"Visit To A Small Planet" To Be Presented November 5-7

Gore Vidal's satirical comedy-farce, "A Visit to a Small Planet," will be presented by the University of Tampa Players at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 5-7, at the David A. Falk Theater.

It will be the first in a series of four productions scheduled this season by the University's Drama Department. The satire played on Broadway several seasons back.

In Vidal's three-act work, the young playwright has reversed the modern trend toward outer space, building his plot around the humorous character Kreton, who has come from another galaxy to visit Earth because his hobby is the observation of small planets.

This, in effect, puts our own planet under the microscope, since Kreton, who is a superior type being — the kind toward which man is evolving — puts all of our customs and mores under scrutiny. He reads human minds with ease.

Kreton, the male lead, is played by Bob Thompson. The action covers approximately 24 hours and, as it turns out when another of Kreton's kind shows up, the original visitor is "morally degenerate and like a child he regards this world (Earth) as his plaything."

In addition to Thompson, the all-student cast will include Clinton Summersill, William Rogers, Rita Owen, James Wiley, Helen Malozi, Allen Goldberg, Michael Hyman, Larry Feinberg and William Sewell.

Marvin Phillips, assistant professor of drama at the University and director of the Falk Theater, is the director and set designer for the play. All other technical stage work will be done by members of the University Players.

Attys. O'Neal And Causey To Aid T. U. Forensic Society

The Tampa University Forensic Society held its second meeting Monday, October 26, at which time Dr. Hugh Fellows announced to the group that Mr. Denzil Causey, Jr., and Mr. Larry O'Neal would mentor TU's inter-collegiate debate team. Mr. Causey is an attorney with the firm of Fowler, White, Gillen, Humkey & Trenam in Tampa, and teaches a business law course at TU. Mr. O'Neal is an attorney with the firm of MacFarlane, Ferguson, Allison and Kelly in Tampa.

In addition to supporting an inter-collegiate debate team, the Forensic Society will sponsor student speakers in oratory, humorous speaking and interpretative reading. Plans are to set up an official University Students' Speakers' Bureau for the purpose of furnishing programs for university and civic groups. Any student interested in joining the Forensic Society should contact Dr. Fellows in the near future as membership will be closed November 18.

Moss Is President; Riordao Is Vice President

The Freshman Class elections were held last week. In a run-off for the presidency and the vice presidency positions, Joe Moss and Vinny Riordao were victorious in their respective positions.

Joe feels that the welfare of the freshman class can be bettered. With the support of the freshmen Joe will attempt to carry out this platform.

"One thing I am disappointed in is the lack of initiative on the part of the Freshman class," President Moss stated.

Vinny feels that he is most satisfied with the outcome of the elections.

COMMENTARY . . .

Sportsmanship or What?

by Guest Editor Bob Harris

The boys' locker room is a goodly sized cubicle of "blood, sweat, and tears," and it has seen many a boy weep after losing a hard fought contest. The stories it might tell us, had it a mouth, would be fascinating. I was victorious, for once, and strutted into the locker room, face aglow, after thoroughly thrashing my opponents soundly in a heated game of badminton.

We had shaken hands, my opponent and I, and upon dismissal from the courts, I engaged in a lengthy discussion of sportsmanship with Mr. Nelson Butler, our Alma Mater's physical education instructor.

"Naturally some games get rough," he pondered, "but don't get on the playing field if you don't want to mix it up." Mr. Butler's 'officers of umpiring' have recently been under heavy abuse because of a so-called officiating performance at a TEP-SIG EP fraternity rag-football game.

"I was at the game," Mr. Butler continued. "I attend them all; for my boys get marked as to how fair or unfair a job they do. I felt they did pretty well."

How ironic it seems that a fraternity might ask for better understanding between their cohorts and then go for broke on a football field — supposedly an arena for entertainment, nothing more.

We, of the Minaret staff, feel that any school with a limited budget should be thankful that there is a physical education class willing to officiate contests of strength free of charge. Many of the members I have spoken to feel that impartiality is the criterion of a good referee. The sadness of it all ended in a protest note to both Deans Walker and DeCarlo.

Nelson Butler shook his head. "It's a crying shame a thing like this has to happen. There is always a winner and a loser. I wish both side could accept this and try their luck in a return bout."

Israel -- Outpost of Western Civilization

S. Zalman Abramov, president of the Israel-American Friendship League, speaking before a special meeting of the Pre-Law Club recently, called modern Israel "the outpost of western civilization in the Middle East."

The Tel Aviv attorney, also a member of the Israeli Knesseto (Parliament), and one of Israel's representatives to the Council of Europe, told the group that Israel has progressed along western lines, in agriculture, industry, and education.

Abramov pointed out that Israel's population has increased four-fold since 1947 and now numbers about 2½ million.

One of the aims of Israel's foreign policy is working toward raising the standard of living of neighboring Arab countries and of "Black Africa," providing technical aid of all kinds. The aim of this program is to promote good will and to develop a market for Israel's manufactured goods.

Israel, the smallest of the Middle Eastern countries, patterns its government after that of the British with one notable exception — the Parliament is one of the few one-house chambers in the world.

An interesting point is that no civil marriages or divorces exists in Israel. This stems from the days of the Ottoman Empire when religions, not nationalities, were the political divisions. Today each religion, Christian, Moslem, and Jewish, can perform marriages.

Polygamy is one of Israel's problems as the 10% Arab minority still complain of polygamy being outlawed in 1954 and refuse to abide by the law, saying that not being able to practice multiple marriage interferes with their constitutional right of "pursuit of happiness."

Tau Epsilon Phi has asked the Editorial Board to reconsider the suspension of the TEP articles for one month. In view of the fact that we have been amply assured that TEP wouldn't abuse its press privilege we are now lifting the suspension and will admit the TEP article in the next issue.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"I'd Like To Heap Some (Praise?) On The Cafeteria"

Dear Editor:

I would like to take advantage of the opportunity, afforded to me by the Minaret, to express my views concerning dress regulations recently imposed on Tampa University students.

I cannot adequately express my sense of joy that white levis are, at long last, banished from our hallowed halls. They were becoming too much of a symbol. I don't know exactly what the symbol was; but I'm sure, judging by the popularity of levis, that someone, much smarter than I, must have exposed the sordid facts. As loyal student No. 11519, I'd like to go on record as asking that details of the "White Levis" scandal be made public, so that we students can better appreciate the good intentions of our benefactors.

"Students Held At Bay . . ."

Dear Editor:

The editorial column of the Minaret dated October 23, 1964, stated that the paper was second to the student government in power. To my mind, the word power is a farce in reference to the University of Tampa student body. Tampa, a private liberal arts institution, is totally controlled by the administration.

College is the place where students learn and mature; a place where people are educated both scholastically and socially, where they are given true life situations for the first time. At Tampa both scholastically and socially the student is held at bay by hard, fast rules which allow little if any freedom. Is this a learning experience? Is this the path to a proud heritage? A college's foundation is built on its student body and its alumni. Students are given little choice in courses, less choice socially, and none at all in discipline. How can students under these conditions mature into worthwhile citizens capable of enhancing our society?

Under these conditions, in an area where the progressive ideas of Dewey can be seen as never before, is there any wonder why apathy exists, as in truth it does at Tampa University?

(Name withheld by request)

I'd also like to express my total support of the ban on beards and mustaches, as they are rather ridiculous looking. I heartily agree that they are one privilege which is better left to the faculty and administration.

While I am in a complimentary mood, I'd like to heap some praise on the school cafeteria. I think the fact that all on-campus students voluntarily dine there, expresses the high regard we students hold for its culinary delights. I, for one, have never eaten in an establishment which had mastered, quite as well, the art of preparing left-overs.

To my mind, there is nothing quite like the rich taste which permeates food after it has been repeatedly warmed over, between trips to the cooler. As a former employee, I can testify for the management that the popularity of the victuals is that payment in advance removes many nasty problems, such as maintaining a satisfied clientele. Ways to cut costs suddenly become obvious, after payment has been received in advance. There is no humorous way to point out that we students are, as the popular expression goes, behind the eight ball. We are caught between an administration faced with providing dining facilities for its students, and a catering company which has a monopoly in the Tampa area, and evidently feels that it can establish a status quo on its own terms. I do not intend this as criticism of the administration. Theirs is not an enviable position; but they do have the power to right this wrong, and I ask that they appreciate the voices of the students, raised in righteous anger. The mandatory boarding policy, enforced at this University, is wrong, not only in principle but in fact, as it allows a situation, as we now have, to exist. If the University of Tampa is to continue its progress, an atmosphere of mutual respect, balanced between the administration and the student body, must be established and maintained. The issue is before us. Let us begin.

Esquire's CLUB & CAMPUS FASHIONS

by O. E. SCHOEFFLER,
ESQUIRE'S Fashion Director

Now it's time to make the suiting scene—and we've got news for you! Not as far as styling's concerned—your natural shoulder suit with its plain, pleatless trousers is very much among those present! But if you've a new suit on your agenda, "The Three B's" are well worth investigating. They're three new suitings you'll be seeing on and off campus — Brigade Twill, Basketweave and herring'Bone. Let's take an in-depth look at them.

THE LIGHT BRIGADE RIDES AGAIN

in light, natural tones of Brigade and Cavalry Twill. These hard-wearing, smooth-finish fabrics can take an amazing amount of punishment without losing their shape. You'll find them in crisply tailored traditional suits, many with wide welt seaming as an added refinement.

BANK ON BASKETWEAVE, a fabric newly revived for suits, sport jackets and slacks. It's a somewhat smaller, tighter version than before, with a fine-grained "look of the hopsack." Camel color comes on strong in Basketweaves, as do muted heather mixtures.

BONES ARE THE BACKBONE of the college man's wardrobe — a favorite and fashion-wise choice. The small, classic herringbone weave is particularly popular in black-and-white or black-and-gray combinations, but don't overlook the more unusual 'Bones—in blue, perhaps, with a touch of green.

THE BOLDER THE BETTER is the answer, when it's a question of accessories! Stronger, more colorful stripes and checks identify this season's shirts. The range runs from a conservative choice like wide gray and tan striping on white oxford to narrow, bright-red stripes for more adventurous types — and checks run the gamut from pinchecks to gingham to Tattersalls. Even the perennial oxford shirting gains new power by combining two and three colors in the weave, as do the newer twill and herringbone weaves.

... AND BOLDER AND BOLDER. In ties, regimentals and diagonal stripes are brighter, broader and spaced farther apart. Figures on foulard and challis ties are classic in design — but they're bigger, brighter—bolder! Even belts take on "The Bold Look," with big, burnished brass buckles on highly polished leather.

HIGH RISERS RISE TO THE OCCASION—which can mean any occasion that doesn't call for white wool sweat socks! Certainly these over-the-calf socks belong with a suit—their sleek good looks insure the trim appearance that complements tailored apparel, and there's no unseemly exposure of hairy shin when you sit down! Solid colors in dark shades coordinated to your suit can be found in rib-knit cotton and polyester blends.

THE WING-AROUND GETS AROUND

—and so will you, in this new shoe with a wing-tip that doesn't know when to quit! Instead of going to ground at the instep, it "wings" clear around the body of the shoe for a streamlined look, balanced by a hefty-looking extended sole. The "Wing-Around" comes in black and the newer dark brown ranges that blend with your suits.

Coach Lovely Elected To T.U. Hall of Fame

Coach Lovely

Coach Lovely recently was elected to the Hall of Fame of the Spartan Warriors. This is a non-profit organization organized three years ago to promote athletics and to bring top notch athletes to Tampa U. The warriors are composed of Alumni of T.U. who have played on a Varsity Team while in college.

Two years ago the Hall of Fame was begun to give recognition to athletes of each decade who have contributed to T.U. athletics while in school. Coach Lovely was chosen from the decade beginning 1950.

SPORTS BILLBOARD

by Mike Moore

Basketball is just around the corner with the first game slated for December 1 with Miami. Head Coach Bob Lavoy has been putting his squad through drills and practice sessions for three weeks now and he is confident we will be tough this year.

Another sport that is preparing for their upcoming season is the wrestling team. They have two or three championships to defend this year and from the looks of the squad we should have another good year. Let Altramura is coaching the team and he says his depth is better this year and he has high hopes for another successful season. This is one of the best wrestling teams in the south and once the meets start you want to be sure to attend.

Don't forget the Wofford game is "Fill the Stadium Night" and your support and help promoting the game will be greatly appreciated.

Tampa Spoils N. E. La. Homecoming Plans

The Spartans returned from Northeast Louisiana with their second victory of the season and the second in a row. They took the Indians 7-6 in a close ball game. Tampa is 2-5 for the season now. The latest victory marked the first road victory for the Spartans since 1961 and the first time we have beaten a Gulf States Conference team since 1957. In the first quarter of the game at Monroe, fullback Jim Underhill went off left tackle for 69 yards and Tampa's only touchdown of the night. Kevin Hurt converted and that was to be the extent of the scoring for the Spartans. Three fumbles helped to stop other Spartan drives of the night. One of the brightest spots of the season has been the Spartan pass defense. The latest NAIA statistics rates Tampa 10 in the nation in this department.

The Spartans will get their biggest test of the year when they face Mississippi Saturday at Oxford. Ole Miss. has had their troubles this year, but you can be sure they will be ready come Saturday. Last year's game between the two schools proved that Tampa could play on even terms with the bigger schools, until our first unit wears down or someone gets hurt, then the difference starts to show. A team like Ole Miss can field at least three or four good teams. This can make a big difference over four quarters. If we had the number of scholarships that Mississippi has we would probably be 7-0 now.

Spartanettes Score Second Win

The girls' varsity softball team scored their second win of the season in as many starts by defeating St. Petersburg Junior College this week by a solid 25-4 final score.

The Spartanettes picked up eight runs in the first two innings for a lead that was never in danger. Hurler Marilyn Bressler held the St. Pete team scoreless through four innings before giving up two hits and a walk for the opponents' only score in the fifth inning. Donna Phillips replaced Bressler in the sixth and finished the game for the Spartanettes with no difficulty.

Leading hitter of the game was Bonnie O'Brien, who went four for five with a homerun in the second inning. Not to be outdone, Judy Alvarez collected a homerun and a triple in the fourth. Doubles were credited to Phillips, Nancy McCandlish, and Karen Rumpf.

Other players in the game which saw Tampa give up only three hits while collecting four errors were Ericka McDonald, Betsy Madzula, Marilyn Pellegrino, Cheryl Burford, Lenore Gourky, Candy Drezda, Marilyn Bronstein, and Rosalie Coniglio.

November 27th is deadline for Liberal Arts majors to apply

NSA's Professional Qualification Test is your first step towards a uniquely rewarding career

Let us clarify what we mean by a "uniquely rewarding career." If you agree with our definition, then perhaps you should see your College Placement Officer to learn more about the National Security Agency and the Professional Qualification Test to be given Saturday, December 12th. (Passing this test does not commit you in any way, but you must pass it first in order to schedule an on-campus interview with NSA representatives.)

First of all, whatever your major interest—finance & accounting, personnel or business administration, data systems programming, languages or linguistic research—you can make use of your college-acquired capabilities with the National Security Agency, headquarters for secure communications research and development... unusual design refinements in computer & edp systems... cryptologic and related techniques. Your professional growth and earning power expand from the day you join us, without having to wait for years of "experience." Then, too, you will engage in study and research that will take you well beyond known and accepted boundaries of knowledge. Although NSA is a key research activity within the Department of Defense, it has influence and responsibility of far greater scope... and intellectual associations with leading institutions, laboratories, agencies and consultants. The art and science of secure communications in all its ramifications is utterly without precedent or restriction, and involves programs of national importance.

PROGRAMS OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE—a thought worth repeating. For what it may be worth to you personally, you'll realize an extra measure of satisfaction from your NSA work, knowing that the results may benefit a lot of people.

In this regard, you'll find, too, that the NSA interchange-of-information leads easily and naturally to a maximum extension of your individual capabilities. You'll find yourself working with people from an amazing range of intellectual sectors—philosophy, psychology, history, international affairs, English, art and music... over 500 of whom have advanced degrees—in a near-academic environment. NSA conducts internal development programs to acquaint you with its new technologies, and encourages advance degree programs at nearby universities.

Now, what of the more pragmatic rewards? Your BA degree makes you eligible to start at $6,050... with regular increases as well as excellent promotion possibilities in your field. As a Federal employee, you are entitled to a number of meaningful benefits—including 13 working days' leave the first year. NSA also offers both aid and encouragement in your pursuit of advance degree education at nearby universities (Maryland and Johns Hopkins in particular are nearby).

One further advantage is NSA's location... midway between Washington and Baltimore in an area of fast-growing business, industry, and research expansion. Take your pick of in-town, suburban, or rural living—and enjoy the proximity to the Chesapeake Bay and ocean resort region.

If you agree-act now

If you are interested in an NSA career, you must apply for the Professional Qualification Test NO LATER THAN FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27th. Your College Placement Officer has a PQT brochure and application. (You must be a U.S. citizen, and are subject to a character & loyalty check.)
