Mark Lane To Speak Tonight

Mark Lane, nationally recognized authority on the Kennedy Assassination and the Warren Commission findings, will speak at McKay Auditorium, University of Tampa campus, on Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free for all Tampa U students.

Lane, who authored the book and film "Rush to Judgment" and co-authored the book and film "Executive Action" believes there are too many discrepancies in the theory of the Kennedy Assassination for it to be credited, based on observation of the suppressed Zapruder Film and personal interviews with eyewitnesses.

He was the only investigator to testify before the Warren Commission on his own findings, and he now heads the Citizens Committee of Inquiry and the Electoral Process, set up to investigate the facts concerning the possible actions of the F.B.I. and C.I.A. in covering up facts concerning the Assassination.

Lane's once-minority stand on the subject has become the majority position, especially after the disclosure of the Watergate "decade of deceit;" indicated by the popularity of both the book and the film, "Executive Action," now a favorite on college campuses.

Lane includes two films in his lecture: the Zapruder Film, and his own "Rush to Judgment."

New Plans For UT Minaret Society

The Minaret Society, an exclusive organization dedicated to the cause of private, higher education at the University of Tampa, has a new chairman, new executive board and new plans for the season.

Chairman J. Thomas Touchton has appointed the society's first executive committee which includes: Lee M. Bentley; James W. Gray Jr., Fred D. Learey, H. Grady Lester Jr., Herbert G. McKay, J. Ross Parker, Thompson L. Rankin and Robert Thomas.

Meeting recently to discuss goals and guidelines for the future, the board moved to: set a membership goal of 200, present an award for the Minaret Society member sponsoring the most new members and plan a fall activity for the membership.

In the past, The Minaret Society has traditionally met for an annual black-tie dinner in the spring to introduce newcomers, to present awards for years of support and to recognize the outgoing and incoming chairmen.

According to Touchton, addition of the fall gathering will offer members an opportunity to present prospective members to the University of Tampa and to the causes and aims of the organization.

Mark Lane, co-author of "Executive Action."

Traffic And Parking Announcements

1. The adjacent map is the only official parking map for the University of Tampa. It supercedes the map in the 1975-76 Student Handbook.
2. As posted, there is no parking allowed on the southbound lane of Crescent Place.
3. All members of the academic community should note the NO PARKING areas and FIRE LANES as posted or marked in the various areas of campus.
4. Any questions concerning traffic or parking areas should be directed to the Campus Police Office, Howell Hall, Ext. 333.

Surrey To Be Presented

Collins To Speak October 7

James Collins, president of Collins Foods International, Inc., the largest franchisee of Kentucky Fried Chicken, will speak to University of Tampa students at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 7.

Collins will present the University with the carriage (surrey) made famous by Col. Harland Sanders who started the fried chicken franchise operation at age 66. Col. Sanders rode in the surrey in Tampa's Gasparilla Parade for many years. The surrey will be presented at 1:30 p.m. in front of the University Union.

An entrepreneur whose rise to fame parallels that of the famed Kentucky colonel, Collins opened his first Kentucky Fried Chicken franchise in 1960. Now the 48-year-old graduate of UCLA has 225 stores in five states and Australia. Twenty-nine of his stores are in Florida.

In 1960, when Collins purchased his franchise from Col. Sanders, he had a hamburger stand with five employees. Now Collins Foods International has 5,000 employees, including the Sizzler Family Steak houses, and is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Collins is president of the UCLA Alumni Association, on the UCLA Board of Regents and a member of Young Presidents Organization (YPO). He graduated from UCLA in 1950 with a B.S. in civil engineering. Collins is active in Rotary and the YMCA, having served as past president of the Rotary Club of Westwood, Calif., and past board chairman and Board of Managers of Westside Los Angeles YMCA.

The lecture by Collins is part of the 1975-76 Master of Business Administration series at the University.

Pi Kap Vandalized

The initial procedures one usually takes on to begin a new school year, such as arranging one's residence and attending parties was different this year for the brothers of Pi Kappa Phi.

They returned to school to find their frat house had been vandalized. Locks and windows were broken, stereos, refrigerators, books, clothing, air conditioners, furniture and 20 out of 25 trophies were stolen. Personal property that cannot be replaced! Nearly every bedroom door was torn down and destroyed plus belongings stored for non-brothers and graduated brothers got ripped off.

Some home owner policies will cover part of the loss but there is still a lot that can not be restored. A report of the mishap has been filed to the police; however, they say there is nothing they can do.

The University owns the house and has agreed to help by giving them $2,000.00 worth of labor. Hopefully the maintenance will start promptly. In addition, Pi Kappa Phi continues to plan fund raising and community projects to make this another successful year. Events as "Send a Mouse to College" for cancer research and "Throw a Pie at a Pi Kappa" for the Heart Fund will be on their agenda. Also many parties!!

The brotherhood is encouraging prospective pledges and Rosebuds to join. Recently Pi Kap had a Rush party that was a huge success. Jimmy Dunster, President, stated, "It was the first time the brothers and daughters got to drink for free and still able to come out smelling like a rose! I hope everyone enjoyed themselves and we hope to see you again."

Eastern Airlines Offer Savings

Savings of 30 percent off regular daycoach fares are available on Eastern Airlines' after-hours flights between cities 750 miles or more apart, beginning September 16.

The airline's new Nightcoach Excursion fare is for travel in any direction and passengers may travel any day of the week. Space can be booked on a specific flight by calling Eastern Reservations or through a travel agent. However, tickets must be paid for at least seven days in advance of departure.

Eastern's nightcoach flights are scheduled between the hours of 10 p.m. and 3:59 a.m., and are available on more than 250 routes. Service on board the aircraft includes free coffee, soft drinks and light snacks, and alcoholic beverages are available for purchase.

The new Nightcoach Excursion fare is available for travel to cities in Florida until December 18. The traveler, however, must stay between three and 30 days. Between all other eligible cities on the system, the new fare will be available until January 31, 1976, with seven to 30-day stays required.

Sample round trip Nightcoach Excursion fares includes $102 between New York and Atlanta, where the regular round trip daycoach fare is $146. Between Washington and Houston, it's $144 compared with $206. Nightcoach Excursion travelers between Boston and Fort Lauderdale pay $147 compared with $210. Between Chicago and Orlando, it's $125 compared with $178, between Pittsburgh and Fort Lauderdale it's $125 compared with $178, and between St. Louis and Seattle, the Nightcoach Excursion fare is $188 compared with the daycoach fare of $268.

The Nightcoach Excursion fare is not offered between New York and Miami/Fort Lauderdale where Eastern offers its special $122 round trip fare.

Cafeteria Crew At Work

The school cafeteria, headed by Mr. Morris Pennock and a crew of hard workers, are busy preparing food all day long for hundreds of hungry students, faculty, and staff. Not to mention the cleaning up that's done!

The school cafeteria is open Monday through Friday for breakfast from 7:00 to 9:00 a.m., for lunch 11:00 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. and dinner continues through 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday there is a brunch at 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and dinner again between 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. If there are any immediate changes in schedule, signs will be posted about campus.

There have been a few special meals already with more to come. We already had a "Jewish dinner" in honor of Yom Kippur on September 15. On September 19 there was an inside picnic dinner with a live band performing throughout dinner. The future holds on October 1st an "Italian Night," and on October 15, "An Evening in Paris," will be held featuring a fashion show! On November 12 you can look forward to an "In Flight Dinner," which will be served in an airline style. Of course there will be special Thanksgiving Day and Christmas dinners planned.

When Mr. Tim McEnderfer was asked if all the new students affected the food budget in any way, all he remarked was, "they sure eat A LOT of food!"

If you ever wondered why the plastic silverware and plates are sometimes being used, the problem is usually the dishwasher. It costs a lot of extra money to supply these plastic utensils, especially when they're all throwaway! Signs will be posted when this inconvenience occurs.

If there are ever any gripes or questions about the cafeteria, a person may wish to contact one of the food committee representatives of a dorm for a possible solution. The next meeting of the food committee will be held on October 2.

New TKE House Dedicated

Out of the ashes comes a new concept in fraternity houses at the University of Tampa. In 1973, the Tau Kappa Epsilon house burned down, but it didn't burn out the spirit of the TKEs. Members vowed to return — and they did on Sept. 7 with the ribbon-cutting for the first new fraternity house ever built at the University of Tampa.

The TKE house, a 1,000-square foot concrete block dwelling, was designed as a lodge for use as a meeting place and for social gatherings. Stu Williams, secretary-treasurer of the TKE Board said, "this is a new concept in fraternity houses. I know of no other lodge of this type in Florida, and I'm not sure how many there are nationally, if any." The house has a wet bar and can accommodate 75 for a party.

As a money-making project, TKE is opening the house on a rental basis to other campus organizations and to the TKE chapter at nearby University of South Florida. The insurance from the previous house has paid the entire cost of the new one. "We don't owe anything on it," Williams said.

Landscaping and furnishing of the house will be taken on by the fraternity as their project for the year.

Looking to the near future — perhaps two years hence — Williams says the fraternity hopes to build six apartment type units to the rear of the lodge which will house 12 fraternity members.

TKE's Tampa chapter has 18 members this fall, with president Hall hoping to add more to the growing fraternity now that the new house is functioning.

College Courses Turn To Wine

The latest trend on college campuses is to sip and study the wines of California.

More than 200 wine appreciation courses are now offered in connection with colleges and universities, and there are probably 600 campuses where wine studies go on, according to Wine Institute, the association of California wine growers.

On many campuses, wine has become a standard part of the curriculum in home economics, chemistry, botany, biology, geography, and sociology.

Wine Institute cites several contributing causes for the wine studies boom. First, college instructors and administrators want to make their courses more appealing to students. And, since there's plenty of history, science and technology involved in the story of wine, it's easy to relate to other college studies.

As for college students, Wine Institute speculates that they are flocking to wine courses because:

— Wine is an important part of cultures and traditions that students admire.

— California wines offer more diversity and appeal than ever before, providing something to suit everyone's taste.

— Wine is a gift of nature, increasingly viewed as a natural, healthful, moderate beverage. College students are interested in natural foods and beverages.

Wine Institute reports hundreds of requests from educators for information on teaching about wine. To fill the need, a Wine on Campus Packet has been designed to assist in implementing or continuing any wine-related activity in an

On Wednesday, Oct. 1, 6:30 - 8:30 p.m., guests will meet for cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in Fletcher Lounge where they will be welcomed by University of Tampa President B. D. Owens and Mrs. Owens. Assisting as hosts and hostesses will be members of The Minaret Society executive board and their wives along with a group of UT staff and faculty members and student leaders.

During the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Chase M. Rotureau, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Conners and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Crowder Jr. will be recognized as new members.

The Minaret Society identifies with the 13 silver Minarets which top the University of Tampa and are considered one of the city's most prominent landmarks.

A prestigious group of men and women whose aim is to strengthen the University through annual financial support. The Minaret Society is represented by three levels of membership:

The Gold Crescent for those giving $10,000 or more; the Silver Crescent for those giving $5,000 or more and the Crescent for those giving $1,000 or more annually.

educational setting. The packet includes helpful hints for getting a wine course going, a discussion of teaching techniques to encourage the proper use of wine, and an outline and syllabus for an introductory course. Also in the packet are suggestions for starting a wine and food program, and for fitting wine into existing college curricula.

Single copies are available free to educators from Wine Institute at 165 Post Street, San Francisco, California 94108.

Fix-it Series For Women

If there's no Mr. Fix-It at home, or one who's unwilling, the University of Tampa-sponsored Miss Fix-It series could save Bay Area women time and legal tender.

That's the opinion of Lester Smith, who will teach the eight-week program which begins Oct. 14 on the Spartan campus, with classes scheduled Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock.

According to Smith, enrollees will learn to use familiar household tools such as screw drivers, wrenches, hammers and pliers. "We'll also use some that are more uncommon," said Smith, who plans to show women how to handle minor household repairs which range from plumbing, light fixtures and appliances to automotive and air-conditioning problems.

"There will be some lectures and demonstrations," explained Smith, "but the emphasis will be on women learning to use the tools and doing a lot of work themselves."

"I feel the series should be of special interest because it can save both time and money," Smith maintained. "Often, a wife will wait until her husband returns from work so that he can fix something or she'll call a company man and end up with a service charge."

Smith, who brings nine years of practical experience to the classes, earned his B.S. degree in industrial arts and his M.Ed. degree from the University of Tampa, where he was a member of Epsilon Pi Tau, industrial arts honorary society.

Proof of his proficiency includes some house-made creations such as lamps, string-boats, a go-cart and a dolly for transporting loads too heavy to carry. Currently Smith is employed as parts manager at Gandy Moorings.

Cost of the Miss Fix-It series is $40. For more information or registration, contact the University of Tampa's Office of Continuing Education which is coordinating plans for the program.

letters to the editor

There is nothing more annoying than coming to the cafeteria after a 6:00 o'clock class and finding that there is not enough food behind the counter left to feed us.

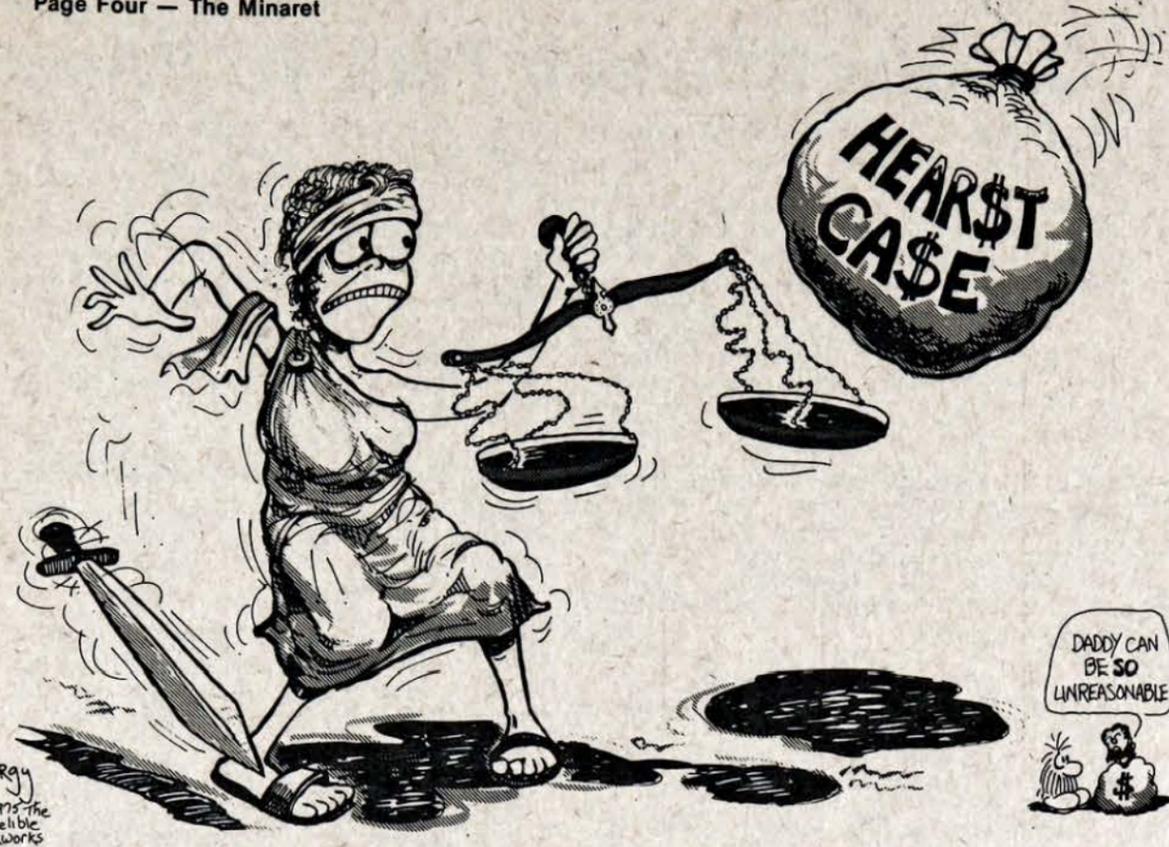

Such was the situation on Tuesday, September 23rd when the menu said chicken — but at 6:15 there was no chicken left. "Not even in the back," according to what the kitchen staff said. So they fed us slop. It was either eat that or salad with no dressing.

Well, the cafeteria doors closed at 6:30 as usual and all the kitchen help paraded out into the eating area with trays full of chicken! My stomach turned. Just the thought of paying so much money for a meal plan, and then not getting what I want — and the kitchen help put in front of the student!!

Why not have enough for everyone?

Editor's Note: The cafeteria plans each meal so that everyone will be well fed. But people tend to take more than they should and let the rest go to the garbage. Take what you can eat — don't waste the rest.

Dorm Law Fights Resurface

(CPS) — Although rising off-campus rents have filled dormitories across the country to capacity this fall, students at some colleges are still battling mandatory dorm regulations which require them to live on campus.

Students at several universities have taken the issue to court charging that mandatory dorm laws represent a violation of their civil rights but the court decisions have been inconsistent.

The number of schools with mandatory dorm laws has decreased over the past five years, but a survey by the Association of College and University Housing Officers this year found that more than 50% of the public institutions and 76% of the private institutions surveyed still require some students to live on-campus.

Last June a U.S. District Court judge told five Eastern Illinois University (EIU) students who had filed a class action suit that the mandatory dorm regulations were "implemented to achieve a legitimate goal of higher education" and therefore did not violate their civil rights.

But according to EIU student Barry Smith, the requirement that all EIU freshmen and sophomores under the age of 21 must live on campus has resulted in overcrowded dorms where some students are forced to live in the lounges.

Overcrowded dorms are also a big headache for students at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst (U Mass) where university officials require all freshmen, sophomores and juniors to live on campus. Four U Mass students filed a class action suit against the university last winter but the suit is still pending. An attorney for the students contended that the dorm regulations were a violation of the equal protection clause of the Constitution because they exempt married students, seniors and students over 21 years from the rule. Meanwhile 1200 to 1500 U Mass students are living three to a double room.

U Mass officials admitted that the reason for the residence requirement was the necessity to pay the bondholders who have financed the construction of the dorms and dining commons. This was also the conclusion of a trial court in South Dakota last year which ruled against mandatory dorm laws at the University of South Dakota. The court found that the primary purpose of the dormitory rule was to insure sufficient income to pay off the residence hall debt, not to provide an "educationally enriching experience" for students as the administration had claimed.

But early this year, an appeals court overturned the South Dakota trial court's decision, concluding that dormitory living "broadens and enriches the life of the individual student. We cannot agree that the right to choose one's place of residence is necessarily a fundamental right," the court ruled.

The upsurge of popularity in dorm living this year has helped the case against mandatory dorm laws on some campuses. At the University of Alabama, requests for on-campus housing were expected to outnumber vacant rooms by some 30% this fall. As a result, university administrators suspended the mandatory freshman housing rule.

And at the State University of New York at Stony Brook where six students had filed suit last spring against mandatory dorm regulations, the administration voluntarily dropped the dorm law this year before the case reached court.

The rule at Stony Brook required freshmen and first-year transfer students who were under 21 and unmarried to live on campus if adequate housing existed. In past years, this has forced doubled rooms to become triples. This year, the administration admitted that the housing on the Stony Brook campus was not sufficient and allowed freshmen and transfer students to scramble for off-campus housing.

Students may someday wish for the good old days of mandatory dorm laws as on-campus living becomes more economical and less restrictive. Because of these changes and because most universities stopped building more dormitories when empty rooms became a problem a few years ago, on-campus housing may soon become a reward instead of a punishment.

SGA News

The highlight of this week's meeting turned out to be almost one big charade.

Two candidates for Junior Senator spoke on why they should be elected as did seven nominees for the Freshman Senator position. With the exception of a couple of speeches, laughter replaced seriousness and order had to be called several times. At least some non-representatives showed up to cheer on their candidates.

There were the usual promises of recruiting student participation and better communications between the student body and the administration. A pattern developed in all the freshmen speeches — a slight criticism of freshmen orientation which they said would improve, if elected.

The amendment to Article Four concerning upper garments for swimmers on campers was passed by a clear majority of votes, with three dissenting votes. The opposition felt that this rule should have been used as a suggestion. President Kathy Hoyne pointed out that there had been several attempted rapes so there was no other alternative but to pass the resolution.

Both Dr. Nelson and Dr. Smith declined the position of faculty advisor because of busy schedules. So the hunt is on again for an advisor — any takers? The food committee will hold its first meeting October 2nd. There will be two representatives from each dorm. To underscore general student apathy, the intramural women's volleyball team was cancelled because of the usual reason — lack of interest. The diehards though are talking of organizing a women's football team . . .

Music Program Seeks Accreditation

Asked what the music program will do without football and the "Biggest Little Band in the South," Divisional Chairman Richard Rodean responds by displaying a concert schedule of thirty-four University events and refers to the forthcoming on-campus visitation by the National Association of Schools of Music as the final step in attaining full accreditation for the music program by that prestigious professional organization.

The University became an Associate Member of the NASM in 1971. At that time the music department was located on the fourth floor of Plant Hall. The final results of membership application will be announced at the Annual National Convention of NASM in San Diego during the last week of November 1975.

Museum Society Opens Season

The newly formed H. B. Plant Museum Society opened what members predict to be a progressive season with a luncheon and meeting on September 23 in the President's Dining Room on the University of Tampa campus. Officially formed last spring by prominent area women interested in supporting the museum, the society membership includes: Mrs. H. L. Culbreath, Jr., president; Mrs. Thomas L. Daley, vice president, and Mrs. J. M. Yadley, secretary. Generating more community interest in the unique facilities is one aim of the society, according to museum curator-director Patricia Moller.

Henry B. Plant Museum, which is owned by the City of Tampa and operated by the University of Tampa, is housed in the college's main building, Plant Hall. Built in 1890 by Henry B. Plant as a resort hotel for elite clientele, Plant Hall now has been named to the National Register of Historic Places and on the Florida Bicentennial Trail. Many of the museum's rare collections and artifacts were originally garnered from around the globe by Mrs. Plant to furnish her husband's Moorish masterpiece.

Organizations

Tau Beta Sigma

After an active summer, the sisters of Tau Beta Sigma, honorary fraternity for college bands-women, were united with the beginning of the fall semester. For a week in August, Delta Chi chapter was well represented at the national convention held in Houston, Texas. With only four years of existence and experience behind us we were nominated as a Top Ten Chapter in the United States. Also, our congratulations to Graduate Sister Linda Ford for being selected as District VIII Counselor. Thanks to Linda Ford, Dale McCall, Toni McElheny and Mary Spencer for carrying our pride and spirit to Houston!

Since we will not be participating in half-time shows this year, the sisters have added several dimensions to our services. We will be performing for the VA Hospital and MacDonald Training Center along with ushering for the various musical events on campus. We would like to encourage all students and faculty to come to these concerts for an evening of various musical performances.

As an added attraction to this week's column, congratulations to Toni and Cliff for their engagement!

Delta Sigma Pi

Delta Sig would like to announce that our fall rush program was a complete success. Many prospective pledges have joined us and anyone still interested can contact us at P. O. Box 2769.

On Monday, September 22, the Epsilon Rho Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi was visited by Mr. George Ragland, the Southeast Regional Director and Mr. Mark Donahue, the District Director. Their presence was greatly appreciated by all the brothers.

Alpha Chi Omega

The next event planned for the AXO's is the "Big Lyre" hayride on October 10. The hayride is taking shape.

We hope the fraternities enjoyed the AXO calling card found on the steps outside the houses.

Now that teachers are starting to test the knowledge (?) that is being taught in their classes, we would like to wish all the best of luck on all tests.

Flag Football In Spotlight

The Intramural Program, kicking off with the flag football season, always a vital part of the University of Tampa Athletics, is taking on a greater role than ever before.

You might say that coach Billy Turner, head of Inter-Campus Athletics, is building an Intramural Program that is a one-hundred percent improvement over the years past.

From what I've seen so far, it is apparent that Coach Turner and his staff are working day and night to see that this workable program is a masterpiece.

This year Tampa U. will have Intramurals that everyone can get involved in. A university of our caliber needs a program like the one designed by Inter-Campus Athletics, and we are being presented the opportunity.

Noticeable also is the fact that Coach Turner is communicating directly with the students. He will have two excellent student athletes coordinating this intramural program. They are Gene Moll and Camille DeLucia. These two student coordinators will represent a direct link between Coach Turner and those students involved in the Intramural Program.

Flag Football Season Opens

Flag football, under the new look introduced by the Inter-Campus Athletics, will show a definite revival at the University. One item spells out the whole scene. The season opens with sixteen teams competing for that top spot in Intramural Flag Football Athletics. Each team will play seven games. Some teams are Greeks, others independent. A big difference from last year is that all squads are strong. Each team has a good chance to go all the way. That makes it exciting for everyone.

Gene Moll, head of the officials, has eleven officials working with him this season. Gene is looking forward to one of the finest Flag Football seasons ever at Tampa U.

"I hope a lot of people come out to watch and support their teams," said Gene about this new season.

When I asked Gene about this season's roughest matches, he stated "it's still a little too early to say, probably Nasty Magruders, Theta Chi, and C.C. and Company will be the ones to watch."

Gene noted that this season Flag Football teams will field seven men instead of eight.

Heading the Publicity Department for the Flag Football Season is Camille DeLucia. She is a knowledgeable football enthusiast and should keep us all posted as to current happenings in the field.

Gene, Coach Turner and Camille are also introducing a Co-Ed Football League. Four men and four women will be on each squad. The league will be strictly for fun. Anyone interested should sign up at the Athletic Office before October 14th.

Sounds like the right way to start off the Intramural Program for this year. The Flag Football season promises to be an impressive one.

Wrestling Tournament Held

This past weekend the University of Tampa hosted an open wrestling tournament for the third consecutive year. The non-sanctioned tourney was open to 1975 high school graduates and junior and senior high school students.

Coach Joe Wiendl headed the organization of the tournament and many members of the college either helped out or participated in the events.

Two University of Tampa wrestlers received awards and won in the competition. Marty Jones, a freshman from Lansing, Michigan, won first place in the 167 pound weight class and received the Most Valuable Wrestler Award in the tournament. Steve Starzenski, a freshman from Midwest City, Oklahoma, won first place in the 142 pound weight class. In addition to his first place winning, Starzenski received a trophy for the most pins in the tournament Saturday.

There were fourteen weight classes ranging from 80 lbs. to the unlimited category. Wrestlers competing from the University of Tampa were Marty Jones, Steve Starzenski, Marty Miller, Todd Fogerty, Steve Hunt, Randy Rudtiz, Bruce Davis, Paul Day and John Williamson. Head Wrestling Coach Wendell commented, "the object of the tournament is to create interest in the sport at the University and throughout Florida."

Coach Wiendl is counting on support from the incoming freshmen grapplers to help complete

Intramurals For You

The intramural program at the University of Tampa is for YOU, the students, and YOU, the faculty. This semester a corecreational bowling tournament, a student-faculty tennis tournament, a table tennis tournament, and a billiards tournament will be organized by the P. E. D. 411 - Recreation class.

The corecreational bowling tournament will be first on the list of activities, offering men's singles, women's singles, and mixed doubles. The bowling lanes are located within walking distance of the University and it's free.

This year a student-faculty tennis tournament is also planned. Anyone in the school is invited to play. Racquet and balls will be provided by the intramurals department.

The table tennis and billiards tournament will take place in the University Union game room. Play will be at the contestants convenience on the condition that the game be played within specified dates.

Come on! Get involved. All it costs is the willingness to have a Good Time. The rest is FREE.

If interested, sign up for any of the offered activities in the intramurals office located on the fairgrounds.

the lineup anchored by seniors Dave Hauser and Tasso Kiriakes. "We have only four starters from last year's squad returning, so I believe that we will have a large number of freshmen and sophomores in the lineup," said Wiendl. At the present time practices have been restricted to weight lifting and running. Official workouts start October 8 with the first competition scheduled for November 22 when U. T. hosts an eight team invitational tournament.

Last season the wrestling team compiled an 11-5 dual meet record, the best in the school's history. U. T.'s wrestlers have a "strong schedule" and the University of Florida is expected to be "very solid." Hopes are high that the young squad will improve upon last year's record and continue the upswing of the wrestling program at U. T.

Both Jones and Starzenski, along with many new and returning wrestlers, promise to make the upcoming wrestling season an exciting and winning one.

What To Do If Injured

Have you ever wondered what to do if you are injured while you are a student at the University?

If you are injured during Physical Education or at or near the athletic facilities you should first report to the coach or trainer if either is available. They will fill out an injury report. If they feel it is necessary they will send you to the Health Center for further evaluation by the nurse on duty. If the nurse feels you need x-ray or other immediate medical treatment she will refer you to the emergency room of the local hospital of your choice. She will ask you if you have any health and accident insurance or hospitalization, the name of the company, policy number, etc., so that she may give this information to the hospital or doctor when she calls to let them know you are coming to see them and why. If you do not have this information available, it would be wise for you to contact your parents, get it and turn it in to the Health Center so that it is on file there when you may need it. If you do not have it you will have to make a collect call to your parents at that time. You will be sent or taken to the hospital emergency room for treatment. When you are released you are requested to report to the Health Center regarding diagnosis and treatment follow-up. The same procedure should be carried out for any other injury sustained on campus except that you should report directly to the Health Center.

Should you be injured off campus and be taken directly to a hospital, you should report to the Health Center as soon as possible. Because the hospital will contact the Health Center regarding your insurance it would be wise to inform the Health Center of this information.

Students who wish to purchase the Health Insurance plan may make arrangements to do so through the Health Center until the September 30, 1975, deadline.

The Health Center is located on the Second Floor of Delo Hall.
