of non-office, an inaugural address and two inaugural balls.

Dick Gregory the freelance humanitarian is non-violent. Therefore he is a pacifist. He simply does not believe in killing. Consequently he is also a vegetarian. As an uncompromising and untiring activist, Dick Gregory has made the provincial concerns of civil rights a universal call to appreciation for international human dignity.

"There is a great social revolution going on in America today," Dick Gregory declares. "And the wonderful thing about this revolution is that it is not Black against White. It is simply right against wrong. The number one problem in America today is not air and water pollution. It is moral pollution. The same moral pollution which keeps the smoke up in the air also keeps the Indian up on the reservation."

Dick Gregory has received the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Malcolm X University (Chicago) and the degree of Doctor of Laws from Lincoln University in Pennsylvania.

NOTICE

Please be advised that all student vehicle owners with identifiable parking decola will be permitted to park free on the city leased parking lot opposite the grandstand on North Boulevard, effective the first day of school, September 4, 1973.

Please make appointments with the Office of Education, Plant Hall, Room No. 334, to discuss your internship with Dr. Brick or Dr. Kratz. Appointments should be made in advance for interviews beginning September 10 through September 21. Intern packets should be completed and returned by September 25, 1973.

WOMEN IN ROTC

"Pardon me cadet, but your slip is showing." It's a possible consequence since women will make their debut into the ROTC ranks at the University of Tampa this fall. Following a decision issued by the Department of the Army, Washington, D.C., the military science doors are open wide, allowing the fairer sex to enter a program formerly available only to men.

Col. Walter M. Turner, professor of military science and head of the ROTC unit at UT, feels the decision "casts off Victorian prejudices, so to speak, against women," and offers a program which he believes "will benefit the girls and the nation."

According to Col. Turner, the new concept became a reality following a study of favorable reports gleaned from selected colleges which piloted the program throughout the United States. Florida State University launched the project in the Sunshine State.

Col. Turner says that he and Dr. B. D. Owens, UT president, were receptive to the idea when they were queried about it, back in 1971.

"We were willing to be a pilot college, but only state institutions were selected," he explains.

In approving the expanded ROTC program, Col. Turner says: "The Army is really tapping the large reservoir of women power which is available to contribute to our national defense."

CHARISMA IS COMING

Folk Rock in Room 3
University Union

Monday, Sept. 10 7:30-10 P.M.

Col. Turner, who claims he has no qualms about recruiting women, says the new program isn't mandatory. "Each college makes its own decision."

How many women are expected to enroll? According to Col. Turner, reports from Washington estimate that 6,000 will join the ROTC ranks at 293 colleges throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

To date, the only feminine influence felt in UT's ROTC program has been that of the ROTC Corps, a group of 20 young, uniformed women who act as unofficial hostesses for social functions and other special ROTC activities.

Women may officially join the ranks, along with cadet recruits. Any one interested may stop by the ROTC office.

Spartans Getting Ready

There are going to be a lot of new faces.

In the last four years, the University of Tampa has compiled an impressive 41-13 record with fellows like Buddy Carter, John Matuszak, Paul Orndorff, Alex Edlin, Eddie Caldwell, Dave Grantham, Ron Herbein, Fletcher Carr, Wilbur Grooms, Dave Bankston, Bob Bissell, Joey Clark and Ernie DuBose leading the way.

But, those fellows whose names have become household words for Spartan followers are gone. Six of them, including Matuszak, the number one draft choice last winter in the professional draft, were invited to pro camps. Matuszak, Grooms and Orndorff were drafted while Carter, Edlin and Clark were invited following tryouts.

"We aren't kidding ourselves," says Dennis Fryzel, the fourth head coach in as many seasons, "there is a tremendous rebuilding job that must be done and our younger players must come through if we are going to have another successful season."

The Spartan coaching staff was concerned with four key areas at the start of spring practice—(1) filling the defensive tackle spot vacated by Matuszak; (2) finding a rover to replace Tomeo and Bissell; (3) developing a strong offensive line; and, (4) depth.

Walt Blackwell and John Csir, who will be sophomores, forged to the front in the battle for Matuszak's right tackle slot. Blackwell lettered as an offensive tackle last fall.

Larry Hunter and Terry Grantham were both listed on the first team at rover for the start of spring drills and will start preparations for Toledo the same way.

"I can honestly say that I doubt if we will have a number one and two in that position," Fryzel says. "They are both equal."

The offensive line and depth are still big question marks, however. "We haven't progressed as well in these areas as I would have liked," Fryzel said following the Spring Game pitting the first team against the rest of the squad.

Injuries crippled the Spartans throughout spring drills. Harry Smith, who started every game at middle linebacker in the Spartans' 9-2 regular season and Tangerine Bowl victory over Kent State in 1972, did not don the pads in the spring because of a knee injury. A knee injury also sidelined safety Buddy Raburn following the first scrimmage.

Here is how the Spartans looked offensively and defensively following the annual spring game.

Deep in the backfield, but thin up front.

That sentence best sums up the offensive outlook for the Spartans as they prepared for fall practice.

Talent abounds in the backfield, starting at the quarterback position with the exciting Fred Solomon, who took complete charge during spring drills. Solomon, who shared starting duties last fall with Carter, worked hard at becoming an all-around player in spring drills.

Solomon, who was the number two ground-gainer last fall, will be aided by the return of Alan Pittman and Morris LaGrand, who finished third and fourth, respectively, in Tampa's 1972 rushing statistics. And, Frank Pitts and Ken Moorhead also return.

Mark Wakefield and Anthony Williams, who will play split end and flanker, respectively, along with tight end candidates Vin Hoover and Nehemiah Small, provide a strong corps of receivers for Solomon.

Defense was the backbone of the Spartan success in 1972 and it will probably have to be again this fall in the first few games while the kinks are ironed out of the offense.

Last year the defense ranked sixth in the nation versus opponent scoring and ninth in overall defense. But gone from that unit are Matuszak, and Grooms, the Spartans' most valuable player in '72, Bankston, Tomeo, Bissell and Caldwell, who pilfered six enemy passes.

Returning are end Mike Hernandez, tackle Ervin Smith, linebackers Harry Smith and Tom Witmer plus defensive backfield specialists Buddy Raburn and Mike Burnett.

A pair of sophomores — Walt Blackwell and John Csir — are the heir apparents to Matuszak's spot. Tom Aerts has moved into the slot vacated by Grooms, and Greg Pittman, a sophomore, is the likely replacement for Bankston.

Bob Cooper, who finished the 1972 season as the Spartans' leading scorer, returns to handle the place kicking chores. He converted on 26 of 30 PAT attempts while hitting on eight of 23 field goal tries.

Solomon returned 14 kickoffs for 344 yards as a sophomore and that task will probably fall to him again. Another possibility on returns is Thomas, who should serve as the deep man for punts.
