

300 SENIORS TO RECEIVE DEGREES

From the president

Emphasis on Improvement

"I am more interested in the future than in the past because that's where I expect to spend my time."

The above quotation from the great engineer, Charles Kettering, illustrates the attitude of the administration during the past three years. We have been looking forward constantly in an attempt to meet new and pressing problems, but over-all to improve every phase of the University.

Most particularly our planning and actions have been geared toward improving the kind of education which you will receive. As one thoughtful student said to me recently: "After I graduate from the University of Tampa I want to be proud to say that this is my Alma Mater." I concur wholeheartedly.

Community Interest

During the year we have been able to make many physical changes owing to the generosity of our friends in the community who contributed $115,000 last year. Most of the interior of the main building was renovated and undoubtedly you have noticed the new equipment in Chemistry, Art and Biology; the enlarged quarters and equipment procured for the Department of Music; the renovated third floor dormitory for women; Lykes Hall; and many other changes.

The generosity of Mrs. A. R. Phillips of Seffner yielded hundreds of azaleas which have been planted outside the Main Building. Alpha Phi Omega and Circle K contributed a large portion of the new sod which has so improved the appearance of the East side of the building. The City of Tampa generously re-constructed the street and built sidewalks for your convenience. On the west side of the Wicker Lounge the Florida Nursery and Grower Association have created a garden spot as a contribution to the University. In the Ballroom the Chiselers have continued to lend beauty to your environment. The latest acquisition is a beautiful antique chandelier imported from Scotland.

Outstanding speakers and musicians have come to the campus throughout the year. The musical season culminated on May 15th with a performance of Professor Stephen Park's works by student organizations, individual students and musicians from the community. This was an outstanding cultural and musical success.

These are just a few of the highlights of the year. Now what of the future?

Residential Needs

Our biggest problem at the moment is connected with the transition of the University from being essentially a commuting institution to becoming one which is almost entirely residential. This is occasioned by the opening of the University of South Florida last fall. To give you an example of the rapidity of change: in 1959, 65% of the freshman class were commuters; in 1960, 15% were commuters. In 1959, 26% of the freshman class came from outside Florida; in 1960, 65% came from outside Florida. I believe the pattern set by the 1959 class will be the pattern of geographical distribution of our student body in the future.

Hence our primary preoccupation for next year has been with the creation of additional living spaces. The Trustees and Administration are engaged presently in negotiations to purchase nearby property which will serve excellently as dormitories. A government loan for the construction of 92 additional spaces on McKay Hall and 75 additional spaces on Smiley Hall is almost ready for approval and construction should start this summer.

Student Union

Our second greatest physical need is for dining and lounging facilities. All of us in the Administration have been very conscious of the inadequacy of the Lobby as a meeting place and the dining facilities both on and near the campus for an enlarged resident student body. Hence a few weeks ago I asked the Student Congress to survey the student body to ascertain your wishes for facilities in a proposed Student Center. We used the results of this survey and of a survey of some 100,000 students in other institutions in our planning. All of you have had opportunity to see the floor plan which was on display in the lobby. We have secured reservation of government funds for a loan which will cover three-fourth of the construction cost estimated at $475,000. The total cost, including movable furniture, will be about $525,000. Immediate steps are being taken to attempt to secure the additional money from various sources. Construction will be started just as soon as the funds are available. In addition to a dining room and snack bar where you may secure palatable and well balanced food for moderate prices, the building will contain an adequate book store, post office, lounge and small art gallery on the first floor; several meeting rooms of various sizes and a large game room on the second floor.

This coming summer we are planning the installation of a Modern Language Laboratory to facilitate your study of foreign languages. The new Mathematics Laboratory, contributed by the Rotary Club of Tampa, is already in operation.

Bigger and Better

But on a larger scale the Board of Trustees and Administration are working on plans for an expansion of the campus and for the acquisition of our own air-conditioned auditorium for convocations, plays and all types of musical events and meetings of large classes. As plans mature I will announce them to you.

In the interim, interest in attending the University of Tampa is growing throughout the eastern half of the United States. Applications for entrance next fall are 55% greater than a year ago. One-third of the applicants are not being admitted, so we anticipate a freshman class which will give real competition to the remainder of the student body.

The student body can do a great deal to set the tone of a college. This is as it should be. For all University activities, whether in or outside the classroom, the construction of buildings, the provision of various facilities, the extra-curricular programs — are designed toward the one end — that of making it possible for you to graduate as an educated, mature and balanced person.

Student Congress Help

More and more the Student Congress is assisting in planning for the future. Representatives of the Congress will sit on the Committee planning convocations and special events for next year and we expect to have these outlined well before Commencement. I have been de-

Commencement exercises for the 1961 graduating class will take place on June 5, at the Britton Plaza Theatre at 10 a. m.

The exercises will open with the Academic Procession led by Dr. Jesse L. Keene, Marshall. Mr. Stephen P. Park, associate professor of music theory and composer, will play Ilger's "Pomp and Circumstance" at the Hammond organ. Following the National Anthem, the invocation will be given by Reverend Irvine H. Williams of the Palma Ceia Presbyterian Church. Dr. David Delo will then introduce guests. Myron Kartman, instructor in violin will play Kol Nidrei by Max Bruch, accompanied by Stephen Park.

Joseph McMurray Is Commencement Speaker

The commencement address will be given by Mr. Joseph P. McMurray, Chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D. C. Mr. McMurray, a graduate of Brooklyn College, was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Gamma Mu, scholastic honor society. He did three years graduate work in economics with the Graduate Faculty of the New School for Social Research specializing in monetary and banking theory. He was honored in 1952 by Brooklyn College as the alumnus who had done the most outstanding work in his field and in 1959 was selected as the "Alumnus of the Year" by Brooklyn College.

The exercise continues with Dean M. C. Rhodes presenting the candidates for degrees. The conferring of degrees will be conducted by Dr. Delo.

Hunter to Receive Honorary Degree

George Truman Hunter will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree by the University. Mr. Hunter, Tampa University alumnus, is currently manager of the Advanced Management Control System in the Federal Systems Division of I.B.M. He received his Master's Degree at the University of Florida and his Doctor's Degree at the University of Wisconsin. As a student of Tampa University, Mr. Hunter was president of Alpha Psi Omega, a cheerleader, and a member of chorus, the swimming team, and Yacht Club. His name appeared on the Dean's list throughout his college career and he is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Following the Alma Mater by the audience, Reverend Irvine Williams will give the benediction. The exercises close with the recessional as Stephen Park plays Meyerbeer's Coronation March from "The Prophet" at the organ.

lighted with the offer from a number of student organizations to assist in raising funds for the new Student Center.

Each of you can do your part — to be sure that after you graduate you will be proud to say, "I am an alumnus of the University of Tampa."

University Art Exhibition

We would like to pause for a moment to commend the fine work of the University of Tampa art students which was exhibited last week in the ballroom. The exhibition, an annual affair, included work from the classes of Dr. J. L. M. Baird, Mr. Joe Testasecca, and Dr. Charles Giles.

Excellent examples of ceramics, sculpture, paintings, drawings, and mosaics were featured. All objects of art were screened by the professors of the Art Department and the show represented the best work completed.

It is wonderful to see such talent and quality displayed by our own students. Many of these young artists will probably soon graduate into greater fame. We hope that more exhibitions, such as this one, will be featured throughout the coming year at the University.

Mathematics and the Student

by Al Frankel

When the associate editor assigned me the story on the significance of mathematics, I shuddered and mumbled that favorite word of a blasé college student, "Ugh!"

I hate math. To me it is a waste of time, and when I sat opposite Mr. Reynolds of the Math Department, I told him exactly how I felt. To my surprise he said that my opinion coincided with that of the majority of students attending universities. Then he asked me exactly why I had such a distaste for the course. I thought momentarily, then I had to admit that I just did not understand it.

Smiling sympathetically, he explained how math is the most exact science. Above all courses, math has the sole distinction of proving the solution of a problem exactly. With the use of this subject, man can work with a bulldozer instead of a shovel to build the mountain of knowledge that is needed for today's existence.

Take, for instance, the tiny electronic digital computers in our space vehicles. Space shots would be impossible without this little mathematical genius because it would take an army of calculators to keep a missile on course. The more math one knows, the more one can accomplish with the same amount of effort.

The unfortunate thing about math however, is that it has been taught incorrectly during the past years. Teachers have never taught why a certain method of math is used. We all remember a rule used to invert and multiply. Well, why? Many instructors used a poem to answer our meddlesome question.

"Yours is not to reason why; just invert and multiply."

Teachers do not bother to explain why such and such is used, but rather they wish their students "to memorize procedures because it is the accepted thing to do." "It was good enough for my grandfather and it is good enough for you students." The main reason teachers do not explain math is that they were taught to memorize rather than to understand.

Mr. Reynolds pointed out that many of his students, being teachers themselves, came up to him after class and explained that they never knew there was a reason for such procedures.

Math has been used as a punishment, too. Many grade school students were threatened that they would have to stay after school and solve thirty math problems if they didn't shape-up in class.

These methods of teaching students to memorize, and not to think for themselves has been quite disastrous to our educational system. How many capable students have been discouraged from continuing on in advanced math?

Mr. Reynolds encouraged those who must take math because of this core curriculum, to chop-up and discuss their problems concerning the subject with him. One advantage that the University of Tampa has in being small is that professors can spend more time with their students.

Some individual training is needed, and as we found out, if you are aided in the understanding of this subject, you will find it enjoyable and quite rewarding.

The Handicapped Student

by Robert T. Mora

One sunny hot day I rolled into the Spartan room and parked alongside a table to have a coke. While I sat there, Bill Sargent came to me and asked if I would like to write an article for the paper pertaining to why handicapped students seem to stand out scholastically. Well, I'm no expert on the subject, but I would like to share with you my opinions and the things I do know about it.

When the handicapped student starts college he is faced with a very big problem: sink or swim. He must live in an environment of activities based upon the needs of the overwhelming majority of comparatively physically sound persons. Consequently, he is expected to gain his satisfactions from surroundings that are ill-adapted for him. The psychologically well adjusted handicapped student realizes the competition he is in. He will set his goals and work hard to accomplish them. He realizes the responsibility he places on himself and those placed on him by cultural environment. He not only realizes them but also accepts them. As he accepts these responsibilities he will do the best to his ability try to fulfill them. For he realizes that if he fails he cannot just go and join the service. Nor can he pick up "any ole job". Because of this stress placed on him by society he may spend a little extra time and put more effort on acquiring his goals. His goals may be just to graduate and hold a job or to graduate with good grades, honors or perhaps to get everything out of school possible. Whatever his goals, if he is psychologically well adjusted and accepts his responsibilities, he will try a little harder to accomplish them then would the ordinary physically well developed student. For the handicapped person realizes that he must prove himself capable ble in a society of competition among physically superior persons.

Another reason the handicapped student may stand out scholastically is because an inferiority complex may be present. The handicapped student with an inferiority complex, taking a positive viewpoint may make an extra effort to get good grades because of the attention, approval, and sense of accomplishment they bring forth. If his efforts and accomplishments are reinforced by the appraisals of others he may have a tendency to continue. Thus, he may keep striving a little harder to achieve his goals.

In closing I would like to state that I have been referring to the "average" individual, not "all" individuals.

PROFESSORS VON SZELISKI AND DORAN TO WORK ON DOCTORATE DEGREES

Mr. John Von Szeliski, professor of radio and drama, and Mr. Michael D. Doran, professor of psychology, will take a year's leave of absence to complete work on their doctorate degrees, beginning next September.

Mr. Von Szeliski will join the faculty at the University of Minnesota in the speech and theatre arts department while studying under Professor Frank M. Whiting. Whiting is the director of the University Theatre and author of "An Introduction to the Theatre" which is widely used as a text for drama courses in colleges.

Von Szeliski received his B.S. and M.S. degrees at Purdue University in Indiana. He joined the T.U. staff in 1958 as director of radio and instructor in radio and drama.

"Criticism of the Modern American Theatre" will be the general topic for his doctoral thesis. Since 1959, he has attended the University of Minnesota during summer sessions.

Mr. Doran will study as a research assistant in experimental psychology under Dr. Winthrop N. Kellogg at Florida State University.

Doran, from Manchester, England, attended Xaverian College. He came to the United States in 1948. Upon enlisting in the Air Force, he was assigned to a radar detachment in the Philippines and Japan. After his discharge, he attended Florida State University where he received his bachelor and master degrees in four years. Doran was honored as Phi Beta Kappa.

In 1956, he worked as a research assistant at the University of Massachusetts for the public health service for the period of a year.

Doran, a member of the American Psychology Association, the Florida Psychology Association, and past president of the Tampa Bay Psychology Association, joined the University of Tampa faculty in 1958.

Dr. Keene's Book To Appear Soon

Dr. Jesse Keene of the History and Political Science Departments here at the University has announced that two of his publications will appear soon.

The first is a book written by Dr. Keene entitled Peace Convention of 1861. This book of some 150 pages will tell of the last attempt to achieve a conciliation between the states before the Civil War. The convention failed to accomplish its attempt to do so.

Dr. Keene said that this book will be published within the next few months and will be on sale a short time thereafter.

Sorority - Fraternity Editor

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Chi's have ended the year with many exciting activities. These last couple of weeks have been filled with much fun and frolic.

At the Lead Out Dance held May 12 at Tampa Yacht and Country Club, John Kern was named as our new Sweetheart, Joy Lamberson was named Girl of the Golden Lyre, being the outstanding active. The outstanding pledge award was presented to Jeannie Corlew. Each of the Spring Pledges was formally introduced at the dance.

Mother's Day Breakfast was held May 20 in the Morrisonette Room. Gifts were presented to the Mothers by their daughters. Ginger Sutton was named Carnation active and Roxanne Call was named Carnation pledge. Mrs. Myldred Bates was honored for being such an outstanding faculty advisor.

On May 24 the actives honored the alumnae with a party at the home of Sue Phillips. The highlight of the evening was a song fest in which the actives competed against the pledges. Both groups began practicing for this event several weeks ago. The pledges really surprised everyone with their wonderful singing!

Sister Judy Dearing is now sporting a beautiful diamond on her left hand. We all wish her luck and happiness in the future.

We are very proud of Sis Ferlita and Carol Long who were selected as cheerleaders for next year. Carole McSwain was chosen to be a dancerette. Congratulations to all of these girls.

Delta Zeta

The D.Z.'s are still talking about the Hula Contest at the party given by the pledges. The pledges' sorority mothers were the honorees. They received a gold bracelet with the Delta Zeta lamp on it.

Maternal mothers were honored at a luncheon at the Imperial House, in conjunction with the alumnae. The mothers were given carnations by their daughters.

The car wash last Saturday was a real success. The girls worked very hard and are becoming experts at car washing.

Delta Zeta is very happy to announce the appointment of Mrs. Judy Williams as C.C.D. We are sorry to lose Mrs. Iris Williams. She has been a great help to us for the last few years. Judy is a former University of Tampa professor of physical education, and is now a guidance counselor at Robinson High School.

Delta Zetas are taking interest in other organizations at the University. D.Z.'s recently elected to office were Ann Epling, president of A.C.E.; Diana Barbary, secretary of I.F.S.C.; Florence Ciaravella, secretary of Pan Hellenic; Marie Boykin, secretary of Westminster Fellowship.

Congratulations to Gail Davis for being a member of the new Pi Kappa Rose Ball Court.

The Delta Zeta Rose Ball held at the Tampa Terrace Hotel was a great success. D. Z. pledges were presented. Eileen Gomez was selected as Outstanding Pledge.

Pi Kappa Phi

The three stage "Pi Kapp Rocket" was launched during the first weekend of May for a real swing time. The first stage was fired Friday night — its destination the Cuban Club in the area of Ybor City. Providing the music for the dance out on the patio were the "Rockers". The highlight of the annual Rose Ball was the crowning of Gloria Pettigrew, Rose Ball Queen, with Roseanne Cinchetti, Gail Davis and Valerie Krebs in her court. Unanimously accepted by all Pi Kapps was Mrs. Baker as our "Pi Kapp Mother." The first stage burned out after the presentation of awards for outstanding brother to Ed Sims and outstanding pledge to George Ebra.

Synchronized perfectly Saturday night was the firing of stage two rocket. Packed with two-legged occupants, the hayride ended up at Zeta Tau Alpha spring pledges at the Zeta Stardust Ball. Lake Carroll after having been launched at school. All male and female astronauts enjoyed themselves.

Perhaps a little weary but still game all climbed aboard for stage three which was launched by the pledges, with destination toward a lake north of town. All in all the Pi Kapp project proved a success as witnessed by the bleary-eyed space travelers.

The following week Brother John Kern was selected "Sweetheart" at the Alpha Chi dance which was held at the Tampa Yacht Club.

The Pi Kapp officers for the coming semester are Bob Bradley, archon; Ed Sims, treasurer; John Kern, secretary; Jerry Herzog, historian; John Wolf, chaplain; and Bob Pinson, warden.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon have been keeping themselves quite busy in the past two weeks. The accomplishments they are proud of over all the others, is the fact that they initiated ten of their twenty-one spring pledges.

The ten pledges went active last Sunday night and they were as follows:

Nick Melchione, Tony Yelovich, Joe Canova, Earnie Stout, Howard Shamblin, Carmen Santillo, John Mungo, Sam Rampello, Frank Sallo, and Barry George. There are eleven remaining pledges, nine of which will go active in September of next term, and two of which are transferring. Congratulations are in order for these ten new brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

It has been announced that Brothers Joe Delauri and Bill Morris will attend the National Conclave in Chicago, Ill., this summer. They will of course represent the local Florida Zeta chapter at the Conclave.

The members of the Zeta chapter held their last business meeting of the year last Tuesday night, at which time a "farewell" party was planned to be held this weekend in honor of all the graduating brothers.

This has been a very successful year for the members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and every brother is proud of the accomplishments produced.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Swinging down Sigma Lane for the last time this year should prove an interesting experience. Everyone likes to brag about their accomplishments and the Sigma Sisters are very anxious to do just that.

There are many things that could pass in review, but here are some of the highlights of this 1960-61 school year. The first issue of the Minaret found Sister Josie Alvarez as Editor-in-Chief, with sisters Lupe Cuervo, Cookie Rodriguez, Sylvia Fernandez, Sylvia Rivero and Pat Alvarez on various staff positions. Homecoming was a happy time for the Sigmas. Sylvia Fernandez sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity was elected Homecoming Queen. At the Homecoming Dance, emceed by Sister Josie Alvarez, first girl president of I. F. S. C., the Sigmas were awarded the trophy for the Best Skit.

The Spartan Salute Dance held in the fall was a huge success. Margaret Lee Dixon, National President of Sigma Sigma Sigma inspected the chapter, and was shown our newly decorated sorority room. Fall pledges Mary Ann Diaz and Oneida Roiz were initiated, adding two new sisters to the bond.

Jeanette De Guzman won the Borden Scholarship Award. Pat Alvarez did an outstanding job as president of the S.F.E.A.; such a fine job that she has been reelected for the coming year. Pat also ran for state SFEA president. Olga Zayas, sponsored by Tri-Sigma was elected as third maid of the Moroccan Court.

The traditional fund raising Tri-Sigma Man of the Year contest was held in December and Ralph Lazzara of Theta Chi Fraternity was elected.

Spring started off with a bang as rush came into view and four lovely girls became Tri-Sigma pledges. They are Brenda Baggett, Julie Canella, Cynthia Kladis and Carmel Parrino. At an Easter party given by the actives, the pledges were presented with bracelets by their Big Sisters. The Big Sisters are Jeanette De Guzman, Cookie Rodriguez, Gloria Garcia and Mary Ann Diaz, respectively.

Minaret Holds Press Conference with Hanna

During a press conference held on May 15, John Hanna, newly elected Student Body president, informed the editors of the Minaret of the condition of our organizations and his future policies that will benefit the entire student body.

Hanna stated that the main problem of student organizations at the University is student apathy. Aware of the fact that Tampa U. is in a great state of transition, he felt that students need more spirit in order to bring our school more prestige.

The need for more clubs is urgent and should be greatly considered. There is dire need for more organizations like the Business Club and Political Union which help promote the welfare of the student and the University.

Hanna added that the newly formed cabinet will aid Student Congress and the president formulate new organizations. The various dormitories on campus are being encouraged to elect officers and representatives so that they may participate in the organization of University activities and may have an active voice in student government.

Hanna believes that there are five types of students: Greeks, dormitory men and women, members of clubs and organizations, transfer students and stray Greeks, and the independents. Hanna feels that the independent is the student that must elect his own representative if he is to be active in the making of school policy.

Geller, Hanna At SUSGA Convention

Representing the University of Tampa at the Southern Universities Student Government Association convention were Larry Geller, sophomore class vice president and John Hanna, president of the Student Congress.

This year the convention was held in Tallahassee on the Florida State University Campus. There were representatives from 33 member colleges and representatives of schools applying for membership.

The convention was a three-day affair which started on Thursday, April 27 and ended Saturday, April 29. The convention consisted of panel discussions, lectures, banquets, and entertainment.

"We feel that a lot was accomplished at the convention and we feel that the University of Tampa should remain a member of an organization of this nature," stated John Hanna.

Geller and Hanna said that it was pleasing to compare the University of Tampa with other members of SUSGA. Hanna said, "Although some students criticize our University, when compared with others, I find we have a sound student government, a sound fraternity-sorority system, a sound educational system, and a good athletic program."

SUSGA is considered the greatest meeting of student leaders in the South. The annual SUSGA convention consists of "a great deal of work and little play." Both Geller and Hanna agreed that Florida State University was a fine host for the convention.

As stated on the University of Tampa charter, the purpose of SUSGA is to promote better student government, provide greater cooperation and exchange of ideas among members of colleges and universities and to better resolve our common problems.

The Tampa University Chorus under the direction of Dr. Maier has had a most successful season. Among the major accomplishments was the coast to coast television appearance. Also at Christmas, the chorus cruised the water-ways and shorelines singing carols. In the concert, starring the great Pelangi with the Maestro Antonini conducting, the chorus appeared in several choral selections. During this last season, a singing tour of many of the surrounding high schools was most successful. On May 15, the chorus participated in Stephen Park's Day. They sang the opening numbers for the concert. These numbers were "Thanks to Thee", "Close to Thy Heart" and

"Night Draws Her Curtain". This was the grand finale for the chorus this year.

The chorus is presently selecting the concert dress for next year. They wish to have their best foot forward when they travel on their 1,000 mile tour. The proposed attire will include coat and tails for the men. The dress for the women is still in the process of being selected. This tour will be followed by another Christmas program on television coast to coast. Also, the chorus will participate in cruising the water ways and shoreways, singing carols.

On May 5th the Tampa University Music Department presented an Opera Workshop under the direction of Harvey E. Maier. On May 12, the recitals of the various music departments were held in the ballroom.

STAN SALONSKY

If Brooklyn, New York, will ever go down in history for contributing anything to society, it certainly will be well remembered for its baseball players. We are fortunate to have one of that burroughs finest — Stan Salonsky.

"Baseball" is this young athlete's middle name. Ever since his high school days at James Madison, Stan has been playing ball religiously. He told me that his father influenced him quite a bit. In fact, Mr. Salonsky played some pro baseball in the twenties.

Playing handball often in northern cities has helped Stan become Tampa's intramural handball champ. Also, he is a third year letterman in baseball and was elected "All-Florida Intercollegiate Conference Short Stop" last year and has a 400 plus batting average.

He is the student director of intramurals and a student instructor in the Physical Education department.

His achievements extend into the scholastic part of college life. Stan has made the "dean's list" ever since he's been here. Recently, he

Following high school, Stan attended Brooklyn College. During his freshman year, he not only attained a high scholastic average, but accomplished some commendable feats on the diamond. Since the outbreak of the Korean War, many colleges have allowed freshmen to play varsity. Stan took advantage of this opportunity, and after a successful season, was selected as the Metropolitan Batting Champion over other entrants from the five burroughs of New York. This brief climb to success was cut short as Stan lacked the necessary funds to continue his college career.

Jersey and Maureen

Stan was offered a contract with Pittsburg to play class "C" baseball but he decided to fulfill his military obligation and enlisted in the Coast Guard for a two-year period. Stan says he never regretted this move. He played ball for the Coast Guard at Cape May, New Jersey. His team became the "All Navy Eastern Champions".

After his tour of duty was completed, Stan started playing for Pittsburg, in Jacksonville Beach, but after two weeks he decided he valued an education more. After marrying in 1958, this dynamic young man came to Tampa University. His wife Maureen is currently a secretary in the office of the registrar. Stan is presently the president of Physical Education Majors Club, secretary to the Letterman's Club, student chairman to F.A.H.P.E.R. and member of the national A.A.H.P.E.R. and the F.E.A.

was presented an honor that every college student relishes — being selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Works for His Living

Stan has had to work for practically everything he has gotten or accomplished. He attends T. U. by means of a work scholarship and through the G. I. Bill. He's just completed internship at Plant High in the physical education department. In his spare time, Stan manages the life guards at Davis Islands and Rocky Point swimming pools.

He has been offered a graduate assistantship in Physical Education at West Virginia University. Stan believes this opportunity will help further his ability to be a coach or athletic director in future vocations on the college level.

Asked if he would ever return to Brooklyn, Stan replied that he didn't quite know but he did admit that he has a yen to travel. Whether he returns or not, Stan will surely be an asset in his vocation.

Spartans Wind-Up Baseball Season

by Al Frankel
Minaret Sports Editor

The University of Tampa wound up their baseball campaign enhancing their "spoiler" reputation Wednesday, May 10, as they dealt Florida Southern College a 4-2 defeat at Plant Field.

The setback killed the Moccasins' hopes for the Florida Intercollegiate Conference championship. Rollins and Miami, with 9-6 records, ended the season tied for first in the FIC but Southern could have overtaken the two with wins here yesterday and at Jacksonville Saturday.

The Lakeland nine stands 6-5 in the league. Tampa's final overall chart is 9-11-1.

Coach Sam Bailey's Spartans adopted their "spoiler" role two weeks ago by knocking Rollins out of the lead. They kept it up partly due to the fine relief pitching of Bill Hawthorne and the good hitting of Stan Salonsky, Gary Overstreet, Joe Ciccarello, Blaine Turner, and Dean Burroughs. Burroughs' double to centerfield broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning, scoring Ciccarello and Turner. Ciccarello had singled and Turner belted a 400-foot ground-rule double to set up the spree.

Gary Overstreet collected three hits and Burroughs two for Tampa. Hawthorne, who relieved in the first inning, struck out six and walked four before retiring in the ninth inning.
