U of T Homecoming Biggest Ever

"New Dogmas for New Times" was the theme of President Delo's address to students, faculty, trustees and friends of the University at the opening convocation Sept. 25 in the Falk Memorial Theater. Pictured with him are Dr. John B. Dickson, left, who gave the invocation, and Dr. Charles R. Walker, acting dean of administration.

President Delo Calls For High Standards at University

A resounding call for higher standards for the University of Tampa in all phases of college life was sounded by President David M. Delo in his address "New Dogmas for New Times" at the opening convocation Sept. 25 at the Falk Memorial Theatre.

Two roads are open to the University, according to Dr. Delo, comfortable and complacent mediocrity or the alternate one which is increasingly expensive in time, in hard work and in dollars. This is so, says Dr. Delo, because quality always demands a premium.

The packed theatre was told by Dr. Delo that the continuing story of America is that of people willing to take their fortunes in their hands. "Today," he stated, "security is a myth . . . In the life of this University there has never been real security. Born of the depression, the current of destiny has pulled it slowly forward. Then two years ago there began a required and drastic transition from commuting to residential status. A year hence, with the graduation of the present senior class, the end of this transition will be in sight."

If we are to keep pace with the age, said the president, we must choose our road and follow it relentlessly, joining with those in our community who al-

"TU on Parade"

The biggest Homecoming celebration in the history of the university will take place Oct. 20. The theme this year will be "TU on Parade".

Among the highlights of the event, which annually brings to the campus thousands of alumni and visitors, will be the Homecoming parade Saturday morning, the Spartan-Presbyterian College game in the afternoon, and the Alumni Association's banquet and dance that evening.

Main speaker for the Association's banquet Saturday night at the Hillsboro Hotel will be the distinguished educator, Dr. James M. Smith of Atlanta, regional representative of the U.S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Dr. Smith, who will speak on an educational theme, has served as president of Memphis State University and of Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, for six years was director of instruction in the Memphis city schools and also has been commissioner of education for the State of Tennessee. He is an alumnus of George Peabody College, Nashville.

The University campus will take on a Homecoming atmosphere as early as Oct. 14, when fraternities and sororities will erect lawn displays carrying out the theme, "TU on Parade", around the main building and in front of the fraternity houses. The displays will remain on view until Oct. 21.

Activities Begin Thursday

The festivities will begin Thursday evening with the coronation of the Homecoming Queen and her court and presentation of the annual fraternity and sorority skits at the Falk Memorial Theater.

Saturday morning's activities will lead off at 7:30 with the annual industrial arts alumni breakfast to be held in the newly-completed industrial arts building adjacent to the campus. President Delo will be the after-breakfast speaker. Honored guests will be all persons who made donations toward the new building. Also invited to attend are all friends of the industrial arts department. Following the breakfast, dedication ceremonies will be held for the new industrial arts building.

Various alumni gatherings will be held during the morning.

The annual Homecoming parade, featuring fraternity and sorority floats decorated in the Homecoming theme,

Theater Artists Series Starts Brings Top Flight Actors to Falk

The University will inaugurate its first Theater Artists Series in the David A. Falk Memorial Theater this season, featuring four outstanding cultural attractions.

Although several university and community cultural programs were held in the theater last spring, these will be the first performances by nationally-known entertainment figures since the University acquired the theater March 1.

Leading off the artist series was Anne Wilson, distinguished ballerina-choreographer, who presented her "Dancer's Sketch Book" Oct. 8. Miss Wilson has choreographed for the New York Ballet club and the Trianon Ballet Company of Philadelphia and has been a soloist with the American Ballet Theater.

Cornelia Otis Skinner

Other famous theater personalities scheduled to appear during the season are the noted actress Cornelia Otis Skinner, who will perform her well-known character sketches Nov. 12; the National Players of Washington, D. C., who will present Moliere's "School for Wives" Feb. 21, and Hal Holbrook, leading Broadway actor, who will give his famous portrayal of Mark Twain March 21.

Miss Skinner, a leading Broadway actress, has appeared on the European as well as the American stage. She also has distinguished herself as one of the nation's most popular authors.

Touring the country out of the nation's capitol, the National Players is at present the longest running national classical repertory company in the United States. The repertory includes the works of Shakespeare, Shaw, Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Moliere.

Holbrook starred this summer in "Richard II" and "Henry IV, Part 1", at the American Shakespeare Festival, Stratford, Conn. In the fall of 1961 he played on Broadway in Karl Wittlinger's "Do You Know the Milky Way?"

Reservations for the events will be handled through the Falk Theater box office.

Dance Increases Scholarship Fund

Chiselers Party Opens Social Season

The Anniversary Ball of the past two years took the form of a dinner dance in gold decor sponsored this year by the Chiselers, a group of community women devoted to service to the University. The ball annually raises funds for student scholarships.

Held Sept. 15 in the ballroom, lobby and veranda, the event featured decorations of yellow and gold chrysanthemums and grapes, and the buffet table in the ballroom was covered with a gold cloth. Japanese lanterns illuminated the veranda, where the tables were placed. Dancing was to the music of Jack Golly and his orchestra.

Some 300 persons attended the invitational dinner dance. Mrs. Ashby Moody was chairman of arrangements for the dance, which will henceforth replace the anniversary balls. Mrs. John Pratt was in charge of the decorations.

Mrs. James Ferman is president of the Chiselers, which has 28 active and about 72 associate members. The group has been responsible for many improvements to the University building and grounds since it began its projects in 1959 by chiseling the mortar from antique tiles salvaged from the original fireplaces in the University's main building and restoring them in the fireplaces.

Among their recent projects was beautification of the veranda, which included purchase of wrought iron chairs, tiling of table tops, and the hanging of 12 baskets of trailing fern. They also have been instrumental in attractively redecorating the ladies' lounge on the first floor.

The University says a hearty "thanks" to these community women, who so unselfishly give of their time and talents to the University.

Student Center Now Underway

Construction of the long-awaited Student Center building began last month when final approval was received from the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Atlanta to award the contract for construction of the $600,000 building.

Ground-breaking for the Center actually took place last semester, but technical difficulties were encountered by the engineers, requiring additional space to be given the University by the City of Tampa. With this land request granted, actual construction began the day after the receipt from Atlanta of the "go ahead" signal. Completion of the Center is expected early next spring.

The loan from the housing agency amounts to $356,000, which the University must match with $249,000 of its own funds. The contract was awarded to Jones-Mahoney Co. of Tampa.

Eagerly awaited as a desperately needed facility, the Student Center will provide most of the extracurricular services now so inadequately located in the main building. Its construction will also be a breakthrough for the downtown riverfront area as it will be a striking feature of the overall downtown riverfront development program.

Money is still needed for the Student Center fund which is short of its goal by $57,000. Prospective donors are reminded that ALL GIFTS ARE TAX-DEDUCTIBLE.

ready "think and act anew." The birthpangs of change are troublesome but it is true, said Dr. DeLo, that the dogmas of the past are inadequate to the demands of the future. And if the University is to be worthy of its mission, we have only one choice. "We must think and act anew."

The convocation featured a formal academic procession by faculty members. J. C. Council, of the University's Board of Trustees, gave the greetings to the audience.

Changes in University Faculty Are Announced

A number of administrative staff changes have taken place at the University in recent months, and new faculty members have been appointed for the 1962-63 year.

will begin from the University at 1 p.m. and terminate at the Phillips Field stadium at 1:45. In addition to the floats, various high school bands, as well as the University's Symphonic Band, will participate, and officials of the University, the Alumni Association, and the city will ride in the parade.

Pre-game activities will be held at the stadium at 1:45. Kick-off time for the Spartan-Presbyterian College game is 2:30 p.m. New head football coach Fred Pancoast is looking for a tough game from the opponents from Clinton, S. C. The 23 lettermen from Presbyterian, led by speedy halfback Ronnie Hampton and a powerful line, guarantee an exciting ball game.

"Hall of Fame" Announced

One of the highlights of the game will be the announcement of the names of athletes selected for the Spartan Warriors' first "Tampa University Hall of Fame". The Warriors, a newly-formed organization of former lettermen at the University, have established the Hall of Fame and will select nominees from the different eras of the University's sports history. According to Gene King, president of the Warriors, five athletes, representing all fields of sports, and one "member-at-large" will receive the coveted honor in this initial presentation.

Fraternity alumni associations will hold open houses from 5 until 6:30 Saturday afternoon at the Hillsboro Hotel. During the same hours the Spartan Warriors will hold open house in the hotel's Tampa Room.

The Alumni Association's social hour is scheduled from 6:30 until 7:30 Saturday night in the Garden Patio of the Hillsboro Hotel, after which the Homecoming banquet, featuring Dr. Smith as speaker, will be held from 7:30 until 9:30 in the ballroom. Winding up alumni activities for the evening will be a dance in the hotel ballroom from 9:30 until 1:30 a.m. Guests will dance to the music of Jack Golly's Showmen orchestra. Tickets for the banquet and dance will be $5 per person; for the dance only, $1.25 per person. The University's Alumni Office is in charge of reservations.

Students of the University will attend a dance and variety show that night, featuring the music of "The Vibratones". During the dance the winning Homecoming floats, skits, and lawn displays will be announced.

Tommy B. King of the Alumni Association is chairman of arrangements for alumni activities during Homecoming, and Jim Stavracos, vice-president of the student body, is in charge of student activities.

Gift to UT Will Be Used For Falk Theatre

The University of Tampa was recently the recipient of one of the largest individual gifts in its history.

Mrs. Alma Timolat Stanley of Dongan Hills, Staten Island, New York, donated $10,000 to be used toward the rehabilitation of the Falk Memorial Theatre. Initial expenditures from the Stanley gift will be used to improve the existing sound system and for adequate lighting facilities.

The donor, who received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters at the University's commencement exercises in June of this year, has for years been active in the New York area in the Red Cross and in health and welfare work. She is a prominent clubwoman and long-time benefactor of education.

Industrial Arts Has New Building

The University's newly-completed industrial arts building, which was a "do-it-yourself" project of the industrial arts alumni, will be dedicated during Homecoming activities Oct. 20.

The dedication will be made following the annual breakfast for industrial arts alumni that morning. All persons who made donations for the new building are being invited to the two events.

The new concrete building, located near the campus, will have an indoor area of 4,000 square feet for industrial arts laboratories, classrooms, and some office space. An additional 4,000 square feet will be provided by an outdoor patio, where work can be done most months of the year.

The present temporary industrial arts building near the riverfront must be torn down soon to make room for the new Student Center.

Pinholster New Alumni President

David C. Pinholster, Tampa insurance executive, former naval aviator and holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, is new president of the University's Alumni Association.

Pinholster attended Tampa U. for three years and received his BS degree from the University of Maryland in 1951.

Other officers leading the association for the year are Tommy B. King, vice-president, and Sam Giunta, treasurer. Members of the board of directors are Lowell T. Freeman, Tony Ippolito, Dr. Paul J. McCloskey, Fred Pancoast and Richard C. Swirlbul.

The Mabel Lamson Currier Room is one of the recently-completed rooms on the University's Western Civilization Corridor. Donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Von Kienbusch of New York City, it features an Elizabethan motif and will be used as a conference room.

Hellenic Room Is Dedicated; Other Ethnic Rooms Finished

Dedication this month of the Hellenic History Room, most recent addition to the Western Civilization Corridor in the University's main building, has added yet another ultra-modern classroom facility to the rapidly-growing list in the project now underway by various civic and ethnic groups of the Tampa area.

The Greek community of the Tampa Bay area has worked closely with the Greek embassy and University officials in making this classroom a dramatic showcase for priceless memorabilia of ancient Greece. Ten pieces of Greek statuary, fabricated exclusively for the room by the Greek government, are featured, along with replicas of friezes on the Parthenon. Air-conditioning, recessed lighting and paneled walls are other features of the room.

Nicholas Mann of Lakeland and Jack Pappas, Tarpon Springs, were in charge of arrangements for the room. Dr. Stephen L. Speronis, director of development at the University, has worked closely with the community group in planning the room.

After the dedication ceremonies, a tour for guests included visits to other completed rooms on the Corridor, which will eventually encompass all classrooms on the second floor of the main building. In addition to the Israeli Room, which was dedicated in October, 1961, they are the Mabel Lamson Currier Room, the Americana Room, and the Civitan Room.

The Currier Room, featuring an Elizabethan motif, is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Von Kienbusch of New York City and is named in honor of her mother. The room has been remodeled in Tudor style and contains a magnificent set of 17th Century English dining room furniture, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Von Kienbusch. It will be used for committee meetings of the University's board of trustees, administrative meetings, and special seminars for seniors.

The Americana Room was dedicated Sept. 7, a gift of the Tampa Cigar Manufacturers Association. Designed to carry out an Americana theme, the classroom has been decorated with an antique cigar store Indian, the gift of Karl Cuesta and A. L. Cuesta, Jr., and an antique Indian head bust, donated by Mrs. Morton L. Annis. The room features wall-to-wall carpeting, air-conditioning, built-in bookcase, and walnut-paneled walls. James J. Corral is president of the Cigar Manufacturers Association. Morton L. Annis, public relations chairman of the Association, directed arrangements for the room.

Three local Civitan clubs, the Tampa, North Tampa, and Palma Ceia clubs, have donated a Civitan Room to the University. The room will contain various artifacts pertaining to Americanism and good citizenship, the goals of Civitan. The air-conditioned classroom is paneled in American cherry, has tile floor and acoustical ceiling. The arrangements committee consisted of Dr. L. O. Pasetti, lieutenant-governor of Florida District, Civitan International; Jack Brown, president of Tampa Civitan club; Charles Miller, president of North Tampa club, and James O. Horne, president of Palma Ceia club.

Other ethnic rooms are planned in the series.

President Delo, left, is pictured with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Logan of St. Petersburg Beach and the gift to the University of their registered English silver service.

Logans Give Silver Service To University

A handsome seven-piece silver on copper tea service has been received by the University, the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Logan of St. Petersburg Beach, formerly of Tampa.

The heavy English set, which is registered, has been in the Logan family for about 25 years and includes both teapot and coffee pot and a large tray.

The University is most appreciative to the Logans for this gift, which will be both useful and attractive for University receptions and other social events.

New Dormitory Wings Completed

The University has gained an additional 166 living spaces for men students with the completion last July of wings on McKay and Smiley men's residence halls.

Construction of the wings was made necessary because of the increasing number of out-of-town students attending the University who must live on-campus.

The wings, of brick construction similar to the main dormitories, are air-conditioned. The rooms feature built-in dressers and desks and are attractively decorated.

Dr. Haney Receives PhD

Dr. Kenneth W. Haney, assistant professor of sociology, received his PhD degree in sociology this summer from the University of Chicago. The title of his dissertation was "Sociological Survey of Disease in the Areas of Tampa, Florida". Dr. Haney has been named acting chairman of the sociology department.
