Rathskellar Lures Lager Connoisseurs

For those who are looking for on-campus entertainment with redeeming social value, the Rathskellar, nestled under the east veranda of Plant Hall, offers just that and more.

The Rat, as it is more commonly and affectionately referred to, established itself as a landmark of sorts at UT — the landmark of learning — back in April of 1973, when it was officially opened.

Since that time, the Rat has been improved "an awful lot" according to Rathskellar Manager Barry Lydon, who cited the additions of T.V. football, sandwiches, pinball games, and an overall refurbishment as examples of this improvement.

Available to members of the University family and their guests are several services, including lunch starting from 11:30 p.m., happy hour from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m., and several special events throughout the year such as Halloween, New Year's Eve, and birthday parties. Alcoholic beverages are not sold until 4:00 p.m., however, in accordance with the beer and wine license the Rat operates under.

Barry says the Rat earns enough profit to pay off the loan to the University, which, in addition to donations from the Senior Classes of '72 and '73, made its opening possible.

When asked how the idea for the Rathskellar originated, Barry explained that "a student committee started on the actual plans in the fall of 1968, when I was a freshman. The idea never went over too well with the administration until Dr. Owens came to the University."

Barry added that this same student committee also chose the name Rathskellar — the German word for a beer and wine cellar — among 20 or 30 other names suggested.

Are there plans for adding on to the Rat to accommodate the large crowds drawn almost nightly? "No," answers Barry, who helps out at the Student Union in addition to his managerial responsibilities at the Rat, "we have expanded about as far as we can."

The Rathskellar has 13-15 employees during school months, and all of them, excluding Barry, are UT students.

Rec — Check is Here

(Athletic Dept.) — Do you know what's happening on campus? Did you ever go to a party and find out the party was the night before?

Well, good news for all UT students. REC-CHECK is here.

Rec-check is all the information you need to be on top of the activities at the University. Intramurals, athletics, concerts, movies, everything that's happening NOW.

Rec-check is a telephone information service brought to you by the athletic office to provide students with general information concerning all recreational activities set-up on campus for YOU.

Get it all together, call 253-8861, ext. 444. Rec-check will be waiting for you.

Student Talent Displayed

Student performances will include monthly recitals on Wednesdays at 1:00 p.m. in the Ballroom. On-campus performances by the Show Chorus and University Singers will take place in early December.

An outdoor Festival Concert featuring all student performing groups will be given on Friday evening, October 22nd.

The campus concert season began on Saturday evening, September 11th, with classical guitarist, Mark Regnier. The Ballroom Concerts are presented throughout the year to provide live musical experiences for all students and faculty.

Complete information regarding participation in ensembles or concert calendar events is available in the Fine Arts Office.

Vaughan Joins UT

(OPI) — The University of Tampa's development and public relations program will be directed by G. Tully Vaughan, 45, a hard-hitting businessman whose diverse background includes service in business, the CIA and the Army paratroopers. Tully also coached a national rowing champion.

Vaughan, on loan from Jim Walter Corp. (Celotex) where he managed the Celotex Building Materials Division, was appointed Executive Director for Development and Public Relations by UT President Bob Owens.

He fills the void left by Robert B. Gronlund, who resigned in August to form his own consulting firm.

Shortly after Dr. Owens' announcement Sept. 3, Vaughan named Mrs. Pat Patterson as his assistant. Mrs. Patterson has an extensive fiscal management and labor relations background with the military. Vaughan calls her "eminently suited for her new assignment."

In his new capacity, Vaughan will supervise the activities of the Offices of Public Information, Publications, Alumni Affairs and Development and Public Relations.

"Tully brings to us new ideas from the business world. He is motivated, enthusiastic and a stranger to the word 'impossible'. We are grateful to the Jim Walter Corp. for making him available to us," Dr. Owens commented.

For the past 12 years, Vaughan has been with the Jim Walter Corporation in sales and management positions. He was Northeast Sales Manager, Product Manager for Hardboards and Assistant Manager for Architectural Service.

Previously, he was president of "T-CO" Advertising & Promotion in Philadelphia, president of Joint Military Packaging Corp. and vice president, Commercial Vesting Corp., Memphis.

His background also includes seven years as a division manager for Tennessee Valley Life Insurance, Memphis and three years as an Army ranger-paratrooper company commander and public information officer for the 82nd Airborne Division.

An ardent oarsman, he coached the University of Tampa crew the past two years, molding the rowers into championship caliber. His men's pair with coxswain won the small college national championships while two other teams came in second after winning regional titles. He was an Olympic official at Montreal and is executive secretary of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen and vice president of the Southern Intercollegiate Rowing Association.

A native of Denver, he received a political science degree from the University of Athens, Greece, and spent three years there with the CIA. He speaks fluent Greek, French and Russian. His wife, Sars, is a student at the University of Tampa where one son, John Day, was a member of the championship crew. The Vaughans' other son, Jason, lives in Idaho.

Students Swim The Hillsborough

Plunging into the murky waters of the Hillsborough River on Saturday, September 4 went Kirk Bennet and Tim Sokol. The excursion began when both freshmen jumped into the water aided by the cheers of about 100 amazed onlookers gathered to eat dinner in Plant Park. Tim set the pace by immediately taking off, with Kirk following close behind. Spitting water, both men quickened the pace with encouragement from the shore.

Just past mid-river the two swimmers encountered a tangly congregation of water hyacinths which populate the river. At this point the two dashed towards the shore. They emerged from the river, a bit slimy and smelly, with the help of some onlookers who were almost pulled in. For their efforts they both received five dollars from a bet placed against their willingness to cross.

In a later interview, Tim and Kirk agreed it was

"the easiest five bucks we ever made." When asked about the water quality, Tim replied, "The water was kind of slimy." Kirk added, "It was like chicken soup and tasted like sewer water."

Immediately after collecting their ten dollar bill Tim and Kirk left to take about a forty minute shower.

When asked if they would perform any more derelict stunts, Tim responded, "I'll jump off the Kennedy Boulevard bridge for twenty-five bucks."

Kirk said jokingly "Give us $500 and we'll jump off the railroad drawbridge."

Would you?

If you are wondering who paid the $10, it was Neil and Tom of ZBT fraternity.

New Faculty At UT

(OPI) — Thirteen new instructors have joined the faculty of the University of Tampa for the fall term beginning Sept. 7, bringing the staff total to 86.

The new faculty, who arrived on campus last week, includes Dr. Helen V.H. Baines, assistant professor of education. Dr. Baines earned her Ph. D. degree from the University of Georgia in 1975.

Dr. Lois Benjamin, assistant professor of sociology, earned her Ph. D degree from the University of California at Berkeley in 1975.

Judy Mikel Bohren, lecturer in physical education a candidate for a Ph. D degree in physical education at the University of Maryland.

Barbara W. Center, assistant professor of mathematics, has completed work on a Ph. D degree in mathematics at the University of South Florida.

James A. Fellows, assistant professor of economics, is a candidate for Ph. D degree this year from Louisiana State University.

Duane H. Janssen, instructor of accounting, is nearing completion of his MA degree from Ball State University, Muncie, Ind.

Dr. Terry L. Mohn, assistant professor of music, earned a Ph. D degree from the University of Illinois in July of 1976.

Dr. Suzanne Nelson, assistant professor of English, earned a Ph. D degree from the University of Kentucky in 1970.

Dr. Richard Piper, assistant professor of history and political science, earned a Ph. D degree from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., in 1972.

W. Wayne Price, assistant professor of biology, has a Ph. D degree from Texas A & M University.

Dr. Philip F. Quinn, assistant professor of sociology and criminology, earned a Ph. D degree from Loyola University, Chicago, Ill., in 1971.

Dr. Andrew Solomon, assistant professor of English, earned a Ph. D degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1974.

Dr. Jerry Thomas, assistant professor of biology, earned a Ph. D degree from the University of Alabama in 1973.

A Freshman's Glimpse At College Life

The first thing I noticed when I entered the campus was its beauty. This is a very beautiful school. My room in the dorm was a real disappointment though. When I first arrived everything looked so barren, but after decorating to suit my taste the room seemed to perk up.

Two of my roommates had already arrived and had started to unpack when I entered the room. They seemed pleasant enough, which was a relief in itself. Since I've been here I've realized that making friends has been the easiest part of school. I didn't think it would be easy to make friends.

Something I had dreaded finally occurred: I had my first meal in the cafeteria. After eating there I realized my fears were not in vain. The food is pretty bad. At dinner one night, a friend picked up a piece of yorkshire pudding and thought it was a three year old pancake.

The next biggest problem I encountered were the roaches (and I don't mean the end of a joint), I mean roaches as in bugs. A friend of mine who attends Biscayne College once found a roach in his room so big it wore size three tennis sneakers. He called the roach Oscar and said he could not kill it because he would need an elephant gun to shoot him. He had problems, but at UT they supply you with three to four Oscars to a room.

Getting back to making friends and meeting new people, one of the most interesting things about the people here is that every one seems to come from another state. Because of their backgrounds, the people here have different accents. When you have three people in a room, one from Tennessee, one from New York and one from Indiana, each accent can become very amusing. Although we like to tease each other about our speech habits, I know that it is done in fun and most of us have made some lifelong friends. These friends come in handy when you need to laugh about some of the rules. I was very disappointed when I found out alcohol was prohibited. When you are paying $300 a semester for a room you should be able to drink there. They keep saying this is home, but I can drink at home. The funniest part in calling this home is the toilet paper problem. You know it is bad when your roommate is stuck on the toilet and the people at the desk tell you that you have to wait two more days for your share of toilet paper.

I was surprised that not many people were homesick. But, neither was I; aside from missing my boyfriend, I feel I have made just as close friends here as I had at home.

I realize that throughout this piece I have joked about many things, but I'd like to say this before I finish: the cafeteria food is bad, but maybe it is just bad because it is not home cooked. The problem with the roaches would not be so big if everyone realized that these bugs are more afraid of you than you are of them. The problem with the toilet paper is pretty funny but the problem of alcohol is not something to laugh about. Maybe I should not criticize the policy on alcohol unless I've tried to change it. Well I realize I have not tried, but I'm willing to start.

Residence Life

First Coffeehouse Held in Smiley

On Saturday night, September 11, 1976, UT's Residence Life sponsored its first coffeehouse in Smiley Hall. Talented students from the 4 residence halls performed, and the lobby was crowded with good-natured students.

Entertainment ranged from dance routines to folk musicians to a knee-sapping, hand-clapping band. Faces indeed showed a true involvement in what was going on. The program was a great success, and the Residence Life staff would like to extend its thanks to both the performers and the audience for an evening that offered another alternative to our campus community.

Students expressed interest in seeing a continuance in this type of programming. Residence Life seeks and encourages this support. Anyone interested in organizing more coffeehouses is urged to contact Herman Bips III, of Delo Hall.

Music Activities On Campus

A schedule of 12 faculty, student and professional concerts will be available free of charge to all University of Tampa students this semester. Student tickets will also be available throughout the year for performances of the Florida Gulf Coast Symphony, San Carlo Opera Company, Tampa Ballet Company, and Spanish Little Theatre.

Students interested in working with our two new resident groups, the Tampa Ballet Company and the Spanish Little Theatre, should contact Professor Rodean in the office of the Division of Fine Arts. A meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, September 16th at 4:00 p.m. in the Dome Room for all students wishing to learn more about participation in Spanish Little Theatre productions.

Student musical ensembles are seeking new members from all academic disciplines. The Concert Band, Jazz Ensemble, University Singers and Show Chorus are one credit courses that can be used to partially fulfill core Area A graduation requirements.

Pool Open Two Nights A Week

For all you people who have been hopping the fence around the pool to take your nightly dip, there is no need to hop the fence any longer. Thanks to McKay Hall and Residence Life, the pool will now be open two nights a week, Wednesday and Friday nights from 7 till 10. McKay Hall, under supervision of Don Cramer, originated the idea of nightly swims. Nine students from McKay Hall volunteered their life guard services, which in turn proved to Bob Birrenkott, the director of Athletics, that there is an interest for nightly swims. Residence Life approved the program and agreed to foot the bill for the program. Some recognition and thanks goes to Craig McConnel for supplying the life guards. Hopefully everyone will support this program so nightly swims will become a way of life here at U.T. Remember, after studying Wednesday and Friday nights come on over and relax with a night swim.

Organizations

Sigma Tau Delta

The members of Sigma Tau Delta (National English Fraternity) would like to welcome all students for the 1976-77 year.

Sigma Tau Delta consists of English faculty members and student members who enjoy getting together outside of the classroom to view and discuss literature informally. As a group, we attend plays, lectures, movies, poetry readings, etc.

Our officers for the 1976-77 year are Robert Bigman, President; Becky Burnett, Vice President; Sue Marks, Secretary; and Fritz Russell, Treasurer. For further information please contact Box 2037, Box 782 or our chapter advisor, Dr. Gillen, Rm 441, ext 430.

R. B.

Pi Kappa Phi

The Pi Kappa would like to welcome everyone back this fall semester. A special welcome to all freshman. The brotherhood will be stronger than ever and ready to roll with activities and parties planned. We will miss our graduated seniors this year: Dan (the man) Kryzwicki, Gary (no no) Stern, and Kenny (poogh) Eagles. However, the Pi Kappa are good multipliers and with the addition of new pledges we will be as numerous as ever.

The Pi Kappa will be ready when flag football starts with a team full of stars, as usual. Go No. 1 Pi Kappa Phi. Greasy Parisi is still solo.

Mrs. Murphy

TKE

TKE, the golden men of Tau Kappa Epsilon, would like to welcome everybody to UT. First of all, I would like to congratulate our new officers: Gregg Goldberg, President; Rick Nash, Vice President; Ed Wagner, Treasurer; Greg Brown, Secretary; Bruce Fendell, Chaplain; Roy Kipp, Historian; Bob Hicks, Sergeant at Arms; and Mike McGinley, pledge trainer. We are looking forward to a great football season. So beware, the TKE men are back. Hope you enjoyed our party last Saturday because there will be more. I wish everyone good luck for a good year.

Tommy Teke

Alpha Chi

Another fall and another semester has begun. The sisters of Alpha Chi Omega would like to welcome all the new freshmen and transfer students to U.T. We would also like to say welcome back to all four fellow Greeks and classmates who are returning this fall.

We are happy to have Peggy Zackman and Lou Ann Di Pano back with us this fall. Peggy studied aboard in France last year and has some interesting things to tell. Virginia went to National this summer and has some great new ideas for us this semester. Congratulations Sue Stebbins, who has just been initiated as a sister.

We've planned a really terrific rush, and invite any girls who are interested to please sign up in Plant Hall Lobby. Rush is only the beginning of better things to come.

We hope everyone has a great time this semester and welcome again to U.T.

Love,
Tasha

Boat Storage

Free boat storage space can be supplied to any member of the campus community who owns a canoe or sailboat. No gasoline or engines can be stored. Anyone interested should leave a message for Sailing Club, box 2797.

Sailing Club

Get Your Feet Wet

Back in action for the second year is the University of Tampa Sailing Club. The emphasis of the club's activities this semester will be on helping the landlubber get used to small boats and the water. There will be several weekend sessions, beginning Saturday, September 18, that will be especially geared to the person who has never sailed before but would like to learn. Outings for the experienced sailor and racer are also being planned, so, no matter what your sailing background, do not hesitate to come to the meetings and talk to those people already involved. The first meeting of the year will be held in the upper level of the Student Union at 5:00, Thursday, Sept. 16, and of course everybody is welcome. If you have any questions feel free to leave a note at the post office for the Sailing Club, box 2797.

Service To Mankind

The University of Tampa conclave has another addition to the student organizations operating on campus. The Sertoma Club, a branch of the Sertoma International organization, is a group designed to promote freedom for mankind and the general community where a local chapter is based. Sertoma also promotes the free enterprise system, good government, mutual tolerance and understanding among all people.

The idea of having a Sertoma chapter on campus was spearheaded by Tampa insurance executive Karl Johnson, a Tampa University graduate. He strongly believes that UT and the Bay area will benefit from Sertoma's principles and its proposed community services. Dr. Philip Quinn is the faculty advisor for this group and can be contacted at box number 120 or room S200 which can be found where the old Career and Counseling office was located.

A follow-up article will be printed announcing the time and place of the first meeting. Hopefully the Sertoma Club can add dimension and further cooperation between UT and the Tampa community.

Athletics Move On

"Last year's intercollegiate and intramural sport programs were improvements over the past. However, we do not intend to rest on what has been accomplished. We will build on success and try to remedy the weak points," said newly appointed Athletic Director Robert Birrenkott.

Dr. Birrenkott will work in conjunction with Tom Feaster and Dave Jackson. Feaster came to the University in 1975 as the men's rowing coach. He retains that position and also will serve as Director of Intercollegiate Sports. His duties encompass the organization of all of UT's athletic eams, scheduling games, ordering supplies and nanaging travel expenses.

Jackson and Birrenkott plan to intensify the intramural activities on campus. Together they have planned a tentative schedule that they feel will involve more students in the program. The overall championship of intramural activities will be determined on a point basis. Flag football, basketball and softball, as major sports, will be assigned the highest point value. bowling, wrist wrestling and water polo are of less point value. The title is determined by which team has the greatest amount of points at the end of the spring semester.

Besides encouraging intramurals, the Athletic Department is also supporting club sports. Judo, fencing and karate clubs have already been formed. "If there is enough interest in a sport, I will welcome a group of students to come and speak with me about organizing and forming a club. I have been informed that some people are interested in wind surfing — we are working on this now," said Birrenkott. He added that the fencing club meets from 5 to 9 on Mondays and Wednesdays at the gym.

For those interested in weightlifting or basketball the gymnasium is open Monday through Friday six to nine p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from one to seven p.m.

The University of Tampa offers tennis, golf, swimming, water skiing, soccer, rifle and crew as intercollegiate sports for men and women. The women also have fielded basketball and volleyball squads while the men are offered baseball. For those men and women drawn towards the swimming program a meeting has been set for September 28 at 8 p.m. in room 3 of the student union.

Support for the University's athletic teams has been low in past years. Birrenkott cites a lack of communication and total involvement as possible causes for this problem. He hopes one solution to this will be moving the sporting events closer to the students. New baseball and soccer fields will be ready by Parents Weekend in October. The fields are being constructed in the old fairgrounds next to the library and pool.

With the change of administration in the athletic department there seems to be a trend toward sports for the average athlete. This is not to say that the quality of participation will be going down, but the quality of participants should increase. Much more emphasis will be placed upon intramural activities than in the past. Those students who would like to compete, whether on a varsity sport or an intramural activity, should check with the athletic office in the student union.

Baseball Team

The University of Tampa's 1976 fall baseball team will officially begin its 22-game season on September 25, when the Spartans entertain Florida College in a twinbill starting at 12:30 p.m. at the Sam Bailey Field.

Fourth-year head coach Frank Permuy has over 50 hopefuls to chose from to fill the 25-man roster, including 17 returning lettermen from last spring's 28-14-1 squad. Gone, however, are the services of three-time All-American John Sylvester, who signed a professional contract with the San Francisco Giants.

"Most everyone would think that only leaves eight open spots," Permuy said, "but actually, these seventeen people still have to make the team this year."

Permuy will get a good chance to look at some of the talent when the intramural season begins on September 14. During this 24-game schedule, the 50-plus candidates will be divided into four groups, each playing six games against each other.

Because of the improved calibre of competition UT expects to face this fall, Permuy stressed the importance of these intramural games in the team meeting held last Friday, September 10.

Here's how UT's fall baseball schedule looks:

Feaster Appointed

(OPI) — Tom Feaster, men's crew coach at the University of Tampa last year, is the new coordinator for intercollegiate sports at UT.

Dr. Robert Birrenkott, director of athletics and intramurals, said Feaster also will serve as head crew coach in addition to directing the men's crew program.

Feaster's duties entail coordinating and scheduling intercollegiate contests while working with coaches of all UT sports.

Coach of the men's pair with coxswain which won the small college championships at the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia last May, Feaster himself won the open singles in the Bicentennial International Rowing Regatta at Miami two weeks ago.

Feaster came to UT a year ago from Sanford Naval Academy where he was athletic director, crew coach, chairman of the social studies department and social studies teacher in 1973-74. During the two years prior he was crew coach, social studies teacher, and summer director of admissions at Sanford.

In April he received a Masters of Education degree from UT.

Birrenkott said he was "pleased to have a man of Tom's qualifications involved in the program. He did an outstanding job as men's crew coach and as resident manager of Wilkist Apartments last year."

Please! No Golf Clubs

(Athletic Dept.) — The Athletic Office is asking your cooperation in requesting that no golf clubs be allowed in the fairgrounds due to damage done to the turf on the baseball field this past weekend.

The University is spending more money, time and effort to provide facilities and activities for university students. If the abuses to these areas continue, the masses will suffer with the closing of these facilities. If any facility is locked, please stay out and be considerate of others. The University serves ALL students.
