

ANNUAL RECEPTION HELD TONIGHT

STUDENTS LOOK FOR CLOSE RACES IN ELECTIONS

Five of Victors Join Council

With campaign speeches and the promises of many candidates still ringing in their ears students of the University of Tampa will go to their polls today to vote for their favorites. The University's election committee, composed of Jeanie Trice, chairman; Walter Hoy, Edenia Delaney, Dean Wilson, Dr. E. B. Hinckley, Professor D. D. Bode and Harry Dobson, have been bombarded during the week with petitions for students seeking election to the following offices: cheerleaders (6), president of the senior class, president of the junior class, president of the sophomore class, president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the freshman class.

Fraternalities, sororities and other campus organizations have waged political war in the interest of the candidates they are sponsoring.

A special political rally was held Tuesday in the main assembly hall for the purpose of introducing candidates for the various offices to the student body. John Henry Smiley introduced the candidates while Manuel Ramirez, 1935 head cheerleader, introduced candidates for the cheerleaders' offices.

In what has all the earmarks of a political "natural," William Marbourg, book store manager, and Bill Logan, yachtsman and campus political power will oppose each other in the hot race for the presidency of the senior class. Candidate Marbourg in an exclusive interview with a Minaret reporter said, "I am for an annual and if elected shall certainly do everything I can to assure the graduating class of 1935 an annual." Bill Logan, an election committee official for the past two years, told the Minaret reporter, "If elected I shall work toward the organization of a senior class that will sell the University of Tampa to Tampa and the communities which it serves or should serve."

The victor of this race will take the chair left vacant when Winston Fowler left to attend the University of Florida.

Candidates for the office of representative of the senior class are Edenia Delaney, former president of the Sigma Theta Pi sorority, and Virginia "Ginger" Roberts, a member of the Delta Kappa sorority. Kitty Lea, Delta Kappa, is the other senior representative.

A torrid three-cornered race looms for the vacant chair of president of the sophomore class. Hugo Goodyear, Feaster Norwood and Ray Newell. All three candidates for the office are athletes. Newell and Norwood are bidding for positions on the varsity football eleven. Newell is also a track star and Norwood is a boxer. Goodyear has participated in all intramural sports for the past two years with the championship Pi Epsilons.

In the battle for president of the freshman class Richard Spoto, halfback on the baby Spartan eleven, Edith McLeod and Frances MacNamara oppose each other. Bill Dmytryk, Benld, Ill., T. L. Ferris and Blanche Sessions seek votes for vice president of the freshman class. Idelle McMillan and Stella Rogers are candidates for the position of secretary-treasurer of the 1939 class.

Candidates for the cheer team are Clarence Young, William Reed, John Schaub, James Turner, James Gal-

President Spaulding Gives Tea for Faculty

President and Mrs. Spaulding entertained at a faculty tea last Friday afternoon in the Stewart room of the University.

Miss Charlotte Anne Thompson presided at the tea table, which was laid with an imported filet lace cloth and had a centerpiece of dark red roses. Miss Kitty Lea, Miss Anna C. Bono, Miss Helen Knight and Miss Edenia Delaney assisted Miss Thompson.

Mrs. Spaulding greeted the many invited guests. She wore a royal blue sheer frock, its smartness accentuated by its smartly tailored lines.

Miss Thompson was attired in a formal afternoon gown of printed chiffon and wore a pleated collar to match. Miss Lea chose a formal gown in red and white moussoline de soie with an interesting collar and huge sleeves. Miss Bono's dress was of powdre blue crepe made along Grecian lines; its only decoration was a wide crushed silver girdle. Miss Knight was dressed in a formal, navy blue chiffon velvet with quilted taffeta capelet sleeves. Miss Delaney's semi-formal gown was of yellow silk organdie over yellow satin. The accessories were in gold.

Those calling during the afternoon were: Dean and Mrs. M. S. Hale, Mrs. Florence Brewster, Prof. and Mrs. Guy Becknell, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Berrey, Dr. Bode, Prof. and Mrs. Bryan, Miss Blanche Cahoon, Mrs. Cone, Mrs. Connally, Mr. W. E. Freshmen To Furnish Pep at Football Tilts

The Freshmen boys will comprise the drilling and cheering squads of the University of Tampa. They will work in cooperation with the University band at all of the football games. Great spirit has been shown among the freshmen in volunteering for a drill squad to help the band from the initial letters of the U. of T.

These men will be dressed in white with their red rat caps and will form a white shading for the red and black and gold trimmed uniforms of the band.

The band has shown great improvement and an excellent show will be given between the halves. With the freshman drill and cheering squad working with the band in their formations, a great deal can be accomplished towards affectiveness in the stands.

There has been introduced into the band a new system concerning merits and demerits which will maintain and insure discipline throughout the school year.

Newell and Patterson Discovered as Artists

Ray Newell and Phil Patterson, versatile geni of the "Rat Hole," football ends deluxe, collectors of scrap iron and old bones, signs and what-have-you, announced today the establishment of an art studio in their "rat hole rendezvous," room 655.

Inspired by silhouettes of the University of Florida's gridiron great which they saw on a recent scouting trip to Gainesville, the two immediately set up their own art studio and are now turning out life-sized, autographed silhouettes of every member of the Spartan football squad. They expect to hang a complete set around the ceiling of a local sandwich and luncheon parlor and are making a set for hanging in the athletic office. Their motive in making the silhouettes, Newell and Patterson said, is purely esthetic, however they will do a limited number of subjects for the bare expense of the material required.

Newell attracted wide attention last year through his poetical gems. He is at present working on the words of a theme song for the hardy band living in his section of the dormitory. During the summer months Newell worked in the great outdoors, scrapping saw mills, locomotives, abandoned machine shops. He earned the nickname "Scrap" among his fellow iron workers for his feats of strength and hardness of muscle. A well advertised strength builder enabled Newell to add 15 pounds to his once thin body and today he is one of Coach Higgins' most promising grid prospects.

Phil Patterson spent the summer months supervising a playground and doing social recreation work for the city of Tampa. He organized several diamond ball leagues, several social clubs, and helped promote weekly dances at the DeSoto Park Recreation pier. He also spent three weeks in the national guard camp in South Carolina, kept statistics on the first motorized movement of troops from Florida and earned praise from commanding officers for his work. He collected sea shells, skeletons, and rocks which he has placed in his private collection.

Chili Moore Teaching School in Pinellas

Chili Moore, football and former student at the University is now employed by the Pinellas county school system as an instructor in English, Physical Education, Mathematics and Hygiene at Safety Harbor.

Moore plans to complete his education at the University of Tampa and drives over to the University on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights to attend evening classes. He is a senior and expects to receive his B. S. E. degree from the University at the completion of the summer session in August.

Moore plans to attend all of the Spartans' home games and is grooming his pride wire-haired terrier as a mascot for the eleven. Moore says his dog has fully as much sense as any freshman. He has named the dog T. U.

MARVIN CHANCEY

Ossie Beynon from Youngstown, Ohio, is a hundred and eighty pounder who should develop into a valuable man. He has shown up well in practice at both positions of end and tackle. He's a mighty fine fellow and one who deserves a lot of praise as he is an accurate passer as well as an excellent receiver. He's an all-right fellow and deserves all the praise he gets.

Plea For Submission

There are many things which we see, hear, and know about, but never stop to give due consideration to, until suggested to us by someone else. It is the purpose of the lines which follow to cast due reflection upon one of these numerous things, and that subject we choose to term "spheres and divisions of authority within a university."

We are all, no doubt, aware of the fact that the President of a university is the highest and most important official connected with such an institution. On him rests the responsibility of formulating the policies, rules and regulations whereby the institution may exist and operate along clearly defined lines.

Use and custom have subdivided the numerous duties of the President, and those functions of administration and supervision of a more general or routine nature have been placed under a Dean or Deans. A Dean then may well be considered as the agent of the President.

Modern universities have given an impetus to self-governing student bodies. This is undoubtedly one of the most inspiring and encouraging contributions to the cause of democratic idealism. According to this form of student government, the officials of a university permit their student-body to formulate their own policies pertaining to student rules and regulations of student conduct, provided however, that the original policies as set down by the university President and entrusted to his Dean(s) to execute, are not contradicted.

The authority of the students to execute their own policies is vested in a student-body president. He is the body's chief executive insofar as the responsibility of overseeing the execution of the student rules and regulations is concerned.

To make possible a truly student representative group, a student council is provided for, composed of the presidents and special representatives of each of the recognized classes within a university. It is evident, therefore, that each student is the final and smallest unit in the related chain of spheres and divisions of authority. Each of us is a sphere of authority unto ourselves, for there the division ceases.

Any effort therefore to seek cooperation of the student body must be pointed directly at these units who are authorities unto themselves, for only then is a correct placement of responsibility made.

The intricate subdivisions of authority: from President to Dean (s); from Dean (s) to student-body president; from student-body head to the different class presidents; and from these hence to the students in each of the respective classes, can operate efficiently and successfully by individual submission to the authority next highest to each in turn.

There is no man so great he needs not at one time or another, have to submit himself to another's counseling.

We despise the use of the term "cooperation," because we feel as if the word has been worn threadbare. The student is asked to "submit" instead.

This is the fifth year of existence of the University of Tampa, and we believe that at no time has a more urgent need been made manifest than now, as regards the need of individual student effort to place our Minarets in the glamor of the nation's eye. At this time only a meager beginning has been made in getting each student to submit to the authority next highest to him, for we feel that herein lies the key to the realization of a university's aspirations.

We plead—and the plea is made in earnest: Submit to the authority of our superiors, be it class, student-body, or university President. —GIUNTA.

Rarely in the history of man has a group of people as large as the Student Body of the University of Tampa been able to discipline themselves individually so that honesty prevailed. However, in most students' minds a University is automatically above such weaknesses of human nature. How these students came of this opinion is difficult to ascertain, but the fact that they hold it is indisputable. It is just such students who have suffered at the hands of a few other unscrupulous ones to the extent of losing textbooks, clothing and other personal possessions. Discovering the guilty ones, in almost every case, lies beyond the power of a single student. Is it too much to ask of the Student Council to take definite action on this deplorable condition?

VARIETY

The sophomore spirit seems to never die. December 21 will be an eventful day for the freshmen. Hilda Sohmers and Mary Katherine Hepley had no luck when they went fishing on Franklin street but Doris Davis landed a big one when she interviewed the President of the First National bank. If Dr. Laub misses a lock of hair or a collar button, you'll find that Betty Jo Mims is the guilty one.

Many rats were not present at the last rat court Monday night and a strict check was taken so things are going to be made pretty tough for those who skipped.

The other night at the Embassy apartment a group was having a fortune telling party. The hostess asked, "Who will be my next lover?" and before the answer came, her dog came walking in carrying a great big freshman paddle with "Johnny Edison" carved on it. Some would call that a coincidence, but I call it plain old fate.

Everybody is getting ready for a big time tonight at the Annual Reception dance. The freshmen are hoping for a big time. Will the upperclassmen let them have it?

Lots of plans are being made for the first football game; let's all be there to cheer our boys to victory.

Here's your answer about college clothes as answered by authorities. FOR COEDS: Slit skirts are to remain in vogue. Discriminating designers have decided autumn fashions should be more "revealing" and have brought out varied assortments of new ideas to display the calves.

If you're worried about your evening gown you can't go wrong with glowing colors and rich medieval silks, basque bodices and flowing skirts. Trimmings are of paste jewels.

One silk taffeta cocktail suit to command attention reaches the ankle in back, but comes only to the knee in front.

FOR MEN: Florida sunshine will not hinder college boys from wearing styles as worn by arbiters in men's clothes. One of the most marked fashion trends as seen in the early showing of fall clothes is the swing away from fancy pleats and doodads, strict simplicity will be the keynote. Vents will be in evidence at the back or on each side.

Single-breasted coats will be seen in different styles with soft and long rolling lapels.

Shoulders will be made more full than previous, to give a sloping effect to the waist line. Popular colors are blue, gray and checks.

COTTON CLINTON

Cotton bore down on Rat John Nevers and discovered all! He was born in Coffeen, Illinois, but soon decided that Dymtryk lived in a better town so he went over and was graduated from Bend High School in 1933. He plays at right halfback and isn't so bad, in fact, pretty darn good! He hates hot weather, can't stand the heat, but he consoes himself with a lime. So, if any one wants to get on the good side of a "never-man" bring him a lime, and he's yours for life.

PHIL PATERSON

Dick Spoto, a Tampa boy, is a contribution from H. H. S. He stands five feet, ten inches tall, weighs 165 pounds and is one of the best prospects for the back field of the University of Tampa's first freshman team. Dick is a fine broken field runner, hard blocker and a fair passer; these abilities enable him to fit in well with the system of play here. After a year of seasoning on the freshman team he should be good material for the varsity next year.

RUDY RODRIGUEZ

"Bubble-eyes" takes Freshman Gipson from Tampa College. Rudy believes him to be the most versatile man on the squad. He describes him as a big, rangy lineman and bouncing fullback. He is built for punting and is one of those natural born passers, consequently everyone expects great things of him. As the University of Tampa's sole hope, he runs high, wide and handsome with exceptional hip movement.

GEORGE STRAUS

Assistant backfield coach of the Spartans, played for John B. Stetson University against the University of Tampa for two seasons. He is recognized as one of the fastest basketball players in the South and will teach the University basketballers his tricks when the hoop season rolls around. Higgins has named Straus head basketball coach.

MARION LEE

Husky tackle and mainstay of the Spartan's 1933 and 1934 line, is assisting Coach Higgins in rounding his charges into condition for the hard schedule ahead. Lee has charge of the Spartan line. Besides his coaching duties, Lee finds time to attend night classes at the University and to put in a full day in the collection department of the First National bank.

Price Improves After Recent Accident Here

M. L. Price, former business manager of the University of Tampa, is convalescing in his home following an accident in which he received severe injuries several weeks ago. Mr. Price was crossing a downtown street intersection when he was knocked down by a hit-and-run driver. He was taken to a hospital where it was revealed that he had received a concussion of the brain and several bone fractures.

Physicians report that Mr. Price is out of danger but that it will be several weeks before he is able to resume his usual active life.

Mr. Price was connected with the University for two years during which time he had charge of the State High School Music Festival, an annual event which he was instrumental in starting seven years ago. The festival has grown each year and last year attracted hundreds of participants and visitors to the University of Tampa. He expects to continue his work with the festival if his health permits.

During his confinement to the hospital and his home Mr. Price received many calls, cards and flowers from students and faculty members of the University.

HATCHER and GODWIN

These two noble men from Hillsborough and more recently from Tampa U., swooped down on Rat Joseph Mazelka who's another one of those boys from Worcester, Mass. He is a tall, blonde Lithuanian, who came south to attend the University of Tampa and has proven his ability as an end. His defense work is flawless and he is a fast charger and sure blocks on offense. Joe is very versatile.

Stranger at crossroads store:

"Who's the close-mouthed fellow over there in the corner? He hasn't spoken a word in fifteen minutes."

Another village loafer: "Him? That's Red Means. He ain't close mouthed—he's jess waiting for the storekeeper to bring back the spittoon."

Editor's Note:

Beginning with the next issue of The Minaret, this corner will be given weekly to "GIUNTA'S MEDITATIONS," a column written by Don V. Giunta, a senior, who for two years was feature writer and columnist for The Red and Black, former Hillsborough high school weekly. Don is a member of Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society of high school journalists.

Student Is Writing Book on Psychology

Paul W. Smith, Bangor, Penn., junior student at the University of Tampa from John B. Stetson University at DeLand, is writing a book, "Facts on Psychology" which he hopes to have used as a supplement to texts on mental hygiene. Dr. Morley, who has examined Smith's manuscript, reported that the material and its preparation was excellent and urged Smith to continue with the book.

While a student at Stetson Smith wrote a thesis on "Research for Criminology," which was commented on highly by the Florida press.

Smith plans to continue his research work in this field while at the University of Tampa.

He is working toward a degree in education and history and plans to get his diploma here in the summer session.

WALTER HOY

Jim Mandula is a new freshman halfback. He hails from South High, Youngstown, Ohio, and is a basketball and track star as well as football. He weighs 180 pounds and looks like he will be one of the outstanding backfield men on the freshman lineup. He is aggressive on offense and plays a good game of defense, especially on pass defense. He is a very likeable fellow and seems to be a very good sport.

The wise student studies others so that he can learn from their mistakes and at their expense.

SPARTAN SQUAD IN CONDITION FOR OPENING GAME

Coach Higgins Joins Gridders Monday

Nash Higgins' Spartan football squad rounded out its fourth week of practice and today appeared to be in good physical condition for the initial encounter with the South Georgia Teachers' College here Friday night, October 18.

In the absence of Higgins, who is attending the National Recreation Congress in Chicago, assistant coaches George Straus, Marion Lee, John Edinson and Bill Sledge have taken over the helm and are steering the warriors to mid-season polish.

Throughout the past week the squad has gone through a daily routine of blocking, tackling, offensive and defensive technique in line and backfield play. Short, brisk scrimmages have been held daily at the close of each practice period.

In the line Clinton, Gunnoe, Muench and Patterson have done outstanding work.

"Albie" McCartney, diminutive 135-pound Spartan who does the signal calling for the reserve backfield, has shown that he is the most improved back on the squad. He is blocking well and has developed a twisting, side-stepping stride that has carried him many yards through opposing lines during practice scrimmages. In the quartette with "Albie," Adolf Ramirez, Willie Godwin and "Bullet" Rhoden have been playing "jam up" football.

With the exception of Crockett Farnell, giant tackle who is nursing a pulled leg muscle, the squad is in excellent physical condition.

Higgins will return to Tampa October 8 and will begin polishing the Spartan attack for the first game.

SPARTANETTE

Four girls have been appointed to captain the tennis teams in the intramural league. They are:

Miss Marjorie Dennis—Delta Kappas.

Miss Gladys Guthrie—Sigma Theta Phi.

Miss Frances McNamara—Physical Educators.

Miss Dolly Quinn—Minarets.

Four or six players make up each team. The players are ranked according to their ability. Singles and doubles matches will be played.

Each team meets every other team in the league and the winner is determined by the percentage of games or matches won.

Physical education classes have concentrated on tennis and every girl in these classes has learned the game.

The tournaments are held so that every girl who wishes may get some experience in competitive play in tennis and a chance to develop her game.

Matches will be played on the University courts on the north end of the campus and the time for the games will be arranged by the teams participating.

A meeting of the captains will be held today at 12:30 in the Athletic office.

Volleyball standards are being set up on Plant field for the use of physical education classes and for intramural games.

The volleyball team organized to represent the city league will be made of players selected from those participating in the intramural league.

WILBUR GUNNOE

The new footballer that Gunnoe chose to write about is none other than Henry Bloom, the little lovebird. He was born in Worcester, Mass., on January 5th, 1915. Remember his birthday, girls. He went to Worcester High and actually made the varsity there for three years. He graduated in 1933 and was named All-City Center. He weighs 175 pounds and is five feet and ten inches. He is said to play a nice game but the weather is a little too warm for comfort.

Sophs Beat Freshmen In Annual Classic; Lopez Scores Win

Revenge, in the form of a 7-0 touch football victory, was sweet to the sophomores Tuesday, as they erased from their memories a stinging 13-0 setback handed to their class year before last by the yearlings.

Diminutive Eve Lopez was the sparkplug of the sophomores' attack. Early in the initial quarter he leaped high into the air, snagged an enemy pass intended for a waiting end, and sidestepped his way 60 yards through the freshman team for the game's lone marker. A pass, Newkirk to Rhines, was good for the point after touchdown.

Lopez accounted for another long gain in the third quarter. He was injured when a frosh lineman broke through in an attempt to block his punt but on the next play intercepted another freshman aerial and scampered 20 yards before being touched.

The sophomores chalked up 13 first downs to the freshmen's five but the kicking of Pittman, frosh back, kept the sophs deep in their own territory most of the game.

For the first year men Bob Thomas and Captain Donaldson played outstanding ball in the backfield while "Pee Wee" Greene and Emory Sheppard were luminaries in the line.

Milford "Monkey" Rhines, perennial sophomore, starred in the pass throwing role and was on the receiving end of six completed passes. Newkirk and James Blomley were ace ball carriers for the sophomores.

At the close of the game the defeated freshmen carried their gloating conquerors on their backs to the University dressing rooms.

The sophomore team was composed of Lindsey, DePury, Galbraith, Schaub, Cantrell, Morgan, Rhines, Lopez and Blomley.

Freshmen playing were: Lassiter, Nelson, Young, Greene, Sheppard, Paxton, Balcom, Pou, Thomas, Donaldson Pittman and Parsons.

Girl's Tennis Team To Start Practice Soon

Dorothy Talbot, student instructor in girls' physical education, will meet with the captains of the girls' tennis teams today at 12:30 in room 147. Plans for a tennis league will be discussed.

Captains of the four teams entering the league are: Marjorie Dennis, Delta Kappa; Gladys Guthrie, Sigma Theta Pi; Dolly Quinn, Minarets; and Frances Macnamara, Physical Educators. Each team will be composed of six members selected by the team captains. Matches will consist of six singles and three doubles sets.

Miss Talbot plans to have each team meet other teams entered in the league at least once. Prizes will be awarded to the team winner and its members.

Two darkies were talking about the depression. "Boy" said one, "what would you do if you had all de money in de worl' right now?"

"Well, suh," replied the other, "Ah reckon ah'd pay hit on mah debts—fur as hit would go."

Spartan Sport Field

King Football is here! From coast to coast and from north to south, yells, some very blood-thirsty are heard. From the countless thousands that attended the major games to those few hundred that watched the minor games the welcome was the same. Although the weather is not quite ideal for football the games went on per usual.

While our Spartan team is still in the making, its opponents, rather some of them have already tried their laurels on the gridiron.

The South Georgia Teachers, the Spartans' first opponents, ran into a little difficulty when they encountered Erskine college. Much to our sorrow they lost by the score of 18-6. We would rather have given them their first beating on the 18th.

The University of Miami was idle last week but Newberry by hook or crook beat Guilford college 13-6. Rollins was idle last week-end but Cumberland university the opponents of the Spartans here in Tampa in the Armistice day game, beat Hiwassee college, 39-6.

Our friends over at Stetson were humbled by the University of Florida to the extent of 34-0. The team that meets them on the 16th of November will double that score. You all know that all of this ineligible rumpus started in the Stetson game. Speaking of friends did you see where Birmingham-Southern was swamped by Auburn. Gee, but we're sorry. Oh yeh!

Data is lacking on the Alabama State Teachers. We'll wish them luck for the present anyway. The Western Kentucky Teachers' (I hope all these teachers don't teach the Spartans anything in the form of football) were victorious over Bethel college by a one-sided score of 36-0.

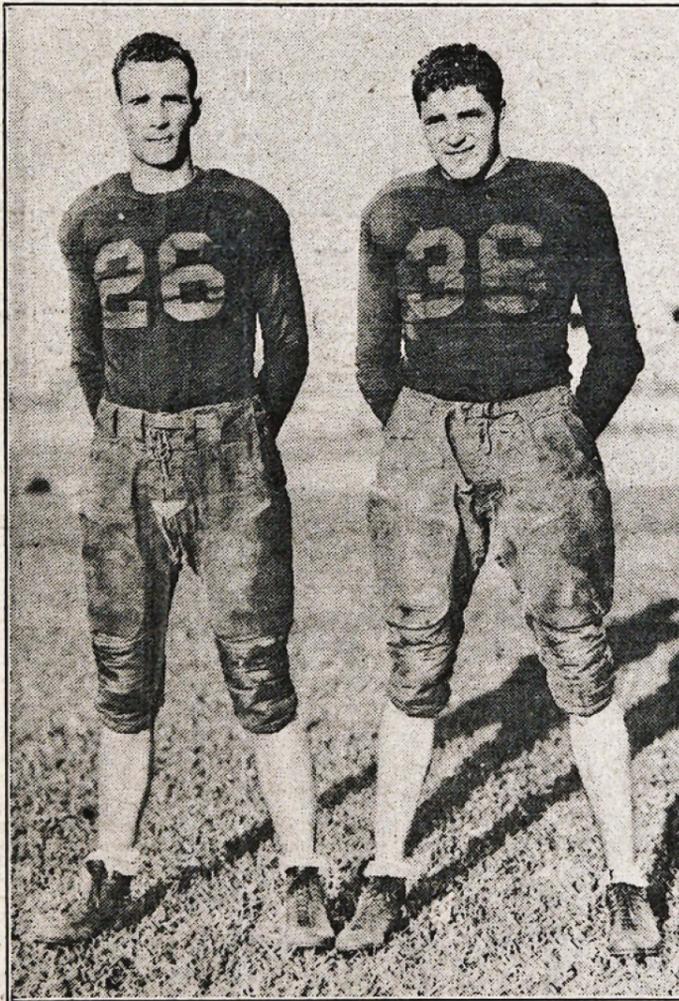

Getting closer home, we would like to offer congratulations to our city's high school rivals in the result of their first games. We think that the state championship for high schools will be decided on "Turkey Day" on Plant field.

Speaking of football we might as well mention the interest that was taken in first event of the Intramural program. We're speaking of the touch-football game between the lowly freshman and the touted sophomores. This was a bloodthirsty struggle out of which the sophomores emerged victorious when Lopez intercepted a freshman pass and galloped 40 yards for a touchdown. "The Hag" scored the extra point. If everyone will take an interest in this form of activities, it will be very successful and everyone will enjoy it. Success to you, Miller.

The Spartans are expecting your support this year and all you freshmen learn those yells. They are really needed when our boys need that final push to make that winning touchdown. Up and at 'em freshmen! We're all for you. Three Hi's for a bigger and better season! Yeh! Spartan's. let's go!

The cook always seems to make the most of what the family doesn't like.

Working for the Spartans

Here are pictured Johnny Edison and Walter Hoy, stellar ends of the 1934 Spartan eleven. Edison, who attended Mercer university for a part of one football season was ruled ineligible for participation with the University of Tampa squad, and is now assisting Coach Higgins with the varsity and freshman squads. Edison hailed from Tarpon Springs.

Walter Hoy looks as though he is going to have his best year since joining the Spartan ranks in 1933. He spent the summer doing hard labor in Jefferson county woods, gained about 10 pounds and reports that he is "rarin' to go." Hoy, with Farnell, Morales and Adolf Ramirez, were employed by the FERA on an archaeological project near Wacissa this summer.

The best idea is worthless if the creator is not willing to back it with faith and energy.

WEBB PRESENTED INDIAN RELIC BY ARCHEOLOGIST

Rare Idol Rests in Geology Museum

Robert Fulton Webb, assistant professor of Geology and instructor in Archaeology, today announced that State Archaeologist Vernon Lamme had presented the University of Tampa with a plaster cast facsimile of a priceless Indian idol unearthed this summer by college students working in Jefferson county.

The replica was made by experts at the Smithsonian Institution bureau of ethnology and was used for study and exhibition. Henry B. Collins, jr., assistant curator of the National museum, is making an intensive study of the discovery.

Four University of Tampa students, Walter Hoy, Crockett Farnell, Bob Morales and Adolf Ramirez, were working on the archaeological project when the idol was unearthed near Wacissa. They said the idol was broken into several pieces when it was discovered, but cement was used to put it back together.

The idol, according to Lamme who came to Tampa several days ago to present the replica to Professor Webb, is the only one of its type ever found in the boundaries of the United States. He believes that this tiny object is positive proof that the early tribes of Indians in Florida were related to the Aztecs of Mexico and tends to disprove the generally accepted theory that the Indians were sun worshippers exclusively. The pose indicates that it is an idol and not a trinket, Lamme said.

The facsimile of the idol, about two and a half inches high, is on exhibition in the University's geology museum.

Professor Webb also announced that Cecil Henriquez, University of Tampa student, had presented the University with a skull and two jaw bones, parts of Indian skeletons excavated near Cypress avenue in West Tampa.

Is It an Indian Idol?

This idol was unearthed by college students working under direction of State Archaeologist Vernon Lamme on an emergency relief project near Wacissa in Jefferson county, Florida. Lamme says it is an Indian idol and tends to disprove the generally accepted theory that the Indians were sun worshippers exclusively. Lamme also believes the discovery indicates the sun worshippers who once lived in Florida came from the south rather than from the north.

University Netters Practice for Meets

The Spartan tennis team, hard hit when its two aces, Louis Sullivan and Lamar Bretton failed to return to the University, is being reorganized under the direction of Abe Barrett, Davis Islands Tennis club professional. Practices are scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday at 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock, any student interested in trying for the team is requested to meet with Barrett on the back courts during practice periods. Students unable to practice at these hours may arrange other hours with Billy Laird, team manager.

Last year the team made a six-day 1100-mile trip through Georgia, meeting five men teams of four colleges. Meets have been arranged with the same colleges this year and several matches are being scheduled with Florida colleges.

Lettermen returning are: Billy Laird, James Turner, and Albert Day. Freshmen are eligible for participation on the team.

RAY HURN

Ray steps down and tells us all about his "Son." He hails from the state of Maine and is worried every day about how far he is from home. He's a guard weighing approximately 165 pounds. He should develop into such a good guard this year that "Pop" will have a difficult time next year holding his own.

THE RACE OF ADAM

Think not, blood-child of Adam, that your mind,
Spun to the outer darknesses of space
To screech and whistle there, go dumb, go blind,
The while it hurtles at cometic pace,
Will be returned to you untouched and new.
White-hot and bubbling from the cauldron sky
And seared by gazing, it shall come to you
To cool and shrink and finally to die.
This be a warning, rashly-foolish son,
That in your travels let your mind
take care,
Lest while you ponder Space, Oblivion Capture your heedless feet within her snare,
And drag you stumbling, clutching at no thing,
Down to her valley to hear Chaos
sing.

Intramural Tennis Gets Under Way

Intramural tennis, a campus favorite during the past two years, gets under way early next week with a record number of entries. Matches will be played on the front tennis courts.

Entry blanks have been posted on the University bulletin board. All students wishing to enter are requested to file their entry before Monday. Pairings for the matches will be announced Tuesday.

Lamar Bretton, number one man of the varsity team, won the tournament by defeating Albert Day, varsity number two player. Bretton is not back to defend his title this year.

Varsity tennis players will be picked from the tournament players. All students are eligible to participate.

Panthers, Terriers Win Opening Games

The Hillsborough and Plant High Schools both were able to secure a victory over their respective opponents last week-end.

The Plant Panthers through the fine kicking of Pittman and Thomas, won over the Bradenton High eleven last Friday night with a score of 6-0. Coach Sarra has been drilling his team this week on the phases of attack to be used against the heavy veteran squad from Fort Myers this coming Saturday in order that his team may uphold that victory that they have to their credit.

The Hillsborough Terriers defeated Clearwater 14-6 Saturday afternoon. Those starring for Hillsborough were Henry Orihuea, who is taking Dick Spoto's place, and Vic Hatch, last year's fullback who is playing half-back this year. Coach Johnson, who is keeping place with Sarra, is also busy ironing out the wrinkles in his team for a game with Sarasota Saturday.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

"Rat" Williams, better known as "Son of Kong" answered the call of humanity Wednesday afternoon. Hastening to the office of a local M. D., Freshman Williams offered a pint of blood (for $50.00) needed for a patient stricken by an unpronounceable ailment (according to "Kong's Son").

A pretty nurse extracted ten c. c.'s from Rat Williams for a test. The Doctor looked at the blood, then he looked at our hero. "Hm," he grunted, "If I hadn't seen you take this test, I'd sworn it came from a horse."

What manner of man, we Spartans?

When the average college student tries to make some easy money, he loses his shirt.

Optician: "Near-sighted, eh? How many lines can you read on this chart?"
Mr. Pearson: "What chart?"

A Scotchman once helped a friend out with his income tax. Yeah. He came to live with him as a dependent.

OUT OF THE NIGHT

It seems that everybody in school knows just about as much dirt as I do . . . which is none that is worth a whoop and a holler.

The girls haven't been swamping the boys as much this week as they did the first few weeks . . . Maybe they realize that it's kinda nice to let the boys chase a little . . . 'Bout time . . . Then there's always those girls who are hanging around school for no reason at all except the answer to their prayer for a new boy friend or to continue holding an old one . . . Give them a chance to see whether there's another girl that they'd like better . . . they don't even have half a chance to find out that you're "the only one" . . .

The man who said that "are these men or worms" thing was no fool. . . . Back in the good old days, a man was a man and did the courting and did the women love it? They had to or else it was crocheting and old maidhood for them . . . But Daughter, Oh!!! What a change. . . . She gripes because the boy doesn't whisper sweet nothing in her ear; but the boob doesn't have a chance . . . The girl will almost whisper herself if she knows any . . .

Some one said the other day that since the University had all the atmosphere of the Old South that so many places try to acquire but can't, why didn't the students conduct themselves accordingly? Half of girls are minus hosiery at the dances which after six o'clock requires formality. Then the boys come in polo shirts and the like, thus typifying a bunch of cut-throats and yeggs . . . If it's because of ignorance, ask before you go any place and thus save yourself embarrassment.

So much for that . . . I've an apology and an announcement concerning Monkey Rhines. . . . It was falsification of information about his having gone with Galvin, so I'm offering my regrets, apologies, etc. . . . all the usual line. Now for the announcement. Monkey is being seen fairly steadily with a certain "Freschette" (as a member of our faculty calls them) and the name of that fresh person is none other than our old friend, Miss Mary Ann Sampey. . . .

It seems that Red Means is keeping company with Dot "Dad-burn-ett" . . . I can't say going together because it isn't a surety . . . yet . . . Clinton, after looking hither and yon after D. B. Rush, has taken up with another blonde . . . Eloise Jackson . . . so it seems . . . according to the numerous times they've been seen holding hands . . . Or has he?

The Delta Kappa's are coming out with another one of those things . . . a dance . . . All particulars can be found elsewhere as this isn't an advertisement column . . . For dances, no . . . for discarded females and males, yes . . . The main feature of this dance is that they have announced their price on boys . . . which is nothing . . . All the boys have to have is a date that has six bits . . . and that's a rare thing to find in these days . . .

However the boys can get a chance to have their own say-so about their dates to-night . . . and those girls who can't get dates on their charms will have to wait until a week from to-night . . . and to-night is formal.—
Be seen' you at the Reception!

CROCKETT FARNELL

Bill Dmytryk is another one of those Northern Fresh-men and hails from Benld, Illinois, where he was graduated from the Benld High school. He describes his home town as the hottest city in Illinois, it's even hotter than the Chicago fire. Consequently the heat down here does not get him; he can take it. He plays left end and does a good job of it. He's an all-around good fellow and fits the term of a "swell guy." You can recognize him by that Chicago twang.
