SPARTAN QUINTET GRABS 33-27 WIN IN EXTRA PERIOD

Take Triller from Glenn
Henderson Five

NEWCOMB LEADS SCORING

Pushed Hard for Fourth
Straight Victory

Carrying the fight into their opponents all the way and forcing the game into an extra period, the Tampa U. eagles last night garnered their fourth straight victory by defeating the Glenn Henderson five of the commercial league by a 33 to 27 score in the fastest and tightest game seen on the casino floor this season.

Tete Newcomb, playing a brilliant game at forward, looped in a field goal in the final minute of the fourth quarter to knot the score at 25 all and force the game into an extra period. In that extra period Newcomb hung up two more field goals and a free throw to provide a winning margin all by himself.

The scores of the two teams were not separated by more than a single point at any time during the first half, which ended with the Spartans leading by 13 to 12. The Henderson team opened the second half with a rush that brought them a three-point advantage, but the Spartans had a few scoring ideas of their own and kept abreast of the tide to finally bring home the side of pork.

Newcomb, substitute forward, stole the limelight with his outstanding offensive play, ringing up six field shots and a foul throw for a total of 13 points to lead the evening's scoring.

Plebes Lead in Intramural Loop on New Point System

With standings based on a new point system the Plebes, formerly the Hoodlums and winner of the football championship, head the university's intramural athletic league with a total of 82.5 points, a 7.5 point margin over the Physical Educators, their nearest rival. The points won in each sport will be carried all through the year and a champion club will be named on the standing by points.

The order in which the clubs stand now and the number of points won are: Plebes, 82.5; Physical Eds, 75.0; P.K.'s, 67.5; Sigma Kappa Nu, 45.0; Beta Chi, 30.0; North Side, 10.0; and South Side, 10. The latter are new teams entering the basketball loop and the points complimentary.

Six clubs have already signed up for competition in the intramural basketball loop, and Miller Adams, director, expects two or three more teams to enter. Each team series of three games with every other club in the loop, according to the latest plans.

Anyone wishing to be instructed in basketball officiating, and to serve at intramural games, is asked to communicate with Miller Adams.

Footballers Hit That Line With Cartloads of Onions

Work for hungry lads has at last been provided. Phil Patterson, Wilbur Gunnoe, Monkey Rhines, Don Williams, Walter Hoy, Crockett Farnell, Marvin Chancey and Johnny Mastry began at 3:00 last Tuesday afternoon to push around carts loaded with 500 pounds of potatoes. Occasionally, for variety, they pushed cartloads of onions. They worked until 9:30 Wednesday morning, when they had to go to classes.

The object was the unloading of a boat load of onions and potatoes. The jobs were provided by the Bull Steamship Lines and Mr. Sax of the Lions Club was instrumental in securing the positions for the boys who are called by the dignified title of stevedores. It is hoped that the labor was not too strenuous for the Spartan youths.

FIX TWO BOXING DATES FOR ROAD TRIP IN FEB.

Collegiate Boxing Rules
Show Little Change

Coach Johnny Minardi announced early this week that two boxing dates have been definitely set, and that the Spartan leather pushers will be off on a road trip next month that will take them up into South Carolina for both matches.

The boxers will get their first taste of intercollegiate competition on Feb. 20, when they meet the University of South Carolina mitten squad in Columbia. The South Carolina boys met and defeated the Florida U. team 6 to 2 two weeks ago.

Two days later Feb. 22, the Spartans will engage the Citadel boxing team in Charleston. Citadel also met the University of Florida team, but was defeated 6 to 2 by them. These two matches will give the Spartans an opportunity to compare themselves with the Florida team, which has refused to even consider a meeting with the Tampa U. squad.

Two additional matches, with Miami U., and a West Palm Beach club, have been definitely clinched, but no date has been agreed upon as yet. Both of these teams will be met on a home-and-home basis.

Strong For Roadwork

Minardi is strong for roadwork, which he believes is the most valuable preparation a boxer can have for development of the leg muscles and wind. He has his candidates taking a mile of roadwork every day, and will increase the distance gradually.

Pied Pipers Pursue Tampa U. Mice, Register No Score

The Pied Piper of Hamelin descended upon Tampa University early this week to make life a hard proposition for the Mickey and Minnie mice of the institution.

It wasn't one piper, it was a group; and they weren't pied, although they did smoke pipes. And they didn't come from Hamelin; they were C. W. A. workers. And they didn't make life hard for the mice, because they failed to locate any, the final score being no hits, no runs, and several errors. But that was the general idea.

Since Mickey and Minnie have appeared in pictures only to be laughed at, it has become the general opinion that they are entirely too frivolous to ever be interested in attending college. But somehow the rumor got about that they were frequenting the subterranean chambers and corridors beneath this venerable old building. Accordingly a stout array of the C. W. A. force's most reliable agents were selected and commissioned to invade the aforementioned chambers well fortified with ambition, courage, and a flashlight.

Led by Lieutenant Thompson of the Sanitary Engineers, the congregation entered the darkness with shining eyes. Several hours later they emerged, a broken, miserable group. No hits, no runs, no errors.

UNIVERSITY RECEPTION FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADS BOOKED FOR TOMORROW

Guests Will Be Conducted
On Tour of Building

Tomorrow evening from 8:00 until 11:00 the University will hold a reception in the assembly hall for graduates of high schools in and near Tampa and their parents, Mr. M. L. Price announced at the assembly last Tuesday, and invited all students to attend.

Representatives have been sent to Hillsborough, Plant, Brandon, Plant City, Wimauma, Bradenton, Palmetto, Dade City, Brooksville, Clearwater and Tarpon Springs high schools to personally invite the graduates.

The faculty and the girls of the upper classes will act as hosts and hostesses, and the reception will be absolutely informal. The program will be opened with several short talks given by the faculty members. The guests and their parents will be given free tickets to the basketball game between the University and the Sunkist Club of Lakeland at the casino that night, and further entertainment will include a short skit given by the dramatic department under the direction of Miss Jones, a tour of the building which will include the dormitories, offices, classrooms, science laboratories, the museum, and other points of interest, and will be conducted by the hostesses. Light refreshments will be served.

The evening will be concluded with about an hour of dancing in the university ballroom, during the course of which Mrs. Steele, dancing instructor, will give an exhibition of the correct style of ballroom dancing.

Louise Leonard and Edna Prince will be in charge of the arrangements regarding the insignia worn and the grouping of the hostesses.

International Expert Will Coach Fencing; May Schedule Havana

An embryonic University of Tampa fencing squad held its first regular workout yesterday afternoon in the east dining hall with ten candidates reporting to Captain O. Miranda, who will coach the team.

Capt. Miranda of the Cuban army is internationally recognized as an outstanding authority on the various forms of fencing and blade duelling. He has won an Olympic championship, and holds many medals from several countries. His favorite medal is one awarded him by the Boston Racquet Club for the toughest match he ever won. He also has a medal from the New York Athletic Club.

Capt. Miranda represented Cuba in an international fencing meet in Paris, participating in the Olympic meet of South America, in the national festival of Central America, and in matches in Cuba and Mexico.

He took his candidates in hand yesterday afternoon and started the formation of a fencing team that will be entered in active inter-collegiate competition within two or three months. The squad will meet every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 o'clock.

Matches have already been arranged with Rollins and Miami U., and St. Pete junior college has issued a challenge. A match with the local Y. W. C. A. is tentative, and Capt. Miranda suggested that when Cuba has cooled off the team may be able to arrange a match with the University of Havana.

Capt. Miranda does not speak English extensively, and will conduct his practice sessions entirely in Spanish, with Manuel Rodriguez acting in the role of interpreter.

Those who are practicing with the fencing squad are D. B. York, Henderson Harris, Lisette Shanks, Julia Folsom, Betty Stone, Manager Manuel Rodriguez, and others.

PRES. SPIVEY TO SPEAK

At the first student assembly after the beginning of next semester a student forum will be held to discuss the honor system. There will be no vote taken, but opinions pro and con will be expressed.

Dr. Estes Entertains Grid Team With Chicken Dinner

Dr. James L. Estes entertained 26 members of the football squad with a chicken purlieu dinner last Sunday at his lake cabin about sixteen miles north of Tampa. Besides several chickens the dinner included a nineteen pound baked ham, baked beans, corn, salad and dessert.

Dr. Estes, who is practicing in Tampa, is very much interested in the University and acted as volunteer physician for the team during the football season.

LAKELAND TEAM HERE FOR GAME TOMORROW

Strongest Quintets

The Sunkist national guard basketball team of Lakeland comes here tomorrow night to meet the Spartans in what will be their third game in five days. The Sunkist five, reputed to be the strongest independent team in the state, and composed mostly of former Lakeland high school aces, will give the Spartan quintet some of the toughest opposition they have experienced thus far this season. The game, booked for the casino, will start at 8:00 o'clock.

A record of the team is not available making a comparison of the two impossible, but the locals are expected to rise to meet the situation, probably resulting in a tight game.

A light workout on tap this afternoon in the casino will be the Spartans' first practice session since last Monday, although they have played two games.

Coach Higgins has shaken his lineup around continually this week in an effort to discover the smoothest combination, but the following lineup may be again shifted about before game time tomorrow. Harry McCartney will start in one of the forward positions, with either Torres or Cage in the other. Red Means will get the call at center, with Rudy Rodriguez and Cotton Clinton probably getting the call at the guard posts.

Many Students Interested In Tampa Life Saving

The Tampa Life Saving Corps, well known in Tampa and vicinity for its summer time activities at pools and beaches, is well represented at the University of Tampa.

Two students are officers in this organization. Don Williams, swimming coach of the University, is captain, and Betty Stone is secretary-treasurer. Two other very active members are Dorothy Talbot and Charles Norris.

The other officers are Marvin Henderson, president, and Bill Howington, first mate. The corps is composed of sixteen members.

To join the corps one must be a senior or examiner life saver and pass the corps test, consisting of swimming two miles, performing all life-saving methods correctly, and swimming a certain distance under water.

Several other University students have shown some interest in the corps and will take their tests at the beginning of the summer.

SORORITY PLANS SUPPER

On Saturday evening at 6:00 the Delta Kappa Sorority will give a waffle supper at the home of Miss Edna Prince, 1315 W. Cass St., for members and a group of invited guests who are: Julia Folsom, Martha Campbell, Martha Powell, Sue Cox, Marie Wills, Marjorie Dennis, Spurgeon Fulford, Ella Middleton, Marguerite Holder, Ruth Burnett, and Margaret Rush.

dents interested in philosophy are invited to attend, and to participate in the discussion to follow the lecture.

DRIVE STARTED TO ASSURE ATHLETICS HERE NEXT SEASON

Launch Membership Drive
At Football Banquet

SPAULDING DEFENDS FOOTBALL

Higgins Announces Award of Football Letters to 23

More than 100 leading citizens of Tampa gathered at a banquet at the Hillsboro Hotel Wednesday night which honored the Spartan football squad and marked the launching of a membership drive for the new university athletic association.

Nearly all of those present signed the membership pledges, a long step toward the goal of 1000 members set by the leaders of the movement. This association, fostered by leading business men of the city, is designed to put the university's athletics back on its feet and assure continuation of last season's program which, it was feared, would probably have to be abandoned.

Almost every member of the team which romped through its '33 season leaving behind a string of upsets, winning six and tying two of their 10 games, has three years of college football still before him, and at the banquet it was made clear that Tampa wanted every one of them to play those three years under the red, black and gold.

With Frank M. Traynor presiding as toastmaster, George Howell, Clarence Holsinger, both members of the athletic association, President F. H. Spaulding, and V. V. Sharpe, chairman of the board of trustees, made talks informing the gathering of the purpose, plans and functions of the association, and the reason for the membership campaign.

President Spaulding was the first speaker of the evening, and after expressing his appreciation of the splendid performance of the football team, he made an answer to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's recent condemnation of college football as a "racket."

"Football," said President Spaulding, "is an important part of any successful institution of higher learning. Some politicians have called it a 'racket.' I do not believe this. Such a statement results from an extreme view of the game. I am heartily in favor of college football, particularly where it is conducted sanely."

Coach Higgins made a short talk, then designated the following 23 players as winners of the first University of Tampa varsity football letters:

Johnny Edison, "Red" Means, Phil Patterson and Walter Hoy, ends; Gus Muench, Marion Lee and Crockett Farnell, tackles; Ray Hurn, Wilbur Gunnoe, Johnny Mastry and Joe Carr, guards; Willie Godwin and Cotton Clinton, centers; Rudy Rodriguez, Tete Newcomb and Ed Carter, quarterbacks; Ken Hance, Jimmy White, Hart Overstreet, Marvin Chancey and Buck Torres, halfbacks, and Ed O'Reilly and Guy Whitlock, fullbacks.

Xavier Or Cumberland May Be on '34 Grid Schedule

Three games on the 1934 football schedule have been definitely fixed, with several other tilts already arranged but waiting for an agreement on dates. The teams that have been placed on the schedule are Southern college, to be played in Lakeland on October 27; Rollins, to play here November 10; and Stetson at DeLand on their homecoming date, November 17.

Negotiations are under way for games with St. Xavier of Cincinnati, Spring Hill college of Mobile, Cumberland U. of Lebanon, Tennessee, and Birmingham Southern of Birmingham.

It is expected that return engagements will be arranged with Haskell, Miami U., and Howard college, all of whom were on last season's schedule.

Attention: Lobby-ans and Lobby-ettes!

Since there seems to be an intense rivalry among students seeking popularity, perhaps a few pointers gathered from various sources would be a benefit to the contenders.

One of the first requisites is that much talked of trait, understanding, a realization of the limitations of the human race and a desire to see the best rather than the worst. According to D'Annunzio Cohen.

"Girls who perceive
 Men's faults with clarity
 Seidom achieve
 Great popularity."

And this is true of both sexes.

As each of us likes to talk about himself, good listeners are much in demand. Therefore, it follows that people who prate continuously of themselves are not the pleasing type. They are much too selfish to rank high in the esteem of others.

The quiet and timid type will ever remain unnoticed by the passers by. When some polite person is considerate enough to notice the timid one, the latter is still so ill at ease that his uncomfortableness spreads to the other, who promptly seeks less tiring companionship.

A neat appearance and a friendly expression and bearing comprise a long step of the way toward the goal. An amiable character will succeed where all others fail, and people are often judged, not by beauty, but by the care exercised in their appearance.

A loud, artificially jovial person will be popular only among people of the same category. He will only grate on the nerves of any cultured person. Subtlety, too, is required. A person obviously seeking popularity will be just as obviously shunned.

Then take stock of yourselves, contestants, correct, improve, and may the most worthy be the victor.

Condemn Not

"Judge not that ye be not judged" is a scriptural admonition which has its basis and its confirmation in everyday life. A better and more modern translation of the original is: "Condemn not that ye be not condemned."

It may seem at first glance that this is not true. People may go through life and never come to believe it; they may go through life asserting that the sun never shines on Thursdays, but their mental attitude does not affect the true state of affairs.

There has been a strong tendency on the part of some students here recently to make "bright remarks" about various persons. When this has a background of reason, it cannot be called condemnation. When, on the other hand, there is no cause save someone's obscure animosity, it is inexcusable. The object of such comment may have done less to cause it than most of those who indulge in the so-called "bright remarks." In fact, this is often the case.

Some years ago there was a beautiful young lady in the nation's capital who married into a family of wealth and prominence. She felt secure in her position and took pleasure in saying biting things about others not so fortunate. In time she was divorced from her husband, her financial affairs went from bad to worse, and she was recently arrested for stealing articles to sell for food and shelter.

This is only one example of what can happen to those who trouble themselves with unkind comments about others. It is well to remember that "pride goeth before a fall and a haughty spirit before destruction."

Behind Chinese Walls

Many there are of good people in this fair land of ours who are living in excellent homes; people whom others would be glad to know. Yet how sad it is that so many of our really good people are like unto the Chinese of old who built the Great Wall. To what end? Simply that they might have a snug retreat from which to gaze with self-complacency upon the herd without their gate.

The "great wall" may be only a barberry hedge, a picket fence, an ornery disposition, or just damned snobbishness. Whatever it may be it is, in essence, comparable to the Great Wall of the Chinese. Its primary purpose is to shut all others out of our lives who we fatuously believe do not "belong" or who may not agree with us.

What does it profit us? May it not be that we forget that the real road to happiness for oneself is the road upon which is carried ease and comfort upon our backs for those we love, regardless of cost to ourselves? Nothing is more true than that to have good neighbors one must be a good neighbor. It is also true that to have good friends (no normal man has many), it is requisite to be a good friend.

As it is with nations, so with individuals and families. Persons cannot shut themselves behind a wall. It matters not whether the "wall" be a privet hedge, social "exclusions," stupid indifference, or ornery cussedness, the result is the same. Nothing is more true than that either self-imposed or enforced social isolation leads to spiritual disintegration and moral decay. —Nuggets.

On Thinking Clearly

The speakers who draw the largest crowds, and those whom people wish to hear again and again are not always the ones who have the most or the most important things to say. It is rather those who know how to say it. Clear expression is a sign of clear thinking. It is not so much what your worthy thoughts may be, but how you express them when the time comes to do so.

The sooner we learn to "say what we mean and mean what we say," the sooner we will have learned the first essential of an education. It is a standing joke that boys go to college to play football and girls go to meet their future husbands. This is, in a large measure, untrue, but "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," and if college students do not show some verities of accurate thinking—what good has their education done? None at all.

We do not have to sit in classes to learn this. In fact, some of the best educated people have been those who educated themselves. Let us then, with college classes before us, learn to think clearly and get the maximum benefit from them.

High School Grads Show Interest

Very favorable responses have been made by the February graduates in the surrounding high schools to talks by Dr. G. G. Becknell on the University. Dr. Becknell, who was appointed representative to visit all the high schools, stated that many students had shown interest in the University and would be expected to attend the reception tomorrow evening in their honor.

And just exactly one week or seven days from now University of Tampa students will begin feeling as though steam-rollers, dynamite, rolling pins, etc. had been exercising sundry influences upon them—EXAMS!!!

The Winn Memorial

It was not our privilege to know Frank Winn personally, but it has been our privilege to witness a fine display of appreciation for a comrade in the successful efforts to obtain a plaque commemorating his death. Friday morning, January 12, at 8:35 a solemn ceremony dedicating the bronze memorial was held in the school auditorium. Dr. C. H. H. Branch opened the services with a prayer, Norman Brown spoke to the students, Nelson Davis presented the plaque, and Mr. Carothers made the speech of acceptance. The ceremonies were brought to a close as the students filed past the memorial and on to their classes.

The Hi-Y boys are especially to be thanked for their success in starting this movement and carrying it through.

In view of Mr. Carothers' statement on this occasion that "the spirit, not the building, represents the school," the suggestion is being made that an annual Winn day be held for checking up on the spiritual qualities of the school. The occasion of this sort should furnish a great opportunity for upholding and improving the existing spirit of this institution.

Student Council News

At the meeting Tuesday, January 16, the student council received the reports of the committees' activities for the past semester. An attempt is being made to have the radior repaired for use in the cafeteria during the lunch periods and to have the clock in the library started again. The latter has been saying three o'clock all the time for several days.

Senior A Activities

The class play was voted a success by all who saw it, and the business manager voted it a semi-success financially after they had balanced the books.

The gentleman who shone the flashlight on Jack Yancey as he was beating the sofa with a newspaper and yelling "ouch" during the "Fight in the Dark" was the evening's greatest joker.

The Senior A's have been holding meetings often laying plans for class day which is Thursday and voting for class notables. As the voting has not been completed a list of those elected is not available.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday January 21 at the First Presbyterian church. Graduation exercises will be held at the school Thursday January 25.

The drive for subscriptions for the annual is now under way, but the final outcome is uncertain as yet. The students have been slow in responding.

Friday night, January 19, the Panthers will meet the Terriers at the Casino in their first basketball game of the 1934 season. Tickets are on sale at the schools, and it is hoped that there will be a big turnout for this game.

The girls' basketball team played the Hillsborough girls at Lee playground Monday night, January 15. The final score was 12-10 in favor of the Terrier girls.

Impersonals

1. After having been called a stench in the nostrils of American journalism, an unmitigated scoundrel, a cad, and a bounder, all by one person, we feel that we have suffered greatly this week, especially since our worthy opponent most likely didn't know what he was saying. The last three phrases we shall let pass this time, but that one about our being a "stench" rather grinds against the grain of our ego. It is common knowledge that we are rotten but not that we are so far gone as to give off loathsome emanations. Now he'll probably say that we used the dictionary while writing this, so we'll beat him to it: we did.

2. This is supposed to be the joke of last week:

Mrs. Hough: "Grover, were you talking?"

Scott: "No, ma'am; I was just gettin' ready to go."

3. There has been some hesitancy on our part about printing this: firstly, because we dislike the responsibility for such a phrase; secondly, because it is punk; and thirdly, because we wrote about him last week. Anyway, Joe Bowen tells us that Wayne Walker is walking dreamily around nowadays saying, "Why, who's afraid of the big, bad Wolf," only he doesn't say "big, bad."

4. Every time Joe Bowen sees us now he says, "Why don't you print something about Jane Cralle and D. R. Hall?" We didn't know that ... there was anything to print.

We Wanna Flagpole

From the center roof of the mass of brick and wood and steel which composes the physical part of the University of Tampa protrude two ancient and bulbous, but nevertheless, romantic and attractive appearing Moorish architectural devices called "minarets." From one to the other of these minarets extends a wire cable formerly used to support a glaring "Tampa Bay Hotel" sign. A mighty physical device in itself, this cable has the appearance of an ordinary back yard clothes line at that height. Just at the center of this "clothes line" another cord drops vertically to the roof of the building.

This curious combination of clothes line and sash comprise the flagpole of our university.

Thereon floats Old Glory.

Therein lies our story!

A traveler relates that in Shanghai one day he saw two coolies engaged in a heated argument, in the midst of an attentive crowd. The disputants waved their arms, shook their fists, and stamped their feet, all the time apparently hurling at each other the bitterest epithets their Mongolian brains could devise. But not a blow was struck. When he inquired what was the trouble he was told by one of the bystanders that the two coolies were "fighting."

When he expressed surprise at a fight devoid of physical violence, a Chinese explained the matter to him:

"The man who strikes first is beaten, because thereby he confesses that he has run out of ideas."

Now there is a bit of celestial wisdom to ponder over!

We commend it to the attention of the League of Nations, and to the pacifists of the whole world. If belligerent nations could be persuaded to settle their differences in this Chinese fashion, by a battle of words between chosen orators, the movie-talkie and radio rights alone would defray the entire expense of a bloodless but decisive conflict. And a bored and weary humanity would be pleasantly diverted by it.—Nuggets.

Mrs. C. E. King has made the University a gift of a collection of valuable books for the library. Such gifts are always welcomed since our library for want of funds, does not have a wide variety of books.

It would be an expression of that trite but effective term "school spirit" for students to acquaint people with this need and endeavor to secure more books. Many persons are glad to assist in so worthy a cause, the only drawback being their ignorance of the conditions.

According to the official handbook of the Boy Scouts of America, filling the mouth with pebbles will relieve the thirst when no water is available. Perhaps some kind soul will be willing to provide the University with a good sized pile of rock to serve just until ...? To date it is still 70 degrees drier than bread pudding.

Council Activities

It is with some hesitance that we undertake at this time when one semester is closing and another is beginning, to review the activities of the student council during the past four months.

This organization, which is the form of student government here, has budgeted the student activity fund, has passed minor rulings such as the prohibiting of wearing letters other than those of the school, has appointed committees such as the student activities committee, the legislative committee, and the election committee whose activities have been limited, and has drawn up minor recommendations to various faculty committees. Activities other than these have not been in evidence.

Apparently the council has been made up of one leader and several followers. The fact that this leader has been overburdened with other work does not fully excuse him, since no person should accept a potentially important position unless he has the time and the energy to fill it.

Even greater blame is due the bulk of the council, which is apparently lacking in leadership and initiative, and this blame reflects on those who elected them to prominent positions without giving thought to the necessary qualifications.

In a friendly rather than a condemning spirit we venture to suggest that a planned program of activity would do much toward awakening the hitherto sluggish council. Regular meetings regardless of absentees would also aid, and if it is impossible for some members to take part in the council activities, it would be the part of wisdom and of a good sport to allow someone to fill their places.

However, we hope so drastic a step will not be necessary and feel that with the new semester new aims and ideals will inspire the council.

Spartans Romp Over Southern Moccasins, Win Easily by 55-38

Led by long Red Means, rangy center, and Buck Torres, starting his first game as a forward, the Tampa U. cagers experienced no difficulty in running over the Southern college Moccasin quintet by a 55 to 38 score before an enthusiastic crowd at the casino Tuesday.

While the Spartans were taking full advantage of their opportunities at the basket, the Mocs were shooting more frequently but less effectively, holding down their own scoring. Many of the Mocs long shots found their mark, seven field goals dropping through the hoop from out past the foul line.

The greatly improved passing of the Spartans reduced their use of "prayer", and "hope", shots, nearly all their points being rung in from directly beneath the basket.

The Spartans jumped off to the lead early in the opening period and hung onto their margin throughout the remainder of the game. At the end of the first quarter they were out in front by 17 to 7, and held their advantage during the second period, the score at the half standing 28 to 18. In the third quarter the Spartans increased their lead, standing 41 to 24 as the fourth quarter opened.

Means again led the scoring list, looping in six field goals and a pair of free throws. Torres, third string center only two weeks ago had a large evening in his new position, scoring 11 points.

A Church and Sponges

The most ancient communion of Christendom is the Greek Orthodox church. The Church's chants are most reverently sung and its rites most solemnly observed in Tarpon Springs, Florida, where the Greek sponge-fishermen live.

The Easter service is held at midnight in a darkened, silent church. The priest enters with one lighted candle in his hand singing "Come and receive the Light." Each worshiper approaches, holding a taper which he lights from the flame the priest carries. Slowly the church brightens until the brilliant light dazzles one. Then the choir sings "The Christ Is Risen."

At the Feast of the Epiphany and the Blessing of the Waters the people, garbed in gay dresses and clean suits, gather in the streets in the early morning. The Archbishop Alexander from New York, head of the Church in the new world, is present. The chants swell inside the small frame church of St. Nicholas. It is the sixth day of January, memorial of the baptism of Christ by John.

The ceremony within the church ends. The doors swing open and the altar boys, two by two, walk seriously down the steps. The golden-crowned archbishop, carrying a gold scepter, follows. After him come the invited

CONCERNING THE SPARTANETTE

Ping Pong champions of the Physical Education classes have been crowned. After a few days of strenuous practice and strict training, the girl athletes of Tampa U. took part in a divisional tournament. The matches were closely contested and the spectators hardly took their eyes off the ball, except at times when it rolled under the piano or bounced out of the window.

In the first period class the semi-final match, which was played by Vivian Barber and Agnes Whittemore, was outstanding. Miss Whittemore barely won the right to meet Louise Leonard, the champion, in the finals. The champion of the second period class, Spurgeon Fulford, scored an upset by winning over several of our well-known athletes. In the remaining class Martha Campbell took a winning stride from the start and finished with the crown.

Within the next week the playoff for the school championship will be held. The matches promise plenty of action and thrills and all are welcome to attend, provided that they refrain from applause (and "boos") during play.

Basketball

The girls' basketball team will tourney to Lakeland along with the Spartans next Friday night to play a game with Southern college. It is the hope of the team that a few Tampa U. fans will attend and, if possible, provide transportation.

The Spartanettes will play the opening game of the City Recreation League Monday night at 7:30 in the Legion Casino against a strong independent team. Plans for a game to be played preliminary to a Spartan game here Saturday night are underway.

The girls have been attending practices regularly and with the help of several new candidates are improving rapidly. Coach Talbot is anxious to enlarge the number of the squad so that a Second Varsity may be formed.

guests, the priests and the rectors of the Episcopal church. The people and priests follow a band to the municipal pier where the archbishop releases a white dove, a symbol of the Paraclete or Holy Ghost.

Then the patriarch casts a gold cross into the sea for the divers to plunge after. That night the fortunate diver who retrieves the cross will go from door to door collecting alms for the poor, blessing and being blessed. With the grace of God another year is begun.

Thus in the shadow of a church thrives an industry that contributes its quota of $1,000,000 or so to the wealth of the United States. The busy fleet may be seen any day off Tarpon Springs. Perhaps hanging on one of the ships is a sponge larger and more beautiful and separated from the rest with a young man tending it until it is softer, cleaner and lighter than any sponge captured that trip. Once on land the young man with downcast eyes and wildly beating heart will present it as his gift to his betrothed. For that too is a custom in Tarpon Springs.

Joe: How did you fellows enjoy the history lecture this morning?
Freshman: Not so good; we never can sleep well the first day in a strange classroom.—Annapolis Log.

Neighbor: Where is your brother, Freddie?

Freddie: He's in the house playing a duet. I finished first.—U. S. C. Wampus.

Goldie: The man I'm going with now has both money and brains.

Blondie: Gee, that makes it tough!

Physical Eds Bump Plebes In First Intramural Game, Break Tie in Last Minute

A field goal and two foul shots in the final minute of play enabled the Physical Educators five to defeat the Plebes 24 to 20 in the first game of the intramural basketball league last Wednesday. The Plebes, formerly the Hoodlums and winner of the football championship, went into the game the decided favorite, but the crowd that gathered at the casino to witness the opening battle learned that nature in the raw is more often wild than not, and saw the underdogs rise to the top in a close, bitterly fought contest.

The two teams battled on even terms for the first two periods, and at the half the score stood deadlocked at 12 and 12. Keeping abreast the onslaught until the final minute when the score was still knotted at 20 to 20, the Plebes lost out when the Physical Educators looped in a pair of free throws and a field goal to provide the winning margin.

Hill was easily the outstanding player on the floor, although Lines placed first in the scoring with nine points. The lineups and summary:

Beta Chi Frat Victorious Over Brandon, 24-13

The Beta Chi quintet of the intramural league was triumphant in their first game of the season last week, defeating the Brandon High school five 24 to 13 in a fast game played in Brandon.

The Beta Chi outfit had no opportunity to practice prior to the game, and went into the tilt relying upon individual talent. The Brandon basketball team, who overwhelmed the Plant High "B" team by a large score two weeks ago, gave the locals plenty of tough opposition, and it was only in the final quarter that the Beta Chi team was able to push to the fore and pile up a winning margin.

Jack Miller, captain of the fraternity aggregation, led the offense with five field goals. Hamblin Letton, playing before a home town gallery, looped in three goals to place second in the scoring.

After the game a victory banquet was served to members of the team, each being called upon for a speech.

HIGGINS ENTERS CONSTRUCTION WORK

Coach Nash Higgins will start next week devoting a portion of his time to local construction work on projects developing athletic and educational that will occupy him for the remainder of the year.

His position will be that of consulting engineer on the stadium and playground construction now being pushed throughout the city.

Wrestling Team Progressing; To Meet Miami Soon

Coach Si Osgood is drilling his wrestling candidates daily and they are responding admirably, getting into top shape for their scheduled meet with Miami booked for the middle of next month. Manuel Rodriguez, one of Osgood's best bets has been named manager of the team and is assisting in the direction of workouts and practice matches.

The wrestlers are now holding their workouts on Plant field, going through an hour or so of backbreaking exercises, with a few holds and tumbling tricks thrown in, and terminating the work with a mile or more of roadwork around the track.

The first meet with Miami U. is in compliance with a challenge issued by that institution. Early in March the two teams will engage in a return meeting, probably to be held here. The negotiations to schedule Florida U. and St. Augustine Y. M. C. A. have not resulted in any definite arrangements.

One three-minute round of sparring is booked for each member of the squad every afternoon, using sixteen ounce gloves. In a regulation match the rounds are of two minute duration, and weight of the gloves but 10 ounces. By using the longer sparring period and heavier gloves Minardi is creating an advantage for the boxers, for in the ring they will then be able to handle themselves much more easily.

Minardi is more than pleased with the progress shown by his charges and expects them to make a very creditable showing in their meets.

Rules Unchanged

The official rules for boxing as issued annually by the National Collegiate Athletic Association show little change from those of last year, but they differ materially from the regulations applied in professional boxing.

In intercollegiate boxing the decisions are made on an elaborate point system, and to outpoint an opponent by speed and skill is considered as creditable as a win by knockout.

In the new rules, fouls are very clearly defined, the most outstanding

Second Semester Athletic Program Is Outlined

In assembly this week Coach Nash Higgins outlined the extensive athletic program which he will follow during the second semester, including all the minor and intramural sports.

The two major spring sports, baseball and track, will be coached by Higgins, but students fitted for the posts will be placed in charge of the minor and intramurals.

Higgins is essentially a track coach, and the other sports he handles are merely sidelines. He will be assisted in the track instruction by Phil Patterson, former Hillsboro ace on the relay and mile run, and Monkey Rhines, two miler and hurdler from St. Pete.

The material for baseball is more than satisfying to Coach Higgins, and he expects no difficulty in building a strong team in that department.

Miller Adams and Dot Talbot, assistant director of the boys' and girls' intramurals respectively, will handle the schedules and team formation of that department. Miss Talbot also coaches the girls' varsity basketball team.

Boxing under Johnny Minardi, and wrestling under Osgood, have gotten under way, and the pistol team, being directed by Don Robbins has been functioning for several months.

The fencing team under Capt. Miranda is starting this week, and swimming, to be coached by Don Williams, will begin as soon as warmer weather will permit.

No coaches or managers have yet been named for tennis, golf, and other of the minor sports which are planned.

All teams, excepting the intramurals, will engage in regular inter-collegiate competition, with several of the various schedules already nearing completion.

difference being the prohibiting of infighting at all times unless the contestants have both hands free.

When a combatant is hurt, or too much outclassed the bout is quickly stopped to prevent serious injury, and when a foul is repeated after a single warning it is grounds for disqualification or loss of the bout.

Catalog Inquiries Are Received Here From Every Section of U. S.

Almost every state in the union, and nearly every principal city, is represented on the mailing list of where the university catalogues and Special Minarets have been sent to interested persons. Even Cuba and Canada have been placed on the list which is mounting daily.

Other than Florida, the section most populated with persons interested in the university seems to be New England, the cradle of American colleges. Inquiries have been received from individuals in each of the six New England states, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut.

The inquirers have jumped up Uncle Sam's postal revenues, all along the Atlantic coast, with the communications thinning out the farther west they go.

Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington, D. C., San Francisco, New Orleans, Detroit, St. Louis, Denver, Annapolis, and Havana are only a few of the postmarks on the letters received. Not to mention the loads of requests from Gainesville.

Four separate requests came from Havana, and one from Santa Clara, Cuba. Jumping far north we find that even Toronto is aware of a new University of Tampa.

From the rock bound coast of Maine (Portland, Orono) to the sun gassed shores of California (Los Angeles) and from the golden grain fields of the northwest (Superior, Wis., Helena, Mont.) to the plowed under cotton fields of Georgia. And intermediate points.

And from such places as Alamogordo, N. M.; Shawnee, Okla.; Casey, Iowa, and Saline, Mich., the inquiries came. Even from Spartanburg, in the Carolinas. A swell home-town for a Tampa U. Spartan.

Missourian Comes Here And Is Shown; Registered For Second Semester

A little apple-cheeked lad from Missouri came to Florida a week ago, and in accordance with that old saying concerning natives of that state, he had to be shown. But when he saw, he believed. And that is how Hugh Robinson came to register as a student at dear old Tampa U.

After arriving in Florida, Hugh decided that an education would be of more value to him than a weekly wage, so he immediately set about the business of finding a suitable institution. Being in Miami at the time he quite naturally investigated, inspected, and generally interested himself in putting his finger on the flaws of the Miami University. For some reason Miami held no interest for him, so he was forced to continue his search.

Robinson had heard rumors of Stetson and Rollins and Gainesville, but before he had quite made up his mind to visit them, he came into possession of a newspaper containing news of Tampa U. A few well placed questions about the new university brought him a flood of information, for advice is the most free of all the free things in this free country.

Thinking "well here is something at last," Hugh at once set sail for Tampa, and arriving here a few days ago he knew he had discovered his little grey home on the west coast.

Hugh was very enthusiastic about Tampa U., stating that he considered it the best institution he had found,

Reporter Seeking Life Story of Dr. Laub Is Nearly Defeated But Finds Profs Are Human

On a bright Friday morning last Monday afternoon we ventured to invade the sanctuary of Dr. Laub's office to ask for an interview. At first we were afraid he would call a bouncer, but we later learned that he was just not quite accustomed to interviews.

Having never had such an assignment before, we didn't know exactly where to begin, but after a long moment during which we walked across the room to a comfortable chair we took a flying leap at what is usually at about the middle of a person's life. "Had he ever been to Europe?" (Incidentally, we wished we were even farther away than that, for our career as a budding journalist might come to an abrupt end if we didn't return to the Minaret office with a sufficient number of answers to nonessential questions.)

As it happened, this was not in the middle of the honored professor's life as he claims to have been a babe in arms—or nearly so—when he went to Europe in 1901 and returned by way of Niagara Falls.

"Do you want to know my impressions?" he asked politely.

When we eagerly said we would, he crushingly replied, "I don't have any." Just like that! He confessed that another trip to Europe was his secret ambition, but one not to be realized very soon.

We forgot to ask him when and where he was born. In fact, we forgot to ask him whether anything happened between his trip abroad and the time when he reached college. Suffice it to say that he did reach De Pauw University in Greencastle, Indiana, where he took his undergraduate work. He then betook himself to the University of Wisconsin where he received his M. A. and his doctor's degree. There he had a fellowship and did some assistant teaching. During the last two years he has taught at the two teachers' colleges in Indiana.

There is an article by Dr. Laub in the January, 1934 issue of the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography. It deals with Virginia's frontier life during the Revolution. Two earlier articles were published in the William and Mary College Quarterly, a magazine of history and literature.

Asked when and where he got married — if so—he became rather flustered. We began to get worried. Was he married?

"No, not yet—I mean I never have been. Now get that right. Oh please do." It all tumbled out at once.

He likes checkers. He once tried piano, but failed as a genius. He likes to hear concerts. We confess that it was rather unfair to ask him if he considered the saxophone a musical instrument, but he acquitted himself quite well by saying that a choir of them would probably be better than one. "More variety," he hastened to add. "Safety in numbers," thought we.

He played ping pong once, and he likes to watch baseball games. As to food, there are a number of things that he likes. He would probably enjoy oysters on the half shell if he ever had the opportunity of tasting them that way.

He never was particularly interested in poetry, but he follows Jiggs religiously. His favorite comic character is Major Hoople, although the Major has not been around since the doctor came to Tampa.

Thus we found out that the history Professor is a human being, after all. He will venture an opinion on almost any subject except semester grades. About that he is strangely reticent, but that can be forgiven. We're glad he's here, and trust that the grades—oh well —.
