The program opens with a general meeting of the Biological, Physical, Medical and Social Science sections Thursday in the Dome Theater. Section meetings are scheduled for Friday, and the President's Banquet will be held Friday night in the Hillsboro Hotel.

"The impact of Atomic Energy on Florida" will be discussed at a symposium Saturday in the Dome Theater. Dr. Francis E. Roy of the Cancer Research Laboratory at the University of Florida will be moderator, and speakers will include Dr. Walter Zinn, president of the General Engineering Corporation, Dunedin, Dr. Frank Putnam of the University of Florida, Dr. H. F. Strohecker of the University of Miami, and Dr. Melvin Williams of Stetson University.

Besides Professor Reed, who is a former president of the Biology Division of the Academy, local faculty members participating in the session will be Dr. Guy G. Becknell, past president of the academy, Prof. James Bignell, Dr. James W. Covington and Dr. Charles R. Walker.

The Junior Academy of Sciences, composed mainly of students interested in science will meet concurrently with the senior academy. A number of students will take part in the meetings of both organizations.

At its last assembly, faculty and students voiced their opinions concerning the question "Can Knowledge Make People Morally Better?"

The Fellowship takes this opportunity to extend an invitation to all faculty and students to attend its weekly discussions.

VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS

According to the minutes of Monday's Student Senate meeting, an official complaint against the management of the Spartan Room is being drawn up and will be presented to the Alumni Association and our president, Dr. Nance. The Senate is to be congratulated on this action. However, for the newcomers at our fair school, let us point out that this is not some radical, revolutionary movement to overthrow the powers-that-be. For those who would compare this action with the recent abortive revolution in Hungary, let it be remembered that this is a perennial event at the University, as regular each year as the first frost of winter or the first robin of spring.

The Spartan Room is in no worse shape now than it has been for several years. The cries of professors, whose classes still haven't received supplementary textbooks ordered months ago, are the same cries that rang out in former years. The foul tasting, muddy-colored solution laughingly called coffee is no innovation. It was just as foul tasting, just as muddy-colored, in former years. The only real change is in the service. Because of increased enrollment, it now takes a little longer to get waited on.

Former complaints have fallen upon deaf ears. There is little hope that the current complaint will receive any more consideration. As long as the Alumni Association controls this valuable franchise, there is little hope for improvement.

What can be done? Unfortunately nothing can be done about the bookstore end of the operation. We must have textbooks, and the bookstore is the only source of supply. We could, however, help ourselves greatly if one of the many social or service organizations on campus would undertake the task of organizing a student book exchange. Perhaps one of them could squeeze in this activity between dances and beauty contests. It would provide a convenient medium of exchange whereby used textbooks could be bought and sold, at a considerable saving to the students. It might also provide a source of revenue for the sponsoring organization, and they could use this money for more dances and beauty contests (heaven help us!), or perhaps for something more useful.

As for the snack bar, it would be easy to express our displeasure with the service, if it is not improved. One of the most effective methods for doing this would be by bringing our own tea bags and instant coffee. Their water is really not too bad!

GOOD WORK

One of the nicest things to occur on our campus for a long time was the revival of the University's library magazine. Published late last year under the title of De Novo, the magazine proved to be a real credit to the school.

We are looking forward to the next edition of De Novo, due early next year. It should be even finer than the last, and Felicia Dolgin and her staff merit the thanks of the entire student body for their good work.

OUR MISTAKE?

It was reported at a recent assembly that the Minaret printed incorrect information in regard to the Senate proposal on changing assembly time (A Dash of Pepper, Nov. 15 edition). We regret any misinformation that we have relayed to the students. Our source of coverage was an account of the action by a Senate member, and the official minutes of the meeting which we assumed to be accurate.

An Open Letter To The Board Of Trustees:
Gentlemen:

A great deal has been published lately about the new gymnasium, near completion at last, and about the wonderful new dormitories in the offing. These are excellent indications that the university is expanding to suit its needs—but — there are a couple of other items that demand immediate attention because of the urgency of their nature.

The following are my suggestions for improvements that are peremptorily needed. The cost would be minor in relation to the larger overall planning; but the profit would be instantaneous in the effect on the morale of the present student body.

First need — a men's lavatory on the second floor (it would be impolite to even discuss that outmoded indoor outhouse situated in the Siberia of the second floor). There is a large men's room in the basement to be sure. To the casual observer the facilities provided by that subterranean privy might be deemed adequate. However, that is not so.

The majority of classes are held on the second floor with some on the third. This means that in the ten minute interval the male student has between classes, he must rush down two or three flights of stairs; he must then usually await his turn in a line of equally impatient comrades; and he must then rush back upstairs, two or three flights, to class. Because of exigencies requiring its service, the elevator cannot be relied upon.

Ten minutes is not a very long period of time, and one can become worn out in the process of appeasing Mother Nature.

There are times when the second or third class becomes simply a test of endurance. I, for one, am reaching the breaking point. If you are desperate for space on the second floor — utilize the Minaret office. I don't like to see the school newspaper crowded out — but necessities do come first. And we might be able to get rid of all those old Minarets — as reading matter of course!

Second need — a wider doorway on the third floor. I realize that the doorway just off the stairwell and elevator on the third floor wasn't originally intended to accommodate the new flow of traffic that it still isn't able to accommodate. If one is fortunate to be in the larger throng assaulting the doorway between classes, one gets through fairly easy. If one is in the minority, one waits, and waits!

I suggest that the entire partition be removed. If that is impractical, then the doorway could at least be extended to three or four times the present size. To be so bottlenecked when one is in a hurry can be frustrating and exasperating. This annoyance, together with the lack of strategically located toilet facilities for the men, can be rectified quickly and easily.

You distinguished gentlemen are aware that no plans for the future, important as they are, can be allowed to overshadow the dire immediacy of the present. Minor improvements, such as these, can have a major effect on the present outlook and on the future outlook of the university.

Sincerely,
A Concerned Student

The Razor's Edge

By W. Bruce Banks

At half past six in the morning, we rise to a useless day, during which we do myriads of useless things in an extremely senseless way.

The time, it is true, may be earlier or later, but the format remains the same. We are the busiest people in the world, but the truth is we have less to do than anyone else.

For proof of the foregoing statements you have only to Nine and one half out of every ten people who pass you so hurriedly, so deeply engrossed in their problems, have no more on their minds than the average idiot. "Where will I eat lunch?" "What will I eat?" "Can I make time with the waitress?"

These, of course, are some of the more important thoughts these people have, yet to see the moyu would be willing to swear that they have just closed a million dollar deal.

People, especially college people, are always hurrying nowhere to accomplish nothing, and further more, they exist in a dream world which causes them to believe they really are busy.

Professors are not immune to this plague of inefficient efficiency. Any of them will tell you how busy they are, but what have they to do? Of course, most of you are too busy to ask, but the fact remains.

I am as busy (if not busier) as any of you, but sometimes I stop and think. All the great things that have been accomplished were accomplished by people who had nothing better to do.

OFF
BEAT

By Loise Hicks

The crumbling halls of TU echo with the shouting laughter of merry students eagerly bounding back to their overheated classrooms after the turkey stuffing-football game-party afterward weekend. The 'people of the porch' once more are morosely entrenched in that luxurious haven of music and stale donuts, the Spartan Room.

The juke-box still blares forth with the top ten, including a newcomer to the pole who makes a grand entrance by giant-stepping to fifth place. Les Baxter plays the theme from the Texas-locale film starring J. Dean. Wonder if the title refers to person or place?

Still on top sits Fisher's Cindy, Oh Cindy. Pat Boone steps back with Friendly Persuasion and bids the Groaner and True Love enter for second place. P and P with Tonight You Belong to Me take a fast dive from third to the tail end of ye ole heap.

EP clings to sixth place with Want You, Need You. Walking in the Rain from out of nowhere to seventh spot is J. Ray. With all this precipitation, how can you tell if he's really crying? Jim Lowe's Green Door appears to be fast closing as the recent top hit slides to eighth place on the pop ratings.

Off Beat's Guest

Pat Chambur's words-of-wisdom still haunting our cerebrum, we sought another source of sparkling information. Competition being what it is for radio ratings and all that, we hied to a local independent outfit and found, ensconced in Santa Claus tapes and filthy weeds, the deep-voiced host of 'Fuller in the Morning'. Also 'Fuller in the Afternoon'.

Curled up in the oversize leather chair in our hero's own 'inner sanctum', we listened as Chuck Fuller related the epic details of life at WALT. From TV News Director at the local branch of NBC, our hero made it over to the foot of Cass Street bridge and started in as Program Director. This impressive title is equipped with such noble duties as playing records, scrounging up clock radios for prize winning listeners, and sweeping up the back room.

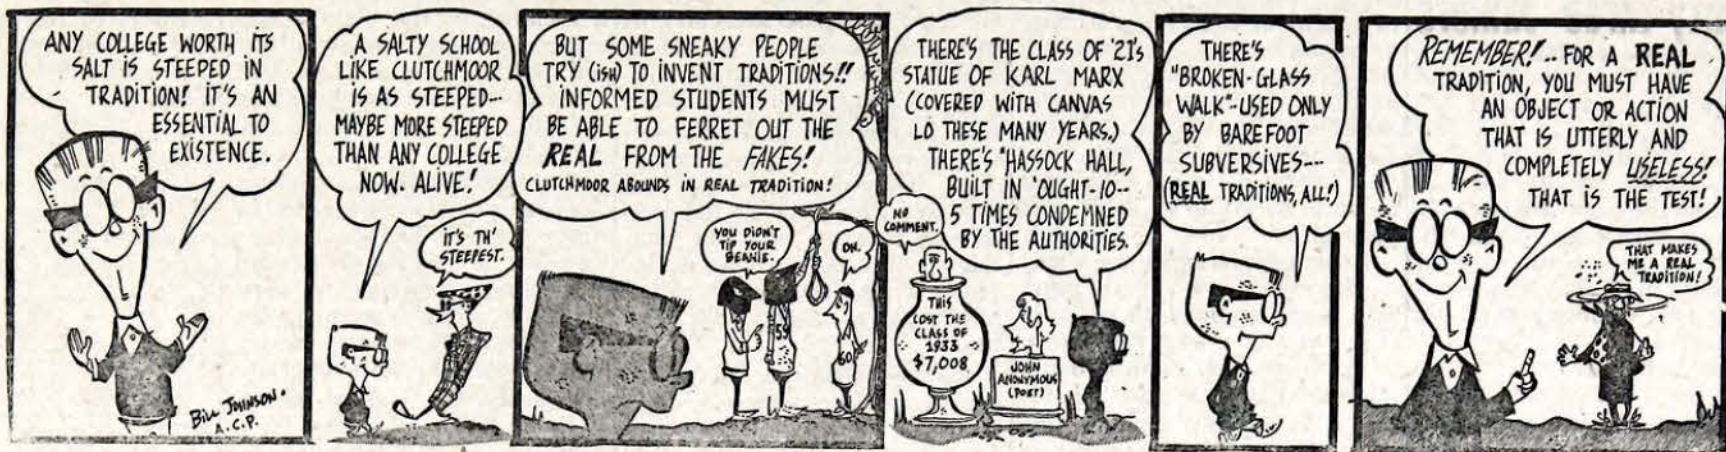

Before sunrise and after sunset our boy collects records, listens to the BG quartet, reads Playboy, and samples his current favorite of the month, orange-juice. (Only he called it screwdrivers). He raised his left eye-brow at pretty girls (this saves winking and the possibility of not getting the eyelid back open and thereby going to sleep every time he looked, or winked, at a femme.) He is the epitome of laziness, by choice, and has a passion for sleeping and making love.

He detests the use of Chuck, for Charles, and the word deejay. His quote on the current rage "He's quite a performer." We feel this quite adequately covers 'the Pelvis'. His reason for Elvis' sensation-the teenagers have something to rebel against when so many adults object to his 'style'. He sums it up as "much ado about nothing".

His future plans? Doing news and announcing at the station, occasionally playing records, and sitting in Monty's brainstorming for ideas such as filthy weeds and blue grits. His commercial take-off bit on the cigarette with ninety per cent filter and ten per cent tobacco brought a response a few days after it started. A Tampa supplier wanted to know "who handles these new fags," you been plugging?" He's expecting a call from Dixie Lily any day on the blue grit bit.

And this, then, is the status quo of Fuller in the Morning. And as the sun sank below the river bank, we waved good-bye to our hero of the week as he sloshed off in his green-doored Chrysler.

TRI SIGMA

The Tri-Sigma float in the parade was a very pretty one, built around the slogan "The Wheel of Knowledge Grinds Fine Minds." To represent the wheel of knowledge there was on the upper end an eight foot water wheel. Coming down from the wheel were seven students, each dressed appropriately to represent different courses of study such as art, music, math, and social studies.

To top off a very exciting week for the Tri Sigs, two of their National officers, Muriel Minard and Mabel Lee Walton, made a short visit Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nuznoff Makes The Grade . . .

Quarterback Billy Nuznoff, who was converted to that position from halfback this season to help replace the graduated Bill Minahan, virtually came off the floor to develop into Tampa's chief signal caller by the end of the season.

Billy, one of the greatest on defense, had a pretty rugged time on offense in Tampa's opener against Morris Harvey. But as time passed, the agile 165-pound junior became more and more steady.

His capacity for calling the right plays at the right time and his running ability which came to light in the Appalachian game in which he bucked center for five yards and a touchdown, made him a two-barrelled threat to the opposing team.

He, therefore, has justified Coach Marcelino Huerta's faith in him that would develop into "a very capable" quarterback. Bill is 10 years old and hails from Detroit.

There are many players who deserve shares of credit for Tampa's season, but perhaps one of the most deserving is Senior End Bill Sefcik. Sefcik, a co-captain with Dickie Harte is a good offensive player but he is deadliest on defense. Bill 22, is a 190-pounder from Youngstown, Ohio.

Tampa Football Team Posts Perfect Record In Home Game

Tampa Wins 7, Loses 2 for 1956 Season

Spartan football fortunes soared this season as the University of Tampa gridiron warriors chalked up a perfect home record of seven straight victories with their only losses on the season — two — coming on the fields of their foes.

Tampa closed out its season with a 31-14 shellacking of the Missouri Valley Vikings last week after preceding it with a 21-7 homecoming victory over Appalachian's Mountaineers the week before.

The Spartans treated the slimmest gathering of the season to a massive display of running and passing and good football in their closing game of the season.

Only slightly more than 3000 fans witnessed Halfbacks Billy

Head and Don Herndon and Quarterbacks Bill Nuznoff and Mike Sharoulis outscrap the Vikings. Head and Herndon got away for touchdowns on long runs and Nuznoff hit Harte and Skaroulis passed to Sefcik on scoring plays that highlighted the victory.

Herndon scored on an 80 yard run; Sefcik on a 26 yard pass-run; Harte on a 36 yard pass-run; Halfback Billy Shields on a 1 yard plunge; and Head on a 97 yard kick-off return. Fullback Bobby Gambrell added the extra points as well as stepping off some mighty important yardage.

Missouri Valley's most scintillating play was a 77 yard runback with an intercepted pass which was handed to him by a teammate when the interceptor was being tackled on the Missouri Valley 23 yard line.

But the week before, when

Tampa Faces Rollins In First Intercollegiate Game Tonight

Paced by Seniors Bill Bosworth and Howie Bernstein and Sophomore Fred Guzielek, the University of Tampa basketball representatives defeated Bartow Air Force Base, 51-41 (in their first game of the season).

The game, a pre-season exhibition, gave Coach Gene Biittner his first look at the squad against competition and will be invaluable to the coach whose charges will open an intercollegiate schedule tonight.

Tampa's first regular season game will be against the Rollins Tars at Winter Park tonight.

Bosworth, who plays at forward, and Bernstein, a guard who won fame as the state's leading scorer in 1954-55, each scored 11 points against Bartow. Bernstein is likely back in top shape after being hobbled by injuries last season.

Guzielek, a guard, made 10 points as his teammates Al Cason, center, Les Solomon, forward, Wiley Cairns, center and Gene Peeples, guard, cleaned the backboards.

Tampa held a slim 22-21 lead at halftime but rallied into a lead at the start of the second half.

The Spartans won 11 and lost 11 last season.

New Tampa-Miami Grid Series Hinted At Touchdown Club Luncheon

By Edd Hudson

About six months ago, a gentleman from the University of Miami addressed the Tampa University Touchdown Club which is primarily composed of alumni. His talk, probably designed to warm the hearts of those present, centered on the outstanding achievements of Tampa University and its football team, the Spartans.

In fact, he went so far as to hint that the University of Miami might be interested in playing them in two or three years (both teams played an interesting series which ended in 1942. Tampa came up with 3 wins, 2 scoreless ties, and 5 defeats). Such remarks might have gone unheeded were it not for the fact that Tampa U. is now in the midst of an expansion program which envisions upwards of some 5000 students in the next 5 years or so.

The Spartans have been a small-college power in recent years, and increasing numbers of small schools are refusing to play them. As a result, Coach Huerta has, at times, threatened to join the Southern Conference (members include West Virginia, VMI, etc.) in order to get competition, and Tampa has little choice but to schedule more "name" schools (the schedule for next year includes FSU, Chattanooga, a team which plays at least 2 SEC opponents a year, and VMI).

When a school the size of Miami (enrollment approximately 13,000) plays a school the size of Tampa, there is a possible "loss of face" involved, especially if the smaller team manages to pull an upset, and smaller teams have been known to play "way over their heads" at times. Furthermore, the Spartans exhibited such "spoiler" traits against FSU (enrollment of over 8000), a self-styled major football power (of you can take dramatist-coach Tom Nugent seriously). In fact, the Seminoles had to go "all out" in order to beat Tampa at all, and several times, the Spartans treated the Indians more severely than any Indian has been treated since the sale of Manhattan Isle. Most Spartan fans feel that if

1956 ALL-STAR "RAG FOOTBALL" TEAM

With the closing of the "rag" Football season comes the time for all the organizations taking part in the sport, along with Intramural Director Ben Scherer, to pick the men they think should be on the All-Star "rag" Football team. The Sigma Phi Epsilon, Rho Nu Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternities each placed two men on the All-Star Team. Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity and Independents each had one player voted onto the All-Star team.

Captain of the All-Star team was Philip Leto (speed merchant, for the champion Rho Nu Delta Fraternity. This is the third consecutive year that Leto had the honor of being voted the "most valuable player" in Intramural "rag" Football.

The seven other men voted on the All-Star team were Jim Puderbach, SPE; J. C. Miller, SPE; Bill Bosworth, PKP; Les Solomon, RND; Fred Gonzalez, IND; Buddy Banks, TKE; and Peter LaBruzzo, TKE.

The Second All-Star team consisted of Mike Scionti (captain), IND; Bud Powers, PKP; Augie Paniello, RND; Jim Gallogly, SPE; Dave Her-andez, RND; Phil Sheridan, SPE; Lionel Leon, TKE; Bill Randall, SPE; Larry Sabella, RND.

PI KAPS IN LEAD

Volleyball is on the agenda at present in Intramurals. The Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity are in the lead as we go to press. The Pi Kaps with such tall men as their ace Bill Bosworth, Larry Votenburg, and Dick Harte will be hard to defeat this season.

Today's games end the Volleyball season. The Independents vs. P. E. Majors Club; Rho Nu's vs. TKE's; and Sig Eps vs. Pi Kaps. Table Tennis is next on the intramural schedule.

Volleyball Standings (as of Nov. 15)

PKP	w 1	pct. 1.000	w 1
RND	2 0	.667	4 1
SPE	2 1	.667	4 3

No Bowl Game For Tampa . . .

The University of Tampa's football team, which racked up an enviable record of seven wins and two losses, was contacted for a couple of bowl games, but got no concrete offers. Among the bowls considering Tampa were the Tangerine and Aluminum bowls.

Former Tampa U. Football Coach Dies

Alfred Lloyd (Flucie) Stewart, former football coach at the University of Tampa, died at his home in Greenville, S. C., earlier this month.

Stewart, a native of Strawn, Texas, was a graduate of Furman University, where he received honorable mention on the All-American football team as an end. He came to the University of Tampa in 1940, after serving as athletic director and head football coach at Appalachian State Teachers College.

After serving in the Navy during World War II, he went to Clemson as an assistant football coach, and later was hired by Jim Tatum as basketball coach at the University of Maryland.

Coach Stewart's death came on the same day that two of his former teams, the Spartans of the University of Tampa and the Appalachian Mountaineers met in Tampa's annual homecoming football game. Fans and players from both schools paid tribute to Coach Stewart with a period of silence before the kickoff.

New Tampa-Miami

FSU is now playing what is considered major-college football, then so is Tampa.

Miami is keeping a close watch on Tampa, and rumors persist, from the University of Miami campus, that the Hurricanes are interested in such a game, but they want Tampa to play more "name" opponent first (so the Spartans can't point for a particular team during a particular season). "Because," as one Miami sports writer chimes, "Huerta (formerly a football standout at the University of Florida) could probably take on some of the opposition they're playing right now, and he could probably beat them by himself."

Considerable interest is being shown over the "big time" possibilities of the Spartans, but whether such a game would be a slaughter, a financial fiasco, or even a reality is at this time unknown. But Coach Andy Gustafson told me earlier this week that the Athletic Council (at Miami) would approve the game if it thought the schools would benefit, but such approval will have to be later as Miami is "booked solid" for the next three years. At present, however, the chances for a renewal of the series at a later date look pretty good.

Tampa Posts Perfect Home Grid Record

the Spartans should have looked like a million dollars, they froze up before the "old grads" and if Appalachian had had anything at all, the score might have been in the Mountaineers' favor.

The Spartans were sluggish that night and with the exception of the great defensive play of Bill Sefcik, Bill Nuznoff and a couple of the others at times plus the offensive display of Gambrell, the game was not one to enjoy.

Nuznoff sparkled in his quarterback role as he scored once on a five yard run, then passed 25 yards to Sefcik in the end zone for another marker. Gambrell made Tampa's other touchdown on a 10 yard plunge and booted all three points.

Stanley scored all Appalachian points.
